CONFFRENCE URGES RENEWED ACTIVITY TO HEPEAL THE WALTER-McCARRAN LAW

Repeal the Walter-McCarran Law and defend the rights of foreign born Americans was the subject of a Midwest Conference held a few weeks ago in Chicago.

The delegates took note of the changed climate in the nation and the fact that this was a Presidential election year. It was felt that the chances for revision of this obnoxious law was a distinct possibility. (Hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee are now being held. On Wednesday, April 25, Secretary of State Dulles urged changes in the quota and finger-printing provisions. Even Congresseman Walter recently stated that he would go along with revisions in the

NEW LOW IN TV ("This Is Your Life" . . )

A paid, professional informer is a typical American housewife Ralph Edwards recently revealed to his TV audience on "This Is Your Life".

His "star" for this particular production (KSD-TV, 9 P. M. Wednesday, March 28) was one Marion Miller. For her work as an FBI mussur* against the los Angeles Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, she was plurified to 40 million TV viewers as the Great-Patribic-American-Housewife. In further recognition of her great services, falph Edwards presented Marion with a TV set, free of charge.

What the TV show failed to point out, however, was that Miss Miller, while having a position of trust in the Ics Angelos organization, stole records and turned in to the FBI all the names her housewifely hands lay hold of. For this she received hor 30 pieces of silver, which in Amorican money came to $125 a month, as brought out in a hearing before the SACB.

GREETINGS

TO SAM AND FANNY MANERITZ who both celebrated their birthdays in the month of March. We hope the future restores their health, Mrs. Manewitz is now suffering from her arthritis, as well as a 'gall bladder condition. Mr. Manewitz is recuperating from his second heart attack, which means that he must be very careful in his 74th year. We pledge to continue to support them in their fight to repeal this unfust Walter-McCarran Law which is trying to separate them from their family and friends and from a country where they have lived for over 43 years. We hope their friends and fellow citizens will write today, demanding that the Immigration Dopartment drop deportation proceedings against them.

EASTLAND VS UNITED STATES

Senator Eastland of Mississippi has just been elected chairmen of the powerful Judiciary Committee, following the death of its former chairman, Senator Kilgore.

This committee passes on the appointment of Federal Judges, as well as 75% of Senate legislation.—in addition to legislation concerning immigration.

quota. This sudden activity is due mainly to the forthcoming elections. Walter also wants to prevent any basic revisions or outright repeal.)

Out of the Conference came the fact that the people and their organizations must press for fundamental charges: a law which restores the protection of the Bill of Rights to fereign bern Americans and which a belishes the police-state features of the present one. Of course, the excent and nature of the revisions depend on the efforts of the people and their organizations.

Other delegates to the Conference peinted out that both major and political parties in their platforms promised to work for a revised immigration law. At present, some 45 Bills to amend to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law, introduced in both Houses of Congress, are blocked in Committees. In the House, Congressman Walter, chairman of the sub-committee on immigration, prevents any bill from reaching the House floor. To force some action Congressman Anfuso, author of a bill to revise the immigration law, introduced on April 20th of last year a discharge petition. The petition requires the signatures of 218 Congressmen to bring the Anfuso Bill—HR 501—te the floor for discussion and a vote.

The Conference also urged that the delegates take concrete steps to insure action in the Walter-McCarran Law. Among the suggestions were those:

- Write your Congressmen, asking them to support the Anfuse. petition.
- 2. Contact the many labor, civic and religious organizations that have gone on record against the Walter-McCarran Law in order to renew their activity for reveal or revision.

The Cenference elected the Rev. William T. Baird as chairman of the Hidwest Committee for the Protection of Foreign Born and Miss Ruth Heit; its Executive Secretary.

Just before the ACFFB begin its defense list November in front of the Subversive Activities Control Beard (SACB), it was learned that the Justice Department had presented over 3,500 pages of testimony in support of its charge that the Committee was "communist-front". The testimony was provided by 17 witnesses, ten of whom were a precious lot of paid, professional informers. In addition the Justice Department presented 258 "exhibits", made up of notices of meetings, affairs and public statements issued by the ACFFB itself.

As for the calibre of witnesses, Marion Miller, informer-mother of two small children, gave the best example (see additional item on Marion Miller). Serving as a paid spy in service of the FRI, she volunteered her time as an office worker for the Los Angeles Committee for the Frotection of Foreign Bern. At the hearings it was brought out that she knew nothing about the ACFFB: As for the Los Angeles Committee, she testified on its activities which proved to be both legal and legitimate. With slight variations, it was found that Miss Miller's testimony was repeated by the remainder of the witnesses!

This was the Justico Department's case against the ACFFB. It is unbelievable that it should feel it has proved anything against the ACFFB. Instead, it leads to the suspicion that the Justico Department is relying on the SACB to rule in its favor regardless of the record established in the hearings.

2. Defense of ACFFB

Abnor Green, Executive Secretary of the ACFFB, testified that the solo governing authority of the ACFFB was, and is, the Annual Conference which adopts a pregram for the coming year.

As background, Mr. Green testified that at various Conferences, the Committee of Sponsors was ence chaired by Ernest Hemingway, and the principal address was given by Representative Emanuel Celler of Brooklyn, New York.

"A Genuinely Democratic Literature in Our Country"—A Magazine Makes Its Row

By Joseph North

Americans who love the arts will rejoice at the birth of the Contemporary Reader, the quarterly issued by the New York division of the Arts. Sciences and Professions.

It comes into being at a time when literature in this country is touched, not with divine madness, but the insanity of Forrestal. The contemporary hero is cast in the image of the crazy stockbroker who jumped from his window.

Our publishers are near the level of Julius Streicher who purveyed sadism and perversion. The muse has exchanged her laurels for a tin helmet and for a dime our children can buy a Coca-cola or a gory tale in comic books wherein death does not come easy. That passes for popular literature in a land where the people once laughed with Artemus Ward and Dunne's philosophic Irishman, Mr. Dooley.

And so, Prof. Berry Burgum writes, introducing the magazine, the Contemporary Reader is being published in response to an increasing dissatisfaction of many writers and readers with our current American literature. The demand is rising for the restoration "of a genuinely democratic literature in country." The Negro and white editors of this publication do not see "men as brutes and psychopaths." They will not deny "the warm humane tradition of Whitman and Mark Twain, of Artemus Ward and Mr. Dooley, of Carl Sandburg, of Negro and working-class song."

The periodical is dedicated to "the great age-old tradition of humanism, wherever it is found." Its program endorses a literature wherein the people "seek peace, rather than war, racial equality and opportunity," and the writers who will appear here "have enough respect for our social objectives to recognize that they deserve good writing. To be valid in its democratic content, a literature must be well written.'

It is a worthy credo and the publication merits the support of everybody who yearns for the America our Constitution promised.

Its first issue has the promise of its credo. Young, unknown writers. Negro and white, appear with men and women who are already known for their accomplishments. It is heartening to see such writers as John R. Starks, as an example, 33, a railroader and a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, a native of Illinois who spent 5 years in the Army and has the Purple Heart for wounds received as an infantry soldier in France. This is his first published short story.

He appears in these pages with such writers as Abraham Polonsky, Lester Cole,

Alan Max, Martha Millet, Millard Lampell

There is no doubt that many appearing now for the first time will be heard from again. Their promise is in these pages. If the promise is not fully realized, if there is occasional awkardness and unclarity in style and idea, we must understand. It is inevitable that the dominant culture of our time, the putrefying standards of those at the controls of our Nation, affects the writing and thought of those who battle for life and for beauty. But clarity and form, will come with work and awareness, with the give and take of publication and friendly criticism.

The central consideration is this: Here is a magazine that can catch in its pages the dreams and aspirations of the millions, the mother yearning for her sons return from the wars, the workingman striving for a life of dignity and happiness, the youth who will love without fear that tomorrow he will be packed off to die in some far-away Korea. This is the main thing and it is a big thing. So long as the magazine guides itself on the worth of life, of humanity, and does not cry as Luce's publications do the battle yell of Franco's Quiepo de Llano, "Long Live Death," it can live and flourish. It can be as broad as the millions who want a cease fire, the blessings of peace and abundance, and it can help achieve those

There is much work to be done and it has begun in this issue.

The editors extend a hearty invitation to young writers, Negro and white, to submit their manuscripts.

Unlike Collier's which fires an editor like Bucklin Moon whose books abhorred racism, Negro writers and editors work side by side with whites. Esther Lacey, for example, is a Negro writer; Ben Brown, who was editor of the Harlem Quarterly, and Joel Robinson, who designed the format, are Negroes.

And in many ways the most successful offering is the play by Max and Cole—the former a newspaperman of 20 years and managing editor of the Daily Worker, the latter who is one of the 9 of Hollywood who defied the inquisitors and suffered prison for their integrity.

Their play, Potiphar's Wife, digs deep into the truths of our South today—the corruption of the Bourbon counterposed to the rising resistance and the magnificence of the Negro people. It is a play that merits production and will doubtless be transferred from these pages to the stage.

Polonsky's critique of Hemingway and Chaplin, for example, is a thoughtful, searching essay, which compares the gifts of the two artists and contrasts their philosophies. The subject is rich in controversy and we can expect a continuation of debate. I like best of all Polonsky's observation which summarizes his attitude toward writers and writings of today: "We live in a time when Sartre goes to the peace conference and Upton Sinclair and John Steinbeck join the chairborne atom bombers. * * * We have to realize that we too live in historical times and a lot of it is going to be filled with surprises." If I read him right he is predicting that the procession of "chairborne atom bombers" is not all we shall see; there will be Sartres in America who will "go to peace conferences." This is a vital thought, in many ways crucial, and it will have an inevitable bearing upon our literature, especially the kind that will appear in a magazine like the Contemporary Reader.

So a toast to the new born: may the magazine flourish and grow strong. The battle it enters is fierce but if it holds to the vision of Paine and Douglass, of Whitman and Dreiser, it will win.

Brief History

LOS ANGELES COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF FOREIGN BORN.

The Committee, as an independent entity, is just a little older than the Internal Security Act of 1950 (McCarran Act). Its prior history was as a sub-committee of political deportees within the Civil Rights Congress. Many of these dozen or so deportees were active in their own defense, being current victims of the cold-war drive against the foreign born, which had begun in 1946 and was rapidly developing in 1950. A few of the cases dated back to the days of the depression, when "Deportation Doak" was President Hoover's agent in making a scapegoat of the non-citizen for the social evils of the economic crisis.

Although all current cases up to the summer of 1950 were based on the Alien

Registration Act of 1940 (Smith Act), reactionaries in Congress succeeded in turning artificially-generated war hysteria to their purposes and passed the McCarran Act giving new powers for persecution of the foreign born. A bare month before this monstrous concentration camp measure went into effect, a conference was held sponsored by the deportees and their friends, supported by various national minority groups and a handful of progressive trade union delegates. The Committee was formally organized, and presently was staffed and housed in its own office.

Almost immediately it faced a crisis that strained its meager resourcesfor four of its deportee members were arrested at midnight on October 21, 1950, when the McCarran act went into effect. Around this case - the fight for the right to bail for the "Terminal Island Four" - the Committee began to grow and presently was a strong force in the community, widely known for its militant defense of the rights of the foreign born. It was under the direction of Rose Chernin.

The number of deportees rose steadily -- twenty....thirty...

The fight for bail was carried on in federal district court, circuit court, all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court. Presently the "Four" were freed and the young, vigorous committee arranged a stirring victory celebration overnight.

New arrests, new ordeals for young and old, overshadowed the gains made by devoted fighters for freedom for all to think, speak, and act with dignity and honesty. The cold war intensified. New attacks were made as the McCarran act provisions were one after another invoked against non-citizens. New "test" cases - notably the Frank Spector case - were imposed on the Committee as additional tasks. The number of deportees grew -- forty, fifty ...Hundreds of foreign born citizens were harassed and questioned. The Committee spread the word far and wide, informing the foreign born of their rights, warning them of the coercion being exercised by immigration officials as part of the Truman administration's "cold war" on the civil rights of militant peace fighters.

Then Rose Chernin was arrested, charged under the Smith Act against which she had fought so valiantly on behalf of the foreign born — for the Smith Act had cunning riders attacking the rights of citizens too.

That was in the summer of 1951, barely a year after the formal emergence of the Committee. Its supporters rallied to her defense and aided in the fight for her freedom on bail, while carrying on intense activity on behalf of the ever growing number of political deportees, raising funds to carry cases to the Supreme Court, arranging stirring cultural programs that rallied thousands of people to the fight for preservation of the Bill of Rights for all residents, bringing hundreds of guests to a dinner to hear testimonials to the many attorneys defending the still growing list of deportees. A successful conference in 1951 broadened the support for the fight, carried on throughout 1952.

The "Terminal Island Four" and "Spector" cases were duly heard. In due course the Court decided — decided to evade its responsibility; several clauses of the McCarran Act were upheld. But the extravagant police state powers it granted were still insufficient for the warmakers. Now, while their hirelings were systematically terrorizing national community after national community — Polish, Armenian, Russian, Mexican — and the number of local deportees was rising... sixty, seventy...the infamous Walter-McCarran bill was being steamrollered into law despite the widespread outcry from all sectors of the population, conservative, liberal, labor.

The Committee not only survived the attack and met the heavy burden, but today, on the eve of the 1953 Conference, carries a load of over 80 deportees and cases of denaturalization with every confidence that this year, as in 1952, we will successfully resist the drive on the foreign born and make live the slogan with which we began the new year — No Deportations or Denaturalizations in 19531

Kr. Abner Green Executive Secretary 29 West 26th Street New York 10 . New York

. Dear Absert

I just received your memo to Defense Committees. We are way sheed of you. All action suggested has either been carried out or is in the process of being cerried out. We are also calling an emergency conference for Seturday, October 28th, at 1 P.M. to act on some immediate proposals and to develope some further mass action. Also a mass protest meeting is being planned to take place within the next two or three weeks. In the event the prisoners are already released (you see, we are optomistic) it will then be a victory meeting.

A ceraven of three cars have gone to Terminal Island to see the prisoners and to take them eigerettes, books, soap, a radio and other incidentals. This is being done by the Welfere Committee to aid Political Prisoners and their families.

Sen Diego wents to organize a Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. I am meeting Louise Benna' husband today to discuss some organizational approaches. I'll write you the details when I know what's cooking.

The District Director, Landen, is squirming like he never squirmed before. In two hours' time, Monday morning, we organized a delegation of thirty people to call on him. It was a fighting delegation with very broad representation. Our picket line. Thursday, was terrific.

We are sending one delegate to your conference and maybe two. Les Machelis will be in New York and will represent us. John Altman may  $g_0$  and if he does, he will also represent us.

I'll let you know of eny further developments.

Sincerely.

EVILIBIT No. 498

[Daily People's World, November 24, 1950]

A Correction

On October 28 the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born held a conference which stated in its aims and purposes that "we will cooperate with the Civil Rights Congress and receive aid and guidance in a way which is mutually agreeable; and the executive secretary shall be represented on the board of the Civil Rights Congress."

I think the People's World and its readers should know that we are an independent committee, unaffiliated with any organization. The People's World has repeatedly carried stories on the activities of this committee which stated that we were a subcommittee of the Civil Rights Congress and that the Civil Rights Congress is conducting the campaign on behalf of the foreign born. This is not true and we would like a correction made in the paper to this effect.

We are asking that all organizations cooperate with us through representatives on our executive board and any other way possible to guarantee the release on bail of the first McCarran Act victims. We want the widest possible support from all people who are interested in freeing those people who are held in Terminal Island without bail. We feel that to continue to state that we are merely an adjunct of the Civil Rights Congress is to defeat the very things for which this committee is fighting.

I sincerely trust that you will make it clear to your readers that the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born is conducting the campaign to release David Hyun, Merriam Stevenson, Frank Carlson, and Harry Carlisle on bail and to prevent any further attacks on the rights of the foreign born.

Protection of Foreign Born

Deer Friend:

Room 418 326 West 3rd Street Los Angeles 13, Celif. Militual 1440

We appeal to you for support of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born in its fight for the right of bail for "The Los Angeles Four", imprisoned since October 22 at Terminal Island and in its offerts to defend other foreign-born McCarran Act victims.

Funds are badly needed for this fight. Whether or not the "Four" win bail, other battles rema in to be fought and won, all requiring time, effort and money. Certainly the right to bail MUST BE ESTABLISHED for non-ottizens as well as for citizens. But this is only one found in a long struggle.

Terms of this police state Act permit the government to declare ANY non-citizen a threat to national: security and order his deportation. All "deportable aliens" according to the act, must have deported themselves by March 23 (six months from date of the Bill's passage, Sept. 23, 1950) or have shown their "good faith" in attempting to do so. Failure to do this calle for a ten years jail sentence.

It is very possible that the March 23 deadline will signalize another mass round-up of non-citizens by the government. 3400 have already been marked as subject to deportation. The McCarran Act calls for jailing of all persons ordered deported, and when hearings have been completed in the cases of the "Four" as well as in the cases of the 175 (approx.) in the country, and deportation orders issued -- they are all liable to ten year jail sentences.

ONLY THE PROPIL CAN STOP THIS. WE APPEAL TO YOU.

THE RIGHT TO BAIL LUNCHEON, tickets for which are enclosed, will take place Saturday, March 3rd, 12:30 p.m. at the Parkview Manor, 2200 W. ### Two Ousted, More Due Soon-UAW Won't Fight "Loyalty" Firings at Cannon

Los Angeles, April 12.—Cannon Electric has carried out its first two "loyalty" firings under agreement with CIO United Auto Workers Local 811 that the local will not contest dismissals when "security" is involved.

And the UAW regional office in Los Angeles has acquiesced in the action—at least by default.

After much hedging by representatives in his office, newly elected Regional Director Charles Bioletti announced on Monday that "nothing will be done" by the UAW to fight the firings of Mrs. Delphine M. Smith and Mrs. Leola Koenigsberg, production workers.

Local 811 then said it had been notified of three more intended firings by Cannon "right away," and a total of 15 or 20 in the plant who "probably will go."

In mid-February company brass officers of local 811's Cannon unit jointly announced an amendment to the contract in which the local waived right to contest any firing on "security" grounds.

THE OBJECTIVE

The purpose, said both the company and the union, was to make it possible for Cannon to get more defense orders.

Thereafter, all employees were confronted with two military-type questionnaires—in addition to earlier personnel records.

On March 18, Mrs. Smith, an employee for 5 years, and Mrs. Koenigsberg, for 2, were called separately to the company office. There, in the presence of union grievance committeemen, they were told they were fired for allegedly "falsifying company security questionnaires." They were asked by plant superintendent Ed Beacham if they wished to file grievances personally—as the union would not file

TAKE TO UNION

Both women demanded right to talk to the grievance committee out of the presence of the management. Both were told by the unit committeemen to take it up with local 811 officers if they wanted to pursue the matter.

Local 811 President Jerry Whipple and Business Agent Clarence Wright passed the buck to the UAW Regional Office. At the regional level, the women were required to deal with International Representative Noah Tauscher, others being away at the UAW national convention.

Tauscher, the women said, haggled for days, finally refused to file a contest against the firings in the name of the regional office. Instead, he advised Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Koenigsberg to file personal grievances with the company.

TIME ELEMENT

When the two attempted to comply, sending the grievance forms by special messenger, the documents were returned to them by Paul Kaponya, Cannon industrial relations director, with a notation that the grievances were "too late." He quoted a section of the union agreement fixing 4 days as the limit of time in which an individual employee's grievance need be accepted.

The women made efforts to reach Bioletti at the national UAW convention and got word back that Bioletti, just elected regional director, had sent instructions to Tauscher to fill in the name of the international union (which has 10 days for such action).

"We reached Tauscher again on the morning of the 10th day," said the women. "We insisted he send the grievances by messenger. He didn't. He sent them by registered, special delivery mail, instead."

This Monday, the two discharged women workers finally got to Bioletti. In presence of Tauscher, International Representative Ernie West and others, Bioletti informed them that Cannon had refused to accept the international union's grievance because they were not properly filed within the 10 day limitation.

CRC Units Hits Custom of Leaflet Seizures

Los Angeles, August 14.—A continued fight to prevent the United States Customs Service from acting as the self-constituted censor of literature read by longshoremen and seamen was pledged today by the Civil Rights Congress.

Bob Robinson, CTO Marine Cooks and Stewards, led a delegation of union and CRC spokesmen who met with Customs officials Wednesday.

Their immediate complaint was against a Customs guard who grabbed a paniphlet, "Marxism and the Negro Question," from the bocket of Feldon Golden, Negro member of Longshore Local 13.

Feldon was forced to submit to questioning by other Customs officials before he was released. The seizure was made as he came ashore from a ship.

Since the pamphlet was political and Feldon a Negro, the delegation charged Customs with trying to straitjacket political activity by intimidation and discrimination.

In reply, according to Mrs. Delphine Smith, Los Angeles CRC and a member of the delegation. Customs officials admitted they were prohibited from discrimination. But they alibied that "you can't tell what's in a guy's mind.

When the delegation pressed its charges, Customs officials got hot under the collar. They said they would not submit to "dictation," and that whatever they did "was none of your business."

Mrs. Smith said CRC would carry the case to higher officials. She added that "if there are any other incidents of this sort, we will take them up."

Others in the delegation were John Conley, Labor Youth League; Mrs. Dorothy Conley, San Pedro CRC chairman; Arthur Zipser, Long Beach CRC chairman; Percy Sanders, CIO Warehousemen's Local 26, and Reginald Placenta, CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards.

Dear Friend: Salt of the Earth has been hailed by all who have seen it as an epoch-making production. Unfortunately, it has not been able to draw the audiences it deserves because of the advertising black-out by all the local commercial newspapers (except the Daily News).

Our Committee feels that this picture must be seen by the widest possible audiences. Peoples from all walks of life must be given the opportunity to see a film which portrays with dignity the struggle of the Mexican-Americans for ull equality.

Once this picture is seen by a vast audience, it will no longer be possible for the Justice Department to implement the racist aspects of the Walter-McCarran Law against foreign-born Americans. They will not permit the illegal mass roundups, illegal jailings, illegal mass deportations of Mexican nationals, and the establishment of a concentration camp in Elysian Park. They will regard this treatment of the members of the Mexican-American community as an insult to all democratic-spirited, fair-minded Americans.

The only way that this blackout of a picture, that tells this important story and which at the same time is an artistic achievement of high order, is by seeing the picture yourself and then give it word-of-mouth publicity. Your personal efforts in behalf of this outstanding picture will be a blow at the Justice Department and their McCarthyite treatment of the foreign-born.

We are enclosing discount coupons which entitle the holder to thirty cents off on any ticket purchased. We urge you to do your share to make Salt of the Earth the success it deserves.

Sincerely,

Rose Chernin, Executive Director.

July 28, 1953.

Dear Deportee: In recent months, the Immigration Service has accelerated its attack on the foreign born. The Terminal Island Nine Case was followed by the Harry Carlisle's Court decision, which in turn was followed by the David Hyun and Miriam Stevenson cases. Several Mexican-Americans have been deported.

The latest case is that of Reuben Ship, who was literally kidnapped away from his attorney and deported without even the opportunity of saying goodbye to his family—and despite the fact that he was on crutches and had been declared by a qualified physician to be physically unable to travel.

It is imperative that we keep informed on situations like these, and that we discuss the problems we face because of them.

Of course, we have won victories as well as suffered setbacks. All but one of the Terminal Island Nine were freed. And in Seattle, a Federal judge has handed down a decision in the case of Ernesto Mangoang, a Philippine-American, that should favorably affect a great many McCarran-Walter Law victims. These victories, too, must keep abreast of and discuss thoroughly.

To this end, we have invited Rose Chernin, our Executive Director, who is the best informed person hereabouts on matters concerning the foreign born, to address our regular monthly deportees' meeting. Rose will bring us up to the minute on happenings that have a great deal of meaning for us. Her presence is an inducement to a packed house; it makes the meeting a must for every deportee.

In order to enable Rose to speak to us, the meeting night has been changed from the regular 1st Tuesday of the month to Wednesday.

Remember the date—Wednesday, August 5, Hungarian Hall, 1251 South St.

Andrews Place. The time is 8:00 P. M. We'll see you there.

Fraternally.

Acting Chairman, Deportees' Committee.

P. S.—Please urge everyone to pack the courtroom at Judge Westover's court, Monday morning, August 3rd, at 10:00 A. M., Temple & Spring Street, 2nd floor, for David Hynn's and Miriam Stevenson's hearing.

The Communist Party Branches of the 14th Congressional District bring to our Party on its 20th Anniversary greetings of 20 years of struggle for labor's rights and Negro rights; for democracy, peace and socialism.

The 14th C.D. is an important working class district of Los Angeles County. Approximately 70% of the unemployed live in this territory, 90% of the Negro people live here, the ratio of small business people to large decidedly favors the small, most of Los Angeles Union men meet here. 90% of the slum dwellings are standing in our Congressional district.

Here the conditions for the broadest and most healthy political unity are present. There are probably more peoples organizations meeting in the 14 C.D. than in any other district in Southern California. These organizations range from simple social clubs and businessmens associations to trade union and our Party Branches.

The Executive Committee and the Branches of our Party in the 14th Congressional District pledge to continue the rich traditions of struggle for democracy and freedom in this District and to build and strengthen the Party so it can fulfill its historic role.

Letters to the Editor

People's victory

The Administrative Board of the Los Angeles Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born finds your report of the Festival of Nationalities lacking in political content and understanding of its importance.

The board feels that The People's World which is the only daily paper on the coast that is interested in the welfare and activity of rank and file people. should have given more thought to the evaluation of an affair of such dimensions.

The board feels that the 6,000 people in attendance was a mass demonstration of the people's opposition to the Walter-McCarran law. And that such a demonstration stration is a moral defeat for the Walter-McCarran law.

That the people paid tribute to the committee, to the staff and to the foreign born and to their invaluable contributions to America through the years.

That in your report in the June 7 issue a disservice to foreign-born Americans was rendered in calling the festival an all-nations festival. This was a festival of nationalities and showed the strength of the varied national groups. The Mexican cultural exposition was outstanding, and the contribution of the West Indies group should be an honor to Los Angeles.

The People's World showed no marked enthusiasm about the five to six thousand people who attended the festival. The fact that this was the largest affair in 6 or 7 years in southern California has been a dominant thought in the minds of people who participated in the festival.

The trade-union members feel that this is a step closer to repeal of the Walter-McCarran law and that when it is removed from the books, the repeal of Taft-Hartley and the Butler laws will be on the slate.

Protest Against United States Border Terror May Go to U. N.

Los Angeles. March 21—Outright repeal of the Walter-McCarran immigration and naturalization law was demanded by 350 delegates to last weekend's fifth annual conference of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

The conference also proposed a community-sponsored protest to the United Nations against employment of terror by the United States Immigration Service in mass deportation of Mexican nationals from California and other States of the Southwest.

The conference, in a special resolution, condemned the double effort of the United States Justice Department to persecute Mrs. Rose Chernin, the committee's executive director. The resolution blasted her conviction, along with 13 others, on Smith Act charges, and condemned the revocation of citizenship proceedings started against her. The conference unanimously reelected Mrs. Chernin to her post.
Other actions included:

Condemnation of Government use of stool pigeons in deportation proceedings and political trials.

Financial and organizational support for Knute Heikkennen, Wisconsin worker, facing 10 years imprisonment on a Justice Department charge that "he failed to deport himself."

Demand for an end to denäturalization proceedings against Harry Bridges, west coast longshore leader.

Commendation for the Los Angeles committee on its victory in saving David Hyun from deportation to South Korea, and pledging of renewed efforts to keep Hyun in the United States.

The conference set up an emergency administrative committee empowered to name new officers in the event Mrs. Chernin is jailed, including Rev. Stephen Fritchman of the First Unitarian Church; Mrs. Dorothy Marshall, leader in Women for Legislative Action, and Mrs. Chernin herself.

GREEN REPRISALS

Justice Department harassment and jailing of Abner Green, national secretary of the foreign born committee was protested. Green spoke at the conference,

The conference called for public hearings in Congress on proposals to replace the Walter-McCarran law with the Lehman-Celler bill, now before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The afternoon session divided into five panels, headed by specialists in their respective fields.

A trade-union panel was co-chaired by Frank Green, AFL Jewelry Workers Union, and Roy Lunt Warehousemen's Local 26 of International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union. One on mass deportations of Mexicans from the Southwest was headed by Rafael Konigsberg and Janet Stevenson; that on nationalities by John Uhrin, and a legal panel by Attorney Esther Shandler.

Trade-union panelists voted to set up a 15-man anti-Walter-McCarran Act committee of rank and file trade-unionists, headed by Lunt.

Adolph Larson, a deportee and member of AFL Iron Workers Local 509; Henry Sazer, AFL Cap Makers, and Percy Saunders, Warehouseman's Local 26, all spoke of the need for greater concentration of work among the trade unions.

LIKE SMITH ACT

Saunders linked the racist deportation law to "the hated Taft-Hartley and Smith Acts." He called for the creation of a national trade-union newspaper that would devote its effort to exposing the anti-union aspects of the Walter-McCarran and similar laws.

The panel on mass deportations of Mexicans heard speaker after speaker condemn the illegal searches to which the entire Southwest Mexican-American community has been subjected.

It was from this group that the proposal for UN action originated.

Mrs. Gale Lawless, president of the Santa Monica Forum, urged the committee to broaden its work in the community.

The nationalities panel heard Jim Fanazio tell of the warm response of the Sons of Columbus, national fraternal orgalization of Italian-Americans, to an appeal to join in the fight for repeal of the Walter-McCarran law.

The legal panel reported several victories achieved during the past year.

Two main reports by Mrs. Chernin and Josephine Yanez called for "intensified activity to wipe out Walter-McCarran."

Other speakers included William Lawrence, president of Longshoremen's Local 13; Horace Alexander, Negro community leader; Maurico Terrasas, Mexican community leader, and Abel Castro.

Red Tanks Mow Down Massed Hungarians—Many Die in New Terror at Budapest

BUDAPEST, December 6 (UP).—Russian tanks and Hungarian police opened fire today on several thousand antigovernment demonstrators massed in front of Budapest's west railroad station. Dozens of demonstrators fell before the point-blank fire.

It was a bloody climax to a day of mounting tension which first exploded at 2:30 p. m. on Lenin Boulevard. Antigovernment marchers clashed with progovernment forces and attempted to wrest from them the Red flags of communism they carried. At least two were killed and several wounded.

There was no immediate indication of the fatal number of casualties in the two clashes.

Hungarian Army militia supporting the biggest force of Soviet tanks and armored cars to appear in the city since the Russian onslaught of November 4 arrested dozens of men and women.

The new bloodshed followed 2 days of demonstrations by the women of Budapest. Leaflets scattered in the streets had called for "mighty" new demonstrations and another "total" strike today against the regime of Soviet-backed Premier Janos Kadar.

In my own union, the laborers (AFL), we must recognize the importance of entering the struggle immediately against the harassment and mass deportations of the Mexican people or we will have no union * *

The Mexicans are victims of mass deportation, police brutality, job discrimination. The Negroes are victims of job discrimination, segregation and all types of Jim Crow. Our white members, along with the other two groups, are the victims of speedup, insecurity, a low standard of living and the threat of our union being weakened or destroyed. All of us, white members included, cannot make any gains unless they join with the Mexican people and the Negro people in the struggle for fair employment practice and against the McCarran-Walter law

The current fight for fair employment and against antilabor legislation in California is a part of the fight in uniting the people of California against the McCarran-Walter Act, nationally. In California, we won't get fair employment if the mass deportation of the Mexican people is continued. We won't defeat the Taft-Hartley Act unless the unions join in the struggle in behalf of the Mexican people.

We, in the Negro Labor Council, are ready to join you and we ask you to join us that all Americans, foreign or native, can walk this land and hold their heads up with the dignity of first-class citizens. We had better get together now, because if we wait much longer, we will probably want to get together and we can't * * *.

The brotherhood of man must be fought for. We must defend the foreign born in order to retain those sacred rights for all Americans.

(Full text of Mr. Brown's speech available upon request at committee office.)

Standing committees were elected as follows:

Credentials committee: Marion Kinney, chairman; Fred Firestone; Mike Daniels.

Resolutions committee: Lillian Doran, chairman; Lillian Ripps; Frank Spector; Charles Gladstone; and one representative from each panel.

Nominations committee: Harry Carlisle, chairman; Mary Galloway; Robert Robinson; Sanford Goldner; Sandra Gladstone.

Many delegates participated in the discussion, which ranged from proposals to devise means to activize rank-and-file trade unionists of labor organizations which have officially opposed the McCarran-Walter Act; for pressure action directed towards Congressmen demanding that all proceedings under the act be halted pending reconsideration and repeal; also that all Los Angeles unions be circularized urging further action for repeal of the act. It was stressed by some delegates that opposition to the act was formally expressed by the leadership of some unions where the membership was not adequately informed of the dangers of the act, and that those union leaders should be pressed to educate and activize general membership in this regard.

Others pointed out the need for supplying to union members facts exposing the dangers of the McCarran-Walter Act to themselves and their unions, and it was suggested that this could be aided by delegations of unionists meeting with union leaders in this area to discuss setting up of committees for repeal of the act in as many local unions as possible. Failing official action along these lines, delegations could work to establish rank-and-file committees.

A continuations committee was elected as follows:

Proposals adopted and reported to general session:

1. To guarantee fullest trade union participation in delegation to Washington in March.

2. To work toward establishment of protection of foreign-born committees in trade unions.

3. To widely circulate special material on repeal of McCarran-Walter Act, information on harassment of foreign born and methods of defeating such attacks to unionists in the entire area.

4. To conduct campaign to suspend enforcement of the act until it can be proved in public and congressional debate that it is unconstitutional and unworkable, and until it is repealed.

5. To enlist wide support of the Negro people in this fight, since they well understand the meaning of second-class citizenship and have a direct interest in the fight of Mexican and other nationalities for equal rights.

LABOR'S KEY PROBLEMS

LABOR'S Wed resday, 8:30-10:00 P. M.

Helmer Bergman William B. Esterman Charles Gladstone Victor Kaplan Frank Pestana

Organized labor, though a section of the working class and of the people, by its actions and achievements sets a pattern which effects all the people. The new problems labor is facing as a result of the 1946 elections are of importance to all, whether they belong to unions or not. There are openly proclaimed plans to repeal or at least amend the Wagner Act, to prevent national agreements, and to hamper labor's legitimate activities in a multitude of ways. The role of the NLRB, the import of the Norris-LaGuardia Act, the renewed use of injunctions in industrial disputes, the police attacks against picket lines necessitate a reexamination of the economic-political scene from the workers' viewpoint. This course will analyze these key trends in the labor scene today and will also discuss the shop steward system, strikes and strike strategy, your rights as a striker, what to do when under arrest, etc. The lecturers will be drawn from among shop stewards, trade union leaders and labor attorneys.

RESOLUTION AGAINST THE APPLICATION OF SECTION 23C OF THE MCCARRAN-WALTER ACT

(Adopted Unanimously by the Conference Body)

Whereas: The latest move by the Department of Justice to apply the despicable Section 23C of the McCarran-Walter Act, which seeks to compel deportees to turn informers against their families, friends and fellow workers, or go to jail, and

Whereas: This application is being imposed through the Immigration Service's ARBITRARY ACTION of cancelling the current surety bonds (bail) and requesting a substitute bond revocable, if the deportee declines to turn informer, and

Whereas: If not checked, this application of the Hitler-like Section 23C, not only injures the present victims of the McCarran-Walter Act, but already imposes a police-state upon the whole American people, and especially on members of trade unions, who cherish their hard-won right to maintain inviolate their free association with their fellow workers for mutual welfare, therefore

Be it resolved: That this Conference goes on record demanding that the Justice Department at once stops the application of Section 23C of the McCarran-Walter Act with its threat to deportees to "turn informer or go to jail," and

Be it further resolved: That all participants in the Conference, because of the extreme urgency of the matter, will act immediately to arouse the widest protest against the application of Section 23C, by the use of telephone calls, postcards, wires, and resolutions from individuals and organizations, addressed to the United States Attorney General, Herbert Brownell, Washington, D. C.

RESOLUTIONS

(Adopted Unanimously by the Conference Body)

REPEAL THE MCCARRAN-WALTER LAW

Whereas: Wide sections of the American people have condemned the McCarran-Walter Law because of the effects its provisions have on the rights and liberties of all Americans—native and foreign born, citizens and noncitizens; and

Whereas: The basic principles expressed by this law diametrically oppose the best interests and welfare of the American people and the law cannot, therefore, by mere amendment be made to conform with our country's democratic traditions and history; therefore

Be it resolved: That this Southern California Conference to Defend the Rights

Be it resolved: That this Southern California Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans, in session February 7, 1953, having carefully considered all provisions of the McCarran-Walter Law and its effects on the rights of all American people, join with the hundreds of organizations and prominent individuals who have voiced their opposition to this law in recent months; and

Be it further resolved: That this Conference assist in the mobilization of the American people and their organizations in order to repeal the McCarran-Walter Law and that in place of this Law we urge a new immigration and nationality policy.

Be it further resolved: That any noncitizen, who has lived in the United States for two years or more should be permitted to become an American citizen by appearing in open Court and taking an oath of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States, without any discrimination as to race, color, creed or political belief.

Be it further resolved: That any noncitizen who has lived in the United States for five years or more should not be threatened with deportation for any reason whatsoever.

Be it further resolved: That a naturalized citizen should not be threatened with cancellation of citizenship for any reason whatsoever.

Be it further resolved: That Immigration should be without discrimination as to country of birth, race, color, creed or political belief.

Be it further resolved: That at no time should a noncitizen be denied the protection of any provision of the Bill of Rights, especially sections dealing with the right to bail, and freedom of belief, speech and association.

Be it further resolved: that we call upon President Eisenhower to use every avenue at his command to repeal the McCarran-Walter Law.

APPENDIX A. RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ATTACK ON THE FOREIGN BORN

(Adopted by the Conference)

Whereas: There is a widespread and general attack on the democratic rights of 14 million naturalized citizens and 3 million noncitizens, embracing all minority peoples of foreign birth; and a specific attack on foreign born members of trade unions, nationality and fraternal groups, peace civil rights, and cultural organizations, and minority political parties; and

Whereas: This attack takes the form of active discrimination against minority peoples, arbitrary denial of citizenship rights to progressives, attempts to deport noncitizens active for labor's rights and peace, and threats of denaturalization;

Whereas: The Immigration and Naturalization Service uses the infamous Smith and McCarran Acts to attempt to deport hundreds of longtime residents in the United States (more than 80 reside on the West Coast, nearly 50 in Los Angeles) and thus forcibly separate them from their American-citizen families. on grounds of past or present membership in the Communist Party or other organizations (soon to be challenged before the Supreme Court in the case of Peter Harisiades); and

Whereas: Immigration officials are increasingly abusing their powers and prerogatives to intimidate and coerce progressive-minded naturalized citizens, seeking to turn them into informers against themselves and others under tacit or open threat of denaturalization; and

Whereas: Attempts to disrupt and destroy committees fighting to preserve the democratic and constitutional rights of the foreign born are evident in the imprisonment and denial of bail pending appeal of Abner Green, for refusal to disclose the private bail pending appeal of Abner Green, for refusal to discolse the private records of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign-Born to an inquisitorial body; and in the arrest and setting of prohibitive bail for Rose Chernin, militant leader of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign-Born; and

Whereas: This varied and incessant attack on the rights of the Foreign Born is part of the attack on the rights of organized labor and democratic organizations of the people, and undermines the democratic and constitutional rights of the American people; therefore be it

Resolved: That this Conference pledges active and systematic support to the Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, as the special coordinating agency in this field of civil rights; and goes on record in protest and directs protest to be made to the authorities concerned, on the general and specific attack on the foreign born as set forth above; and calls upon the American people to rally to the fight to preserve the rights guaranteed by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights to all people resident in the United States, by demanding that these attacks cease forthwith and be replaced by a policy of democratic rights for all regardless of place of birth.

APPENDIX B. RESOLUTION ON REPEAL OF THE SMITH AND MCCARRAN ACTS

(Adopted by the Conference, November 3, 1951)

Whereas it is known to all reasonably well-informed and democratic spirited persons, and to experts in constitutional law, that the Smith and McCarran Acts are destructive of the Bill of Rights and were intended as such by their sponsors and protagonists; and

Whereas these acts are now being used by the Justice Department against citizens and noncitizens alike, to harass, jail, deny bail, and otherwise punish fighters for peace, labor's rights, civil liberties and social progress; and

Whereas among the victims of these two Acts in California are the fifteen working class leaders now in jail on prohibitive bond, including Rose Chernin, militant fighter for the rights of the foreign-born, and Ernest Fox, Frank Spector, and Frank Carlson, previously vicitimized under foreign-born provisions of these Acts: and some sixty noncitizens subject to deportation proceedings or citizens threatened with denaturalization: and

Whereas brazen attempts are made to destroy the rights to bail guaranteed by the Eighth Amendment, evident in the prohibitive bond of $50,000 demanded for release pending trial of the fifteen working-class leaders in California, in the holding of the Terminal Island Four for six months without bail, in the rescinding of bail for 39 Eastern deportees because of its source in a people's defense organization, and the general practice of demanding prohibitive bail; and

Whereas the Smith Act, despite its evident abrogation of the First Amendment. has been upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court, necessitating an appeal to the people as the court of final appeal; and

Whereas the McCarran Act, with its extension of police-state powers to Register, Exclude, Deport, Denaturalize, and Detain in Concentration Camps any and all organizations and persons whose freedoms the Attorney General wishes to destroy, is even more destructive of the Constitution and is so described in the Sabath Resolution (H. R. 3118) calling for outright repeal, therefore, be it Resolved. That this Conference condemn the Smith and McCarran Acts and record its active support for their victims in their fight for reasonable bail and fair trial; and further, be it

Resolved, That a campaign be launched on the widest possible scale for introduction into Congress of a resolution for repeal of the Smith Act, and support for passage of the Sabath Resolution (H. R. 3118) to Repeal the McCarran

Act: and further, be it

Resolved. That pending repeal of these two Acts the Justice Department herewith cease using their provisions to persecute, harass, jail, deny bail, threaten denaturalization and otherwise punish citizens and noncitizens for their beliefs in violation of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights; and that this Resolution be sent to the President, the Attorney General, Adolph Sabath (Rep., N. Y.) and other Congressmen and Government officials.

PANEL SESSIONS

COMMUNITY AND RELIGIOUS PANAL - reported by Chairman, Janet Stevenson:

The main questions for discussion were: How can we make a people's Lobby? What can organizations do? How can the evils of the Walter-McCarran Law best be publicized? Can new organizations for Repeal be formed in the Communities? How can the activities of the gestapo-like immigration agents be exposed and brought to the attention of wide masses of people now unaware of what goes on? How best can people be spurred to action?

Many leading community persons, as well as several victims of the law, took part in a lively discussion of these and other aspects of the theme and objectives of the Conference. Among them were --

Mrs. Lawless, of the Santa Monica Open Forum, commented on the fact that a yearago the Forum would not consider discussions around the repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law, but that today there is much wider action in her community and around the Forum on the question of repeal. Pearl Fagelson, of the Enma Lazarus Club pledged that every effort will be made in the Jewish community to distribute the pamphlet "Shame of a Nation" so that the significance of the mass deportations of Mexicans be understood and acted upon. Mrs. Chisholm, a member of numerous Negro Community organizations stressed the need for carrying on everylay education work on the law, so that the public will become informed. Esther Pastoff, Valley Unitarian Church, stated that day to day patient and consistent work is the only way to bring the reward of opening the minds of the people to the truth of the viciousness of this law. Reuben Burrough, community leader, stressed the need to visit Congressmen on the question of repealing the Iaw - not only to influence them, but to build morale in our own ranks through such activity. Lillian Kessler, an observer, informed the panel that the Jewish Community Council of the Bay Area passed a resolution against the Walter-McCarran Law. She urged that we try to have more small gatherings rather than always seeking to organize big meetings to discuss the Walter-McCarran Law. Discussion should be based on the "human" approach rather than be legalistic. Frank Whitley, Negro Labor Council, pointed out the need to work with churches. He stressed the need for special material for church groups. Martin Fall, suggested that cultural groups be approached on the basis that culture is being narrowed by this law.

Art Takei, IPP, in his talk directed his remarks to the main question stressed in the two main reports in the morning session, namely the responsibility of the Southwest to bring the mass deportations of the Mexicans to our communities. He made the following proposals:

- 1. Approach community organizations on record against the Law, to develop common action for repeal; and also to develop celebratory events in Mexican life, such as the Fifth of May, arranging discussions of such events and perhaps getting trade unions, church groups, and others to arrange public celebrations.
- 2. Prepare ads to go into local press, raise the necessary funds; and offer literature such as "Shame of the Nation' to those who write to sponsors of the published ads.
- 3. Ask Ministers of church bodies already on record against the Walter-McCarran Law to preach sermons against it, and urge congregations to protest.
  - 4. Ask Ministerial Alliances to spur protests by their members.

APPENDIX "C"

5. Visit Congressmen during Faster vacation.

Also stressed during the discussion was the need to demand NOW by letter, wire or personal visits that open hearings be held on all bills now pending, calling for repeal or revision of the Walter-McCarran Law. The campaign must be carried on consistently in all communities, from now through the months ahead until summer adjournment.

NATIONALITIES PANEL: Chairman, John Uhrin; reporter, Dr. Sanford Goldner.

Nearly 100 delegates and observers representing 11 national groups and many cultural and educational circles, took part in discussion.

The chairman set forth the objectives of the panel, and presented Dr. Goldner, who spoke of our individual and group interest in Repeal. He cited the contributions of the foreign born to labor, education, arts and sciences, agriculture, etc. At first, for example, Jewish groups and community leaders opposed the Walter-McCarran law only on racist grounds, but as the attack has been pressed, involving a large number of Jewish government and scientific workers, they have learned the truth that the fight must be waged against every aspect of persecution of the foreign-born. Now the fight-back in communities takes on a broader aspect and offers possibilities for broader unity for action. The outline for action in the delegates kits was sugested as the basis for discussion.

Cleveland Marris, spoke on the question of rovocation of citizenship as a danger to native born as well as naturalized citizens. He stressed the fact that revocation of citizenship leads to deportation proceedings. He cited some of the provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law as to grounds for revoking citizenship, even derivitive citizenship. He urged attendance at revocation of citizenship proceedings scheduled in courts in the near future.

Walter Martin, who was elected to the Resolutions Committee, spoke about his interest, as a Negro whose people suffer abuses and discrimination, in the problems confronting the foreign-born. Negroes have a vital interest as "second-class" - or even "third-class" - citizens, in Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law. Negro and white brothers and sisters must unite to work in the churches, the unions, in all organizations and in the communities, to wipe this law off the statute books.

Speakers representing the Greek, Japanese, and Italian community reported on the contributions of these nationality groups to the building and development in this country, and their integration. They all stressed that these communities must be reached and persuaded to participate in the fight for Repeal, as a matter of self interest. They stressed the importance of working in broad organizations in order to bring the repeal campaign to the largest number of people.

The importance of sending information to the press continuously was urged by speakers; the human problems of deportation and denaturalization should be presented dramatically.

The 6 point outline for a program of action was adopted, and numerous pledges were made for donations to the $25,000 spring-to-summer Fund Drive, dolegates and observers from all the nationality and cultural groups expressing determination to do even better than last year.

In his closing remarks, Dr. Goldner commented on the fine spirit in the discussion, and the enthusiasm with which those present accepted the task of raising the necessary funds for Repeal and defense activities.

TRADE UNION PANEL: Chairman, (brother Green), reported by Roy Lundt.

The Panel opened with the order of business read by the chairman, followed by Paul Perlin, (ILWU #26), who reported on why organized labor must fight for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law. The law is used for anti-union purposed, to weaken unions and break strikes by persecuting foreign-born members through deportation and denaturalization. He called for extending position of international unions, repeatedly expressed in resolutions at national and state conventions, against the Walter-McCarran Law, to every local union membership. He described the "Defend Noriega" committee in ILWU Local 26 as an example of how local unions should defend brothers under attack.

Sister Noriega, (ILWU Ladies Auxiliary), reported on mass deportation of Mexican nationals and the harassment and often deportation of Mexican residents of many years in L.A., including the breaking up of families, and deportation of native-born children. She urged union members to work hard to get union support to stop this outrage.

The discussion was lively. It was guided by chairman's remarks, to the effect that the musts are: bringing the fight down to the rank and file of the locals, stimulating support for workers under attack, and pressing for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

A member of the Laborers' Union, which has thousands of Mexican members, said the Union is on record against mass deportations, as they know well what this evil pelicy means to them. However, not every victim of deportation proceedings has fought well for union support in this fight. He pledged to step up the repeal campaign in his union.

Ralph Cuaron, of the Furniture Workers, supported the suggestion that defense committees be set up in unions; and asked that a continuation committee be elected by the panel before adjournment.

After a brief period for letter writing to launch the campaign for public hearings on 45 bills to amend or repeal the Walter-McCarran Law, the panel adopted a program of action and elected a Continuations Committee.

Proposals: To get fullest union support for public hearings to repeal the present immigration code; to urge letter writing, delegations, from unions and individual members, to senators and representatives in congress, and to state and city legislative bodies. To go on record in support of members attacked under deportation and denaturalization provisions of the law, and to form defense committees in the locals. To urge local unions to adopt action against mass deportation of Nexican workers as being destructive of the Civil Rights of all workers; and where official action cannot be achieved, to work for rank-and-file action, setting up committees.

Resolutions were adopted on Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law, on halting the present denaturalization proceedings against Harry Bridges, and against specific application of certain provisions of the Law. (See text in Resolutions, Appendix A.)

The Continuations Committee is:

MASS DEPOPTATIONS: - Reported by Abel Castro, chairman.

An opening presentation was made by R. Koenigsberg, giving essential historical lackground and data for consideration of the problem. He declared that the status of Mexican-Americans as second-class citizens stems from the fact that they are descended from a conquered people, and that the rights presumably secured for them by the Treety of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848, have always been violated. Mass importation and mass deportation of Mexican laborers is used to depress wages and lower working conditions in border areas. The Immigration Jervice's role is not that of "service", but of exercising tyrannical power to investigate, presecute, pass judgment and execute arbitrary decisions. Those defending the rights of the foreign born, are the true matrions.

Attorney William Baruels, member of the Legal Panel of the L.A. Committee, dealt with various features of the Walter-McCarran Law, with regard to the status and problems of Mexican Americans: - dual citizenship and procedure involved, the grounds for exclusion of Mexican nationals, and the harsh deportation provisions.

Discussion was lively. It dealt with denial of due process - abrogation of all rights in the mass deportation process; with the inevitable involvement of the Mexican-Americans (85 per cent of whom are citizens born in the U.J.), in the dragnet operations related to mass deportation, and consequent denial of their civil rights.

Resolutions were passed. (For text see AFPENDIX A):

Action needed

The most positive opportunity that has developed recently in the House of Representatives is the Aufuso Discharge Petition House of Representatives 501.

Representative Anfuso of New York has filed a petition on his immigration bill that would revise many of the vicious aspects of the Walter-McCarran law—it is presently being circulated among the Congressmen. A simple majority would release the bill from the subcommittee on immigration for debate and a vote on the floor.

Since Representative Walters, who has a key position and control as chairman of the subcommittee on immigration, is so evidently opposed to any democratic consideration of pending immigration bills that would revise or repeal the Walter-McCarran law, I believe the People's World should urge pressure upon local representatives here in the West to sign the Anfuso petition (House of Representatives 501).

We are particularly concerned with the lack of popularity of this action in Congress, and consider this the best opportunity to date for a positive change in the situation legislatively.

Jose Fina Yanez, Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

Josephine Yanez' Report, Los Angeles Committee for Production of Foreign Born, Fifth Annual Conference—March 19, 1955

I bring greetings to this conference on behalf of the 26 Mexican deportees men and women whose cases the attorneys and the Los Angeles committee are in the process of defending. Each of these cases reflects the history of the Mexican people in the Southwest—a history of discrimination, exploitation, oppression and struggle. And because these people had the temerity to participate in the struggles of workers in the 1930's during the depression years in the Workers' Alliance, Unemployed Council and in the drive to organize the unorganized agricultural workers—today they are being persecuted and are liable for deportation under the Walter-McCarran law. The Los Angeles committee and the attorneys are ever on guard to guarantee that each of these Mexican deportees are given full protection of rights under the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. with legal counsel, discrimination in these cases, not too subtle in its manifestation, is very evident. Of all the political cases we are handling, only when arresting Mexican people do the immigration agents take the liberty of searching and rummaging in the home. And when the hearing takes place these same agents sit facing their victim and lie under oath that such was not the case.

The Mexican deportees participate in all activities of the Los Angeles committee, and are particularly proud of the annual contribution from affairs held commemorating the two great Mexican holidays "Cinco de Mayo" and "Diez y seis de Septiembre." The Cruz', Martinez, Noriegas, Ocon's and many others are directly responsible for the organization and success of these affairs.

The lives and activities of the Mexican deportees are outlined in our pamphlet Shame of a Nation, our first attempt to document the "effects of the Walter-McCarran law upon the Mexican community" in Los Angeles particularly. This pamphlet also deals with the June 17 "Operation Terror" which culminated in the mass deportation of over 1 million Mexican workers—the Walter-McCarran law provided the legal weapon to launch this terror and the provision in the law, providing the immigration authorities with the right to interrogate any foreign born person "on suspicion of being aliens," was used extensively during this operation, and is used consistently in Mexican communities throughout the Southwest. There are provisions in the Walter-McCarran law which are discriminatory toward Mexican people. This has been expressed in many organizations and only a racist could not see in the law the specific intent and purpose of certain sections. Attorney William Samuels will speak on these particular sections of the Walter McCarran law in our panel on mass deportations in room 385. I want to take this opportunity to invite you to participate in this panel.

From our limited experience we know of the need for assistance in a countless number of cases, and we are happy to report that we are not the only organization providing defense for Mexican people. This is a very new and unique development in the community and I might immodestly state that it could be as a result of the initiative the Los Angeles committee took in protesting and demanding a stop to the deportation terror and concentration camp at Elysian Park on June 17.

There are other rumblings in the Mexican community, the Mexican Chamber of Commerce has indicated an interest in this problem—in addressing a convention of the Mexican Chambers of Commerce of the Southwest, Dr. Carreon, local president stated, "the immigration agents used Gestapo-like methods in their treatment of Mexican people," and a resolution was passed condemning this treatment.

Last weekend I was an observer at the Walter-McCarran panel of the CSO convention—one of the most promising Mexican-American organizations in the Southwest. The discussion from the participants, the majority Mexican showed me conclusively that the Mexican community given half an opportunity, will not sit idly by if a repeal movement is started. These people are convinced that the Walter-McCarran law must go. Los Angeles County has Mexican people throughout the many areas, Harbor, Valley, West Los Angeles, etc., and in each area your organization, your church, your area committee can initiate repeal activity.

I do not agree with Harold Lane, field representative for Congressman Chet Holifield, he stated at the CSO panel "80 percent of the Walter-McCarran law is good—and 20 percent of it is bad," further that "the chances of getting anything done to revise or repeal the law are practically nil in this session of Congress," and further implied by his remarks that Walter, who is the chairman of the Subcommittee on Immigration, will not allow any changes whatsoever as long as he is head of that committee * * * the only conclusion one can make from Mr. Lane's remarks is that you may as well lay down and die—it is a sad state of affairs, Mr. Lane, if you believe one narrow, bigoted, reactionary Congressman is going to stop the will of the people. In my discussion with some of the participants in the panel, there was complete disagreement with his pessimism.

It was no accident that C. J. Haggerty, one of the top officials of the AFL in California flew down from Sacramento to attend this convention last weekend. He referred to the contributions of Mexican workers to the trade union movement, commending the CSO for its cooperation with labor. Surely he recognizes where labor's interest lies.

This morning we are present at this annual conference of the Los Angeles committee because we are conscious of the need to continue and to intensify the fight for repeal of the Walter-McCarran law, and to guarantee the best defense for the victims of this law. Later on today, Abner Green will give you a picture of the national movements expressing opposition to this law. We are a part of this movement, but I believe that we also have a special responsibility here in the Southwest.

There is a unique significance in the fight to repeal the Walter-McCarran law because within this popular movement for repeal there lies the possibility of making a wedge in the greater struggle to wipe out the discrimination against Mexican people. The history of the Mexican people in the Southwest is one dating back hundreds of years, at the end of the Mexican-American War in 1846–47, a systematic program of discrimination, exploitation and the submergence of Mexican culture took place—in spite of the signing of the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo which made certain guaranties. These long-established residents became a conquered people, comprising within their population a majority of working people—their history and development is the history and development of the Southwest. Agriculture, railroad, mining industry, in all of these fields Mexican labor has contributed immensely, and with the emergence of organized labor, so the emergence of Mexican leaders in the trade union move-And it is the trade union movement that must of necessity take the lead on behalf of this great mass of workers in the interests of all workers. The crux of this problem of mass deportations lies in the continued exploitation of Mexican labor in this country, and the Walter-McCarran law has served to aggravate a long-existing bad situation.

Though labor has been slow, there have been some advances, CIO. AFL and independents have gone on record for repeal, and many locals have passed resolutions favoring repeal. One AFL local introduced a resolution condemning the mass deportations of Mexican workers that took place last year. Representatives of the leading trade unions of both Mexico and the United States met in conference last year to discuss the negotiations for contract labor from Mexico, and a resolution that was excellent in the main, came out of that meeting. The full text of that resolution is in our pamphlet Shame of a Nation.

We who are interested in the freedom and security for all-must understand that this freedom and security has been encroached upon seriously where over 5 million Mexican people are concerned. This is why we believe the Los Angeles committee is absolutely correct in its concentration policy on the problems of immigration and deportation of Mexican people ***.

I am confident that this conference will make a valuable contribution to the unfolding of the popular struggle against the Walter-McCarran law-and to the defense of the people's democratic rights!

Los Angeles Foreign Born Parley Outlines Walter Act, Mexican Aid Plans

By John Kykyri

Los Angeles, March 2-Five main objectives were hammered out as the 1954 program of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born at its recent fourth annual conference.

The conference, February 27 and 28, attended by 288 delegates including 51 delegates and observers from trade unions, agreed on these five points:

Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act and public hearings for the substitute Lehman-Celler bill.

A national campaign to prevent deportation of David Hyun to possible death at the hands of the Syngman Rhee government.

Fight the denaturalization drive.

Defend the rights of Mexicans. A special conference will plan the fight on mass deportations.

Defend the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, under attack of Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

The delegates voted a budget of $70,000, up $20,000 from what was spent last vear to defend Walter-McCarran victims.

Abner Green, executive secretary of the National Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, spoke at a preconference rally and dance attended by more than 500, and outlined goals in a summary closing the conference.

"When we defend the rights of the foreign-born, we defend the rights of the native-born," he said. "We are a part of a people's mass movement against the Walter-McCarran Act, against the McCarthyites. We welcome all parallel movements for the repeal of this Fascist legislation."

FIGHT BACK

Emphasis at the conference was placed on a campaign against mass deporta-

The delegates called the attention of the United Nations to the treatment of the Mexican people in this country as a violation of the Covenant on Human Rights. They also:

Approved a telegram to Gov. Goodwin J. Knight urging appointment of a Mexican-American to the next vacancy on the superior court bench in Los Angeles County.

Demanded that Mexican nationals in deportation cases be accorded constitutional protection of no arrests without warrants, reasonable bail, right of counsel paid by the Government in needy cases, use of interpreters, and other guaranties.

The problems of the Mexican-American community were spelled out in a panel report by Josephine Yanez, secretary of the East Side office of the Los Angeles

"This community has suffered oppression in many forms," she said, "discrimination, police brutality, bad housing and an accumulation of acts and attitudes which have denied the Mexican people their social and political rights.

"The threat of deportation has always been used as a weapon to further this oppression and now with the Walter-McCarran law in effect, this threat is more menacing than ever."

KEY TASKS

The job ahead was outlined by Mrs. Rose Chernin, executive secretary of the Los Angeles committee in her annual report. She herself faces denaturalization proceedings.

The campaign for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Act, Mrs. Chernin said, must include winning public hearings for the Lehman-Celler bill through trade union and people's groups. At the same time, she said, the demand must be made on Attorney General Brownell to suspend operation of the Walter-McCarran Act in hardship and political cases until Congress has acted on the Lehman-Celler measure.

In other actions, the conference:

Approved proposal of its women's panel for a special subcommittee to take up problems of women and their families threatened with deportation breakup.

Adopted a resolution protesting the threatened deportation of 13 representatives of foreign language and progressive publications and protesting McCarthy's hounding of other newspaper critics.

Adonted a resolution of its Mexican panel to send a wire to Governor Knight urging clemency for Wesley Robert Wells.

Called on the National Association for Advancement of Colored People to take up the case of Negro families facing deportation to British Honduras, and pledged support to the NAACP in this fight.

While noting that organized labor was better represented than at previous conferences, the trade union panel expressed regret the main stream of labor was still to be aroused to the danger to its rights in the Walter-McCarran Act.

The conference reelected the officers and working staff of the Los Angeles committee. Delegates gave Mrs. Chernin, Miss Yanez, director of work in the Mexican community, and Anne Perpich, administrative secretary, a standing ovation.

The opening main conference session was chaired by Al Thibodaux, port agent of the Marine Cooks & Stewards Union. Rev. Stephen Fritchman, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, presided over the final session.

Dear Friend.

The enclosed CALL to our 4th Annual Conference is self-explanatory. Please note that at this year's deliberations we are having a Panel Session on "Contributions of the Foreign Born to American Culture". From this exploratory session we hope to derive cultural materials and stimulate art production to enrich our counter-attack against deportntion, revocation-of-citizenshin, and general discrimination age inst the foreign-born, and defeat the degradation of democratic culture fostered by the McCarthys and McCarrans.

The Panel Session will last two-and-a-half hours on Sunday afternoon, February 28th. A key maper will be followed by very brief remarks by a few panel leaders, then general discussion, including consideration of a Cultural Program of Action, perhaps including lectures, concerts, recitals, exhibitions, looking towards a festival of the arts which will include the contributions made by the foreign born to music, art, dance, folksong, architecture, design....

We welcome suggestions for subjects and sources of materials for discussion and for exhibits at the Conference. Please pass the word along.

Please have your group read and discuss the CALL and send delegates and observers to our Conference.

Harry Carlisle.

Writers Here for Congress-West Coast Author Tells of Work Done There

"We expect this Writers' Congress to launch a national organization which will have a functional basis in the various regions and bring together the writers in different sections of America," Harry Carlisle, executive secretary of the Western Writers' Congress told the Daily Worker yesterday.

Carlisle, author of Darkness at Noon and one of the most prominent writers on the west coast, pointed out the work being done by their regional congress. "We aided the maritime strikers, collaborating with actors and other professionals in preparing publicity and generally supporting the strikes," he said.

"There is considerable activity going on in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and we hope this national congress will help the many regional groups with some of the problems that face them."

Carlisle was among the many authors arriving in town this week for the national congress which opens June 4, at the new school for social research.

Some of those who will attend include:

Millen Brand, author of the novel Outward Room, Louis Adamic, Van Wyck Brooks, Marquis Childs of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Dashiell Hammett, Louis Paul, Thornton Wilder, Carleton Beals, and many others.

Exiled German Writers

BY B. W. HUERSCH*

Last might I picked up two books of sixteen or eighteen vears ago, both dealing with the German literature of their day. One is by a liberal critic, the other by a severe reactionary. Although only so short a time has clapsed, I was struck by the absurdity of intering final judgments on living authors. Many of the writers, important enough to be men tioned in those comparatively recent books, are as dead as doornally. But what impressed me even more foreibly was that of the German and Austrian authors whose reputations have surviced, and whose fame has increased in those six teen or eighteen years, most are eights. Their names are banned from Herr Hiller's new, made to order encyclopedias, their books may not be sold, and anybody in German who even possesses them is subject to inliminal penaltics.

Never has so sudden a blight fallen on a nation's culture as on Germany's since 1933. The Nazi party represents the perfection of organization, and to judge by what hap pened to German literature it would seem as if the organization had been directed to one end only the externination of literature. I dely you to name a single worthy book—one deserving of translation into other languages—that has appeared in Germany since Hiller cinic into power.

The serious queetion arises: What is to become of eastman letters? Can there be a spontaneous flowering of liter ary tilent when men are not free to express their thoughts and ideas openly? Such of the exiles as are famous enough to be translated into other languages will continue to write but where will their successors come from? I am skeptical of the survival of German literature without German soil. There are publishing houses in Switzerland, Holland, and Sweden that publish the work of these cules in the German language, but what will they publish when the present gen Continued on page 5.

The Bulletin of The League of American Writers

SUMMER, 1938

Annual Report

BY FRANKLIN FOLSOM*

At the Second American Writers' Congress, a set of anns was adopted which includes seven points; and it is possible now, a year later, to take each point and determine to what extent we have succeeded in carrying out our program.

The first point reads: "To enlist writers in all parts of the United States in a national cultural organization for peace and democracy and against fascism and reaction." In March, 102-, at the time of the call to the Congress, we had 220 members. Fifteen of these, opposed to the Popular Front program, which was amplied in the call to the Congress and agreed on at the Congress as one of the League aims, have been dropped. None of these fifteen has paid dues, nor have they complied with the decision that all League members should sign an application blank including a pledge to support the Popular Front in all countries, since apparently they adhere to important tenets of an anti-Popular Front group generally known as Trotskvists. In the period in which we lost these fifteen, over 400 others have joined The League, which retains the overwhelming majority of those who began the organization, now numbers (12

Reflecting the increased size of the League and the organizing trip made by Hary Carlisle last summer, active chapters have grown up in Chicago and Washington, D. C. The Northern California Branch of the League, too, is new, consisting of members of the Western Writers' Congress, which affiliated last September. League groups have also met in Boston, Philadelphia and Milwanke.

It is a full time job just to answer the correspondence that comes into the office. Recently I was asked to aid in stating a children' camp by the author of Brown Muscles and The Arms of Woman Love. Not long before, I received a very cridely sewn black mask from an applicant for incubership who called us the "Kaffee Klatsch Klain" and considered is "enemies of the revolution." In the same mail an English professor in Texas sent a full page of atrochypictures chipped from Hearst's American Weekh, as proof that by our Student Contect on the authfascist war in Spain we were adding and abotting the destruction of Symphosius.

The second aim of the League reads: "To defend the political and social institutions that guarantee a healthy atmosphere for the perpetuation of culture; to insist on the democratic rights of education, freedom of thought and expression." To implement this, the Second Congress passed seven resolutions.

One called for continuation and extension of the W. P. A. Writers Projects. As a step in this direction, as well as to pay tribute to a brillant young Negro writer, the National Council has elected Richard Wright to membership.* Another step has been the absorption of some of the eligible former members of the American Writers' Union, many of whom are W. P. A. writers. A third step, only now being taken, is the appointment of League members to serve on the Writers' Project Sponsoring Committees throughout the country Leane Zugsmith will be a League representative on the New York Sponsoring Committee. I should note, in addition, that active support for the project magazine. Amer-Kan Stuff, has been withheld temporarily, because its present editor is opposed to our People's Front program. This summer the League is vigorously protesting the reduction of wages on all projects, and the closing of the creative writers' project in New York.

Another resolution called for support of a bill providing a Federal Bureau of Fune Arts. Recently, Wellington Roc. new League member, became vers active in building a Conference of Writers to consider a Federal Bureau of Fine Arts, and as a result of his energy, writers contributed effectively to the campagn at a strategic moment.

Several resolutions were also passed at the Congress condemning discrimination against Negroes and other racial immorthes and the foreign born, and pertitioning for freedom of political prisoners (many of them writers) in this country and abroad. The following is a resume of our actions towards these ends: A delegate was sent to the National Negro Congress in Philadelphia: cooperated in several enterprises with the American Society for Race Tolerance: telegrams were sent protesting the filluluster against the antilucture billulus and the service of the service

Messages were sent asking for the freedom of many political prisoners. In support of evil liberties abroad we have also sent on various occasions telegrams and letters to Hungary, Japan, and Latin American countries.

Dear Friends:

The situation with regard to the Bill of Rights is so serious that we believe there is imminent peril of its complete abridgement.

For this reason, a people's program to defend and save the Bill of Rights must be defined and applied in action. Therefore, the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, New York City, and the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born are sponsoring a Conference for the State of California, with representation from adjacent states, to be held in Los Angeles on October 27, 1951.

This Conference shall provide a platform for full discussion of problems, and to develop unity on a common program to repeal the Smith and McCarran Acts and protect the rights of the foreign born and thus save the Constitution.

We invite you to attend a planning meeting to launch the organizational work necessary to make this important conference a success. We urgently request that you make every effort to be present.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, Soptember 20th, at 8:00 P.M., in the Park View Manor, 2200 West 7th Street, Los Angeles.

 $\,$  Attached is the preliminary draft of the CALL for your consideration.

The enclosed CALL for the Conference should get your considered attention. As a Nationality Organization, you have a very important stake in the Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law, and defence of its victims. It is most important that you elect delegates to participate in this Conference in order to formulate an effective program for repeal.

March 8, 1956

Since we last met in Conference, much has happened. The Geneva "Summit" Conference las lessened the Coli War tensions; peace through co-existence is the order of the day. 1996 is a Presidential election year and real possibilities exist for Repeal or at least Revision of the racist Welter-McCarran Law, the scourge of the 14 million foreign born. But it won't happen automatically. Despite the universal opposition by all sections of the American people, -- President Eisenhower's special message to Congress for revision of this Law was a great disappointment.

Benator Kilgore's death, and his replacement as Chairman of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee by the bigotted racist, Mississippi Senator Eastland, is a real blow to the repeal movement.

It will be necessary, as never before, to mobilize the people to put pressure upon the Congress for Rejeal.

The Conference promises to be representative of the broadest section of the repeal movement, and we are indeed honored to have as our keynoters none other than the NT. REV. WALTER MITCHELL, MR AEMER GREEN. Director of the American Committee, and MR. RUSS NIXON. U.E. Washington Representative.

May we propose, therefore, that you discuss this CALL, elect your delegates or observers and send with them any resolutions that you deem necessary. Your delegates and your instructions will receive the warmest welcome at this Conference.

Fraternally yours.

Dear Friend:

As the enclosed CALL tells in detail, we are again asking your help and participation in our Annual Southern California Conference to Repeal the Walter-McCarran Law. Quoting the Rt. Rev. Walter Mitchell, - "This is a matter of great need and promise". All of us recognize the "great need" of which he speaks. The "promise" to which he refers is the objective fact that in this all-important election year the possibilities for the Repeal or a drastic Revision of the Law are actually within our reach.

Despite the disappointment of President Eisenhower's special message to Congress on the Revision of this Law, and despite the death of Benator Kilgore and his replacement as Chairman of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee by the Mississippi racist Senator Eastland, - the "promise" is still inherent in the great upsurge of nation-wide indignation against this vicious Law.

Please send a delegate from your organization to tell us what you have been doing to humanize the Immigration and Nationalities Law. Help us plan a program of future action. Please come as an individual observer, and bring your friends.

Together, let us demonstrate through this Conference that in Southern California there is a united will to repeal this racist Walter-McCarran Law, and a dynamic force for Human Rights.

Fraternally yours,

David Hyun, Conference Chairman. EXHIBIT No. 475A

FOR THE GRANTING OF ADMINISTRATIVE BAIL TO THE TERMINAL ISLAND FOUR

"But once an alien lawfully enters and resides in this country he becomes invested with the rights guaranteed by the Constitution to all people within our borders. Such rights include those protected by the First and Fifth Amendments and by the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Nanc of these provisions acknowledges any distinction between citizens and resident aliens."

—Supreme Court Justice FRANK MURPHY, June, 1945. To U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath Department of Justice Washington 25, D.C.

We, the undersigned, aware of the March 10, 1952 decision by the U. S. Supreme Court in the Terminal Island Four case, uphalding McCarran Act provisions giving you 'discretionary power' to deny bail to non-citizens arrested because of their ideas, do hereby record our emphatic protest at this violent departure from our traditional democratic rights and abrogation of the Eighth Amendment of the Bill of Rights.

We furthermore demand that you immediately grant reasonable administrative bail to the four persons involved in this' case—MIRIAM STEVENSON, DAVID HYUN, HARRY CARLISLE, FRANK CARLSON—and abandon all attacks on the right to bail as being more in keeping with a police state than a democracy.

Deportation is a serious danger to us and our families. While we are each doing all we can to prevent this outrage, we also want to learn all we can about deportation.

To answer the many questions that we deportees have on the legal aspects and procedures of deportation, one of our outstanding deportation lawyers, who participated in the defence of the Terminal Island Four, Mr. Stanley Fleischman, shall be the guest speaker at our Deportees Meeting to be held on Wednesday, February 13th. Mr. Fleishman will be glad to answer the questions of both our new and old deportees.

We shall also consider how we deporters can best benefit and help in the coming visit of Ahner Green, the nation's foremost authority on the defence of the foreign born. Let us come prepared with pledges for invitations to the banquet to be held on March 9th at the Park Manor, at which the Los Angeles community and we deporters shall give honor to Abner Green - the symbol of our fight against the McCarran Act.

A fine program of action for the coming months shall be presented for your consideration.

TO ALL DEPORTEES

Dear Deportees:

The first meeting of the Deportees Committee of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Poreign Born held on January 9th was an outstanding success. Gathered together were more than 35 deporters and friends, including some of our new deportees from as far as Paso Robles and Santa Ana.

A warm and heartfelt greeting was extended to our courageous Executive Director, Rose Chernin, just recently freed from jail. She presented the picture of a stormy year shead and the necessity of building the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born as an unsinkable ship of defense against deportation.

An annual report by our capable Executive Secretary, Lillian Doran, gave a factual picture of the developments and victories in the past year. Her perspective for the year of 1952 demonstrated the tramendous campaign that must be made in order to make good the slogan of the Los Angeles Committee for Protecton of Foreign Born --

"NO DEPORTATIONS IN 1952".

Each and everyone of us deportees must do his share to make this slogan true by supporting the program of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. For this purpose, we urge each and everyone of you to attend our next Deportees, featuring a legal report by an attorney:

- (a) Status of Cases
- (b) Coming legal developments questions and answers.

AN URGENT CALL TO FELLOW DEPORTEES ON THE FINANCIAL DRIVE

Dear Deportees:

The recent complete Victory of Brother Frank Leslie Craig Whose case was ordered dismissed by the Immigration Board of Appeals means a victory which can be had for any other deportee in the immediate future by militant action. Our Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born has achieved a "break through."

On the other hand, the difficult financial situation in the Los Angeles Committee hampers the development of more effective defense. Therefore, we urge you to act immediately upon raising a financial quota, and that each of us deportees be an example and an encouragement to all in this financial campaign.

We urge you to act immediately on raising a quota which the steering committee suggests for your approval. If it seems too small or large for you, please notify the Committee. We take this step only in the interest of time, since you were unable to attend the Deportees meeting. (Those who attended the meeting will please verify the quota that follows:)

RECOMMENDED QUOTA FOR:

At May 3rd at a Brunch to be announce at PARK MANOR, 607 South Western Ave., we shall have a "station" at which we expect 50% of your quota (as accepted) to be raised.

U. S. OFFICIALS DISREGARD U. S. LAW

Even the McCarron-Walter Law contains a provision (section 243, paragraph H) forbidding the departation of any person to a country where he might suffer bodily harm. Of his certainty to Dovid Hyun's death at the hands of Syngrann Rines, Storley W Earl Susy:

"The statements I make . . . are based on my own knowledge . . . of conditions . . . which I do not believe have changed since my departure from Korea . . . I am unaware of the charges which make Hunn liable for deportation, but I can assure you that if they are in any way considered anti-Rhee, he would meet the fate of the usual political prisoner, which is death."

WHAT CHARGEST

David Hyun, too, is unaware of any real charges brought against him. So are his wife, his ottarney, his friends and neighbors.

As a youth in Howaii Hyun worked for 25c on hour while "white" workers received more Dovid helped arganize the "non-whites" in their fight for equal wages. They wan And Dovid Hyun won the undying entity of Howaiion Big Business.

While David Hyun was in Colifornia, depositions were taken in Hawaii from labor informers and employees of Big Business in Howaii. The charges were vague and Hyun was given no chance to refute them or confront his occursers as provided by the Constitution.

Later on "administrative hearing" was held in Los Angeles by Immigration officials. The depositions were accepted without question as "evidence" against David Hyun. Upon David's protest the presiding official remarked that he would "rule against Hyun no matter what honcess".

WITHOUT TRIAL BY JUDGE OR JURY . . .

NO EVIDENCE has been presented in any court against David Hyun.

NO CRIME is asserted against David, no charge of any crime has been mode against him, except part activities which are now construed as criminal under the McCarron-Walter Act. NO CONVICTION, only a "conclusion" by officials that David Hyun is "undesirable" from their viewpoint.

NO DEFENSE HAS BEEN POSSIBLE for David, such as is guaranteed all Americans under the Constitution of the United States.

BUT DAVID HYUN IS BEING SENT TO HIS DEATH! AND UNDER THE McCARRAN-WALTER ACT THESE PROCEEDINGS ARE "LEGAL"!

AN INJURY TO ONE . . .

If David Hyun is sent to his death because he is considered by certain officials "undesirable" or "subversive", the precedent will be set Other Koreons politically appased to Rhee can be sent to him. Other foreign-born Americans, whether they are now citizens of the U.S. or not, can be handed over to other dictotarial regimes dependent on Administration doilars.

Death is a certainty for any person labeled by the U.S. as "subversive" or even "undesirable" of the hands of these dependent dictators. Regimes known for their blood-letting, existing on Administration hand-aus, will not hesitate to kill "political neamers". THE ADMINISTRATION DOES NOT DARE TO KILL THESE AMERICAN "ALIENS" BUT: IT DOES DARE TO SIND THEM WHERE IT KNOWS THEY WILL BE KILLED!

WHERE IS DAVID NOW?

HELD WITHOUT BAIL, put in semi-isolation, unable to provide for his family, David is imprisoned in Terminal Island Immigration officials have mode it clear that of THE FIRST MOMENT THEY CAN THEY WILL SEND DAVID HYUN TO SOUTH KOREA.

David's attatneys are oppealing for judicial review, trying to get due process of low and David's release on bail. But they are compelled to ask for court protection against Immigration afficials while the appeal is pending BAIL IS IMPORTANT TO DAVID'S LIFE, to take David out of the hands of Immigration officials, to prevent their orbitory action.

WHO IS DAVID HYUN?

A respected long-time resident of Los Angeles, David Hyun has a community-wide reputation as an architect. Raised and schooled in America he carned a Bachelor of Science degree at college. His wife, Mary, is an American of Korean descent and they have two American-born sons. When David Hyun applied for American citizenship he found he was "excluded" by U.S. low:

The son of the Reverend Soon Hyun, retired Methodist Episcopal minister. David Hyun wer born during his father's work in Kareo os a missier ary. The Rev. Hyun was a leading historical figure in the Kareon independence movement. A bitter political fee of Syngman Rhee, Rev. Soon Hyun was a member of the Provisional Government of Korea in Exile. Two of his colleagues at that time who returned to Korea have been assossinated by Rhee's men.

35 prominent professional associates of David Hyun in a letter to Immigration officials concluded: "We have known Mr. Hyun for some time and have observed qualities that cause us to wonder at his possible deportation. He has to our knowledge been a credit to the profession as well as to his adopted homeland."

Of the effect of David Hyun's departation Garrett Eckbo, internationally-known landscape architect, says: The spectocle of the great American government using its mighty powers to persecute ordinary people, for vague or hysterical reasons, is lasing us friends daily around the world." Of his status as an American, Sidney H. May 30. 1955

Dear Friend:

The most serious threat to our BILL OF RIGHTS to arise in the California State Legislature in 1955 has developed over this Memorial Day Week-end!

On Saturday night, at the 11th hour deadline for passage of new legislation in either the Assembly or Senate, Senator Hugh Burns (Chairman of the Senate Un-American Activities Committee) was able to sneak through his notorious S.B. 2003.

This has been done by Assemblyman Burns despite the fact that adequate notice of public hearings was not given, and the Attorney General of California, Pat Brown, who is called upon to enforce this outrageous measure, has been reported as publicly declaring his opposition to S.B. 2003.

S.B. 2003 authorizes the Attorney General of California "to cause the removal from office of trustees, directors or other officers".... of churches, hospitals and charitable organizations if in his opinion such persons are "affiliated with, a sponsor or officer of, or a member of... "any organization which the Un-American Committee or other governmental bodies considers to be "subversive", etc.

WE have DEFEATED the Church Loyalty Bill (A. B. 1215) - The Burns-Chapel Bills - The Fleury Attorney Disbarment Bill (A. B. 1800). It is almost unbelievable that such bad legislation as S. B. 2003 could have passed the California Senate.

It is now up to us -- the final decision will be made in a matter of hours. Come to the Public Protest Mass Meeting at the Unitarian Church TUESDAY night!

The Washington Star:

"* * * a piece of hastily drawn, dubiously useful legislation, inspired more by political motives than by a desire to strike at Communists."

The San Francisco Chronicle:

"* * * an astonishing and disheartening performance."

The Des Moines Register:

"The sheeplike way in which Congressmen have gone along with the move to outlaw the Communist Party presents a discouraging sight of democracy in action * * * It would be a tactical mistake to outlaw the party—as well as a rejection of American traditions and constitutional methods."

St. Louis Post Dispatch:

"Justice Warren warned that the United States must stand as champion of man's right to learn, to disagree, and to dissent from majority opinion. This is a timely repetition of the ancient American principle of 'freedom for the thought we hate.' In that test legislation which punishes ideas or associations instead of actions is dangerous to all."

The Boston Herald:

"The act * * * sets up hazards to our constitutional freedoms * * * Congress has severely stretched the Constitution."

The Louisville Courier Journal:

"* * * denies our traditions and violates many of the protections of the Bill of Rights. Buried in the outlaw bill in such confusion that only lawyers can really sort out its meaning, is a gesture of aimless malice toward 'Communist-dominated labor unions.' Our representatives in Congress might well have devoted the last days of the session to serious affairs of state. Instead, they have presented to the world and to ourselves the dismal spectacle of hundreds of grown men tumbling over one another to outlaw a ghost."

The Minneapolis Star:

"It is a strange political season indeed when 'liberal' politicians who have heretofore vociferously denounced McCarthyism now attempt to out-McCarthy McCarthy * * * Senator Humphrey made an impressive appearance as a guest on * * * a radio program. Given his choice of a world classic to discuss, he chose John Stuart Mills' great essay, On Liberty. We earnestly urge the Senator to reread that essay and reconsider his present conduct."

The Chicago Sun-Times:

"Under our system of laws and justice a man is not punished for what he may think or believe or otherwise subscribe to; he is punished only when he is found guilty of an overt deed violating a specific statute."

The Chicago Daily News:

"They (the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives) have behaved like mobs, and the mobs have been led by misbranded Democratic liberals who want to protect themselves against Senator McCarthy by outdoing him at his own game. It is a sorry spectacle."

CIO News:

"In the final heetic days of the 83d Congress, a bill was hastily passed without full consideration of its connotations and complications. It was voted for by numerous Democratic liberals as an answer to a prolonged and vicious smear by the GOP that the Democrats are 'soft' on communism.

"Ever since the introduction into Congress of proposals for the virtual outlawing of Communist-dominated unions, the CIO executive board has pointed out that such proposals were in effect 'Government licensing of trade unions' which is dangerous to a free labor movement since it would give the Government the power of life and death over all unions." COMMENTS FROM THE LABOR PRESS ON THE COMMUNIST CONTROL ACT OF 1954

[Speakers Bureau]

Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers Union (October 25, 1954):

"Mine-Mill members have been quick to recognize the Brownell-Butler law for what it is.

"It was born as the Goldwater-Rhodes bill, drafted by attorneys for the Phelps-Dodge copper company and sponsored by the American Mining Congress. Those who spawned it have for 75 years fought unionism in the mining industry with clubs and guns, scabs and bullbens, injunctions and Taft-Hartley laws.

"It will therefore surprise no one that the Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers is marked as one of the first targets under the Brownell-Butler law. Other weapons have failed to destroy our union. And in a year like 1954, when many workers in other industries have been forced to settle for no contract gains and some have even been compelled to take wage cuts, the leadership of Mine-Mill has once again pointed the way to the highest settlements chalked up in any basic industry. This the bosses and their agents in Government don't like.

"What they tried and failed to do with the Taft-Hartley law, the companies now mean to try with the Brownell-Butler law.

"NO HONEST UNION SAFE

"If Taft-Hartley was the 'first long step toward fascism,' as the late Philip Murray put it, the Brownell-Butler law is a second and longer step. Basically, the law throws up a new smokescreen behind which all labor's rights and conditions can be destroyed. The new smokescreen is defined as 'Communist-infiltrated organizations.' Not an honest union in America is safe from such a designation under the all-inclusive terms of the law.

"This law was deliberately designed as a snare to catch all except outright company unions. It is not possible to conform to its provisions and still be a trade union. The makers of the law have blocked all the roads and the union that tries to run will find the exits closed.

"Changes of policy, program, and personnel will not appease the enforcers of the law unless they are so complete as to reduce the union to something unable to represent, protect, and fight for its members in any way whatsoever.

"The only change open under the terms of this law is to turn the union into a disorganized pack of Charlie Wilson's 'bird dogs,' scabbing on each other in a hungry prowl for something to eat.

"Neither Brownell, nor the NLRB, nor the SACB, nor the American Mining Congress can determine the policies, program, and leadership of this union. This democratic right belongs to the membership of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and only to the membership.

"The democracy enjoyed in this union enables us to work out our differences of opinion so that we come out with a program which represents the membership. Our democratic processes will also determine the course which represents the best interests of the membership in fighting the new law."

The Catholic Worker (New York (September 1954)):

"This act outlaws the Communist Party and contains amendments to the Subversive Activities Control Act which can strangle the labor movement by depriving unions of their rights on the grounds they are "Communist-dominated."

"The United States is not a police state—yet. Men still may speak out, at a great price. Fewer speak. Yet all of these laws are part of a massive, deep, unprecedented movement toward a police state. Their source is almost always the same, the political bankruptcy of American capitalism in a hostile world."

"The Packinghouse Worker:

"THE BILL OF RIGHTS

"Capitol Hill is in the process, as we go to press, of giving away the keys to the fortress of the militant labor movement to its arch enemies. Under the emotion-packed slogans of saving the country from communism, Attorney General Brownell is blitzing through Congress a whole series of laws that shake the very foundations of American civil liberties. Our telephone wires are to be tapped, constitutional protections stripped away and 'liquidation' awaits our union if the 'authorities' ever conclude that we have been 'infiltrated.'

"Walter Reuther has protested. George Meany of the AFL has protested. The CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers attacked the Brownell bills which threaten the very existence of American trade unionism,' it said.

"In our view it is not a question of dealing with the Communist problem. It is rather the question of whether, under the guise of fighting communism. legislation can be enacted undermining the Bill of Rights and permitting politically motivated hatchetmen to destroy our trade unions if they don't conform to the wishes of the politicians in power."

Oil Worker:

"Congress was displaying an attitude of reckless disregard of basic rights for political purposes. * * * While some lawmakers are currently going on record for bigger and better anticommunism, for political purposes only, others are using it as a cover for their real objective: the destruction of labor unions."

Local 1–S News (United Department Store Workers, CIO):

"The organized labor movement in the United States has been dealt one of the most serious legislative blows in its long battle-scarred history. * * * With this new weapon placed in the hands of the employers and the Government, we need greater unity than ever before.

Joseph Curran, president, National Maritime Union, CIO:

"The latest bills passed by Congress to outlaw the Communist Party * * * will without doubt be used to the advantage of the forces of McCarthy and people like him to do a job on progressive elements and on the labor movement generally.

Colorado Labor Advocate:

"We have closed another gate behind us down the path toward complete outlawing of all dissent * * *. How many more 'anti-Communist' bills will it take to bring us to the brink of fascism?"

The Record (Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, CIO):

"Legislation which all of labor blasted as Government licensing of unions and offering antilabor forces a ready weapon against trade unions has been passed by Congress. The Republicans' aim for a law which could bust unions in the name of anticommunism was thus fulfilled.

The Advance (Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, CIO):

"We are at a loss to understand how the bill traveled so far without defeat * * *. If, as some observers have suggested, they joined in the stampede for political expediency, their actions were heinous * * * the bill as it now stands is a severe blow at civil liberties—the freedom of speech, of thought, of assembly that all Americans are guaranteed by our Constitution.

George Meany, president, AFL:

"The Goldwater-Rhodes (now the Brownell-Butler) bill adds up to licensing of unions. It eliminates and destroys unions."

Earl Jimerson, president, Meat Cutters (AFL):

"Under the Brownell-Butler bill labor unions will be the principal target for the venom of those who would destroy us."

Albert J. Fitzgerald, president, UE:

"The most outrageous (law) in our country's history. We are confident that the American people will not tolerate the destruction of a free labor movement."

Trainman News (Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen):

"Some of the most stupid, yet most dangerous, legislative proposals ever presented to an American Congress."

United Mine Workers Journal:

"(The bills) are a clever ruse by which a man can be accused of 'guilt by association' in one particular city and the whole wage structure and working conditions in a particular industry outlawed nationwide * * *. With the usual delays and time-killing moves a union can be destroyed although entirely inno-This bill, as passed, is just another union-destroying, union-baiting device in the Taft-Hartley pattern."

Joseph A. Beirne, president, Communications Workers (CIO):

"An antilabor employer could infiltrate the union with labor spies. They could report chance statements, casual remarks, statements made in jest or anger * * * to make a plausible charge against the union. The board (Subversive Activities Control Board, SACB) would issue its complaint * * *. labor spy would only have to say that a nonofficer dominated the union and that he had made a subversive remark."

THE OUTLAW BILL

(By H. H. Wilson 1)

Perhaps a Lewis Carroll might provide an adequate description of the proceedings in Congress which led to the passage of Public Law 637, the Communist Control Act of 1954, but it is doubtful that Alice could sustain interest in the nonsense perpetrated by "the world's largest parliamentary body." Self-pro-claimed "liberal" Senators led by Minnesota's Hubert Humphrey, Wayne Morse of Oregon, and John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, pretended they were rigging a coup to outsmart the Republicans. By substitution of an amendment for the administration-sponsored Butler bill, designed to cripple the labor movement, their strategy was intended to relieve Democrats of the onus of "being soft on Communists." Thus Humphrey told the Senate "I am tired of reading headlines about being 'soft' toward communism. I am tired of reading headlines about being a leftist, and about others being leftists." Subsequent discussion, however, suggests that Humphrey and Morse were actually expressing their basic political philosophy. In Humphrey's words, "We knew what we were doing." The Senate, stampeded by those Senator Wiley termed "the galloping horsemen," approved the Humphrey amendment by a vote of 85 to 0. This action "thrilled" Senator Morse as "a great patriotic obligation." Ultimately the Senate passed the whole measure including the Butler antilabor provisions which Senator Lehman characterized as "of grave and almost incalculable danger to the proper, legitimate, and responsible labor movement in America." The final measure was largely written on the floor and pieced together by a Senate clerk. The House was allowed 40 minutes to discuss legislation which involves serious constitutional questions. That no Member of the Congress understood the bill was made plain by Representative Emanuel Celler's candid observation that "we are, in a way, buying a pig in a poke. What does this bill really entail? Nobody really knows.' Nevertheless, no Senator and only two Representatives, Democrat Abraham J. Multer and Republican Usher L. Burdick, dared to vote against the measure. And President Eisenhower signed the law despite its uncertain meaning and ambiguous language.

To avoid what Senator Humphrey termed mere "semantic" difficulty, the act declares that the Communist Party is a conspiracy not a political party and, therefore, it should be outlawed. Presumably this means that the Communist Party ceases to exist as a legal entity, that it cannot sue or be sued in the courts, that it cannot engage in corporate business activity, and that it cannot place candidates for election on any ballot. As a result of powerful administration pressure, the Senate-House conference committee watered down the Humphrey-Martin Dies-Judge Musmanno provision making Communist membership a crime. This was done to protect provisions of the Smith Act and the Internal Security Act of 1950. The final version provides that any individual member who fails to register with the Department of Justice faces a penalty of 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000. A provision aimed directly at labor unions creates a new category, "Communist-infiltrated organizations." These are defined as any organization other than a "Communist-action" or a "Communist-front" organization which "(A) is substantially directed, dominated or controlled by an individual or individuals who are, or within 3 years have been actively engaged in knowingly giving aid or support to a Communist-action organization, a Communist foreign government, or the world Communist movement * * * and (B) is knowingly serving, or within 3 years has knowingly served, as a means for (i) the giving of aid or support to any such organization, government, or movement, or (ii) the impairment of the military strength of the United States or its industrial capacity to furnish logistical or other material support required by its Armed Forces." As Senator Lehman warned, "this bill, in its present form, does not eliminate Communists from labor unions. It eliminates labor unions.

To enable a jury to determine an individual's membership or participation in any proscribed organization, the act establishes a series of criteria. Though these standards will not trip any espionage agent, they may easily provide means for persecuting the innocent. It is difficult to believe that even the immaculate Humphrey or Morse could escape their vague and equivocal wording. Thus an individual may be found guilty of cooperation with the Communists if he has made a financial contribution in any form, has prepared books, pamphlets, or other type of publication that supports objectives or aims of a Communist organization, or has indicated by word, conduct, writing or in any other way willingness to support aims of the Communist Party. The Wall Street Journal comments: "For all we know the Communist Party may be against juvenile deliquency. So is this newspaper. That is a fair sample of the sweeping and vague provisions of this Senate bill." In estimating the repressive potential of these provisions it is well to recall that congressional know-nothings have repeatedly emphasized that the major obstacle they face in destroying New Deal liberals is that "these gravediggers of America have committed no crime" and therefore, prior to the passage of this measure, could not be punished by due process of law.

It may be sufficient commentary on the "clever maneuver" of the Senate "liberals" to recall Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's 1948 observations: "Here is an issue of the highest moral principle. In the present issue the people of this country are being asked to outlaw communism. That means this: Shall we in America, in order to defeat the totalitarian system which we detest, voluntarily adopt the method of that system? * * * I am against it because it is a violation of the Constitution of the United States and of the Bill of Rights, and clearly so. I am against it because it is immoral and nothing but totalitarianism itself. I am against it because I know * * * that the proposal wouldn't work, and instead it would rapidly advance the cause of communism in the United States and all over the world * * * To outlaw the Communist Party would be recognized every place on earth as a surrender of the great United States to the methods of totalitarianism. Stripped to its naked essentials, this is nothing but the method of Hitler and Stalin. It is the control borrowed from the Japanese war leadership. It is an attempt to beat down ideas with a club, the surrender of everything we believe in * * *."

At the risk of appearing unduly hopeful it may be suggested that the legal and constitutional aspects of the Communist Control Act of 1954 are not the most important. Admittedly confidence in the integrity, judgment, and resistance to popular pressure of the courts is eroded by such decisions as that upholding the Smith Act with its nonsense about "conspiring to advocate." However, it is difficult to believe that this legislative mare's nest can survive its first testing in the courts. There is also some possibility that the more Kafka-like aspects of the law will be excised. Even Senator Morse, one of the ringleaders in foisting this fraudulent measure, admits it "is not a very good example of legislative art," and he promises "to do a great deal of legal research work * * * and prepare whatever amendments I decide are necessary." Certainly relatively responsible Senators like Lehman, Cooper, and Kefauver will attempt to eliminate the more flagrant police state characteristics of the law. As it stands Public Law 637 raises a number of constitutional questions and a myriad of administrative problems. Despite Humphrey's effort to establish as legislatively determined fact the conspiratorial nature of the Communist Party it remains of very doubtful constitutionality. Even Senator McCarran questioned the validity of the "conspiracy" approach applied to a political party. "A group may conspire," he said. "However, if they never act, I am at a loss to know what they can be charged with." Is it constitutional to punish for potential acts? Or to outlaw a political party? If the Communist Party is "outlawed," destroyed as a legal entity, can it then be required to register?

Far more serious are the broad political and social implications of this irresponsible congressional behavior. It reveals once again the utter contempt for judicial procedure, due process of law, and the Constitution on the part, be it emphasized, not of primitive-minded reactionaries, but of self-proclaimed professional "liberals" who protest their devotion to civil liberties and the Constitution. Thus Senator Humphrey has the temerity to insist "that this legislation is not an infringement upon civil liberties. We are not infringing upon civil liberties. We are protecting civil liberties." It was the doughty Representative Burdick, the North Dakota Republican never renowned for his devotion to "liberalism," who warned that "tomorrow or next year the Congress can, in like manner, declare any organization, in their opinion engaged in a conspiracy against the United States and make advocates of that movement felons. * * * We have destroyed communism in the United States, the proponents of this bill say, by legislative flat exactly in line with the means employed by Hitler and his Gestapo. By this action we have ceased to operate as a democracy."

With this ill-considered and utterly illogical measure the Congress has provided the instrumentality for the establishment of a police state. It is no defense to argue that many voted for the measure in anticipation of a Presidential veto, or its ultimate rejection by the Supreme Court. The precedent is doubly dangerous when it is placed along side other elements in the Eisenhower-Brownell antisubversion program: the loss of citizenship by convicted Communists, the death sentence for peacetime espionage, legalized wiretapping, and immunity from self-incrimination. With this action the Eisenhower administration with an assist from the "Liberal" Democrats, has completed the legal underpinning for any antidemocratic, authoritarian action that the most extreme demagog could wish to take. With the measures passed by this Congress and approved by a supine Executive, the United States has far exceeded anything imagined by the Weimar Republic.

Finally, this action of a demoralized and bankrupt Congress underscores the basic moral; Democrats have got to elect men who demonstrate their liberalism in more fundamental fashion than by votes on social security, housing, farm, or labor legislation. We desperately need men in office who are dedicated to the preservation of constitutional government. It is a shocking commentary on the degradation of American politics that not a single Congressman dared to attack the whole hoax, or had the integrity to point out, as did the New York Times, that "there is certainly no internal emergency in this country sufficiently grave to warrant the almost hysterical manner in which this legislation was adopted." The depressing fact is that an emotional and intellectual climate adequate to sustain fascism exists in this country. There is no apparent political leadership of courage, caliber, and following to reverse this trend. Nothing more clearly illustrates the extent to which "McCarthyism" has become "20th century Americanism!"

Legal Analysis of the Communist Control Act of 1954, Public Law 637

The two sections of this act comprise the watered-down version of the Humphrey amendment to outlaw the Communist Party and the Butler bill to impose political tests upon trade unions.

(a) The first section deals with the Communist Party and its membership. It deprives the Communist Party of "any of the rights, privileges, and immunities attendant upon legal bodies created under the jurisdiction of the laws of the United States or any political subdivision thereof." The act offers no examples of these rights and privileges and it is not clear from the debate just what rights are intended to be withdrawn. The right to sue and be sued, to enter into any contractual relations, and the right to appear on the ballot were mentioned (Congressional Record, pp. 14087–14088). But several Senators noted that such matters are of State rather than Federal concern. Just what rights can constitutionally be withdrawn without violating the due process clause, without infringing upon matters reserved to the States by the 10th amendment and without flaunting the provisions against bills of attainder is by no means clear. Can Congress direct the States to impair the obligation of contract in violation of article 1, section 10?

Persons determined to be members of the Communist Party are subject, under this first section, to the provisions and penalties of the Internal Security Act of 1950 as members of a Communist action organization. "Membership" under the act is not a matter of signing up with an organization, or paying dues, or acting as an officer thereof or serving on a committee, or attending meetings. One who did none of these acts could be found to be a member under the 14 listed criteria. These criteria include the usual indicia of membership just noted, but they also include such items as the following:

Preparing any type of publication in behalf of the objectives of the organization;

Giving information or suggestions to officers, members, or anyone else in behalf of the purposes of the organization;

Participating in any other way in the activities or purposes of the organization.

Not content with the specific indicia listed, the 14th criteria makes certain that the enumeration "shall not limit the inquiry into and consideration of any other subject of evidence on membership."

Just what are the provisions and penalties to which members are subject? Numerous and conflicting answers were given on the floor of the Senate. Must a member of the Communist Party register as such? And if so, when? Senator Butler, a conferee, said a member must register if within 6 months the Communist Party failed to register 2 (Congressional Record, p. 14393, August 19, 1954). But he also said that the obligation would arise only after the courts had found the Communist Party to be a Communist action organization (ibid.). On the same day Senator McCarran, also a conferee, said that a member must register, when directed to do so, and that the direction could be given immediately (Congressional Record, p. 14403).

Is it now a violation of the Internal Security Act for a Communist Party member to engage in employment in a defense plant or, in seeking such employment, to conceal that he is a member of the Communist Party? Senator Butler seemed first to be of the opinion that such conduct would now be a violation of the Internal Security Act, but later he treated this provision of the Internal Security Act, as concurrent with the registration requirements (both at p.

14393). No other conferees expressed an opinion on the question.

Meanwhile, Senator Humphrey expressed the view that the main use of the bill would be to facilitate prosecution under the Smith Act by obviating the necessity of proving that the Communist Party is a conspiracy, since this had now been established by legislative flat (Congressional Record, p. 14394, August 19, 1954).

Senator Butler said of an earlier version of the bill:

"The legislative history being made here is of no importance unless the bill itself is ambiguous; and certainly the bill is not ambiguous." (Congressional Record, p. 14081, August 17, 1954.)

But 2 days later Senator Morse (who himself did much to muddy the waters) said:

"When I think of the legislative record that has been made on the conference report today, I am glad I am not a member of a court which will have to determine what was the legislative intent of the bill, because almost every possible conflicting point of view which human minds can imagine or concoct has been stated for the Record this morning." (Congressional Record, p. 14404, August

(b) The second section of this act (the Butler bill) amends the Internal Security Act by adding a new category; "Communist-infiltrated" organizations. Such organizations are not only subject to the registration provisions and all other restrictions and disabilities provided for Communist action and Communist-front organizations under that act; they are also—if they are employee or employer organizations—deprived of all rights before the National Labor Relations Board. A Communist-infiltrated organization is one which is "substantially directed, dominated, or controlled" by one or more present or recent members of a Communist-action organization, and is serving (or within 3 years has served) as a means of aiding a Communist-action organization or impairing the military strength or related industrial capacity of the United States. To make the bill palatable to the A. F. of L. and the CIO which had both expressed strong opposition to the bill in its earlier stages, Senator Ives added this proviso:

"* * * any labor organization which is an affiliate in good standing of a national federation or other labor organization whose policies and activities have been directed to opposing Communist organizations, any Communist foreign government, or the world Communist movement, shall be presumed prima facie not to be a 'Communist-infiltrated organization.'

This section of the act is obviously subject to the same constitutional infirmities present in the original Internal Security Act. But the inroads upon constitutional liberties—in practical effect—are far greater. For when an organization is to be branded as a "Communist front," it must at least be shown that it is substantially directed by a "Communist-action" organization and that its prime purpose is to aid communism. But under this act the purpose of the organization, however lawful and worthy, are of no importance or concern. It need be shown only that one of the organization's leaders is or was an active Communist and that the organization has served—knowingly or not—as a means of aiding communism. Judging from past speeches reported in the daily press. such activities as expressing opposition to measures of this kind or to the conduct of congressional investigations are likely to be characterized as giving aid to communism. And even if the organization has not served as a means of aiding communism, it is enough to show that it has served to impair the military or related industrial potential of the United States. (Note that any union striking in a defense plant would meet this latter test.)

<sup>3</sup> "Recent." as here used, means within 2 years—as in sec. 7 (a)—or within 3 years—as ln sec. 10. This ambiguity remains in the final text of the act.

THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON SOME OF THE ANTILABOR SECTIONS OF THE LAW WERE PREPARED BY UE GENERAL COUNCIL DAVID SCRIBNER FOR INFORMATION AND TO CLARIFY THE MEANING AND EFFECT OF THE DIRECTLY ANTI-UNION SECTIONS OF THE LAW

Question: Does the law automatically outlaw or put out of business any unions?

Answer: The answer is emphatically no.

The procedure under the law is as follows:

The Attorney General has to file a petition setting forth the basis of his charges that a union is "Communist-infiltrated." Then the Subversive Activities Control Board gives notice to the union affected that a hearing will be held. A hearing is then held before that Board, at which time the Attorney General has to present evidence. The union and the Attorney General then will have the opportunity to submit briefs. The Board then considers the case and issues a decision and order.

If the order declares that a union is "Communist-infiltrated," the union has the right to appeal to the United States court of appeals. And if the decision of that court after briefs are filed and after the court hears argument is still adverse to the union, an appeal can be made to the United States Supreme Court.

An order of the Subversive Activities Control Board holding that a union is Communist-infiltrated cannot go into effect until after the action of the United States Subreme Court.

A considerable period of time would have to elapse between the filing of a petition by the Attorney General and the final action of the United States Supreme Court.

Question: What penalties does a union suffer after it has been declared to be Communist-infiltrated?

Answer: Essentially any such union would not be permitted to use the facilities of the Taft-Hartley Board, such as elections and the filing of unfair labor practice charges. (The United Mine Workers and the International Typographical Union have consistently refused to use the facilities of the Taft-Hartley Board, calling it an antilabor agency.)

It also permits raiding unions to file for elections if they have the written support of 20 percent of the workers within the particular union. The Taft-Hartley Board could also hold an election if 20 percent of the workers within the unit advised the Taft-Hartley Board that they did not want any union to represent them. Such elections can be held at any time and even if a contract is in effect. However, the Taft-Hartley Board has constantly given encouragement to raiding unions and to antiunion elements who have moved to decertify unions as collective-bargaining representatives.

In addition, a union that is finally declared to be "Communist infiltrated" loses its tax-exemption status.

And when it sends any material through the mails, or when it uses the radio, the union must designate itself as a "Communist-infiltrated" organization.

Question: Are AFL and CIO unions exempted from the operation of this law?

Answer: The answer to that is "No." All unions are subject to this law and can be framed up under this law.

In order to confuse and divide the labor movement in its opposition to this kind of union-control law, the Ives amendment was put into the law. The amendment reads as follows:

"Provided, however, That any labor organization which is an affiliate in good standing of a national federation whose policies and activities have been directed to opposing Communist organizations, any Communist foreign government, or the world Communist movement, shall be presumed not to be a Communist-infiltrated organization."

On the face of this amendment it would appear that such federated unions are exempted. However, nothing is further from the truth. It was admitted by Senator Ives himself, and by a number of other Senators that, despite this amendment, any union, including AFL, CIO, or independent, is subject to this law. Here is an example of what was agreed during the course of the debate on this question:

"Senator Cooper. But there would be nothing in the (Ives) amendment which would prevent an inquiry by the Attorney General or a determination by the Board either against the federation (AFL or CIO), against an affiliate of the federation, if the facts were thought sufficient to require such an inquiry.

"Senator Ives. That is correct. That is definitely the intent of the amendment. Nothing stands in the way of such action by the Attorney General or the Board" (Congressional Record, Aug. 12, 1954, p. 13551).

But even more than that, the Senate had to agree that all unions had the right of a complete presumption of innocence regardless of whether they were affiliated to the AFL or CIO. During the course of the debate on the Ives amendment, the following occurred:

"Senator Ferguson. I realize that all organizations will have the benefit of presumption of innocence. That is the only way to do business in this country.

"Senator Ives. That is the way we started operations in this country.

"Senator Ferguson. That is the only way we do business. Everyone has equal protection under the law. We assume that to be the case" (Congressional Record. Aug. 12, 1954, p. 13553).

It is thus clear that the Ives amendment was adopted in an effort to "soften up" the leadership of the CIO and the AFL in their opposition to this kind of antilabor legislation, by making them believe that AFL and CIO unions could not be attacked under this law. Continued expressions of opposition by AFL and CIO unions to the law after it was adopted is a clear indication that this ruse is not successful.

Question: Is the law intended to give the employers a new weapon against strikes?

One of the things the Subversive Activities Control Board can consider is to what exent the organization or its members have "been knowingly engaged with intent to impair the military strength of the United States or its industrial capacity to furnish logistical or other support required by its Armed Forces in any activity resulting in or contributing to any such impairments." This fancy language refers to strike activity. This was recognized in the congressional debate:

"Senator Gore. * * * My question is: Does the able Senator hold that the adoption of his amendment would so modify the language which I have just quoted that an organization which had engaged in a legitimate strike within 5 years could not, because of such action, be adjudged to be a Communist-infiltrated organization?

"Senator Ives. Oh no; not if the strike had been a legitimate strike. Of course not."

Now the cat is out of the bag. It is perfectly clear that any effective strike could be considered by the Subversive Activities Control Board as a reason for determining that a union is "Communist-infiltrated." Who is to determine whether the strike is "legitimate"? Haven't practically all employers taken the position that every strike is in one way or another "Communist-inspired" and that the very idea of a strike is nothing more than a "Communist" plot? Will the antilabor Subversive Activities Control Board, headed by a chairman who broke strikes in his own State through use of the National Guard, decide that strikes are "legitimate"?

Question: Is this law constitutional; doesn't it violate the rights of working people to organize into their own unions?

Answer: It is my opinion, as well as that of many eminent constitutional lawyers, that this law is unconstitutional. UE will take all the necessary legal steps in order to have this law declared to be invalid. UE has successfully fought over the years against the efforts of the Taft-Hartley Board, grand juries, the Attorney General, and large corporate employers in their efforts to outlaw UE or to make it ineffective.

We say that this is a case of legislative lawlessness. We say that the real reason for adoption of this law was not to safeguard the Government against its overthrow by "Communists," but really for the purpose of striking terror and fear into the hearts and minds of working people and frightening them into submission to wage cuts, runaway shops, speedup, and the like.

STOP THE BROWNELL, BUTLER BILLS

AFL, C1O, Mineworkers, Railroad and the Independent Unions—They All Oppose This Employer-Inspired Squeeze on Labor

STATEMENT OF POLICY ON THE BROWNELL BILLS ADOPTED BY THE ILWU INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE BOARD SEPTEMBER 15, 1954, AT SAN FRANCISCO

In a hysterical frenzy, and with an unprecedented display of cynicism and shaby vote seeking, the past Congress ended after hurriedly enacting a group of the most ill-advised and un-American laws ever put on the books of our land.

These ill-begotten evil laws were almost unanimously adopted by the Congress even though no one had a copy of what they were voting for.

Not since the Congress of 1798, which passed the ill-famed and short-lived alien and sedition laws, have the American people been in such danger of losing their democratic rights and their constitutional guaranties to power-hungry politicians who elaim to know better than the people what is best for them.

Driven by the insistence of the Eisenhower administration that these "must" bills be passed, Democrats and Republicans in Congress voted without reservation for a legal monstrosity which directly assaults all Americans in all walks of life, but especially those in labor unions.

The Congress outlawed a political party—the Communist Party—and while the politicians tried to outdo each other in proving their anti-Communist ardor they also passed a union-controlled law which had been emphatically condemned by every organized labor group in America.

At the same time, as part of a deliberate program of intimidation and fear, the espionage laws were expanded and a peace-time death penalty was adopted for the first time in history. Finally, to complete this package, the absolute protection of the fifth amendment to the Constitution—which was written into the organic law of the land to protect individuals from a too-powerful and preying Government—was rewritten to be a right which can be taken away at will by any Federal judge.

For the American union movement, the Congress enlarged the McCarran law and the jurisdiction of the Subversive Activities Control Board to cover all unions and union activities.

The real purpose of this legislative monstrosity is to silence all dissent in our land. It permits the labeling as subversive and the punishment of any group of citizens who criticize Government policy, fight for higher wages, or call a strike. The purpose is to create a union movement which is tame and docile, which carefully steers away from all "controversial issues," and which is led by officials who will accommodate their policies not to ask what the rank and file needs and wants but to what the current administration in Washington needs and wants for its political purposes at home or abroad.

To understand the urgent need for these new laws we must realize that United States policy cannot be successfully peddled anywhere in the world today without a union label on it. Every government in the world today, whether it be capitalist, Communist. Socialist, or otherwise—whether the country is independent, colonial or semicolonial—demands that its union movement shall serve the government's ends. In the United States the Brownell laws are for the purpose of enforcing just such a pattern or policy which could not be obtained by any other means.

As the ILWU predicted and warned during the Korean war in 1950, the screening of individuals on the job has now been extended to the screening of organizations. Just as waterfront screening inevitably hit all waterfront workers and not just the so-called subversives, so the new antiunion laws will undoubtedly be used against all unions and not just a few.

Unions can now be labeled "Communist infiltrated" if any individual member—not necessarily an elected officer—cannot prove to the satisfaction of the Subversive Activities Control Board that his work on the job, his votes at union meetings, his union policies, and his union activities were not for subversive ends

In a political atmosphere in which the policies of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the Democratic Party have been labeled "20 years of treason," can any rank-and-tile democratic trade union expect to continue its policies without attack? The fact is that there has not been a single position ever taken by the ILWU or any economic or political issue which was not openly espoused by FDR, Willkie, and even the CIO, for many years. Yet today these very policies can and will be used to prove one charge or another against the union.

It all comes back to the old charge that the rank and file of this union does not know what they're doing, that they have been hornswoggled by misleaders, and that even if they do decide policy they don't know what is in their best interest anyway. Senator Knowland or Attorney General Brownell, or the Subversive Activities Control Board—like the CIO before them—all insist they know better than the membership what policies the union should follow.

The ILWU will have none of this. This union concedes only to its own elected officials and to elected and delegated committees, conventions, or caucuses, under the constitution of the ILWU, the authority to recommend policies to the rank and file, subject to their acceptance or rejection. No Government board, politician, or agency is going to assume the power of passing on or judging the policies of this union.

Any moves against any individual members of the union will be recognized as a trial of the entire ILWU, and the entire union will stand up united to defend itself. We have no need—nor do we intend—to defend our union's policies. They are what they are and they were adopted by the membership who honestly believe them to meet the needs of the union, our country and its people. On this score our policies have more often been proved right than those of the politicians who are now determined to run our organization for us.

We do intend to fight with every resource at our command any attempt to prevent this union from continuing to make its own policies as its members decide. In such a fight we ask and expect every member of this union—no matter what his belief or his bias—to leave the job and to appear as a solidly united group before any court or Government board, if necessary to protect the union.

As we see it, what is at stake here is our ability to fight, to make policies—and even to make mistakes so long as we make them ourselves.

It is our responsibility as Americans and as unionists who have proved they know how to build a union, to operate it democratically, and to make it a force for improving the welfare of all people—not only of our members—to recognize these laws for what they are and to fight them.

There can be no difference between us in this fight. We know that we will find allies all over the land, among other working people and the common people everywhere, in our insistence that this union and its policies continue to be the exclusive property of the members.

Memorandum on Immigration and Naturalization Provisions of the McCarran-Wood Law

EFFECTIVE DATE

The effective date of the McCarran-Wood law (Internal Security Act of 1950) is September 23, 1950.

I. GROUNDS FOR DEPORTATION

The following are among the new grounds for the deportation of noncitizens, regardless of their length of residence in the United States (sec. 22):

- 1. Aliens who "engage in activities which would be prejudicial to the public interest, or would endanger the welfare or safety of the United States."
- 2. Aliens who were or are "members of or affiliated with the Communist Party of the United States."
- 3. Aliens who are "members of or affiliated with any organization which is registered or required to be registered" under the McCarran-Wood law as "Communist-action" or "Communist-front" organizations.
- 4. "Aliens who advocate or teach or who are members of or affiliated with any organization that advocates or teaches the overthrow by force or violence or other unconstitutional means of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law."

II. COUNTRY OF DEPORTATION

Noncitizens ordered deported can be deported "to the country specified by the alien, if it is willing to accept him into its territory," or country of birth, or port of embarkation, or "to any country which is willing to accept such alien into its Territory." Except that, "no alien shall be deported * * * to any country in which the Attorney General shall find that such alien would be subjected to physical persecution" (sec. 23).

III. RIGHT TO BAIL

A. Before an order for deportation, a noncitizen arrested in deportation proceedings can be held without bail, or released on bond or conditional parole. The law provides: "Pending final determination of the deportability of any alien taken into custody under warrant of the Attorney General, such alien may, in the discretion of the Attorney General (1) be continued in custody; or (2) be released under bond in the amount of not less than $500 * * * ; or (3) be released on conditional parole" (sec. 23).

B. After an order for deportation has been made against any noncitizen, "the Attorney General shall have a period of 6 months from the date of such order within which to effect the alien's departure from the United States, during which period, at the Attorney General's discretion, the alien may be detained, released on conditional parole, or upon bond * * *" (sec. 23).

IV. REPORTING AND SUPERVISION

If, after 6 months, a noncitizen is not deported, he "shall, pending eventual deportation, be subject to supervision under regulations prescribed by the Attorney General. Such regulations shall require any alien subject to supervisions (1) to appear from time to time at specified times or intervals before an officer of the Immigration and Naturalization Service for indentification; (2) to submit, if necessary, to medical and psychiatric examination at the expense of the United States; (3) to give information under oath as to his nationality, circumstances, habits, associations and activities, and such other information whether or not related to the foregoing as the Attorney General may deem fit and proper; and (4) to conform to such reasonable written restrictions on his conduct or activities as are prescribed by the Attorney General in his case." Failure to comply with regulations, to appear or give information, or to submit to examination would be a felony punishable by a fine of $1,000 and 1-year imprisonment (sec. 23).

V. FAILURE TO DEPART

Any noncitizen ordered deported "who shall willfully fail or refuse to depart from the United States within a period of 6 months from the date of such order of deportation * * *or shall willfully fail or refuse to make timely application in good faith for travel or other documents necessary to his departure, or who shall connive or conspire, or take any other action, designed to prevent or hamper or with the purpose of preventing or hampering his departure pursuant to such order of deportation * * * shall upon conviction be guilty of a felony, and shall be imprisoned not more than 10 years" (sec. 23).

VI. COST OF TRAVEL

"If any alien subject to this section is able to depart from the United States, except that he is financially unable to pay his passage, the expense of such passage enforcement of this Act * * * " (sec. 23).

VII. IMMIGRATION

The law permits the Attorney General to bar any noncitizen he desires from the United States without any hearing or any recourse to appeal (sec. 22).

VIII. NATURALIZATION

Prevents the naturalization of any noncitizen who, within 10 years of filing of a petition for naturalization, is a member of any organization registered or required to be registered by the law (sec. 25).

"No person shall be naturalized against whom there is outstanding a final order of deportability, and no petition for naturalization shall be finally heard by a naturalization court if there is pending against the petitioner a deportation proceeding" (sec. 27).

"After the petition for naturalization has been filed in the office of the clerk of the naturalization court, the petitioner shall not be permitted to withdraw his petition, except with the consent of the Commissioner" (sec. 28).

IX. DENATURALIZATION

Any noncitizen who becomes a naturalized citizen after January 1, 1951, shall have his citizenship canceled if, within 5 years after becoming a citizen, he becomes a member of or affiliated with any organization, membership in or affiliation with which at the time of naturalization would have precluded such person from naturalization would have raised the presumption that such person was not attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and not well disposed to the good order and happiness of the United States (sec. 25).

X. ANNUAL NOTIFICATION OF ADDRESS

Beginning with January 1, 1951, every noncitizen in the United States must notify the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization in writing of his current address each year within 10 days after January 1. Therefore, between January 1, 1951, and January 10, 1951, all noncitizens will have to send a post-card or letter to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Washington, D. C., notifying the Commissioner of his current address. Failure to comply will mean a $100 fine and a 30-day sentence (sec. 24).

ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS

We regard these 10 points as the major provisions affecting the rights of noncitizens and naturalized citizens of the McCarran-Wood law. There are other provisions affecting the rights of seamen to become American citizens; the issuance of subpenas in naturalization proceedings; and other sections—all of which will be analyzed and discussed in other memoranda to be issued in the future concerning the provisions of this law. Also, each of the 10 points discussed in this memorandum will require additional analysis and discussion. This memorandum, however, is intended to serve as an immediate and general guide to the major provisions of the new law.

Dear Friend:

The enclosed pamphlet "The Case of Marie Richardson Harris" tells the true story of persecution and injustice suffered by this innocent and courageous Negro woman leader.

Our Defense Committee is confident that justice will ultimately prevail because we believe that you and others like you, will see to it.

The legal briefs appealing this case to the U.S. Court of Appeals are costly—yet necessary. Funds are therefore, urgently needed. We know that after reading this pamphlet you will respond to our plea. If you have given in the past we ask that you again help, for with that help we know it will not be long before this valient Negro woman is vindicated.

The Defense Committee, and Mrs. Marie Richardson Harris, and her family, all join in expressing appreciation for any help and encouragement you may give.

With deepest thanks

Dear Cater;

You will find enclosed 2 pieces of material which tell the story of the case of my sis ter, Marie Richardson Harris. My parents and I are extremely impressed with the accuracy of the material and with the vigorous determination of the Defense Committee, which has been formed around the case.

We believe that all issues are covered in the enclosed folder, but there are 2 other issues which we feel are pertinent to her case:

- 1. Both my sister and I, from time to time, through our Unions, The United Federal Workers of America, CIO, and the United Public Workers, exposed discriminatory practices in Federal employment directed against Negroes by officials of the Federal government.
- 2. My sister's indictment was handed down last December, six months after I had become National Co-Director of the American Peace Crusade and only a few days after the case against Dr. W.E.B. DuBois, Honorary Co-Chairman of the American Peace Crusade, was dismissed.

We believe that the right of government employees to be free of the loyalty order witch hunts and the right of all Americans to speak and work for peace are factors in the case of Marie Richardson Harris.

My parents and I have been asked by the Defense Committee to aid it in bringing to the attention of our friends the facts in this case and what steps are available to those who will see justice done. I am enclosing a copy of the letter from the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Lynwood Cundiff, with the Committee's address.

Any assistance you or your friends may find it possible to render to the Committee at this critical time will be greatly appreciated.

With deepest thanks,

THE VICTIM OF A MODERN WITCH HUNT

Frederick Douglass

The slave masters feared and hated that heroic woman, Harriet Tubman, who led her people to freedom during the dark days of human bondage, but neither the spirit of the slave masters nor the spirit of Harriet Tubman are dead in America today. That is why we have . . .

The Case of Marie Richardson Harris

The Case at a Glance

THIS IS NOT JUST A STORY of an innocent woman who has been jailed on trumped-up charges instituted by vindictive officialdom in the grasp of small and frightened men.

THIS IS A MIRROR of present day America which reflects the tragic depths to which we have slumped under the synthetic pressure of cold war hysteria and fear of Communism; which is merely a substitute for fear of change.

THIS IS A STORY of modern America lost in the mire of psychological terrorism and charging headlong towards fascism, substituting trial by stool pigeon for trial by fact.

MARIE RICHARDSON HARRIS IS BUT A PAWN in this game in which Democracy is being made a shambles; in which the testimony of paid informers is paraded before juries who have themselves been made impervious to reason by the imaginary goblins stirred up by high power propagandists to stalk the lands and render the true lovers of freedom impotent.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO MARIE RICHARDSON HARRIS CAN HAPPEN TO YOU unless this mad rush toward the incarnation of injustice is halted now.

THIS IS THE STORY OF A NEGRO WOMAN WHO SELFLESSLY AND BRAVELY

FOUGHT FOR NEGRO FREEDOM: for equal job opportunities, to end segregation, for legal justice.

FOUGHT FOR WORKING PEOPLE: their right to organize to win decent wages and working conditions.

FOUGHT FOR DEMOCRACY FOR ALL: for home rule in the Nation's Capital, for defense of civil liberties, violations.

QUESTION: Will she, and others like her, be free to continue to work for these worthy purposes?

Answer: YES . . . If you and others like you demand it and speak out now for justice for her! For then not only will she be able to carry on but others will take heart and be encouraged to join their strength to the various organized efforts to end the shameful blight upon our Nation of a segregated, voteless, Capital city.

PRISON

Why is this Negro Woman confronted with from two to seven years in prison and a $2,000 fine?

Did she murder, bribe anyone, or commit treason, theft, assault? No, she did not! Nor any other such misdeed. This is what she did. She answered all the questions on a Government Job Application back in 1948 which resulted in her working for a few months as a clerk in the Library of Congress, from which she voluntarily resigned to do other work. Her work, while at the Library of Congress was never challenged but was performed loyally and satisfactorily.

BUT one of these questions was an unsuspected Trap! After a lapse of 3 years, in 1951, it was-used as a frame-up case against her. It was a question designed to keep alleged Communists out of Government. But it proved to be a wonderful handle by which reactionary elements who brand as "Communist," every effort toward social advancement, might stop not only this Negro woman leader but also set an example to frighten others from fighting for the same things she stood for.

"NO" was Mrs. Marie Richardson Harris's answer to this question and she has repeatedly declared she told the truth and that she is innocent of the Attorney General's charge that she lied.

THE "TRIAL"

In March, 1952, trial was held. Was it fair? Was the atmosphere free and open? Was she tried by a jury of her equals as provided in the Constitution? Was the judge objective and neutral?

The answer is that she was tried in the anti-Communist hysteria of today; the jury was mainly government workers whose jobs were in jeopardy; the jury was mainly white persons; the setting was in a segregated city, and the judge, who defiled the best traditions of judicial fairplay and impartiality, without the slightest justification whatsoever hysterically dragged in reference to spy plots and international espionage.

Washington Post, March 8, 1952—Judge James R. Kirkland, in imposing the sentence, also fined the former Howard University student $2,000. In imposing sentence, Judge Kirkland said . . . "If your country had been at war, and you had given material aid to a foreign government under our espionage statute, you too, like Mr. and Mrs. Rosenberg, might be sitting in death's row at Sing Sing Penitentiary, awaiting electrocution."

Under such circumstances a verdict of not-guilty could hardly have been expected. The case has been appealed to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

MEET

Mrs. Marie Richardson Harris

But was there anything in the history of this young woman to justify such an intemperate tirade by a fair minded jurist. Here are the facts.

Born, lived and worked in District of Columbia all her life. Educated at Cardozo High School, Howard University, and Terrell Law School.

During World War II was awarded two merit awards for her work in Civil Defense Program.

Active with the National Council of Negro Women, National Association for Advancement of Colored People, National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax, the Vermont Avenue Baptist Church and the Progressive Party.

First Negro woman to hold national office in a labor union when, in 1941, designated National Representative of United Federal Workers of America where she organized workers in Freedman's Hospital, Howard University, Bureau of Engraving & Printing, Federal Security Agency. Also assisted in organizing Red Caps of America and Red Caps Women's Auxiliary.

Executive Secretary of D. C. branch of National Negro Congress. Courageously challenged police brutality and fought for jobs in Capital Transit and elsewhere for Negro People. Vigorously campaigned for Home Rule in D. C. and for ending segregation in Washington.

WHY SHE IS PERSECUTED

On December 7, 1951, Attorney Ralph Powe said: "The U. S. Government has taken a new step in its witch hunt drive against federal employees by the indictment of Mrs. Marie Harris. The indictment which alleges that Mrs. Harris falsified her application for government employment, is clearly an indication that the Government is determined to further its thought control program."

WHAT THE DEFENSE SAID:

Mrs. Marie Richardson Harris was represented by the law firms of Cobb, Howard and Hayes; Parker and Parker and Attorney Ralph Powe. Here is what Attorney Hayes said of the Government's own witnesses in the case:

Washington Post. Feb. 28, 1952—In arguing for dismissal, George E. C. Haves, one of her attorneys. declared "the Government isn't able to produce any evidence that this defendant was a member of the Communist Party." Haves attacked testimony of two Government witnesses . . . Mrs. Mary Stalcup Markward, an FBI undercover agent, and Henry Thomas, admitted former Communist and President of Local 74. AFL Building Laborers' Union. Mrs. Markward. Hayes charged, "comes within the purview of a paid informer," and her testimony should be disregarded. Her evidence identifying Mrs. Richardson as a party member was based on "hearsay," Hayes said, and the only evidence "tending" to show membership was a party card bearing Mrs. Richardson's name. But the writing was in Mrs. Markward's handwriting, the attorney declared, and by Mrs. Markward's own admission on the stand she testified that Mrs. Richardson never signed or received the card. Thomas, he "expressly does not name her as being a Communist," Hayes said.

WHAT IMPARTIAL CITIZENS SAY:

March 7, 1952

"... I do petition the Judge to release her from these false charges because there is nothing in her to deserve her to serve one minute of her time in prison. Being a Minister of God, and having worked side by side with her and knowing all the good things she has done; I am very grateful to take this opportunity to make this appeal to you, Honorable Judge, to exonerate her completely from these charges."

Herbert S. Carrington, Elder, First Church of Christ Holiness

February 12, 1952

"It is the opinion of this Committee that Mrs. Richardson is a victim of circumstances over which she had no control. It is further the unanimous opinion of this Committee that the Baptist Ministers Conference of Washington, D. C. and vicinity, and all the Christian forces of this community, should give their full and complete moral and financial support in defense of the rights of this young woman.

But in California, His Honor Judge Ben Harrison took the Constiscrap of paper. (A test case, --- to provide a precedent for others to come?) Attorney-General Harold McGrath orders these four to without bail indefinitely. This retrogression to government by force and illegality must be checked. Our country has sufered a similar period of deterioration before. after the First World War, during the Palmer Raids, when the Department of Justice went raiding, arresting, jailing without warrant and without bail, and brutally torturing, countless in-nocent and harmless people. Shall this happen gain in 1951?

And undermines the structure of our basic law. As a first halting-point for such breakdown of national ethics and constitutional guarantees, this question of the right of bail will be brought beore the Supreme Court of the United States.

The jailing of persons without trial and due process of law is prohibited by the Constitution. The 8th Amendment of the Bill of Rights guarantees the RIGHT TO BAIL to all who reside within our borders.

We urge you to uphold the Bill of Rights by granting bail to victims of the deportation provisions of the McCarran Act. We specifically urge that you grant freedom on bail to MARTIN YOUNG, held prisoner on Ellis Island since October 1951, and to grant administrative bail to MIRIAM STEVENSON, DAVID HYUN, FRANK CARLSON, and HARRY CARLISLE (the "Terminal Island Four").

Your attack through the recent arrests upon the foreigborn is intolerable. Your disregard for the aged and the sick is inhuman. I cannot but conclude that you are pursuing a course which is intended to create hysteria, terror and fascist conformity.

Your jailing of Harry Carlisle and holding him without bail on Terminal Island is punitive detention and a violation of his constitutional right to bail.

PROTEST

The Justice Department cancelled bail in the deportation cases of these four Freedom Fighters and threw them into jail. Harry Yaris and Frank Borich are held at Ellis Island; Katherine Hyndman in County Jail, Crown Point, Indiana. Sam Milgrom was held at Ellis Island for seven weeks and is still denied bail even though he was ill and had to be removed to Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City.

Cancellation of their bail was an arbitrary move — just before the November 4th elections. Torn from their families and friends, their imprisonment was designed to silence their voices, remove them from activity and cease their work in the cause of peace and fredom.

DEMAND THEIR FREEDOM

This is the Walter-McCarran Law in action. This is a desperate attempt to rob the American people of the right to bail by first singling out the non-citizen. Use the postcard below and let the Attorney General know your sentiments. Don't remain silent while the American right to bail is in danger.

ACT TODAY!!!

Attorney General Justice Department Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

I consider the denial of bail to Katherine Hyndman, Frank Borich, Sam Milgrom and Harry Yaris a direct flaunting of their democratic rights. I am especially alarmed over the effect this action may have on the liberties of the American people.

I urge that you use the power of your office to immediately free these four non-citizens on bond and thereby help preserve a great American tradition.

The United States government's domestic policy of "forced repatriation" was being stepped up today with the kidrop deportation of Reuben Ship, Holly-wood radio writer and the arrest of Mrs. Anna Nagin, Burbank housewife, by immigration authorities.

Ship, under threat of deportation for refusing to name names for the FBI and to testify before the un-American committee, was summarily put aboard a plane and shipped to Canada when he went to report to the Immigration and Naturalization Service. as required.

Even his wife, Oda Ship, mother of their three young American-bron childrenthe oldest ten years old and four-year old twins--was not notified of her husband'e exile. He, under armed guard, was allowed to call her just before the plane left for Canada.

Mrs. Nagin 58, who has lived in the U.S.A. since a girl of 14, was arrested at her home early today(7/22) and held in detention at the Immigration offices, 458 S. Spring St., until $500 bail could be raised.

Mrs. Nagin had citizenship through her father who was born in Poland and naturalized when she was an under-age child. She lost it, in the meze of changing immigration laws, through marriage. Learning this, in 1951 she reapplied, passed citizenship examinations with flying colors and was set to go before the judge for final papers when the FBI swooped down.

That time they questioned her for three hours, without an attorney.

Mrs. Nagin was like many another foreign-born American.

Her four children were all American-born, three daughters and a son who for three years, during World War II, served his country in the U.S. Army Air Force, wae a veteran of Saipan and Iwojima.

She had been a member of the International Workers Order where she and her husband carried small insurance policies. During the war she had done her part on the home front, working long, ardous hours for the  $U_0S_0O_0$

Tuesday they came again, these men of the Immigration office; arrested her while her husband was away at his work; took her into I&NS headquarters, finger-printed her, brushed aside questions of her American-born daughter with a snarling, "That's our business." There she was held until the Committee for Protection of Foreign-Born obtained her release on bail, secured through the Bail Fund Committee.

"This shocks me beyond all belief," her daughter, a typical American careergirl said. "Until today I have refused to believe such a thing was really happening.
"Now I know. I've waked up. I realize now that my mother isn't the only one.
I'm telling my friends, and neighbors, about those hard-faced men at the immigration office. I intend to work to one end: that this mother of mine who has lived here all of her life will live the rest of it here with her family; that its time that Americans act to stop such outrages once and for always."

To Second Annual Conference of Los Angelos Committee for Protection of Foreign Born

To Trade Unions, Fraternal, Social, Religious, and Political Groups; Organizations of Mexican, Negro, Jewish, and all Mincrity Peoples; Women's and Youth groups, clubs, federations; and all who oppose the McCarran and McCarran-Walter Laws.

The Bill of Rights has been undermined by a campaign of terror against foreign born citizens and non-citizens throughout the Nation, directed by the Department of Justice which invokes oppressive laws.

Here on the West Coast, and particularly in the Los Angeles area foreign born residents in increasing numbers are boing subjected to questioning, direct and indirect intimidation against exercise of free speech, arrests on deportation charges because of political beliefs, and denial of bail without trial.

Throughout the Southwest, communities of Mexican-Americans, numbering over a million residents are systematically hurassed and subjected to deportation terror by the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Periodical round-ups for purposes of mass deportations result in many American-torn citizens of Mexican origin being thrown across the United States-Mexican border. In October 1952 Mr. James Griffin, President of the American Agricultural Council in Texas, charged that during such raids as many as 500 American-born children of Mexican parents were being deported daily to Mexico.

During the past year the number of political deportation cases in this area has more than doubled. Today the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Poreign Born is defending 76 deportees, members of trace unions, and Traternal, nationality and cultural groups, among them 15 Mexican-Americans who are also being victimized by the McCarran Act.

In the face of this police-state attack, committees for protection of the foreign born have been aided by trade unions and other people's organizations, and have developed mass campaigns of protect as well as supplying able legal counsel to victims of political censorship and thought control.

Today the need is greater than ever, because the attack is being systematically widened from the three million non-citizens to the fourteen million citizens of foreign birth. Thus far in this delibrate attack on the foreign born the McGarran act has been used. But on December 24th, 1952, the McCarran-Malter (at below s law. Not only does it embrace all the evil features of the McCarran Act of 1775, not adderacist immigration measures to infamics inflicted on the total foreign corn peoples resident in the United States. It reduces the 14 million naturalized citizens to second-class status - for it threatens to take away citizenship rights on any number of grounds.

By the same token, just as deportations inflict pain and punishment on the American born children and other relatives of deportees, so denaltralisation threatens American-born children and other relatives in tremendously increased armours.

This infamous attack on the forcign born as history demonstrates, - a prelude to dostruction of the rights of all Americans - must be halted now I we may you to carry out your responsibility to your children and all fellow Americans by Sections us at the proposed conference - as delegate or observer - or accurday, February 1, 1953, at the Park Manor in Los Angeles, to formulate an effective Program of Action to STOP THE DEPORTATION DRIVE & PERSECUTION OF THE FOREIGN BORN, to STOP HER 14-55 DEPORTATION OF MEXICAN WORKLRS, and to NULLIFY AND REPEAL THE LOCARRAN-WALTER, - A MCCARRAN LAWS.

Since the passage of the Walter-McCarran Law there has been a demand for speakers and information, which grows daily as more sections are informed and more Americans victimized.

September approaches, which has been designated as "Repeal the McCarran-Walter Law Month", therefore the need for qualified speakers becomes even more necessary.

To meet this situation, the Los Angeles Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born is offering as one of its public services a Seminar to train speakers on all aspects of the law. We have been successful in obtaining experts to lead the discussions. Please elect a representative from your organization who will be trained to speak factually in the name of your own organization. # FACTS YOU'VE NOT BEEN TOLD BY MR. LANDON

- 1. DAVID HYUN AND MIRIAM STEVENSON are not charged with any "crime" nor of committing a single overt act.
- 2. That DAVID HYUN AND MIRIAM STOVENSON have never been allowed to face their accusers.
- 3. That DAVID HYUN AND MIRIAM STEVENSON'S attorneys have never been allowed to know or to cross-examine these accusers.
- 4. That DAVID HYUN AND MIRIA: STEVENSON have never had a trial in any court; under the McCarran-Walter Law the Immigration officers are judges, juries and executioners of sentence.
- 5. That DAVID HYUN is a non-citizen only by the accident of birth. His brothers and sisters are all American citizens; only he the youngest was born on Korean soil where his minister father had returned to serve under Bishop Harris, American Methodist bishop. He applied for papers but was not given citizen-ship under the Oriontal Exclusion Act.
- 6. That MIRIAM STEVENSON has not lived in England since she was 11 when she came to Canada and thence to United States with her family. She has lived here continuosly since she was 13. A "lost visa" -- lost by Immigration officials-showing legal entry has made her deportation possible.
  - If deported she leaves in this country her aged mother and 23-year old American born son.
- 7. SECTION 243. Paragraph H of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1950 (the McCarran Act) gives the attorney general discretion quote to withhold de-portation of any alien within the United States to any country in which in his opinion the alien would be subject to physical persecution unquote.
  - It is a matter of public knowledge that David Hyun's father, the Reverend Soon Hyun, for years played a leading and active role in the fight for Korean independence and has differed most sharply with Syngman Rhee. Two of his former colleages, Lyuh Woon Hyung and Kim Koo, have been assassinated, giving further concrete evidence of the fate awaiting anyone who opposes Rhee's policies.
- 8. DAVID HYUN AND MIRIAM STEVENSON do not seek asylum in Czechoslovakia or elsewhere. They were required, under the McCarran-Walter Law to name a choice of country for deportation and did so. They want to live here, as they have already lived here all of their adult lifetimes; follow their professions and raise their American-born families.
- That GROUNDS FOR DEPORTATION, quoting NEWSWEEK'S "Platform" (April 1953), under the McCarran-Walter Law "range from present or former membership in the · Communist Party to failure to file a notice with the Attorney General within ten days of change of address.
- 10. That DAVID HYUN AND MIRIAM STEVENSON are only two of "20,000 people I have to deport." The words are Mr. Landon's, spoken to Mary, Hyun's American born wife.

We are at all times glad to furnish the press with documented facts on the Hyun, Stevenson and Carlisle case and other deportation cases and background material on the Mcarran-Walter Act :

FACT SHEET ON DEFORTATION CASES

FACTS ON THE CASES:

During the past week, the American people have seen the first application of the unconstitutional McCerran Act. In a series of midnight raids over the weekend of October 21st, thirteen foreign born residents were arrested without warrent, denied bail and herded into prison. During the week, additional arrests brought the total up to 5.

In los Angeles, three men and one woman are now being held at Terminal Island and one in County Jail. A sixth victim, Mrs. Rose Spector, who had recently undergone an operation, was released on bail only because of ill health.

The los Angeles Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, together with the Civil Rights Congress, immediately developed a campaign for mass action. On Monday morning, a delegation of over 30 people, brought together in less than two hours, and representing many organizations, confronted District Director of Immigration Herman Landon in his office, demanding the immediate release of the prisolers, and an end to any Jurther arrests. On Thursday, a noon-time picket line before the Department of Immigration further expressed the indignation of the people of Los Angeles. Telegrams of protest are being sent in the hundreds to Attorney Genéral EdGrath and President Trumen. All efforts ere being made to secure publicity on the radio and television. Habeas corpus proceedings have been initiated.

Already the illegal and unconstitutional actions of the Immigration Department in arresting these men and women have been attached in two court decisions in San Francisco and Seattle, which resulted in the release of five persons on bail pending further hearings. These decisions indicate that every possibility exists not only to free those who have teen arrested, but also to prevent further arrests, and to arouse the American people to force through the repudiation and repeal of the McCarran Act.

LOS ANGELES COMMITTEE FOR FROTECTION OF FOREIGN BORN 326 W. 3rd St. Los Angeles 13, Calif. Rose Chem in, Executive Secretary MAdison 2169

Attorneys for David Hyun and Miriam Stevenson will show cause why the two should not be deported in open court hearings on Monday, August 3, at 10 a.m.

Hyun's case will be heard before Federal Judge Benjamin Harrison; Mrs. Stevenson's before Federal Judge Ernest Tolin.

Hearings will be on writs of habeaus corpus, petitions for which were filed by attorneys last Friday.  $(7/2l_1)$ .

Decision of defense attorneys to ask habeas corpus writs followed dismissal, by Federal Judge Harry C. Westover on technical, legal grounds, of their request for a permanent restraining order against the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

This arm of the U.S. Department of Justice had ordered Hyun and Mrs. Stevenson to surrender for deportation on July 6 -- Hyun to probable death in Syngman Rhee's 'South Korea, Stevenson to exile in England. Both have lived on American soil since childhood and have American-born families.

Attorneys, in dropping the appeal for stay on a restraining order, pointed out that they are still convinced of the legal merits of their original petition for injunctive relief and should properly pursue it through the courts.

However, they pointed out, should legal entanglements momentarily leave Hyun and Mrs. Stevenson outside court jurisdiction, the government might forthwith deport both.

Precedent for just such a move was set last week when (7/22) immigration authorities "kidnapped" Reuben Ship, Hollywood radio writer, and sent him by plane to Canada after assuring him that he would be granted at least 48 hours advance notice to wind up affairs and say goodbyes to friends and family.

Instead, on reporting as required to immigration authorities, Ship was seized, handcuffed, whisked to Terminal Island under heavy armed guard and enplaned to Detroit, Mich. There he was jailed in chains overnight and the next day, still handcuffed and heavily guarded, dumped over the border into Canada.

Ship, just out of the hospital after a serious leg operation and on orutohes when kidnapped, is now at his parents' home in Canada in a state of near-collapse.

He, when ordered deported, had asked voluntary departure, at his own expense, so that he might take his wife and two young American-born children, a son of 10 and twin girls 4, with him. This request the Immigration department summarily denied.

B rutal pactices of immigration officers in this and similar cases, including mass round-ups of Mexican workers who are thrown over the border at the rate of 2,500 per day, lead attorneys and friends of Hyun and Stevenson to fear that Hyun might be similarly kidnapped and delivered into the blood-stained hands of South Korea's Syngman Rhee.

Attorneys, seeking a restraining order pending hearings on the habeas corpus writ, obtained assurance on the record in court that immigration authorities would not shanghai Hyun and Stevenson pending further court hearings.

Rose Chernin, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, announcing the hearings made an emphatic plea for full court attendance on August 3.

"Nith two courtrooms to fill there must be added effort to insure all-out mobilization of David and Miriam's friends and supporters, "Mrs. Charnin said.

LOS ANGELES. July 17 -- Attorneys for David Hyun and Miriam Stevenson continued today to battle for their release and dropping of deportation orders held against them under the McCarran-Walter Law.

Federal Judge Harry C. Westover, who on July 6 restrained the Immigration and Naturalization Service from deporting Hyun to Syngman Rhee's South Korea, today granted another week's stay, pending further appeal. (Federal Judge William Byrne earlier had restrained the Immigration and Maturalization Service in the Stevenson case.)

He refused to make the stay remanent on technical grounds. Attorneys had argued that the cases were legally identical to a case (that of Serge Rubinstien, millionaire draft-dodger up for deportation) in which the District of Columbia Appelate Court ruled that injunctive relief and judicial review could be had. In today's decision Judge Westover contradictorially agreed that the Rubinstien case governed but denied jurisdiction because Hyun and Lrs. Stevenson are now in custody.

He ignored the legally valid arguments of attorneys that, like the Rubinstien case, the defendants were not in custody when the restraining action was filed and that what happened subsequently should not be considered in his final determination of the case.

Attorneys next week will file formal notice of appeal and will ask stay of deportation until the cases can be heard by the U.S. Court of Appeals. Meanwhile, Hyun, 36-year old Los Angeles architect, and Mrs. Stevenson are being held without bail on Terminal Island, together with Harry Carlisle, British-born writer and lecturer whose appeal for bail is now being considered by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Justice Douglas' decision is expected momentarily.

OPEN LETTER TO DEMOCRATIC PARTY CLUBS

Dear Friends:

Enclosed is a copy of the Resolution on Immigration and Nationalization passed by the C.D.C. convention at Fresno on February 5th. As an organization concerned with the rights of foreign-born Americans, we heartly commend the positive features of this Resolution. Your stand on Due Process, for reinstitution of the Statute of Limitations, and for a Civilian board of review on visas is excellent. The request for a re-evaluation of the present "racist" Code and demand for rewriting this Legislation is in keeping with finest American tradition.

Recently President Eisenhower, in response to public pressure, offered modification of this Law. As Congressman Celler (D) of New York has stated, these recommendations fall far short of the people's needs. The President's request for an intensification of deportations places before the American people an immediate and serious danger. Linking 'subversives' with murderers and dope peddlers, increases the political harassment now inherent in the present law. Your otherwise excellent Resolution suffers by its capitulation, to some degree, to these cold war hysteries.

This communication is to encourage the immediate implementation of the positive aspect of your Resolution. One serious omission, both in the Resolution and in the discussion around it at the Convention, we wish to call to your attention. In Southern California there are 450,000 people of Mexican descent. Under this Law, this section of our population is reduced to second class citizenship. Mass deportations of Mexican people approximating one million a year has taken place. Native born Americans of Mexican descent are harassed and have even been exiled for "harsh, vague, trivial and arbitrary" (CDC) reasons. In its failure to come to grips with this question, a matter of special importance to all Californians, the Resolution is remiss.

In your coming Assembly and Congressional District conferences, we urge you to raise this pertinent question. Remedial steps to halt this persecution of a large section of the people in our State must be taken now, even while consideration is being given to revising the Walter-McCarran Act which sanctions it.

The California State Assembly should be requested to memorialize the U.S. Congress for the Repeal and Revision of this Law. The precedent has already been established by the Michigan State Assembly. California Congressmen should be urged to support pending revision of legislation, such as the Anfuso Bill (R.R. 501). Further, they should be requested to submit Bills around individual victims of this Law who live in our Country. Such stop-gap Bills would, to some degree, mitigate the, "human anguish, broken homes and uprooted lives" (CDC Resolution) imposed by the present Law.

Our Committee can be of service by indicating to your Congressmen the persons threatened with deportation or denaturalization, who live in your area and whom we are defending. We also have speakers and materials explaining this law and these cases, available for your use.

Respectfully,

Leonard Ludel, Chairman, Legislative Committee

Dear Senator Kilgore:

We are writing you ret the Repeal and Pevision of the Malter-McCarran Act. Since the Sab-Committee Bearings were called off, we have no information as to the present status of the Repeal Legislation.

The Administration's recent recommendations for relief under this Lev, fall far short of the people's meeds. We are concerned with eliminating - not increasing the repressive features inherent in the present law.

Would you please inform us as to what immediate actions can be taken to achieve truly remedial action on this tesus.

Respectfully yours,

LOS ANGELES COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF FORFIGN-BORN

326 WEST 3RD STREET, ROOM 318 LOS ANGELES 13 CALIFORNIA . MA. 5-2169

August : 1956

Dear Friends:

Despite the excellent position taken by the California Democratic Convention at Fresno early this year the Myderran-Walter Act is still our present Immigration and Mationality Code. Pledges and promises have been broken on all sides. Bills submitted by Democratic Sensters and Congressmen have been pige chholed in committee by Mixie grat Faustland and Representative Walters. Senator Lehran and McNamara. Fer elentatives Dights and Aniuso in addition to Governor Williams of Michigan have carried on a consistant fight against this law and are a creait to your party.

In the last moments of the 34th Congress the Senate massed a mild immigration reform along the lines of President digenhower's proposals. The House failed to act upon even that legislation. If we are to get the complete Repeal or at least no complis, describ revision of the law it will require increased pressure from the great rocts.

Actions such as the Convocation in Waslington, D.C. initiated by the Jewish War Veterans in which 70 organizations representing 20,000,000 people participated indicates that the American people are s rongly opposed to this Law. At your coming conventions both Mation: 1 and State we urge you to see that your delegates will act in accordance with the needs so amply expressed by the reople.

The Basic changes required in present Immigration and Naturalization policies are as follows:

1 - No deportation after 5 years residence

No denaturalization unless clear fraud is shown

3 - No discrimination in immigration cuctas

4 - Full due process to Merican Nat'onals in deportation proceedings

5 - Any non-citizen residing in the United States for 2 years or more be permitted to become an American citizen.

We look to you in the tradition of Franklin D. Roosevelt to demand the kind of bold leadership and standard bearing that will guarantee the Repeal or Revision of this shameful law in the next session of Congress.

Sincerely yours,

Leonard Lidel Leonard Ludel, Chairman

Legislative Committee

THE UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

announces that the purpose of its current hearings is to "investigate a broad and devious campaign of political subversion... to create a clamor for the amendment or repeal of anti-communist legislation."

The Committee seems especially sensitive as to the future of the Immigration and Nationality Act which bears the Chairman's name (Walter-McCarran Act).

The hearings come at a time when citizens are exercising their Constitutional right to secure the revision or repeal of this or other legislation.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER IS NOT SUBVERSIVE

Yet, in 1952 the President said, "We must repeal the unfair provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law."

And in 1956, in his Annual Message, the President underlined his earlier demand, saying, "I again point out to the Congress the urgent need for revision of the Immigration and Nationality Laws."

The best evidence of the purposes and methods of the Committee is the subpoend issued to the Executive Secretary of a Los Angelos organization long devoted to making meaningful the invitation of the Statue of Liberty:

'Firing service aets two more

LOS ANGELES Oct. 29-The hit-and-run state senate un-American committee's in anbition of city housing authority employees and school teachers was ended today.

Sen. Hugh M. Burns, Fresno Democrat, obliged CHA Director Howard Holtzendorff and Sunt of Schools Mexander J. Studdard by setting up shop for one day Tuesday. It was a kind of "tiring service agency" for benefit of the bousing and school board brass.

un - Americans fingered The Frank Wilkinson, CHA information director, and Jack Naichtch, member of the AFL Painters Local 1318 for refusal to answer prythe questions about their atfiliations.

Holtzendorff promptly fired both men, thus continuing to attempt to placate the real estate lobby. When the un-Americans were called here for previous hit run session Sept 26 Holtzendorff fired three employes, one of them the only Negro manager of a housing project in the city.

The un-Americans fingered two teachers Tuesday. One was Wilkinson's wite, Mrs. Jean Ben-Mrs. Frances R. Eisenberg, editor of the neveletter of the Los Angeles Federation of Teachers.

Stoddard said he would recommend that the school board fire two teachers under the board's order of Sept 22 requir-ing all employes to answer any the organizations and individuals questions of un-American com-

Only one witness failed to give Burns' gang a rough time at the hearing conducted behind locked doors in Holtzendorff's suite at the CHA offices.

He was Fritz Patrick Burns. son of Fritz Burns, private real estate developer who has made nullions in the postwar housing

Young Burns, it seemed, had theard Wilkinson give a talk at

More about Hyun bail

Immediately upon receipt of the court bail order, the Committee for Protection of Foreign Born set about effecting Hyun's release. Morris Goodman, bail fund treasurer, said he expected Hyun to be free late today of Tuesday morning.

Waiting his release were his wife, Mary, and his two small sons.

Bail of $2,000 was seen as, a slap at Immigration Service officials. Asst. U.S. Atty. Arlene Martin and Immigration "brasa" had argued that Hyun's freedom on bail would "threaten the security of the U.S."

Attorneys who handled the bell appeal were Herbert Simmons If. John Porter and A. L. Wirin, the latter acting as amicus counsel in behalf of the American Civil Libertles Union.

Apparently angered by the widespread bail campaign, Immigration officials had held Hyun in strict detention, denying him many privileges normally allowed deportees at Terminal Island. Visitors were restricted to members of his family. He was housed in a special solitary cell.

> REFORT LOS ANGELES COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF FUREIGN PORM by

> > Rose Chernin, Executive Director

The Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born brings where to the National Conference of Defense Committees on behalf of the 16 to elect ware currently defending. We are also bringing greatings from two of the reprint who are incorrected on Terminal Island, held by the Immigration Service vithout bail. They are Harry Carlisle and Pierre Du Velle.

Los Angeles, a phenomonally rapidly growing city is now the 3rd largest city in the United States. The county population is approximately 3 million, of which one-quarter is foreign born with a large Japenese community and other national groups. A significant section of this population is the 400,000 Mexicens. This large foreign born population is predominantly working class.

Los Angeles has a noturious history of repression and frame-up against workers' organizations. The firstice Department in Los ingeles a series of harasmont against the fureign burn - long before the advent of the volammed. Law. The Emmigration Service has departed thousands of Mexica we recent perhy without due process. They have gained tremendous experience an establishing of the contration camps as a result of the intermment of the large departed out allowed during World War II. Now armed with this experience and strengthened by the Welter-McCarran Law, the Justice Department is extending its attack to the most of the national groups and making Los Angeles a proving ground as to how far it will be permitted to go in its all out attack on the foreign born.

It was in Los Angeles that the celebrated Terminal Island in moment six months in jail testing the Attorney Ceneral's discretionary power to held non-citizens without bail. Although an adverse decision was handed down by the Supreme Court, so great was the public pressure generated, that the Terminal Island Four were granted bail. It is here in Los Angeles that the L.A. Committee is in Federal Court testing the validity of an "cld Order" in the case of Frank Spector, as well as the self-deportation provisions of the Walter-McC-rran Low. It was here that the L.A. Committee tests and defeated the "Flock warden supervision." It is here that the L.A. Committee recently challenged the Attorney Peneral's right to demand "substitution of bail" provisions in the case of Legariter.

Since our last conference, a year ago, the number of depositions deformed to the Los Angeles Committee has doubled. Last year it was 46, today it is 36. Also over 200 cases were interview by the Immigration Service, some of whom are already deportees.

The Low Angeles Committee in less than three years but has become a veteral in the defense of the foreign born. It has earned the respect of the perpla of Low Angeles and the hatred of the Immigration Service. We have conducted a defense of the foreign born on two fronts - in the court and in public compaigns.

In the courts the 96 deportees are defended by a Legal Panel of 00 attorneys, men and women who are rapidly becoming experts in the field of immigration. We strive to have all hearings attended by the public because the packed hearing room has a staying effect on the Hearing Officer, makes the informer uncomfortable, and encourages the defense attorneys.

The public campaign organized by the Los angeles Committee is many fold in character and reaches thousands. These activities include:

Los angeles - 2

(1) Distribution of information on the Walter-McCorran Law. We have distributed tremendous quantities of different materials as follows:

More than 20,000 petitions on the repeal and nullification of the Walter-McCorran Law.

More than 40,000 brochures on special cases.

At least 100,000 leaflets on different campaigns

A monthly bulletin to more than 3,000

Mass distribution of special materials issued by the American Committee,

National Guardien and D-ily Peoples World

30,000 "Know your Rights" throwaways

- The L.A. Committee is rapidly becoming a recognized center for information concerning the Walter-McCarran L-w or any question concerning immigration matters. Organizations of many types request speakers and written material from the Committee.
- (2) A campaign to notify the foreign born about the annual registration required under the Walter-McCarran Law. 10,000 pieces of material mailed to organizations and individuals as well as distributions at shop gates.
  - (3) Regularly organized public functions:

    A. Annual Conference. The second simual conference established the L.A. Committee as a stable and influential defense organization. 284 delegates attending elected for the first time officers and sponsors to the committee and had over 800 people at the conference celebration program. One of its main resolutions was to encourage and establish the broadest unity for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.
    - B. Annual Festival of Nationalities. This festival rallies under the banner of the L.A. Committee many national groups. It serves primarily to dramtize the rich cultural contributions of the foreign born. At the same it it is effective in stimulating greater activity within these national groups to heighten the fight against the Walter-Mo Carran Law. Because of the extensive harassment of the national groups by the fBI, the great number of people that come to this festival is of great significance. The attendance at this festival of same 2500 people who witness the program of the committee is a real show of strength. The involvement of several humired people in its organization ties the LA Committee to people's organizations. A feature of this festival, which commot be considered minor, is the money (approximately $4000) realized from this festival.
      - C. Testimonial dinner for ettorneys was attended by 853 people last year, who organizations paid $15 per plate. Here, too, the program of the L.A. Committee is presented and its influence demonstrated.
      - D. Financial Campaign: This year for the first time a two month financial campaign was inaugumented. The campaign was made necessary by the tremendously expanding responsibilities of the L.A. Committee. The goal was set for $20,000 and 70% was raised which is a remarkable achievement.
      - E. Delegation to Washington, D. C. Mrs. Consuelo Espinoza, elected delegate to W-shington Filgrimage took with her about 5,000 signatures on petitions for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law and 1,000 signatures on petition from Santa Ana in defense of he husband, Elias Espinoza. The L.A. Committee distributed at this time 15,000 brochures on Espinoza, printed in English and Spenish. Mrs. Espinoza toured the entire Southern California on her return from Washington, D.C. She spoke to 25 -30 meetings and was especially helpful in reaching the Mexican community.

(4) Special activities include mass meetings, delegations to the Immigration Service, picket lines, etc. Righlighted among these activities was Abner Green's visit (a banqu.t in his honor attended by 800 people) and the visit of Chris Mensalvas

Structure of Committee:

The foregoing activities are some of the many other activities too numerous to mention. These activities serve to rally the people in defense of the foreign born. The L.A. Committee has become an influential center for this defense. A word should be said about the organizational structure of this committee. It is not a membership organization. It is a committee with officers and sponsors elected at the conference and an administrative staff which carried out the program between conferences. The committee functions through the following sub-committees.

- A. Defense Committees:
  - (1) Area Defense Committees Orange County, Harbor, etc.
  - (2) Nationality Defense Committees Armenian, Korean, etc.
  - (3) Individual (Departee) Defanse Committees Frank Spector, Rose Spector, etc.
- B. Standing Committees:
  - (1) Deportees
  - (2) Ways and Means
  - (3) Finance
  - (4) Trade Union
  - (5) Publicity and Cultural
- C. Service Committees:
  - (1) Bail Fund outstanding bail about $168,000
  - (2) Legal Panel 23 attorneys
- D. The policy making body is a council which meets once a month, representing supporting organizations.
- E. Enlarged staff meets bi-weekly to carry council decisions
- F. Quarterly meetings composed of sponsors, officers, delegates of other organizations to review the work and program of the committee. The quarterly meeting will be held on my return.

In evaluating the work of the Los Angeles Committee, we must place in the center the objective situation. A powerful defence organization was essential to meet the very sharp stack upon the foreign born. Its effective and uncompromising stand upset the time table of the Justice Department. There were no deportations from Los Angeles, and even more organizations and individuals rallied to the defense of the foreign born. To destroy this effective defense, the Justice Department struck directly by the arrest of its Executive Director under the Smith Act in the hope of destroying the committee. There cannot be any question that the committee has met the challenge and has emerged with greater influence. This has tremendous lessons of encouragement for all. The committee is confident that it shall meet the further challenge made by the Attorney General in his latest punitive move - his attempt to denaturalize the executive director. The Attorney General must indeed be frustrated.

Our struggles have resulted in few, but very important victories as follows:

1. In the case of Frank Leslie Craig, the committee's appeal from the order of deportation issued by the local I.N.S. resulted in the dismissal of deportation proceedings. This is the first complete victory won since the McCarran or McCarran-Walter Law.

- 2. Espinoza and Cruz, who are Mexican political deportees were ordered summarily deported in violation of the six months provision as well as the right to choose a country. An effective mass campaign, which brought forward a city councilman's participation, forced the I.N.S. to back down; to etay the deportation, to inaugurate new hearings and grant the right to move for suspension of deportation. For us in California, this is a tremendous victory when it is the rule rather than the exception to deport Mexican Americans without as much as issuing a warrant. As a result of this our influence in the Mexican community has increased and we are in the process of cementing relations with broader forces in the Mexican community.
- 3. The latest victory on "bond substitution." On June 4, 1953, five out of the six deportees arrested and held at Terminal Island for refusing to submit to the new "substitution of bond" conditions demanded by the I.N.S were ordered freed on their old bonds without conditions by Federal Judge Harry C. Westover. The Judge based his ruling on the recent opinion of Supreme Court Justice Douglas in the Nat Yanish case. In giving his opinion, Judge Westover stated that the record failed to show any necessity for the government demanding these retrictive bond conditions. He stated in detail that now showing was made in the cases of Mr. and Mrs. Fradkin, Mr. and Mrs. Grondahl and Mrs. Zelda Saslovsky, the five in question; that any of them had a criminal record, or that they in anyway andangered the security of their communities.

The only reason that the government demanded that these people submit to these onerous conditions of bond was because they were allegedly Communists. Judge Westover ruled that this was not sufficient reason. He ordered them freed on a plain penal bond without conditions.

The sixth victim, Harry Carlisle, was retained in custody because of an adverse Supreme Court decision on the right to bail in the case of the Terminal Island Four, of whom he is one. These six men and women spent 18 days in Terminal Island after the I.N.S. arrested them in a pre-dawn raid and revoke their bail. Mr. and Mrs. Grondahl are 67 and 62 years old and very respected citizens of their community as are the other three. Mr. Carlisle's attorney, Stanley Fleislman, filed a motion for bail on appeal. We consider this a partial victory, since Earry Carlisle and Pierre Du Valle are still held on Terminal Island without bail. (DuValle released the following week on $1000 bail)

In evaluating our activities and victories of which we are very proud, the L.A. Committee does not wish to leave the impression that it is satisfied with its work. There are still many weaknesses to be overcome. Among the major weakenesses is our failure to establish defense committees in the treds unions - at least in those trade unions which are represented by deportees. The search important weakness is our failure to penetrate to the native organizations and groups, even to the point of establishing a functioning "Sons and Daughters of the Foreign Born" organization. The third is our failure to win the extensive support of the Negro community, Knowing the objective situation to be difficult, yet we in the leadership of the committee must state to this national conference that we have not exerted all efforts to overcome these weaknesses. We yielded to the easier way of moving the left progressives. While we have consolidated these forces, which is no mean abcievement, we did not struggle to consistently achieve the support of the trade unions, the youth, the native born end the Negro people. In our future work we are determined to overcome these weaknesses.

los Angeled - 5

In conclusion, we wish to report that the Los Angeles Committee is no longer alone in its defense of the foreign born, nor in the campaign to repeal or revise the Walter-McCarran Law. There is developing a very broad vocal opposition to the Walter-McCarran Law, and resentment to its abuses. A concrete expression of their broad sentiment in crystalizing plans for a conference in L.A. under very broad sponsorship, among whom are such illustrious representatives, as city councilnan, a judge, trade union leaders and religious leaders. The conference will take place at the end of June and it is our hope that a real broad center for the repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law will be established.

The Los Angeles Committee is encourage greatly by this development, because complete victory over the Walter-McCarran Law shall be achieved by such broad American forces as these. We are confident of the future.

Demand Cons Permit Sale of "Daily"

(Special to the Daily Worker)

CLEVELAND, February 17.—Spokesmen for the Ohio Committee for the Defense of Civil Rights successfully defended the right of William Snyder, Negro Daily Worker agent, to sell his papers to the workers in the National Tube Co., steel mill in Lorain, Ohio, it was announced.

The committee spokesmen, Attorney Jerome Land and Ruth Carter, both of Cleveland, went to Lorain to protest to Police Chief Walker against the action taken by two members of his force when they stopped Snyder from selling Daily Workers and forced him to leave town. Walker had to admit that the actions taken by his men were unlawful. He promised that Snyder would not be molested again by the police.

The assault on Snyder's right occurred last week, when he was selling his papers to the men in the National Tube mill. Snyder has been making the trip from his home in nearby Elyria to sell the paper at the mill. The police drove up in their cruiser, forced Snyder into their car and drove him to the outskirts of town. They threatened him with arrest and told him to get out of town and to never come back again.

Un-American Group Is Chief Drive Target

SAN FRANCISCO, November 30.—Abolition of the House Un-American Committee by public demand has been set as one of the major objectives of the San Francisco chapter of the Civil Rights Congress, it was announced today by Marva Bovingdon, executive secretary.

Ridding the nation of the Congressional witch hunters is one of the primary objectives of the CRC's many groups throughout the country, she said.

In California, the Congress which has a chapter in Los Angeles as well, is also concentrating on Jack Tenney's State Un-American Committee, which the CRC believes is one of the greatest threats to civil liberties in the West.

Reorganization of the local chapter is underway, Mrs. Bovingdon said. Headquarters are at 240 Golden Gate Avenue.

"We feel the Constitution and the Bill of Rights are being torn to bits," he said. "The reactionaries are labeling even the mildest progressives 'reds.' To meet this threat we aim to set up a strong chapter of the congress here. The response to our drive by church people, professional, trade union leaders and other groups has been very heartening."

Julius Keller, local attorney, is chairman of the chapter's board which includes, among others: Dr. Carleton Goodlett, Prof. Frank Weymouth, Gus Gaynor, Sol Silverman, Dr. Asher Gordon, Hugh Miller, Fred Thompson, Dr. Ruth Nethercut, Dr. Thomas Addis, Morris Watson, Julius Stern and Mary K. O'Don-

Civil Rights Body Asks Volunteers for Picket Line

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The Civil Rights Congress called for volunteers today to help man a special picket line around the Appraiser's Building, 630 Sansome Street, Friday from 10:30 to 4 o'clock.

The line is part of the campaign aimed at halting activities of the United States Immigration Service, currently pressing deportation proceedings against nearly a hundred foreign born progressives here and in other United States cities.

Anyone able to participate was asked to phone Marva Bovingdon, CRC chairman, at GRaytone 4-3527 or call in person at the headquarters, 240 Golden Gate Avenue.

San Francisco Notables Score Violations of Rights

SAN FRANCISCO, February 9.—Forty-six prominent San Franciscans today were still awaiting an answer from President Truman to an important letter they wrote him some time ago.

The letter, sponsored by the local chapter of the Civil Rights Congress, urged the President to halt the nationwide persecution of the foreign born and to dismiss deportation charges against John Santo, Michael Obermeier, Alexander Bittelman and Claudia Jones, all of whom are awaiting hearing in New York.

Attorney Julius Keller, chairman of the Civil Rights Congress here, said today that Truman has not yet replied. Meanwhile, since the letter was written, two San Francisco men—John Voich and William Heikkila—have been arrested and threatened with deportation.

DEPORTATION DELIRIUMS

The current wave of deportation proceedings threatens the civil rights of all Americans, the 46 declared. "We are seeing repeated today the same hysterical attacks against the foreign born which followed the First World War and which were later described as 'deportation deliriums' by the Government officials who were responsible."

Following the pattern set by the Palmer raids after the First World War, and by the case against CIO Leader Harry Bridges, noncitizens are charged with "communism" and "advocating force and violence," the signers pointed out.

"These charges," they said, "are made in utter, disregard of the decision made by the United States Supreme Court in the Schneidermann case" in which the "Court rejected the Attorney General's claim that the Communist Party advocated the overthrow of the Government by force and violence."

They reminded President Truman that Wendell Willkie, in volunteering his legal services in defense of Schneidermann, had said all such attacks threatened the fundamental liberties of millions of Americans who happen to be born in other countries.

"It is no accident," they concluded, "that these violations of the civil rights of the foreign born come after pasage of the antilabor Taft-Hartley bill; that they coincide with the intensified witch hunting of the un-American Rankin committee and the widespread use of lovalty oaths."

Signers of the letter included:

Religious leaders Rabbi Eliot M. Burstein, the Rev. F. B. Nanks, John Doggett and F. D. Haynes.

Labor leaders Harry Bridges, Jack Wagner, Hugh Bryson, James Dimakes, Richard Lynden, Rene Battiglini, Nathan Jacobson, George Ainsworth, Henry Fischer and Morris Watson.

Drs. S. J. Hurwitt, Leon Klein, H. R. Fontillio-Nanton, Maier Tuchler, Ruth Nethercutt and Holland Roberts; Attorneys George Andersen, Benjamin Dreyfus, Charles Garry, Richard Gladstein, Julius Keller and Harold Sawyer.

Profs. Thomas Addis and Frank Weymouth; and Victor Arnautoff, Mrs. Marva Bovindon, Helen Brooks, Matt Crawford, William E. ## LOS ANGELES COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF FOREIGN-BORN

Dear Friends:

The enclosed leaflet on the Festival of Mationalities speaks for itself. Already Mationality groups throughout Los Angeles are mobilizing support in the way of food booths, exhibits, of Mationelity arts and crafts, and tale to in the way of dance groups, choral groups, folk songs, etc.

Plans are also in the making for outdoor and indoor dining arrangements and special activities for children.

This day will be truly exciting, different, and a day to spend with your family and friends enjoying the food, art and talents of many nationality groups.

This year, we will give prizes for the best nationality costume, for the best exhibit of national arts and crafts, and for the person or organization selling the largest number of tickets to the Festival.

Therefore, we are easer that your group join us in the actual preparations and presentation of this Festival. We know that once your organization learns about this outstanding affair, they will want to take part in planning the many festivities that will take place all during the day on Sunday, June 6th, at the Croatian Picnic Grounds, at 330 S. Ford Blvd.

Won't you please bring this Festival of Mationalities before your organization in order to determine how your group can participate in this one-day preview of a world in which all nationalities devote their talents and energies to the entertairment of all.

Please fill out the enclosed questionaire by checking the activities you and your group wish to take part in so that we can include you in our program.

Sincerely yours,

Line M Rufuel

Anne M. Perpich, Administrative Secretary.

PASTOR DENIED U.S. PASSPORT

Rev. Fritchman, Accused of 'Red Front' Links, Refused Permit

Denial of a passport to the Rev. Stephen H. Fritchman, First Unitarian Church pastor denounced by Congressman Donald L. Jackson as having a "startling record" of Red front affiliations, was disclosed yesterday.

Fritchman, 50, sought credentials for a voyage to Australia. where he was invited to speak at the 100th anniversary of Unitarianism there in Melbourne next November.

He said his attorney was informed of the State Department's refusal to let him leave the country by Ashley Nicholas, assistant passport chief, but that no explanation for the action was given.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN COMMITTEE CASES

For the first time locally, immigration officials have ordered "surrender for detention!" on March 22nd of a deportee whose appeal Philip Cherner has been turned down by the Immigration Appeals Board in Washington, D.C. Victim is-Philip Cherner, Russian-born printer, 53 years old, noted contributor to Jewish cultural affairs. This new type of harassment is being fought by the L.A. Com., who through Rose Rosenberg, Cherner's attorney, is in federal court in Washington, D.C., seeking restraining order against deportation and against detention pending further court action. Cherner is a sick man, subject to severe asthmatic attacks. He also has been warned to designate a country to which he "wishes to be deported". on March 16th.

David Hyun A final administrative recourse has been announced by attorneys Herbs. W. Simmons Jr., John Porter, and William Murrish, to save Hyun from being deported to physical persecution or death in South Korea. They will go before District Director of Immigration, Landon (or an officer designated by him) on Wednesday, March 24th, and file voluminous evidence to back up demands for suspension of the deportation order against David Hyun, on grounds set forth in Section 243 (h) of the Walter-McCarran Law. Friends and supporters of David Hyun should be on hand at 10 a.m. on March 24th at immigration service offices, 458 S. Spring St., L.A.

Petros Lezos Also faces physical persecution. his deportation order is to Greece, notoriously reactionary, where thousands of Greek anti-fascist patriots and trade unionists have been brutally murdered, with thousands of others dying of disease in Nazi-like prison camps on barren islands off the coast. A complaint has been filed by his attornoys, asking more time to get travel documents for him to Albania, the country he designated as an alternate to Greece. Local federal court dismissed the complaint on growids that the b.S. has no relations with Albania and can deport Lezos to any country that will accept him...nsmely, Greece ! His attorney is going before Judge Westover on Monday, March 22 seeking a restraining order against deportation and oustody pending appeal. We urge his friends to attend this hearing. ## JAMPLE LETTER

(extracts from a letter received in our office)

As a constituent of your district, I wish to say hello and to wish you well in representing our needs in this session of Congress.

I have become especially concerned with the lack of progress in repealing the Walter-McCarran Lew. The many election promises by our elected representatives should be observed especially since President Eisenhower has called for revision of this law.

This law has many injustices and inequalities. I urge you to support every possible action towards repeal or revision of this law and the enactment of a more democratic and humano immigration and naturalization code.

Juggestions regarding letters to your Congressman:

- Jample letter shouli be used as basis for a letter you write in your own words.
- 2) Write many brief letters rather than a few long ones
- Give reasons why you want the Walter-McCarran Law revised or repealed.
- 4) Sign your full name and address
- 5) For further details on the Walter-McCarran Law, see leaflet entitled "Repeal this Un-American Law" in your kit

BULLETIN

. A. COMMITTLE FOR PROTECTION OF POLICION BORN 326 V. Srd Street - Poct 518, 1.7.

STATE LEGISLATURES

The Walter-McCarran Law is Federal legislation, adopted by the United State: Congress. There is, therefore, nothing that any State or local legislature sent about the previsions of the Law since only Congress can repeal or amonists.

State and local legislatures, however, can make important contributions to the fight to repeal or amend the Walter-McJarran law. This can be done by the legislature adopting a MEMORIAL TO CONGRESS, or perhaps a special Resolution to Mcrorialize Congress.

The following plan of action is suggested:

- Arrange to see Your assemblyman and your state senator during this session of the State Legislature, and request the Introduction of a resolution to memorialize Congress to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law.
- Organize campafigns of letters and resolutions to your senator and assemblyman on this issue.
- Get in touch with your organization, trade union and friends urging them to write to their assemblymen.
- 4. Please notify us of what action you have taken.

We enclose, as guides, copies of legislation introduced in State and local legislatures in the past. This is intended at a guide to you, and also to help convince State or local legislatures to take action. Attached are copies of legislation from:

- 1) The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, State Legislature
- 2) City Council of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
- 3) New Jorsey State Senate

REPEAL OF THE WALTER-MCCARRAN LAW •

R a a m 3 1 8

Los Angeles 13, California

May 20, 1955

Dear Sirs & Brothers:

On behalf of the fifty-one (51) Los Angeles members of the AFL, CIO and Independent Unions who are victims of the Walter-McCarran Law we would like to call to your attention the new possibilities which exist for the revision or repeal of the Walter-McCarran Act. This law has been termed by President Eisenhower as "iniquitious and racist."

The Semate Judiciary Committee has before it more than forty-five bills introduced to revise or repeal this law. One hundred and one (101 ) Congressren have recorded their disapproval of the Walter-McCarran act in its present form-

As a trade union leader you may be aware that this law has been used against foreign born trade unionists in such a fashion as to disrupt collective bargaining relations. For example, former President of Local 252 CIO Transport Workers while negotiating a strike settlement was grabbed from the negotiating table by immigration agents and rushed to Ellis Island where he was held for deportation to Canada. Naturalized citizens are threatened with denaturalization. round-ups of Mexican non-citizens violates both law and decency.

The treatment of foreign born Americans by Congress has traditionally served as a barometer of democratic spirit of our country. Certainly the trade union movement which has had to fight for these rights has a great stake in their preservation. Undoubtedly, it was the recognition of this fact which prompted the opposition of the labor movement-AFL, CIO, Railroad Brotherhoods and other Independent unions to the Walter-McCarran Act.

We urge that you as a trade union leader support the action of your national union by writing immediately urging Seaator Kilgore, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Representative Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee to hold immediately public hearings on the Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Act.

We thank you for your attention. We will appreciate if you will be kind enough to mail to our office a nurv of year letiens.

Fraternally wours.

Roy Lundt, Chairman Trade Union Committee Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

HUSE CHERNIN'S REPORT - FIFTH ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The Staff of the Los Angeles Committee greets the delegates to the 5th Annual Conference for the befense of Foreign Born Americans and the Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law whom the L. A. Committee is defending both in the courts and in the public arena. These are indeed courageous men and women who in their struggle to remain in this, their homeland, are at the same time fighting for a Democratic America for us all.

Since we met last year, the American people registered some decisive set backs for reactionary lements at the polls in Michigan, Fennsylvania, California, New York, and elsewhere. As a result of the people's demand for action, the U.S. Senate condemned Senator AcCarthy.

In early becember the Justice Department was forced to abandon its molicy of hold-ing non-citizens in county gails as a result of widespread protest.

We gather to consider the defense of the rights of foreign born americans in an atmosphere that offers excellent organization to stimulate new and ever more important forces in the flight to rereal the alter-LoCarran Law. The atmosphere is favorable to win ore allies at to stimulate parallel movements in the fight to preserve the civil and human right of lemilifor americans of toreign descent.

most of the deporteds are working man and comen, stounch trade unionists. They represent 14 detionalities on 51 a.F.b. on 0.I.O. Frade Unionists. Some are writers and protessional men — all have releas fine american families and many sent their sens to serve in the armed services of their country. They are fighters for peace, for equality, for a democratic america. They have attemted at one time or another to become citizens, but were rejused by the 1.S. Government, because of their participation to better the standard of living of all working menors women in the 0.S. incomely crime of which these devartees are guilty, is the fact that they were born outside the 0.S.

In the last year we have won some significant victories; the greatest of which is the fact that the Justice Lepartment was forced to abandon its plan, temporarily, at least, to deport Lavia Ryun to South Korea and to certain death. This victory like all great victories belongs in the first place to the records. The very effective camp ign carried on by the L.A. Committee and especially by the friends and Reighbors of Lavid syun who were able to reach influential records of national and international magnitude to protest the attempt to exile lavia byon to South horse, forced the Justice Leverthment to back down. It represents only a partial victory since the Justice leverthment is still adoment in denorting savid, and tearing his gardy from his native born wife and children.

another victory which we registered in the last gran was un. Case upon's release on buil despite an adverse decision in the courts, after spending 6 months in Terminal Island, Chula dist and Lia. County Gails. This victory is a great contribution to the struggle for the right to bail, and is a tribute to dose been, who unflinchingly and courageously faced this long term of fail, affering the discriminatory and difficult conditions which face a Nexican in vision. And the fact that must of undepretes are still with us, is a victory of great importance! The cross of the rost of the departees are either in courts, or at the hearing stages. Important facts and cases are treated in our Journal for 1755.

The revocation of citizenship is one of the most victous provisions of the Walter-kcCarran act. It creates two classes of citizenship: making the naturalized citizen a second class — it brazenly flouts the constitution; it even threatens the foreign born children of naturalized citizens who automatically derive their citizenship from their fathers.

This threat is a threat not only to the Daturalized and derivative citizen, but to the whole concept of citizenship: once two classes of citizenship can be established, then notive-born citizens face the threat of revocation of citizenship, if not emportation.

Under the Galter-AcCarran Law, 11 million naturalized citizens have joined the 1 million native born bears citizens as second class citizens.

A very important part of the activities of the Committee consists in bridging information to the people about the falter-McCorran Law and especially to the foreign-born recycle who must live with it. The provisions of the law re-tracebrous, complicated and obscure — too difficult for a layman to understand. The L.A. Committee issues thousands of pieces of material explaining the Law, so that the foreign born might avoid violation of it on the law menalties which such violations incurr.

The Los angeles Committee not only referred the viction of the Malter-Schram act, but particip the with other section of the American teople in the Compaign to repeal this Un-American Law. This Law has been on the statute books for over two years and has created untola suffering to millions of foreign born.

The treatment of foreign born Americans by Congress, has traditionally served as a barometer of the strength of the democratic spirit of the U.S. The Walter-AcCarran Law is a serious threat to the democratic structure on contributes to an attasphere of hysteria and repression that enables the civil and had a rights of all Americans, native as well as foreign torn. Fourteen million foreign torn, under the Walter-AcCarran Law are treated like common criminals.

The treatment of bekican non-citizens in the Southwest and elsewhere, flagmently violates both law and decency. Since we lost met in Conference, almost one million people were deported to Mexico without even elementary due to case. None of us will forget the July Blitz with its concentration came in Elysian Fers. Thousants of native born americans were deported in that are not obtained. For us who live in the Southwest, this is the heart of the mession. One million foreign born of Newton descent were deported has year by the Justice Deportment. This activity of the Immigration and aturalization Service was intensified number to even by the travisions of the Malter-McCarren Law, and unless challenged by the arouses of the bylabor, this same lawlessness, and denial of due process, will be carried forward to other foreign-born communities, and the concentration can for non-citizens will become a permanent feature.

The fight for the rights of the Levican nationals in immigration and departation proceedings, is a central question for our Conference, both in a lation to the defense of all foreign born, and for defense of all democratic organizations, trace unions, and other peoples' organizations. This Conference in all its punels sust consider ways and means of bringin, to their organization the information of the lawless activity of the Justice department in departation proceedings in the lexican Community.

It must also consider ways and means of bringing this to the attention of the whole Country — yes, and to the whole world.

Rose Chernin's Zerort - 3

The brutal treatment of Mexican people in the mass deportation is a fascist thrust, a test on the part of the Justice Department to see how much the American people will stand, and unless challenged will be extended to other sections of the reople. The activity of the Immigration Service in the Lexican Community has great resemblance to the octivity of Hitler's storm troopers in the Jewish Chettos of Poland and Germany in the early drys of the Pagi reign.

There has been a constant opposition to the Valter-hcCarran Law, and opposition which sussided. All democratic sections of american life are opposed to it: C.I.O., alload Brotherhoods and Independent Unions have passed resolutions for its repeal. All sections of Jewish people from right to left are opposed to it and working for its repeal. The influential Jegro organizations such as N.A.A.C.P. and the powerful nexican CSC, and the Lexican Chamber of Commerce, the hierarchy of the Catholic and methodict Churches as well as the hierarchy of the Jewish Synagogues, and all the national groups, are opposed in resolution to this vicious law and have expressed themselves for repeal.

President Eisenhower in his last "State of the Union" message asked for revision of this "injustious and radist law."

The Los angeles Committee polled the Congressmen from Chlifernia during the recent elections and received saurance from at least twenty, both Republicans and Democrets, that they would work for repeal. Some of those candidates are now our representatives in Congress.

Broad forces in addition to those dentioned above, have organized for rejeal since we have met lest year.

The Conference on Watishelity and Immigration under the leadership of Rev. Leif is camp(i_b,nin_c) for repeal: it has the support and includes within its sponsorship very influential sections of labor, civic and religious organizations.

The Community Service Organization in its last national Convention, for the first time organized a special panel to deal with the repeal of the "alter-icCarren Law.

The League of b.S. Citizens of Mexican Descent/(known as LULAC) -- a very influential conservative organization, is on record for repeal of the Law. The California State Council of the Sons of Columbus passed a resolution and urged action for repeal.

These are heartening developments and steps in the right direction. As I stated in the earlier part of my report: The time is very auspicious for repeal or revision of the law, but it will not be accomplished by wishful thinking.

Reither the Eisenhower administration nor Congress, destite the fact that 45 bills on Immigration were introduced in this session of Congress, will do more than the 85rd Congress did unless the people meeting in Conferences like this one, will work out and implement a program for repeal.

Congress has been in session almost three months and so far nothing has been done to revise or to repeal this  $l_{2}$ .

The bills introduced are before the Judiciary Committees of the Senate and House, and this is where they will stay unless  $Cen_{\Theta}$  ressend the Senate and House Judiciary

Committees hears from you -- hrs. and hrs. Citizen -- in no uncertain terms!

In your kit is a list of your Congressmen and a sample letter, etc., to help you in protests by mail!

In your deliberations in your panels, you must formulate an intensive comparign, and mobilize every member of your organization to see that Congress establishes open hearings on all the immigration bills now in committee, so that a new democratic indigration law will be enracted in this 84th session of Congress.

New winds are blowing: EcCarthyism was set back when a reluctant Senate, pressured by the people, was forced to censure icCarthy. The Walter-EcCarron Law is sponsore: and approved by the icCarthyites. The people, and in the first place labor, in its on accesse must pass from the resolution stage to the action stage and develop a gress root movement in the union halls, in the churches, in the neighborho as for repeal of the Walter-AcCarron Law, and once this is done - it will be easier to repeal the Lagransson, the Taft-nertley, the Smith, the Brownell-Author and all other anti-democratic laws.

"How to formulate" sich a campaign, is the discussion for your manels.

The Los angeles Committee, armed with the program which we will hammer out today, will leave no stone unturned to carry it out. To will mobilize all the forces that we can for repeal of the law, no we will work with all forces for repeal. We do not, nowever, seek monopoly of this remeal compaign, now do we insist on formal inclusion of our Committee as a brisis for any or, and fation but works for remeal.

Our staff, literature, knowledge of the law is : t the service of any anti-McCarthyite, anti-McCarran organization, without my strings attacked.

We are not placing our hopes in the disenhour administration to repeal the law. Despite his protestation, Fresi ent disenhourn's "Contribution" to the foreign born, was the ousting of Immigration Commissioner inckey, and noming a military man, lt. General Joseph Swing, as the new Commissioner. Its far as to in the Southwest are concerned, we could do without him. General Swing conducted personally the "Operation Blitz" with its special feature of a Concentration Curp in allysian Park. And there is more of the same.

Speaking of the reliance upon the good will of the Zisenhover agministration and its chief law enforcement officer U.S. Attorn-y Brownell, I cannot help but comment on the Matusow story that has shocked the country.

The foreign born whom we are defending, were not surprised at the Matisov revelation that the Justice Department paid him to lie. Every one of our deporters at the social descripts was confronted with one of these!!! "Cotras from the FTI stables", who for $20.00 per diem (the rate for stoolnigening for the I. & .'. Service), lied and framed each one of them. To none but: fev: Drouch, Lench, Societto, Honig, Rosser, Jacobson — are the Judaess who would and sid frame anyone for a price.

Our Journal for 1955 contains a fairly complete list of these rats. We will continue to list them, as a public service, so that you can arotect your union and your Fraternal organizations from them.

whose brilliant leadership in the detense of the foreign born over 1% years, is second to none.

Cur plan for the next fiscal year is to intensify chall myed to every facture of the Law, and to fully develop the hereal Compaign.

In 1954-1955 — to date — we were able to carry out our work because of your support, both financially and through your activity. We salite the leaders of our standing Committees: Mays & Means, area Committees, and our very hard working staff, Josephine Yanez, and Ferpica and Mirian Shalit.

Los Angeles, April 30.—Mrs. Marguerite Robinson is the new executive director of the Civil Rights Congress in Los Angeles.

Announcement of the CRC executive board's selection of Mrs. Robinson to fill the vacancy left by Anne Shore's return to Detroit was made Sunday to delegates at the Civil Rights Congress conference-convention at the Park Manor.

The new executive director began her work with the congress in November 1948 as chairman of the Justice for Herman Burns Committee which focused citywide attention on the police killing of the young Negro father.

Mrs. Robinson was in charge of all the extradition cases handled by the Civil Rights Congress and on various occasions traveled to Sacramento in behalf of Lester Tate, whose extradition to Mississippi was halted by CRC action, as well as by other groups.

CRC RALLIES STRUGGLE TO FREE JAILED SMITH ACT VICTIMS

LOS ANGELES, July 29—Calling for the "widest possible" public support, the Los Angeles Civil Rights Congress today announced plans for countywide action protesting the political arrests of four Los Angeles men and women, and demanding their immediate release on bail greatly reduced from the $75,000 each demanded by government officials.

The forr victims of the gestapo arrests here are Mrs. Dorolby Healey, chairman of the Los Angeles county Communist party; Mrs. Rose Chernin, executive director of the Los Angeles Committee for the Protection of Foreign Born; Philip M. (Slim) Connelly, Los Angeles editor of The Daily People's World, and Henry Steinberg, legislative director of the Los Angeles county Communist party.

Mrs. Marguerite Robinson, executive director of CRC, said that legal efforts are now being made to secure a reduction in bail.

ing made to secure a reduction in bail.
"However," she noted, "it will take more than mere legal efforts to secure reduced bail.
We are calling for a mass campaign of telephone calls, telegrams and letters to United States Aity, Eraest Tolin at the Federal Building, Los Angeles 12, California."

Telephone number at the Federal Building here is MAdison 7411.

In addition to other activities, CRC called for individuals and organizations to form and participate in daily delegations to Tolin.

The first week's round of activity to secure bail reduction will be cilmaxed with a mass protest rally at the Embassy Auditorium, Ninth and Grand, on Sunday, Aug. 5, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Robinson announced that a first run of 50,000 leaflets will be available for distribution on Tuesday, July 31. Leaflets will be on hand at the office of Civil Rights Congress, Room 419, 326 W. Third st.

All organizations and individuals involved in the activities of protest were urged by CRC officials to utilize these leaflets in every possible way.

Mrs. Robinson made an urgent appeal for funds to be made available to CRC for use in ball and defense activities.

"The cost of merely carrying on the fight for bail will be staggering." Mrs. Robinson said. "We call ion all believers in democracy to support this campaign for funds by giving or lending to the limit of their ability.

"Besides the great expense of carrying on this fight, we must guarantee that bail will be ready as soon as we are successful in obtaining the bail reduction for which we are battling."

Funds for the defense of the victims of polltical persecution may be turned in to the Civil Rights Congress office or brought to the mass meeting on Aug. 5.

Persons with eash or property available for hall should contact CRC for advice on how these funds may be handled.

"These are demands," Mrs. Robinson sald, "which must be met, can be met and will be met, we are sure, by the American people."

Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born

326 W. 3d Street, Room 318, Los Angeles 13, June 19, 1953.

To the Members of the Legal Panel:

DEAR DEFENSE ATTORNEY: The work of the Los Angeles Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born in defense of the deportees has grown tremendously in the past year. Its multifold activities has been successful in spite of the increasing attack upon the foreign-born Americans, especially in the Los Angeles area, where the caseload has doubled from 46 to 96 since a year ago.

In order to evaluate the activities and program of the committee's work for the past 6 months, there will be a quarterly meeting to which our officers, sponsors, representatives of organizations, and individual supporters of the Los Angeles committee have been invited.

Because of your interest in the defense of foreign-born Americans, and because the public campaigns conducted by the Los Angeles Committee are close to your courtroom struggles, we take this occasion to extend a special invitation for you to attend the quarterly meeting of the Los Angeles Committee at: Clark Hotel, Crystal Room, 426 South Hill Street, Thursday, June 25, 7:30 p. m.

Sincerely,

IRENE TERRAZAS,
Immigration Aid Director.

THE MCCARRAN-WALTER ACT All sections of the American people have condemned the Walter-McCarran Act for its anti-democratic provisions and principles; for the threat this law holds over notice and foreign-horn citizens, and non-citizens alike. We join other Americans who condemn it as an infringement on constitutionally guaranteed civil rights and on basic personal liberties.

We recommend that, pending its repeal by the Congress of the United States, the Attorney General shall hold up further enforcement and suspend proceedings now under way. We respectfully suggest that Congress put into law the following democratic principles in adopting a new immigration and naturalization policy:

- That any non-citizen who has fived in the United States for more than two years, shall become an American citizen by appearing in Open Court and swearing allegiance to the Constitution of the United States of America.
- 2. That non-citizens who have lived in the United States for five years or more shall be considered permanent, legal residents.
- 3. That the rights of naturalized citizens shall remain as inviolate as those of American-born citizens; that there shall be no second-rate citizenship in America.

United States Withdrawal From Korea Asked by 1,200

(By Virginia Gardner)

Los Angeles, July 4.—Twelve hundred persons packed into the Park Manor Sunday night cheered and stamped feet and whistled as Reuben Borough, representing the Independent Progressive Party, called for immediate withdrawal of United States war forces from Korea.

A resolution demanding immediate withdrawal passed unanimously. Another urged the Democratic policy committee to oppose the Mundt-Nixon bill. In a fiery speech, Borough told the crowd, hastily organized by IPP, the Arts, Sciences and Professions Council of Hollywood and the Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy:

"We are fed up on murder and hate. We are humiliated by the low level of our national leadership—by the uncouth gangsterism of that leadership. This America is our land. We love and respect it—its people, its institutions * * * and we demand a national statesmanship in conformity with our essential greatness."

Earlier, the crowd, which included a large number of Koreans, aged and young, as well as a number of Chinese and Nisei among other minorities, heard Peter Hyun, former editor of the Korean Independence, fix the blame for the Korea situation.

This Borough did not do, in line with policy adopted by an emergency meeting of the IPP county executive board, that on the basis of present known facts the peace forces of America should not fix responsibility for the outbreak of war in Korea.

Hyun, former adviser to the United States military government in South Korea, told the audience that "in the eyes of the Korean people there is no question as to who is the aggressor.

"From its inception the South Korean government committed aggression against the Korean people's democratic desires. Today when the combined armed forces of the United States are being rushed and put into action against the entire Korean people, there can be no question of who the real aggressor is."

He declared U. S. action was "an attempt to accelerate the cold war, without even hiding behind a pretext for the real motives of U. S. policy, which President Truman himself enunciated—the use of force to suppress the people in Korea, the people of Viet Nam, the Philippines and Formosa."

But, declared the former editor in a voice which boomed through the hall, as white-haired Koreans nodded eagerly—

PEOPLE WILL SEE

"Eventually the people of the United States will see this, and will unite with peace-loving peoples of the Orient and elsewhere and will not allow this tragedy to fall on human beings."

Borough was applauded wildly when, in the name of the IPP, he demanded in addition to withdrawal of U. S. armed forces from Korea, that the United Nations be restored to full functioning, necessitating, he said, admission of New China.

He demanded continuing conferences between high U. S. and U. S. S. R. authorities until world problems are settled—inside the UN and without force and violence. He demanded the outlawing of atomic weapons.

Opposing intervention in Korea "by the United States or any other nation," Borough expressed "our alarm and anger at the irresponsibility of the Truman administration which plunges this nation—our nation—into armed conflict without a Congressional declaration of war."

"THE WRATH"

Borough warned that the monopolists and armaments makers would not stop at inquisitions and Mundt-Nixon bills, but "will not overlook mob violence and concentration camps" if they had their way. "They will not succeed," he shouted. "The wrath of the American people will be roused and it will roll over them * * *."

Rabbi Morton E. Kauffman, of University of California at Los Angeles, who was in Southern Korea in 1947 with AMG, told how he went there expecting to see a liberated democratic Korea but found a people exploited and their civil rights suppressed. They "fared better under Japanese totalitarianism than under the U. S. government," he said.

"The South Koreans are not fighting—they have laid down the arms pushed into their hands," he said. The Rabbi called for unity of all peace forces in a struggle for "total peace."

To a question from a member of the audience, "If both the U. S. and Russia get out of Korea will the Korean people get together?" Hyun replied:

"The Korean people are getting together this minute."

Peace Rally Votes Support for "12"

Los Angeles. August 1.—Because freedom of speech is integral to the peace campaign, 250 persons attending an American Peace Crusade rally last night unanimously approved resolutions that-

Told United States Attorney General J. Howard McGrath of the indignation of Los Angeles citizens at the FBI's latest Smith Act arrests as an abrogation of constitutional guarantees of free speech and the right to reasonable bail.

Urged President Truman to propose an immediate cease-fire in Korea to be effective throughout the current truce negotiations and until an armistice is signed.

EXPERT SPEAKS

Maud Russell, national director of the Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy, was the main speaker at the meeting chaired by the Reverend Elder H, Conedy, pastor of the Palm Lane Church of God in Christ.

Miss Russell condemned United States foreign policy as a deliberate and planned attempt to "lead our people down the path of death."

But the "peace forces of the world have opened the way of life," she said, expressing conviction that the American people will "take their rightful place in the fight for peace."

MANY REPORTS

Reverend Conedy told his experiences as a delegate to the recent Chicago Peace Conference. Other rank and file reports on that event came from Howard Rose, Grace Martinez, Ruth Bishop, and Beulah Richardson.

Peter Hyun, the peace crusade's new local executive secretary, termed the Chicago meeting a "historical expression, linking the peace desires of the American people with the rising tide of the people's peace movement throughout the world."

Workshop for Peace to Speed Pact Drive

Los Angeles, January 14.—"Every section of the community" was called upon today by Peter Hyun, executive secretary of the Southern California Peace Crusade, to join in the program of action to bring about a five-power peace pact.

The Korean peace leader stated that "the most important step we can take right now is to build the citywide workshop conference on Saturday, January 26. which will give speed to the campaign for petitions for a five-power pact.

"Toward that end, we urge every labor and mass organization, cultural and religious group, the Negro and Mexican-American peoples, other minority groups and women's and youth organizations to send delegates to our conference."

Hvun said that "the fight for peace is no longer an 'abstract' or 'moral' issue," but is one of the common people to maintain their standard of living.

"The fight for peace," he said, "is the struggle of labor for protection and advancement of its interests, and is the fight against the intensifying persecution of the Negro people and the fight for first-class citizenship for the Negro.

The workshop conference will be keynoted by Halois Moorhead, national executive director of the American Women for Peace, and a member of the executive board of the American Peace Crusade.

The all-day conference will begin at 9:30 a.m., Saturday, January 26, at the Park Manor, 607 South Western Avenue. It is scheduled to end at 4 p. m.

750 Delegates in Capital Ask Korea Peace, 5-Power Talks

By Lester Rodney and Rob F. Hall

Washington, April 7.—Seven hundred and fifty fighters for peace, gathered here from 16 States for the National Delegates' Assembly for Peace, cheered a call for a renewed drive to end the war in Korea and to convene a five-power conference. With 500,000 signatures to a peace petition already in, delegates pledged to collect another 250,000 by April 25, and from April 25 to June 25 to conduct an intensive campaign to build support for a four-point program:

A Korean peace, a parley of United States, Britain, France and the U. S. S. R. on Germany, defeat of the war-breeding mutual security plan, and an end to the suppression of the colonial liberation movement.

An enthusiastic plenary meeting was held at Turner's Sports Arena at which peace leaders, including Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, were scheduled to speak.

The New York and New Jersey delegations, unloading at the Union Station, went immediately to Capitol Hill, where they contacted their Congressmen and Senators.

Meanwhile, from Turner's Arena delegations were setting out to visit Government agencies.

A delegation from Williamsburg in Brooklyn presented its peace program to Victory Anfuso (Democrat, New York) said that as a result of the visit he would dispatch a telegram to the head of every large state in the world urging negotiations for peace. He then opened his congressional bar and joined the delegates in a toast for world peace.

One delegation, which went to the State Department to demand that the United States support the struggles of the colonial peoples for independence, was headed by Mrs. Charlota Bass, Progressive Party nominee for the vice-presidency, Dr.

Willard Uphaus, and Peter Hyun, and included 11 delegates. * * *

THE ACT THEY DEPLORE

"Such proposals are not consistent with the constitutional doctrine of the separation of powers."—President Harry S. Treman, in Message to Congress vetoing the Walter-McCarran Bill

"(The Walter-McCarran Law) places enormous power in the hands of one government official, the Attorney General, a power which, in an emergency, can cost us all that America means."—Dr. Constantint Panunzio, Professor Emeritus of Sociology, University of Cultornia

"(The Walter-McCarran Law) rests upon an attitude of hostility and distrust against all altens."—PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION.

IS BEING RUTHLESSLY ENFORCED

America now has two classes of citizens with different levels of privileges and freedoms. The McCarran-Walter law places all aliens and naturalized citizens in a 2nd class.

Minority groups can be charged with alleged wrong-doing, deprived of due process of law, and deported on hearsay evidence.

Family groups many generations in this country are being torn apart or exiled.

This can happen to you, your friends or your family, as it happened to Ethel Linn, a member of our community since the age of six.

Leading Americans are saying that "this time they have gone too far." All over the country they are speaking out and addressing public meetings. You will want to attend such a meeting in your community. LEARN THE FACTS

BAPTIST MINISTER SPEAKS OUT ON WALTER-McCARRAN LAW:

Since its enectment, there have been many signs of growing public awareness of the inhumanity of the Walter-McCarran Law. Lately this awareness has been accompan'ed by a strong revulsion toward the law and a demand for its repeal. One recent example is a front page editorial in the Divine Guide Fost, official newspaper of the Church of Divine Guidance, written by Dr. Clayton R. Russell, pastor of the church. Five thousand copies of the issue containing the editorial have been distributed.

Dr. Russell condemns all the aspect the law he has space to mention. 'It is Dr. Russell condemns all the aspects of a dangerous precedent," he says. place enormous power in the hands of one government official .... to arrest without warrant; to hold in custody... without bail; to deport even into the jaws of death; to denaturalize; to maintain concentration camps.

Speaking of the treatment of Mexicans by the Justice Department, he says. "Is it not rather disgusting that we allow growers to bring in cheap labor from Mexico. while we wink at the Walter-McCarran Law. but invoke this law to deport them without due process of law." He goes on to mention the violation of the rights of native born citizens of Mexican descent.

On the racist aspects of the law he quotes the Rev. Thomas O'Dwyer, Arch-bishop of Los Angeles, who says. "It is a Mitlerian ilea to hand pick certain nations as superior to others.... And concerning the placing of naturalized citizens into a second class category, he agrees with Rev. F.A. Smith of the Los Angeles Lutheran Welfare Council when he says that once citizenship is granted it should meen what it says.

Dr. Clayton ends his editorial with a ringing appeal to "Act now!" and advised his readers to communicate with their congressmen urging immediate hearings to reneal the law.

THE JUMPER CAMPAIGN

RECEIVED BY MAIN

perhaps a touch of disar-There was pointment felt by many apponents of the Walter-McCarran Law when congress adjourned for the summer without baying repeal . ed or smanded the Law. Such pecule should remind themselves of the solid advances toward rereal made in the first session of the 84th Conress.

A great many repeal bills were introduced, and though supporters of the law managed to keep them bottled up on committee, sivocates of repeal kept coming closer to success in getting them on the floor for action. Now there comes de-finite word from Washington that the Senate Judiciary Committee is preparing to regin hearings on repeal in October.

All of the repeal bills introduced at the first session will still be alive when Congress reconvenes this fall, and the fight to enact them into legislation will start from whatever stage it happens to be in at that time. What that stage is depends on what is done during the summer. A lot can be done. For congressmen come home not only to rest and relax. but also to mend political fences and to face the folks back home.

The folks back home -- - that's you. The conpressional vacation is your opportunity to find out what's on your congressman's mind, and more important, to tell hir what's on yours.

Organize delegations to visit your congressman. Ask him if he thinks the Walter McCarran Law should be repealed, what he has done about repeal, and what he is prepared to do in the coming session. Let him know where you, the voter, stand. Communicate with California's two senators. Visit them with delegations if possille. If not, organize letter writing campaigns.

If enough congressmen hear from enough of the folia tack home this summer, the Walter-McCarron Law 13 sure to be repealed next winter.

From reliable sources we hear that public hearings will be acheduled for October by the Senate Judiciery Committee.

In preparation is a comparative study of the law and all important repeal bills. This document will be mailed to organizations and individuals interested on request.

TWO JIMILAR CASEJ -- BRIDGEJ AND CHERNIN

The L.A. Committee has in its files a letter from the Bridges Defense Committee thanking it for its financial contribution to the defense of Harry Bridges in his recent densturalization hearing.

Harry Bridges was once more vindicated in a smashing victory in his denaturalization case. This victory for the concept of one class of citizenship.

Here in L.A. Rose Chernin the Executive Director of the L.A.C.P.F.B. is facing denaturalization proceedings, in an attempt to denaturalize Rose Chernin as in the Harry Bridges case to destroy the organization which she is heading namely, the L.A. Committee.

Pretriel hearing will be held in the Rose Chernin case on Monday Sept. 12 at 10 A.M. Judge Westover's court in the Federal building. PACK THE CCURT-ROOM!!!! LET UD RALLY AS MUCH SUPPORT FOR ROSE CHERNIN AS THE BRIDGES UNION DID FOR HARRY ERIDGES.

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS:

William Heikkila scored a point in his long fight against deportation, when the board of Immigration Appeals granted his motion to set aside the deportation order low in force against him.

This means that the case will be recpened to allow him to apply to the Immigration > 3ervice for suspension of deportation.

TESTIMONIAL DINNER

Entitled EXTLE, An extremely well written pamphlet begins with a historical outline of extle and the growth of restrictions of the foreign born in the United States. It goes on to tell the story of David Hyun, though he was born on foreign soil, is an American in all but the formality of citizenship; of his courageous fight to remain an American; and of the help he received in his fight from thousands of other Americans who are determined that their country shall not commit the crime of sending him to his death in Jouth Korea. A petition to the Jurreme Court asking review of evidence in his case has been filed.

You can halp by reading the pamphlet and by getting your friends and the members of your organization to respond to its message, which urges action to cancel the deportation order. Copies may be obtained at the L.A. Committee office or by writing to The Friends and Neighbors of David Hyun, P.O. Box 26026, Los Angeles 26, California.

while it has often been the pleasure of the Torchlight to report resounding victories in the L.A. Committee's defense of the foreign born, occasionally it has the painful duty of announcing a serious set-back. Such a set-back came recently when the Supreme Court lecided that in the Marcello case, the Immigration and Naturalization Service conducted its hearings legally under the Administrative Procedures Act.

The government is now bringing to court many of the cases that have been held pending decision in the Marcello case. No less than fourteen Los Angeles cases are on the calender in the District Federal Court of Washington, D.C. In four of these cases, confident government attorneys are asking for summary judgement—that is, decisions handed down without argument by attorneys.

t is needless to say that a fight will be made to reverse the Marcello decision and to nsure fair hearings in deportation cases, hearings in which arrest, prosecution, judgeent and execution of judgement are not all accomplished by one and the same government gency.

LETTERS IN ANSWER TO THE DIAZ APPEAL

In answer to the brochure on Diaz, please accept this small bit for Mrs. Diaz and family. Please send information and the outcome and happenings on above case. An injustice like this cannot be left unnoticed. Keep fighting.

Mr. Vargas.

I was glad to receive the further information on the Diaz case that I had requested. I must commend you on the fine work you are doing and the effective presentation of the problems as I see what you have sent.

By all means put me on your mailing list, and I can only hope to be of some support financially. For the sake of those who need us, I am,

Very truly yours, Mr. Carcia

P.S. I hope the Postmaster allows you to find a little dinero enclosed, entiendes? For the Diaz family this time.

LETTER FROM LENI

The L.A. Committee recently received this letter from Leni Siegal:

I am almost ten end think it is necessary for me to give the Diaz family my money instead of spending on something foolish. I hope my 25 cents will help them in some way.

Sincerely yours, Leni Siegal.

The Torchlight thanks Leni on behalf of the Diaz family and assures her that her 25 cents will help very much. The spirit in which it is given will help not only the Diaz family, but all the families threatened with separation by the Welter McCarran Law. It will encourage them in their fight to repeal that law ao that they can stay together for always.

We urge everyone to follow Lent's example.

The legal fight to revoke the government's exclusion order against American born Bernardo Diaz has been very expensive and will probably become even more expensive. Meanwhile, his wife and six children, deprived of his support, are in dire need. Mrs. Distinguished to accept relief because to do would give the Justice department addit grounds for excluding her husband. She has been working in the strewberry fields of Orange County at 90¢ an hour, a wage inadquate to clothe, feed and house her large family. And hew long her freil strength can hold out under the double strain of working long hours and taking care of her children is a question.

Contributions may be sent to the office of the L.A. Committee.

You can also help by writing to Mr. Bruce G. Barbour, District Director, Immigration and Naturalization Service, 630 Sansome St. San Francisco. Urge him to grant parole to Bernardo Díaz.

MORE SERIOUS THAN 1920 PALMER RAIDS

Francis Fisher Kane, prominent Philadelphia attorney, joined 11 other attorneys (including Felix Frankfurter, Roscoe Pound and Zechariah Chaice, Jr.) in 1920 to issue the now famous report on "Hlegal Practices of the Department of Justice." On December 1, 1950, Mr. Kane stated: "I have refreshed my memory by re-reading the report of the twelve attorneys to the American people on the raids ordered by yttorney General Palmer in 1920, and I have no he sitation in saying that the violations of the constitutional rights of aliens thereby committed by Attorney General Palmer were much less serious than the attacks on such rights made in recent months by Attorney General McGrath. The violations by the present Attorney General, instead of being limited to a single order, as were the Palmer Raids, have contimed from mouth to month, if not from year to year, and no one can deny their seriousness."

McCARRAN LAW DEPORTATION DRIVE

Between October 22 and November 17, the Justice Department re-arrested and held without hail 48 non-citizens in 11 states. As a result of decisions by 14 Federal District Court judges, 41 non-citizens were released, denial of bail in their cases being held to be an abuse of discretion by the Attorney General. In several cases, denial of bail was held to be unconstitutional. Four Federal District Court judges denied writs of habeas corons in the cases of seven noncitizens and appeals are now pending in these even cases, the non-citizens

Departures

Hearings

More than 60 deportation hearings in 12 states were scheduled by the Justice Department during the Christmas season. These hearings were devoid of any semblance of democratic procedure or fairness. They were marked by the prejudice and bias of Justice Department couployees who held the hearings and made the decisions for the deportation of noncritizens. They were characterized as "illegal and unconstitutional star-chamber proceedings" by Abner Green, executive secretary, ACPFB

Deport Yourself

A large number of non-citizens against whom deportation orders have been austranding for 15 and 20 years, without the Justice Department being able to deport their since they are not citizens of any country, are n w being sent special letters by the Justice Department. These letters point out the McCarran Law provision that "wilful failure" to depart from the U.S. by March 22, 1931, will subject these non-citizens to criminal prosecution on relative charges, with a possible sentence of the years' imprisonment. These non-charges, therefore, are expected to "deport themselves."

"FIGHT DEPORTATION" MONTH TO BE OBSERVED MARCH 1951

LATVA CASE STIPS NATIONAL ATTENTION TO UNFAIRNESS OF DEPORTATION HYSTERIA

The unfairmess of the current drive to deport more than 3400 mon-citisens because of political beliefs has been spotlighted the nation over by recent news and editorial publicity given the case of Cart Latva, Wendell, N. H. textile mill worker. His case is similar to hundreds of deputration cases Married to a United States eitizen and father of two World Was II veterans, he was first arrested in depotration proceedings in 1949. Charged with having been a member of the Communist Party, his hearings were held in accordance with provisions of the Internal Security Act of 1950 (McCarran Law). On May 8th, provisions of the internal Security Act on 1790 (SECONTIAN LAW), On Disposit, the Immigration and Naturalisation Service picked up Latva in order to place bim on a ship for deportation to Finland. As in many cases, it was only speedy action by his attorney which prevented deportation, thereby giving the press and the American people opportunity to respond. As a result of the indignation expressed by hundreds of protests, the Attorney General was forced to issue a public statement personally promising that every effort will be made by his office to avoid deportation in Latva's case. The Latva case. meanwhile, is pending in the U.S. Court of Appeals in Boston.

COURT ACTION PREVENTS IMMEDIATE DEPORTATION

The deportation of Louis Ragni to Italy, scheduled for September 12, was halted when a temporary restraining order was issued by Judge Picard in the Federal District Court in Detroit. Ragni, father uf five American-born children, two of whom are U.S. Marines, has been ordered deported by the Board of Immigration Appeals. One son, Lawrence Ragni, who is a veteran of World War II and of Korea, appealed to the local Murine Corps League and to the Allied Veterans Council to help save his father from deportation. Another son, Joseph, also a Marine recently wounded in Korea, has applied for permission to return to the United States to see his father before he is depermission to return to the United States to see his father before he is de-ported. The Marine Corps League appealed to President Truman to cancel the deportation proceedings against Louis Ragni. The Michigan Committee for Protection of Foreign Born has organized broad support for Ragni. Ernest Goodman, Detroit attorney, is representing Ragni in the Federal courts.

IRWIN FRANKLIN ARRESTED FOR DEPORTATION AFTER SERVING 14 MONTHS IMPRISONMENT

There prough managed and go in manife to all to retain the supplies

After serving 14 months imprisonment because he allegedly falsely claimed to be an American citizen, Irwin Franklin was released on July 30 from Terre Haute Penitentiary, only to be rearrested on a warrant for deportation. While his wife and two children waited for him in Terre Haute, he was taken to Cook County Jail, in Chicago, where he was held until friends were able to raise $5,000 bail for his release. On August 16, a Welcome Home Reception was held in Chicago, where some 200 friends greeted Franklin and pledged to fight his deportation.

FEDERAL JUDGE RULES KOREAN-AMERICAN WOULD FACE PERSECUTION IF DEPORTED

On August 19, Federal District Court Judge Louis E. Goodman, in San Francisco, granted a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Sang Ryup Park after finding that Park would face physical persecution at the hands of the Rhee government if deported Park, who entered the U. S. as a student in 1937, has upposed the Rhee government. He was arrested for deportation during October 1951 and had been held in custody until released on August 19. Judge Goodman ruled that Park's life "would be in grave danger if he were placed in the jurisdiction of the present government of South Korea."

The Deportation Drive

Arrests in Newark, Detroit, Cleveland, and Los Angeles brought the total number of non-Los Angeles brough the total number of nord-citatens arrested in deportation proceedings to date to 255. Throughout the country, deports it non-proceedings were being carried through the administrative process, with 25 cases being argued on appeal by New York councel be-fore the Board of Immigration Appeals in Washington Challenges in the Federal courts were intrated in the case of William Heikkila (San Francisco) and in the case of Laurs Ragnis (Defroit) in Boston, a Federal Disturt Gruen (Detroit) In Boston, a Federal Distant Cou-sudge sustained the deportation to Finland of Carl Latws, of Wendell, N. H., and an appeal to the Federal Court of Appeals has been en-itered. The case of Emesto Mangasong, of Scat-tle, is pending before the Federal Court of Appeals in San Francisco. These Gourt deal-lenges test in sarrous ways the deportation provisions of the McCarran Law.

Dengturalization

With the development of new denaturalization cases in Los Angeles, Detroit, and New York, the Justice Department has brought the ord of denaturalization cases initiated to date in 18 in five states to August 8 Federal District Court Judge Theodyre Levin in Detroit, granted the government's motion to revoke the citizenship of Sam Sweet on the ground of fraud and the concealment of a material fact when he became a critical in 1943. #### Non-Citizen Aid Group Expanded

San Francisco, April 29.—Faced with deportation threats aimed at two San Francisco progressive leaders—Ida Rothstein and William Heikkila, the Northern California Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born today announced steps to prepare for allout defense of these and other deportation victims.

Grace Partridge, active in San Francisco progressive activities for the last 15 years, takes over as executive secretary of the committee on a fulltime basis.

She replaces Elsie Fox, who will continue to work with the committee.

New office hours for the committee, located in room 211, 228 McAllister Street, are 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday; 1 to 6 p. m., Wednesday and Friday, and Saturday by appointment.

Mrs. Partridge is known to many for her work in behalf of The Daily People's World.

In her first act as executive secretary of the committee, Mrs. Partridge called for funds to aid the organization in the crucial period ahead, and urged protest to Attorney General James P. McGranery against current deportation

Delegation Asks Bail for Yanish

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15-A degelation sponsored by the Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born today demanded freedom on bail for Nat Yanish, jailed under what it called "unconstitutional" provisions of the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act. Yanish, Daily People's World advertising manager, had been free on bail pending disposition of his deportation case. He was jailed March 17 when, under Walter-McCarran Act provisions, continued freedom depended upon stipulation he would not associate with "subversive" or read "subversive"

His case will be discussed Friday, 8 p. m., at a rally at Fellowship of Humanity

Hall, 411 28th Street, Oakland.

Although Bruce Barber, local immigration director, made an appointment to receive the delegation, he informed the group today he would see only one member at a time. He allowed Mrs. Grace Partridge, Foreign Born committee chairman, to accompany each delegate.

Barber also refused to allow a reporter from The Daily People's World to sit in on the interviews.

UNION POSITION

First delegate to see Barber was David Jenkins, director of the Bridges-Robertson-Schmidt defense committee. He reported he told Barber that "the conditions he seeks to impose on Nat's bail would actually mean Nat giving up the lifelong purpose of his activity, of fighting for democracy—it would mean cutting himself from his family, his associates and his work.

"I told him that an individual who administers such a fascist law as the Walter-McCarran Act has a great amount of latitude, and that in decency he should exercise his power to free Yanish.

"Barber was noncommittal."

Bill Redner, chairman of the Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers Local 26 legislative committee, told the immigration official that "our union's position is that the enforcement of the Walter-McCarran Act is an unjust and cruel discrimination against the foreign born. The constitutional guaranties regulating bail are being undermined by Yanish's jailing.

"And I told him it is great contradiction that Joe Ryan (AFL Longshoremen's czar) is free on $3,500 bail, with no such strings attached, although he is charged with grand larceny and is responsible for the murders, violence and racketeering that has long victimized New York waterfront workers."

Reduer said Barber told him Yanish could get bail "if he wouldn't be stubborn" and would agree to the new conditions. "I said Yanish, by not voluntarily giving up his own constitutional rights was protecting the rights of others and making a courageous fight to defend the Constitution."

LETTER FROM PASTOR

Others who spoke to Barber were Mrs. Ann Yanish, Walter Stitch, trade unionist, and Andy Harris, like Yanish a Daily People's World staff member.

They said Barber took the position he had nothing to do with Yanish's jailing, and that Yanish could be out today if he would agree to the new conditions to his bail.

Rev. Clarence D. Herriot, retired Presbyterian minister and honorary chairman of the East Bay Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born, sent a statement to Barber explaining his inability to appear in person.

He protested the jailing as "cruel and unusual punishment." His statement noted that every religious magazine he had seen had protested the Walter-

McCarran Act.

The delegation will protest to Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Mrs. Partridge said, Barber's refusal to see the delegation as a whole.

Foreign born committee terms PW 'invaluable'

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26 — The Northern California Committee for Protection of Foreign Born today praised The Daily People's World as "of invaluable help" to its work and urged its friends to help the paper's sustaining fund drive.

Here is the text of the committee statement, signed by

Mrs. Grace Partridge, executive secretary:

The Daily People's World has given constant political leadership to the struggle against the Walter-McCarran Law. It has stood firm against the persecution and harassment of the foreign born of America. It has been of invaluable help to our Northern California committee.

"It is the only paper on the West Coast that we can depend on to give full coverage to the reasons behind the attacks on the foreign born. To quote a man who did much to help build The People's World, Sid Partridge, 'If there was only one job that the progressive thinking people had to do well, it would be to keep alive the voice of The Daily People's World.'

"These next few months must be utilized to assure the continued publication of this paper. This committee calls upon all friends of the foreign born committee to help in this effort by sending their contributions at once to The People's World."

OAKLAND, July 26 — East Bay supporters of The Daily People's World today set Aug. 1 as a target date for 60 percent of their fund drive total of $13,000.

The East Bay total now stands at $5,503.81-42.3 percent of the goal.

Dear Priends

Now is the time to acti

How is the time to help us in our work!

Now is the time to pitch in and secure the repeal or revision of the un-American, Walter-McCarran Law which Harry S. Truman tried to block when he was President and which President Eisenhower has oriticized.

Many people are beginning to see through the lies. They are rubbing the smog of cold-war hysteria and propaganda out of their eyes. They see the dangers of McCarthy and McCarthyism. They see the shameful use by Attorney General Brownell and J. Edgar Hoover of lying stool pigeons like Farvey Patusow, Dave Brown, Paul Crouch and Louis Budens to frame-up progressive Americans and trade unionists.

Here in the Bay Area, people see unfolding the 5th attempt to railroad longshore leader, Harry Bridges, out of the country.

Here in the Bay Area, the fight to save Bill Beikkila from deportation to Finnland is going all the way to the United States Supreme Court.

Here in Northern California, there are 16 other deportation cases being fought.

Therefore, we urge you to attend our

Young Communists In Action

Compiled by Lewis Miller

Under the leadership of the Communist Party of Russia capitalism was overthrown in 1917 and a workers' and farmers' government, the SOVIET UNION, was established. Today the Soviet Union stands out like a ocacon light in a world of chaos and crisis. It is the only country in the world where the future holds promise for the youth. Complete education is the right of every child, a nob it asserted upon graduation, and every improvement in production means inconvenient in the material well-being of the workers. The vorkers own and operate the factories, the land, the radicals, etc. Unemployment and tarvation do not exist, active not exist in the Soviet Union.

The So it Union, with its trainendous achievement under a workers' and farm release erament, is an inspiration to the workers throughout the world. Just as the Russian workers, with the leadership of the Russian Communist Party were able to free themselves from the yoke of Travism and Capitalism, so will we in the Urit of States, under the leadership of the Communist Party and the Young Communist League, overthrow capitalism and both a workers' and farmers' government - A SOVIET AMFRICA!

HL WHY A COMMUNIST PARTY AND A YOUNG COMMUNIST LEAGUE?

The question might arise in your mind: "If we want to take over the means of production, why don't we merely organize into trade unions which will have the purpose of seizing the factory, the land, or the railroad." Why is it necessary to have a political party? What are its functions."

In order to answer these questions it is necessary to explain the nature of capitalist governments. Many workers are under the illusion that the present government. It is their government. Exactly the comosite is true. The United States government has been and is the property of the rich. The people may do some voting, but the choice of candidates, the heavily thanced political parties, the machinery that controls Congress, the State and City governments, all belong to the capitalists. "Democracy" is but a veil behind which the capitalist dictatorship operates. To speak of "democracy" while a tiny section of the people own the means of production and the other section (the vast majority) is dependent for a livelihood on this wealthy class is to speak nonsense. In the last analysis the capitalist government is supported by the police and military forces, which are used to keep the ruling class in power.

We have many examples of the outright use of the government by the capitalists. The calling of the National Guar I to break the Pacific Coast maritime strike is a typical example of the use of government machinery against the workers. The use of the courts, the police, the fire department, etc., against the workingclass struggle for better conditions are further illustrations. Every attempt of the workers to have an influence on their conditions of work and wages is met with fraud, trickery, and violence.

An instance of the direct though masked use of the organs of government against the working class is the NRA. The NRA codes were drawn up and administered by the capitalists with the cooperation of the government. Small wonder, then, that the codes had as their primary objectives the lowering of the standard of living of the workers (through speed-up and minimum wages that soon became maximum), the destruction of all militant working class organizations (through "arbitration" schemes and encouragement of company unions), and the increased profits of the millionaires.

The working class must therefore form its own political party for the purpose of destroying the capitalist state and setting up in its place a workers' and farmers' government. The Communist Party and the Young Communist League form this political party, with the Party in the lead due to its greater maturity in the struggles of the working class.

We Communists have often been accused of wanting to set up a "dictatorship." We are in favor of and fight for a "Dictatorship of the Proletariat." Such a dictatorship is for the purpose of setting up a workers and farmers government, to wipe out capitalism, and to begin the building of a socialist society. It is a government of the working class against the capitalism class. In place of the fake "democracy" which exists today and is the property of the rich, a "Dictatorship of the Proletariat" (all workers) will bring truly democratic rights to the vast majority of the people—the workers.

"If it is necessary to destroy the capitalist government, why - do we take part in elections?" you ask.

The Communist Party and the YCL have a definite purpose in taking part in elections. To begin with, they afford us an opportunity to publicize our platform and the demands of the working class.

Secondly, Communist candidates who are elected use their office in order to better carry on the fight to improve the conditions of the workers, and in order to expose the capitalist governments and show the necessity for setting up a workers' government. Lastly, the vote can be taken as a partial indication of the strength and support of the Communist Party, even though we know that many thousands of workers — Negroes, foreign born, "paupers," soldiers and sailors — are denied votes or cheated out of them. Young Communist League candidates in elections have the particular purpose of advancing demands for improvement in the conditions of the youth.

IV. WHAT IS THE CHARACTER OF THE YOUNG COMMUNIST LEAGUE?

The Young Communist League is a political organization. It is an organization that trains the workingclass and student youth for struggle. In its most general form the YCL is the SCHOOL OF COMMUNIST. But we must remember that the growing young generation can only learn Communism by linking up every step of training and education with the incessant struggle of the workers against the capitalist system. This struggle consists in organized participation of the YCL in the general class struggle of the proletariat against their oppressors.

The YCL is not an organization of the chosen few. It is a MASS ORGANIZATION. It has to be composed of broad masses of the workingclass youth. This is necessary if the YCL is to carry out its function of Communist education and act as a preparatory school for the Communist Party. Under legal conditions its doors are open to EVERY WORKING-CLASS BOY AND GIRL between the ages of 16 and 25. Also, the YCL should draw its membership from a broader basis than the Party, because as an educational organization it can and must strive more than the party to draw into its ranks semi-workingclass youth (students, lower middle class, etc.).

The YCL is an organization not only for communists, but for all the workingclass youth, and for the most advanced section of the middle-class youth. Membership is open to any boy or girl who expresses a desire to join, to learn about Communism, and to participate, even to the smallest extent in some form of the class struggle.

A. What Is the Relationship of the YCL to the Communist Party?

The Young Communist League is part of the Communist movement as a whole. The YCL acknowledges the political leadership of the Communist Party. We are opposed to the idea that an independent and isolated struggle of the working youth is possible. It is easy to understand why the League must get its political leadership from the Party — simple because the Communist movement must be unified, with definite aims and a single program of action.

The difference between the Party and the League lies mainly in this — that whereas the Communist Party admits to membership only those who accept in full the Communist program and the discipline of the Party, the YCL, as a School of Communism, is open to broad sections of the youth.

Although the YCL receives its political leadership from the Party, it maintains an independent organizational machinery. This is necessary in order that the YCL devote itself primarily to the struggle for youth demands. Coordination between the YCL and the Party activity is accomplished through the exchange of representatives, joint committees, and joint meetings.

It is the aspiration of every member of the Young Communist League to develop himself, both in understanding of the Communist movement and in ability to take part in the class struggle, so that when he becomes of age (25) he will qualify to enter the Party.

V. THE WORK OF THE YOUNG COMMUNIST LEAGUE

We understand that the Young Communist League is a political organization. Also, that its main job is to win the masses of youth to the leadership of the Communist Party in the struggle to overthrow capitalism and set up a workers' and farmers' government.

But certain important questions still remain unanswered. "The program sounds all right" you say. "But how are we going to prove to the youth that we are sincere? How are we going to prove to them that our program of action is the most effective one? What do we offer the youth HERE and NOW?" In order to answer these questions it is necessary to explain the Communist program of immediate action — we must understand the necessity and form of everyday Communist activity.

To begin with, we must learn this important lesson: THE YOUNG WORKERS AND STUDENTS WILL NOT FOLLOW OUR LEADERSHIP UNLESS WE SHOW THEM THAT WE ARE READY AND WILLING TO FIGHT FOR THEIR INTERESTS. The Communist Program of action is not one which promises improvement of conditions after an election, or at some vague future time. It is a program which means effective struggle for better conditions RIGHT NOW. The young worker and student is primarily interested in his immediate problems—better working conditions, adequate relief, no militarization, etc. Around these urgent demands we build our program of action, so that EVERY YOUNG WORKER AND EVERY STUDENT will recognize that the Young Communist League is in the forefront of an effective fight for these demands.

The peace policy of the Soviet Union, although it cannot abolish war altogether, can greatly hinder the war plans of the capitalists against the USSR. It can even postpone the beginning of such a war if it receives the active support of the workers in the capitalist countries. Also, to hinder and put off the counter-revolutionary war against the Soviet Union is in the immediate interest of the workers because it gives the workers, farmers, and oppressed people additional time in which to prepare for the revolution which will abolish all wars, it inally, if war comes despite our struggle, we must by no means give way to the illusion that war postpones or in any way lessens the class struggle. On the contrary, it is intensified, and it is our job to point the way to the freedom of the workers of all warring countries, especially to our own.

In this light we can understand how the Soviet peace policy is a revolutionary, international policy—and can see the significance of the slogan "Defend the Soviet Union."

(4) "DOWN WITH FASCISM"

Fascism is an attempt by capitalism to maintain its position by smashing all revolutionary organizations, trade unions, and any form of workingclass movement. Therefore, it is our job to fight against any form or sign of fascism. Such signs are the attempt to suppress the Communist Party and the YCL abolition of the rights of freedom of speech and assemblage; the conversion of the courts into military tribunals with no pretense at even capitalist-democratic "Justice"; the use of the police, troops and vigilantes to crush workingclass struggles (strikes, unemployed movements); the inciting of race hatred; lynch mobs, etc. Though the struggle will continue under illegal conditions if the ruling class succeeds in outlawing the CP and the YCL, we must fight to retain all the advantages of legality such as public press, meetings, political and civil rights, etc.

Only through militant struggle can we prevent the introduction of Fascism. The Young Communist League drill and defense squads have been formed to help fight this menace. The defense squads are to protect meetings and demonstrations, prevent the raiding of workers' clubs and headquarters by Fascist gangs, and to organize the workers for self-defense. We must be alert to sense, report, and conduct active campaigns against every Fascist step, and give our full support to building the American League Against War and Fascism.

COMMUNIST		District
INTERNATIONAL	YCL (U. S. A.)	Section
YCL		Unit Section Unit Unit

This diagram shows the set-up on a world scale. There is the Young Communist International, which is composed of all the Young Communist Leagues of the world (practically every country). The Young Communist International is also a member of the Communist International, the highest Communist body in the world.

The Young Communist League of each country (as USA) is divided into districts. The district covers a certain territory. In the United States there are districts. District 13 covers California, Arizona and Nevada.

Each district is in turn divided into sections, also based on territorial size. For instance, Southern California forms a Section of District 13. The sections may or may not be in turn divided into smaller territories, called sub-sections. With each section or sub-section there is a certain number of UNITS.

In order that decisions be formulated on a world, national, and local scale, and power given to carry out these decisions, certain principles of election are necessary. These are the principles of DEMOCRATIC CENTRALISM.

DEMOCRATIC CENTRALISM operates as follows:

1. Election of all leading bodies at meetings of the League membership, at section, district, national, and international conventions.

2. Decisions and programs of action are formulated and passed upon a conventions of the League (section, district, national, and international).

Discussion on any particular issue or principle can take place up to the time a decision is made—by a convention, National Executive Committee of the League, or by the Executive Committee of the Young Communist or Communist International. After the passing of a decision by one of these leading bodies upon a particular question, the discussion must be ended and the decision carried out, even if the membership of the local organization is not unanimously in agreement with it. Discussion can again be opened at the next meeting of the body which made the decision.

3. The different bodies of the League (unit, section, district or nation) are bound by the decisions of their elected leaders. The strictest League discipline and quick and complete carrying out of all decisions of the leading bodies is absolutely necessary. The leading bodies, in turn, must make regular reports of their activities to the membership.

Democratic centralism insures two things—complete freedom in the choice of officers and carrying on of discussion before a decision is made; and, second, perfect unity of the League in carrying on its work.

Beginning with the basic body of the League, the UNIT, we shall see how the principles enumerated above work out.

B: The Unit

We have examined the work of the Young Communist League—the different tasks we undertake in order to gain the leadership of the youth. We have seen how this day-to-day Communist activity is of the greatest importance; it is our contact point with the masses of young workers and students. Our organizational structure must therefore be founded on close association with the youth. Units and Fractions perform this job. Right now, our main concern is to learn what a UNIT is and how it functions.

There are two types of UNITS: the SHOP UNIT and the STREET UNIT. The shop unit has its foundation in a particular factory. It is composed of Young Communist League members in a particular shop. The activities of the shop unit will be to gain the leadership of the workers in that particular The workers will not follow the guidance of a show union merely because its members are Communists. Leadership is gained through organizational work and struggle for better conditions in the factory. Shop bulletins, explaining conditions, and advancing the demands of the workers are published and circulated by the shop unit. The Young Communist League members in the shop take the initiative in union work the formation of grievance committees (groups of workers organized to demand the remedy of any particular bad feature of working conditions), and in general direct their activities towards improving the standards of the workers. In the course of struggle the YCLers point out the necessity of workers following the leadership of the Communist Party and the YCL in the further task of organizing for the overthrow of capi-

You have just joined the League. What would be the first steps you take in League work?

You attend the unit meeting, at which time you meet the other members of the Unit, and find out who are the members of the Buro. When the meeting begins, the agenda, which has been prepared by the Buro, is read off. You will notice that the first point on the agenda is generally dues and check-up. If you have already received your membership book, the dues secretary will approach you for your dues. The organizer will then take the floor and give a report on activities during the yeek just past, and the performance of assigned tasks will be checked.

Future work and the experiences during the past week will then be discussed. Various members will express their coinions, until finally a decision is arrived at and a job assigned. You will notify that commades are not forced into taking a job but are asked whether or not they will accept certain work. It is voluntary, self-imposed discipline. When a comrade has accepted a particular task he is held responsible. Failure to carry out an accepted assignment is a serious breach of Communist discipline, and if it occurs too frequently the comrade will be suspended. When you are asked to take an assignment you have a chance to refuse. There may be some good reason why you cannot carry it out. Perhaps you have some other important matters to take care of, or it is possible that you do not feel capable enough to perform the job. Whatever the reason is that you cannot carry out the assignment, state it at the time you are asked to accept it.

This does not mean that we wish to discourage a new member from taking part in activity. Nor does it mean that a comrade can stay in the League indefinitely without doing any work. It means that when a job is accepted it must be carried out. The older congrades will do everything to help a new member, and all we ask is that the member be willing and ready to learn. We must understand that it takes time to become acquainted with Communist work. If you make an honest effort to carry out an assignment and fail, it is no disgrace at all. We learn not only from our successes, but also from our mistakes.

Above all, it must be kept in mind that we do not consider a comrade a good Communist if he continues to be a member of the League, but does not take part in active work. We do not want to force a member, but we do expect him to do Communist work after a period of education and contact with the League.

In this respect it is important to see the difference between the discipline of the YCL and that of the Communist Party. Only those who accept the full Communist program are eligible for membership in the party. And part of that program is the acceptance of any assignment. Party discipline is of necessity very strict. Consideration is given to the ability and position of a member, but once a decision is made and a comrade chosen for the work, he must carry it out.

Inasmach as we accept for membership any young worker vho is a illing to learn about the League, and who does not as yet understand the full Communist program, we cannot impose the same discipline as the Party. The Young Communist League, as a School of Communism, has a broader base than , the Party—it is more of a mass organization. Yet some form of discipline is absolutely necessary.

How, then are the principles of democratic centralism being a replied to the organization of the YCL unit? In this way. The leading body, the BURO, is elected by the unit members, and the plan of action, decisions, and assignment of work

The same procedure that is taken to arrive at section decisions and the choice of the leading body of the section is applied to the district and the nation for each Young Communist League (as YCL, U.S.A.).

The highest body of the Young Communist League of the United States is the NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE (NEC). This committee is elected at the NATIONAL CONVENTION and is bound to carry out the plans and decisions formulated at the convention. The Seventh National Convention of the Young Communist League (U.S.A.) took place in June, 1934. At that time the work of the YCL as a whole was criticized and subjected to the most painstaking analysis. The good and bad points of our methods of work were brought out. Finally, after full and complete discussion, a program of action was decided upon and the NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE elected. The experience and thought of League comrades throughout the country went into the program of action by which we will be guided for the period between the Seventh and Eighth Conventions (about two years).

One further step is necessary to know the structure of the Young Communist League. This is to understand the international connection of the Young Communist Leagues throughout the world—the unification that is completed through the YOUNG COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL. Inasmuch as capitalism is not confined to one country, but spreads its tentacles over tive-sixths of the earth's surface, it is necessary that Communism be organized on a world-wide scale in order to combat it. The international solidarity of all workers is absolutely necessary if we are to conduct our struggle against war and fascism, and for the defense of the Soviet Union, Consequently, every few years there is held a WORLD CONGRESS of the YOUNG COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL. Representatives are sent from all the YCUS in the world. The WORLD CON-GRESS welds together the revolutionary experiences of the youth of all lands, formulates a plan of action on a world scale, and elects the EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE of the YOUNG COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL (ECYCL). The ECYCL is on a world scale what the NEC is for a particular country.

As we have said, the Young Communist International is composed of the Young Communist Leagues throughout the world. The highest body of the YCl is the WORLD CONGRESS. The World Congress is made up of delegates from the various leagues, and has as its job the planning of our tactics and work on a world-wide scale. Its decisions are binding on all the Young Communist Leagues, and the ENECUTIVE COMMITTEE of the YCl, elected at the World Congress is the body chosen to cary out the plan of work.

You most likely remember that when we discussed the relationship of the League to the Party we said that the League obtains its policital guidance from the Party. The reason given for this was that a unified program of action for the League and the Party must be in operation. This same principle applies on a nationwide and world scale. The various national Young Communist Leagues maintain their organizational independence, yet their political politics must conform to the soften Party. On the world front the political analysis and the ties of the YCI must conform to the decisions of the bight theorem munist body in the world, the COSAMUNIST INTERNATIONAL.

In order that the Party and the Leaver and the Common international and the YCL, work in present its element proposed and rying through our revolutionary work, the reason expression as representatives from one to the other. There are two methods or work which make it possible for us, as Communists to influence have sections of the workers. One is CONCENTRATION, and treath a result of the TRATION.

youth organization. To set up such an organization, the International Youth Conference was held in Vienna on August 26, 1919. The Young Communist Leagues of Russia, Germany, Poland, Hungary, Italy, and Austria, were represented. This Conference led to the meeting of the International Youth Congress in Berlin from November 20-26, 1919. The Congress had a much broader representation than the conference held earlier in the year. The International Youth Congress was attended by nineteen delegates representing 14 countries which had 229,000 members in their Leagues. A final breach with the Second (Socialist) International took place, and the YOUNG COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL was established. The Young Communist International affiliated itself with the THIRD (COMMUNIST) INTERNATIONAL which had been set up in March, 1919.

In the U.S., the struggle by the revolutionary workers in the Socialist Party against their reactionary leaders led to a final breach and the establishment of the Communist Party and the Communist Labor Party. Under the guidance of the Communist International, the Communist Party and the Communist Labor Party were united in May, 1921.

The revolt that took place in the Socialist Party when the militant workers came into conflict with the reactionary leaders was reflected among the youth, particularly in the Young People's Socialist League. Following the setting up of the Communist Party and the Communist Labor Party in 1919, the revolutionary youth broke with the Young People's Socialist League, and formed the Independent Young People's Socialist League. The independent Young People's Socialist League affiliated to the YOUNG COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL in 1920.

During the period 1919-1920 a wave of reaction swept the country. Attempts were made to crush any and all left-wing movements, and the Communist Party and Independent Young People's Socialist League were forced into illegality. After a period of underground work the revolutionary youth succeeded in regaining legality under the name of the YOUNG WORK-ERS LEAGUE OF AMERICA. The first convention of the Young Workers League was held in May, 1922, and after a period of five months it had drawn into its ranks all the militant young revolutionists who were previously members of the Independent Young People's Socialist League and the Young People's Socialist League and the Young People's Socialist League cetablished branches in 51 cities, and had a membership of 2,300. The Young Worker League acted as the legal expression of the Young Communist League until 1924, when the Young Workers League was abolished and the Young Communist League ameared as a legal youth revolutionary party.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 21.—A group of prominent bay area residents, headed by Attorney Vincent Hallinan, protested the prosecution of the 12 Communist leaders to Alben Barkley during the Vice President's visit here.

They were unable to secure an appointment to see Barkley personally but a strongly worded letter signed by the group was devlivered to the Vice President.

The group wrote Barkley that they wanted to see him "for the purpose of protesting the actions of the United States Government in prosecuting persons for the expressions of opinions."

"We refer particularly to the prosecution of the Communist leaders in New York, and consider the action against them the sad reflection upon the level to which our American concepts of free speech have declined.

"We desire to solicit your aid to combat procedures under which an existing system can employ the coercive forces of the Government to preserve itself from criticism or change."

Docker Tells Of Deportation

By Federated Press

SAN FRANCISCO

JUST RETURNED from Europe, secretary Louis Goldblatt of the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union told a press conference here about the formation of the new Maritime Federation of the World and of his own deportation from England during the recent dock strike

Goldblatt said that while he was in Paria he was invited to London by the London Dock Lockout Committee. Taking two other maritime delegates with him, he arrived in the evening, visited committee chairman Albeit Timothy in his home and, on his return to his hotel, was served with an emergency deportation order and arrested by Scotland Yard plainclothesmen.

He was held incommunicado overnight, refused permission to phone a lawyer, the American consul, the lockout committee, or his own headquarters and was also forbidden to talk to the press.

THE NEXT MORNING Goldblatt was taken to a plane to return to Paris. No reason was given for his deportation, but for two weeks, the Conservatives in Parliament had been urging deportation of Canadian Seamen's Union (AFL) pickets, with whom the London dockers were striking in sympathy. Goldblatt said he believed the action taken against him and his associates was a frantic attempt by the government to placate this demand.

He used the term "pure bunk" to describe charges that the dock strike and his visit to England were Communist-inspired. A strong protest has been made to the American consul and the ILWU will continue its protests both in Washington and London.

IN REGARD to the new maritime federation, Goldblatt said membership is open to all seamens and longshoremen's unions anywhere in the world, whether or not their parent bodies are affiliated with the World Federation of Trade Unions. This autonomy, he said, was insisted upon by the ILWU as one of the founding groups.

"The maritime unions cannot exist without international solidarity," he said, "because theirs is really one industry operating all over the world."

Besides ILWU president Harry Bridges as president of the new federation, vice presidents were elected from Italy, France, the USSR, China and Australia. Plans are being made for a regional conference to be held in the Pacific area to consider the special problems.

Headquarters of the federation (whose full title is Seamen's and Dockers Inland Waterways and Allied Workers Trades Union Internation) will for the present remain in Marseille, France.

Dockers in London End 4-Week Strike—2 United States Unionists Deported— Scotland Yard Puts Them on a Paris Plane—One Dutch Agent is Shipped Home

(By Clifton Daniel)

London, July 22—The dock workers in London voted overwhelmingly today to end their strike, thus terminating one of the most embarrassing and troublesome incidents in the history of the British Labor Government. When nearly 16,000 dockers resume their jobs on Monday the strike, which is alleged to have been Communist inspired, will have lasted exactly 4 weeks.

Mass meeting of several thousand workers voted almost without dissent to start work again after Harry Davis, president of the Canadian Seaman's Union, announced that the union's dispute with the Canadian shipowners, which was the cause of the London dockers' sympathy walkout, would be terminated in Britain.

In the meantime, 3 foreign union officials—2 United States citizens and 1 Netherlander—who were said by J. Chuter Ede. British Home Secretary, to have Communist affiliation and to have come here in connection with London strike, were deported from Britain today.

On order from the Home Secretary, Louis Goldblatt, 39 years of age, of San Francisco, secretary-treasurer of the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, and John Maletta, 43, another American were escorted to the London Airport by Scotland Yard officers and seen off in planes to Paris.

NETHERLANDER PLACED ON SHIP

Johan Frederik Blankenzee, 37, was being sent back to the Netherlands by ship tonight. All three men came here yesterday after having attended an organization meeting of the World Federation of Maritime Unions in Marseille, France, which Mr. Ede described as a "Communist international seamen's gathering."

Rally Target: Labor Lobby to Washington

Los Angeles, November 24.—Perspectives for a lobby of trade unionists to greet the new Congress with demands for repeal of the Smith Act will be projected at the Smith-Act-Frameup rally next Sunday evening at Embassy Auditorium.

Officials of the Trade Union Committee for Repeal of the Smith Act and Other Anti-Labor Legislation, sponsors of the rally, said today that trade unionists in the Nation's major industrial centers will be urged to gather in Washington on January 19 to present the Smith Act repeal demands.

The new Congress convenes January 20. The trade union lobbyists will remain over for the opening day in order to lend weight of their presence to the demand for earliest consideration of repeal action.

"Only an aroused labor movement determined to fight, and united as never before," the committee said, "can win repeal of the Smith Act and defeat the drive of Nixon, McCarthy, Taft, Jenner and company to strengthen the Taft-Hartley Act and put over even more vicious antilabor legislation they are now preparing."

Leading trade unionists of the State will spark the drive for the national lobby to Washington, during the Smith Act Frameup rally Sunday night.

These will include Henrietta Moody, president, Office Workers Local 253 (DPO); William Lawrence, International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union regional director; ILWU secretary-treasurer Louis Goldblatt; George Bradow, Fur and Leather Workers Union; Ben Karr, International Ladies Garment Workers Union and Daye Gordon, ILGWU.

The unionists will participate in a Smith-Act-Frameup dramatization written by Louise Rousseau, noted radio and television writer, blacklisted by the Un-American Committee. Stage and dance artists will join the trade unionists in presenting the dramatization.

Miss Moody, a nursery school director, said that "while Smith Act type of frameups have always existed for the Negro people * * * today this repressive law has been spread on the books as the most vicious attack on the liberties of all working people. Labor must and will ally itself with the Negro people to put an end to all this repressive legislation—written or unwritten."

One of the features of the Smith Act Frameup dramatization will be the performance of the Green Table ballet, a dance picturization of warmaking monopolies.

Progressive Party Opens Peace Campaign for 1952

SAN FRANCISCO, December 9.—The words "we're on the march" set the tone for the launching of the Progressive Party's 1952 campaign on the west coast. A tristate conference of party representatives from Washington, Oregon, and California Saturday and Sunday served notice that the American people will have an alternative in the coming crucial elections.

Confidence that "a new political movement is building up," to challenge the parties of war and reaction emanated from the hard-working conference from the moment it was called to order

C. B. Baldwin, national secretary of the Progressive Party, saluted the delegations from the three west coast States. "the best turnout vet." in a series of party conferences on the east coast and Midwest.

Baldwin's message, which keynoted the conference as well as a public mass meeting Friday night, conveyed the spirited upsurge that is becoming more meeting Friday mgm, conveyed apparent every day in the political scene.

"The progressive movement in this countries of the progressive movement in this countries."

"We're on the march," Baldwin said. try is out to win * * * to win elections.

"We're not prepared to say now who will run. But we say where there is not an independent candidate for peace, for civil rights, for labor * * * we will have our own Progressive candidates in the running."

Baldwin reported on the developments throughout the Nation which indicate the unrest of the people as the result of the bipartisan cold war policies, high taxes, soaring prices, infringements on liberty, corruption in high places.

WALSH CITED

One of the most telling signs of the times, he said, was the showing made by Progressive Party candidates who campaigned on peace platforms in local elections in 1951. He cited George Walsh's 30,000 votes for supervisor in San Francisco and other races in Cleveland, Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit, where party candidates chalked up good votes.

In each case, he said, Progressive Party candidates made a better showing than in 1948. And voters deserted the old parties by the thousands.

"The time has come when the American people are recognizing that there is no difference in the two old parties," Baldwin said. "We said so in 1948. It is more clear to the people today."

The conference held at 150 Golden Gate Avenue, was attended by some 300 delegates from the 3 States-Negro and white, trade unionists, professional people, both men and women.

UNIONS "FED UP"

A public mass meeting Friday night which packed the Santa Maria hall raised the curtain on the conference. In addition to Baldwin, other speakers were Louis Goldblatt, secretary-treasurer of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, and Vincent Hallinan, attorney and leader for the Independent Progressive Party in this State.

REPORT OF THE CALIFORNIA STATE REDERATION OF LABOR OF THE CALIFORNIA LABOR BOHOOL

C. J. Haggerty, Secretary

An examination of the personnel, the course of study and the support received by the California Labor School, clearly indicates the control exerted by the Communict Party over its operations.

r=03000&L

The evidence on persugned is overwhelming. The director of the school is Tavid Jenkins. David Jenkins has a long interpret activities in organizations and causes initiated by the Tomounist Party. His record in this inst noe goes as far tack at least as 1874. Absording to the Daily Worker of May 28, 1834, he was arrested and charged with felonious assault and ricting in a rict in New York initiated by the Communist Darty. Further retails of this are found in issues of the Daily Worker of May 31, 1874 and June 2, 1934. As a result of this arrest, according to the Daily Worker of June 15, 1934, he was indicted by the Grand Jury of New York on a charge of misdemeanor and felonious assault, and according to the October 17, 1934 issue of the Daily Worker, he was convicted on the above charges.

Jenkins' activities have conspicuously followed the Farty line. He was the author of articles appearing in the Daily Worker on May 4, 1937 and May 8, 1937. According to the Taily Worker of April 11, 1940, he was a speaker before the Mational Maritime Union at a Communist May Day Conference. In

It is interesting to note that in the Spring IIII of logue of the California Labor School, Vern smith of the Pecul World cooperated in the teaching of a course cutitled "News Behind the News." Vern Smith has abuse been a consider from the Communist Party and divested of his position on the People's World, and now no longer teaches at the California Labor School.

Certain other evidence at the Labor School indicates its orientation. According to the reopla's Wirld of November 33, 1946, Kumor Goshal, an instructor of the Jefferson Labor John 1 of New York, spoke at the Jelifornia halo, and a local labor School has been ordered by the Jeroshalo Party. # EXHIBIT No. 578A Daily Worker, March 11, 1942, p. 5 Our Stand on the Browder Case

* * * CITIZENS:

America must win this war. All loyal Americans must stand united so that our nation will be victorious.

Nothing must stand in the way of this aim. Issues that do not strengthen our nation at war, that have no bearing on victory, should be put aside.

We should be concerned only with those issues that involve the winning of the war, and they should receive our unqualified support, if they spell victory.

Believing this, we, the undersigned, wish to renew our plea for the release of Mr. Earl Browder from prison. Our reasons for doing so are:

To our mind it is a grave injustice when a man gets four years and a $2,000 fine on a charge of a passport violation—a sentence ten times as long, and a fine ten times as large, as that usually meted out in any comparable case recorded in the judicial district where he was tried. Mr. Browder has paid the fine and has already served eleven months and twelve days of his sentence.

We believe that under these circumstances the ends of justice will not be served by the continued imprisonment of Mr. Browder. On the contrary, his immediate release would not only be an act of justice, but it would serve to inspire even greater confidence and faith in millions of people to fight all the harder for a Nation where equal justice is meted out to all.

We do not believe that Mr. Browder's political opinions have any bearing on this case. If we allow politics to influence our judgment of the Browder case then we condone political persecution — which is un American.

Still, we know there are a few who may be prejudiced against the case because Mr. Browder is a Communist.

Now we believe with the majority of the people, that in this hour of crisis political differences should not divide loval Americans in their united effort to defend our Nation It is not for us to advocate or defend the political opinions of Mr. Browder, who after all is a public figure, representative of an existing current of political thought in American life. But we do know as a matter of public record that he and his associates have pledged to the Government and the President their unconditional support of the Nation's just war against fascism.

Therefore, to argue that Mr. Browder should remain in prison because of his political convictions, is promoting disunity at a time when National Unity is essential to the very life of our Nation.

If loyal Americans are to remain united, as we must if we are to win the war, then un-American arguments must not be permitted to confuse and divide us. Therefore, we believe that the immediate release of Mr. Browder would not only be an act of justice in keeping with American traditions but it would also strike a blow at the enemies of National Unity, who use Hitler's arguments to confuse and divide us.

There is one other reason why we renew our plea for Mr. Browder's release

We are American citizens. We are elected officers of trade unions. Although we speak here solely as individuals and not on behalf of the trade union movement, we do know that the following is a matter of public record. International and local unions, embracing two million organized workers, have by vote at official meetings, urged the release of Mr. Browder. Over two thousand elected trade union officials, including two Vice Presidents of one of the great National Trade Union structures, and one hundred International officers, have signed petitions for the release of Mr. Browder.

Who are these workers who have urged the release of Mr. Browder? They are patriotic Americans whose duty it is to produce the weapons of war needed for victory. They are fulfilling their duty to the nation without condition. They know their duty and do it without stint.

EXHIBIT No. 578B

Why their interest in the fate of Mr. Browder? If we know their minds then their actions can have but one meaning. They feel it their duty to speak out against an injustice that helps Hitler. They think that Browder's imprisonment only helps those who wish to divide loval Americans into warring political groups. They are determined to oppose any act threatening the Nation's unity.

This is the opinion on the Brouder case of an important section of labor. To heed that opinion would, we feel certain, inspire millions of workers to even greater sacrifice and greater efforts in the Battle for Production and in fighting the enemies of National Unity!

In addition to the two million organized workers and two thousand labor officials who have asked for the imprisoned man's freedom, one million other Americans have requested the President to correct this injustice. These include outstanding religious leaders, educators, scientists, engineers, college presidents, national leaders of political parties, etc.

Those few who speak against Mr. Browder's release have the means of broadcasting their views far and wide. We have not — hence this ad, paid for by the Citizens' Committee to Free Earl Browder of which Tom Mooney is Chairman. If you agree with our views, if you helieve that the release of Mr. Browder would be an act of American justice and would strengthen the war effort, then we urge that you send your opinion to the Citizens' Committee to Free Earl Browder, 1133 Broadway, New York, New York.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE TO BE HELD DECEMBER 10, 11, 1955

Since the end of the Second World War, the rights of 14,600,000 foreign-born Americans have been under constant attack by the Justice Bept., Congress, and the Federal Courts.

These anti-democratic activities are being conducted in an effort to legitimatize the provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law despite the fact that the Law, a product of post-war tensions and passed over President Truman's veto in 1952, has been criticized and condemned by a majority of the American people as harsh, discriminatory and unjust.

This conference, called by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born is called to repeal the Walters McCarran Law and to win a democratio and humane immigration and naturalizada ion policy for the United States.

California Communists Repudiate Browder Line

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—State headquarters of the Communist Political Association of California announced today that a special State convention of the association last Sunday endorsed the main line of the draft resolution submitted by its national committee and elected 10 delegates to the special national convention of the association, opening in New York City on July 26.

The State convention, with over 600 delegates elected by CPA clubs, met in two sections, due to ODT regulations and transportation difficulties. The northern California section met here: the southern California section met in Los Angeles.

The vote on the national committee resolution was unanimous in the northern California convention. In the southern California convention the vote was 347 for, 7 against, with 1 abstention.

It was stated, however, that the seven opposing votes were not in support of Earl Browder's position, but rather expressed disagreement with formulations in the resolution on domestic questions and on the question of socialism. (Editor's note: Earl Browder, president of the association, cast the sole opposing vote on the resolution in the national committee.)

DELEGATES

The northern California convention elected the following delegates to the national convention: John Hughes, Steve Nelson, Ray Thompson, William Schneiderman, John Morgan, and Mickey Lima, with Aubrey Grossman and Walter Stack as first and second alternates.

The southern California convention elected as delegates: Nemmy Sparks, David Buckman, Bill Oneal, and Dorothy Healy.

Both conventions sharply criticized the national and State leadership for its opportunist policies which were characterized as a fundamental revision of Marxism, and for its bureaucratic practices and methods of work. The conventions were recessed until after the national convention, when they will reconvene in August to act on the decisions of the national convention and to elect State officers and a State committee.

If the FBI Should Bother You-Civil Rights Expert Tells What To Do

San Francisco, May 5.—The Civil Rights Congress warned progressives today to beware Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and their "investigations."

Aubrey Grossman, west coast director of the congress, said that after thorough discussion with attorneys, the congress was advising those approached by the G-men to refuse to answer any questions.

"Any person these agents seek to question or have a discussion with has the right to refuse to talk to them and need not permit them in his home," he said.

Grossman said the congress had learned that a large number of FBI agents have been turned loose in this area in connection with various witch hunts such as the Communist trials in New York, the Los Angeles grand jury investigations and various deportation cases.

The congress director pointed out that the agents are well known for seizing upon the tiniest scrap of information to build up cases against progressives and even go so far as to falsify and distort answers to questions. He cited the Harry Bridges deportation case as evidence of falsification of testimony.

"Our conclusion is that if you oppose witch hunting you should do nothing to cooperate with it," said Grossman. "Such a course is in the interest of the fight against witch hunts and in your own interest as well."

Do stoolpigeons rate civil rights defense?

CRC director comments on Kutcher case. Trotzkvites' roje

By AUBREY GROSSMAN

(Pacific Coast Regional Director, Civil Rights Congress)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19-The Civil Rights Congress is opposed to the President's "loyalty" program for federal workers. Why then do we not look with favor on the campaign being built up around the case of the legless veteran. James Kutcher?

Kutcher, for the many who do not know about this case.

is a Trotskvite who was fired from his government job because of his membership in the Trotskvite (Socialist Workers) party.

The best way to answer the question I have just asked is to ask two more questions.

ODD SUPPORT

QUESTION ONE: How come a man who claims to be a Communist and was fired under the President's Loyalty Order, is able to get support for his case from one of the most anti-civil rights, anti-labor, stoolpigeon sponsoring, Fascist-aiding organizations in the whole country? I refer to the national Americanism commission of the American Legion. I can furnish documentary proof of this.

QUESTION TWO: At the same time that Paul Robeson is being attacked by reactionary papers, and alleged liberals, for saying that the Negro people will not support an aggressive war against the Soviet Umon, how does it happen that these same forces select for praise and support James Kutcher, whose party's official position was that the recent war against tascism was a "bad" war, and should be opposed by strikes and other methods?

In Los Angeles I discover that the commercial press is going out of its way to build up this "safe" Communist, For example, The Los Angeles Daily News of July 9 devoted 24 column inches to a completely favorable story supporting Kurcher, with half of this space (more than almost any movie star is given by this paper) devoted to his picture. Compare this with the 13 column inches devoted to the opening of the NAACP convention in Los Angeles, or the 5½ inches given to an important day in the United Auto Workers convention.

MILITANT CONFESSES

The answer is that the anticivil rights forces in this country are trying to build up the Trotskyite group, because they are stoolpigeons and disrupters of the progressive movement. If anything else will explain the support of the national Americanism commission of the American Legion, please show it to me.

It all becomes crystal clear when we read the March 29, 1947 isue of The Militant, official organ of the Trotskyites. We find there some discussion based upon the fact that a previous issue of that paper had referred to Ruth Fischer, a present or former Trotskyite, as an "informer," because of her stoolpigeon testimony against Gerhart Eisler before the Rankin-Wood Committee.

The discussion is resolved by an article of James Cannon, leader of the Trotskyites, Referring to the fact that Ruth Fischer was called an "Informer" he says "this was a most unfortunate and most inexcusable error." He goes on to say that the Trotskyites for many years, on every possible occasion, before every posible body, have been "informing" against the Com-

The next isue of The Militant printed a letter from Ruth Fischer in which she makes the apparently uncontroverted statement that Trotsky himself had sought to testify before the Dies Committee against the Communists.

If fighters for civil rights are to be successful in the tough battles ahead they must understand that big pusiness and the FBI use two types of stoolpigeons, as the La Follette committee demonstrated. One type conveys information; but the more dangerous type disrupts and splits the progressive and trade union movement. The defense of either type of stoolpigeon can never be a civil rights Issue.

WHAT TO DO

To progressives who have been fooled by the Kutcher case, the Civil Rights Congress "Continue to oppose the Federal 'loyalty' program. If you wish to select a victim of the program on which to concentrate, there are at least 500 of them, perhaps a thousand, including several hundred Negro workers who are being discriminated against because they are Negroes, and because of their political opinions.

"For example, how about joining in the support of the Maddox case, the Negro worker from Alameda, who is to be discharged from his government job because he refuses to leave his wife who is alleged to be a Communist."

302 Delegates Lay Plans for Big May Day Parade

By George Morris

More than 300 delegates of trade union and other groups, in a conference Saturday called by the United Labor and People's Committee for May Day, laid plans for a giant New York May Day parade with peace, economic security, and civil rights as the main theme.

Speakers expressed confidence that this year's march, spurred by raising peace hopes, will surpass the parades of recent years.

The 302 delegates reported by the credentials committee, 107 of them from union groups, approved the parade plans after hearing reports by Leon Straus, leader of the fur dressers and dyers joint board and secretary of the May Day body, and Louis Weinstock, chairman of the May Day committee. Others who spoke were novelist Howard Fast; Roosevelt Ward, Jr., Negro youth leader who won acquittal of a frameup charge recently; and Aubrey Grossman, of the Civil Rights Congress.

Straus reported that when the May Day committee arrived at police headquarters for a parade permit, they found a roomfull of 15 or 20 persons there to object. Among them were top executives of two banks and of shipping department store, packing, express, and several other companies along with their attorneys.

They came with their usual lies about May Day, said Straus, "apparently under the impression that May Day was something started in Moscow, and ignorant of the fact that it was born in the United States."

Weinstock, who has headed the May Day committee since its formation in the 1930's, was also optimistic of a larger than usual turnout this year. He observed that the first rent increase imposed by Governor Dewey will be due May 1. The parade must be a giant protest against the hike in rents and fares.

Fast aimed his main fire at the idea that "fascism is inevitable" or that "it'sgot-to-worse-before-it-gets-better." Pointing to the great recent rise in peace hopes, the novelist said there is an opportunity for May Day to become an expression for that sentiment.

The conference passed two resolutions on the political and organizational program for the parade.

"A new situation has been created which makes the possibility of ending the cold war a reality," said the political resolution.

"To working men and women, proposals for peace are not a 'trap.' They have no peace 'jitters'; they have no stock in Wall Street to fall with the prospects of peace. They need a peace economy, jobs dependent upon the manufacture of consumer, not war, goods; upon trade with the hundreds of millions of people of the Soviet Union, China, and the other people's republics." Also stressed was the defense of living standards, featuring New York's rent and fare hike. The third main group of slogans in the parade will be aimed at McCarthyism and the general thought-control drive, and at police brutality and other forms of attacks on the Negro people.

The United Committee for May Day set up headquarters at room 535, 80 East 11th Street, where all material—posters, leaflets, buttons, and a special pamphlet—are obtainable. The committee also set up a workshop at 214 Stanton Street, where a group of artists is busy filling orders for banners and other display materials.

Civic Unity Bodies-Forum Topic

OAKLAND.—Can civic unity committees play an important role in the development of American democracy? What should be the role of such committees? These questions will be discussed in a symposium to be held Wednesday, August 22, 8 p. m., at the California Labor School, 2030 Broadway, Oakland. Participating will be Aubrey Grossman, attorney for the CIO, member of the legal staff of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and member of the Council for Civic Unity of San Francisco; Matt Crawford, secretary of the Council for Civic Unity; and Rabbi William F. Stern, of the Temple Sinai and member of the mayor's committee for civic unity of Oakland.

The speakers will discuss the role of community action in developing unity between racial, religious, and other groups in the cultural and economic life of America, and the formulation of civic unity committee programs to further this end.

The symposium will be followed by discussion from the floor. The public is invited.

Summary of Conference Proceedings

MORNING SESSION

The Conference was opened by David Hyun, Chairman of the Conference Committee, who welcomed the delegates and observers on behalf of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born and the Conference Sponsors.

Reverend Stephen Fritchman chaired the session. Rev. Fritchman eloquently placed the Conference problems within the athical framework of Biblical references to brotherhood and the equality of man. Ministers and rabbis as well as the general public would not have been stirred to vehement protest against the attack on the foreign born contained in the Walter-McCarran Act, had there not been conferences such as this and, more important, steady day-to-day campaigning on behalf of the foreign born between conferences by such organisations as the L.A. Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

Delagates stood silent in a solem moment of commonation in memory of Genero Garcia, Mexican-American arrested for deportation by the Immigration Service despite his decades of self-respecting residence here, and who died under the harassment of deportation.

Cleophus Brown, President of the Los Angeles Chapter, National Negro Labor (Jounnil: (Excerpts from Speech) ... As Regross we see in the Mo-Carran-Walter Act am attempt to weaken our struggle for first class ditisements. Through its quota system regarding emmigrants from Jamaica and other countries of colored peoples, they are attempting to accomplish two things: one, to segregate the Negro people hare from the colored peoples of other countries; and, two, to belster white supremeoy (as has been) the policy of the rulers of America for 300 years.

We need, and the entire American people need, the friendship and exchange of ideas that can only come through the free imagration of people such as the people of Africa and other colonial and descoratio countries whose experience could help us in our struggle...

It is necessary that all of us recognise our responsibility in the struggle for the protection of the foreign born as the main line of defense to preserve the rights of all of the American people. It ien't just the foreign born they are after. It is the trade unions they are after as well. It isn't just the foreign born, it is the professional people, the teachers and other intellectuals; and, further, what they are really after is to abolish the rights and dignity of every individual American so that human decempy and brotherhood themselves will become a crime...

The Negro people have been struggling for j00 years for first-class citizenship and we have always warned the entire American people, especially the progressives and the working class, that the freedom they enjoy will be taken from them. Today we see this historic truth, which the Negro people know, acted out in fact through the NcCarran-Welter Act and other repressive legislation against trade unions, the foreign born and against those whose political beliefs are at variance with the belief of our country's rulers...

In my own union, the Laborers (AJL), we must recognize the importance of entering the struggle immediately against the haracement and mass deportations of the Maxican people or we will have no Union...

The Mexicans are victime of mass deportation, police brutality, job discrimination. The Megroes are victime of job discrimination, segregation and all types of Jim Crow. Our white members, along with the other two groups, are the victime of speed-up, insecurity, a low standard of living and the threat of our union being weakened or destroyed. All of us, white members included, cannot make any gains unless they join with the Mexican people and the Megro people in the struggle for Fair Employment Practice and against the McCarran-Walter Law.

The current fight for fair employment and against anti-lebor legislation in California is a part of the fight in uniting the people of California against the McCarran-Walter Act, nationally. In California, we won't get fair employment if the mass deportation of the Mexican people is continued. We won't defeat the Taft-Hartley Act unless the unions join in the struggle in behalf of the Mexican people.

We, in the Megro Labor Council, are ready to join you and we ask you to join us that all Americans, foreign or native, can walk this land and hold their heads up with the dignity of first class citizens. We had better got together now, because if we wait such longer, we will probably want to get together and we can't...

The Brotherhood of Man must be fought for. We must defend the foreign born in order to retain those sacred rights for all Americans.

East Bay CRC Votes Full Support to Oakland May Day Celebration

OAKLAND, April 20—The East Bay Civil Rights Congress has voted full support of the Communist Party's May Day rally here.

Cleophas Brown, executive of the CRC chapter, has written the party pledging the support, voted unanimously by the CRC executive board at a recent meeting. The May Day rally, scheduled for the evening of May 1, in the Civic Auditorium, will feature Henry Winston, one of the 11 convicted Communist leaders, as a major speaker, if he obtains court permission to travel.

In supporting the rally, Brown wrote, "the board recognized that denial of the right of the Foley Square defendants to travel and present their case to the American people strikes a direct blow at freedom of speech.

"CRC firmly believes that the American people will fight for their right to hear all ideas for themselves even though those ideas may be unpopular with such big business spokesmen as Judge Medina.

"We support your effort to break through the unconstitutional ban on travel for the Foley Square defendants and will do all in our power to publicize this effort among our members and supporters in the East Bay."

Over 50 members of this orsubscribe to The ganization Daily People's World-and that is really only the beginnning.

I think it was really the 1944 election campaign that first showed us which paper in the Bay Area supported the interests of the Negro people-and of the whole American people. too.

Long before election date, our members knew that only one paper in the Bay Area really supported President Roosevelt and his policies every single day.

And our members never forgot that President Roosevelt was the man who set up the Fair Employment Practices Committee. He'set it up and all the newspapers - but one tried to knock it down again. They did a pretty good job at that.

The exception was The Daily People's World The Daily People's World not only supported President Roosevelt and all that he did for the Negro people. It went much farther. It fought, and still fights, for equal rights for all Americans on jobs, housing, in unions, in street cars; in rights of our people.

fact, it fights for the acceptance of the Negro people as fullfledged citizens of our society.

That is what our members observed. So, one day a few months ago, our executive committee held a meeting. There were 16 people present. Unanimously, the executive endorsed The Daily People's World, then holding a drive for funds.

But we did not stop at that. We subscribed to the paper, each and every one of the 16 present. at the same time. In addition. a few days later, a meeting of the whole branch also endorsed the paper. Finally, when Cleophas Brown, circulation manager for The Daily People's World in Richmond, asked our help in spreading the paper among our members, we gave it to him.

Since Mr. Brown has been talking to our members about the paper he informs us that 35 more have subscribed. However, he has not yet been able to see all of us.

We are sure that our members will continue to subscribe to The Daily People's World and to support it because it is the only daily paper in the West which never lets up in fighting for the

150 Notables Hit Threat to Void Citizenship of 1,000

In an open letter to President Truman, 150 prominent Americans have declared their concern "over the recent announcement by the Department of Justice that it will, on political grounds, seek the denaturalization of more than 1,000 naturalized American citizens." ### Ninety-three Notables Urge Martin Young Bail

New York, September 30.—Ninety-three prominent Americans have signed a letter to Attorney General James P. McGranery requesting bail for Martin Young, the Citizens Committee to Secure Bail for Martin Young announces.

Young is a noncitizen union organizer who was arrested October 26, 1951, for deportation under the McCarran Act. Repeatedly denied bail by the Attorney General, he has been held on Ellis Island ever since.

The letter to the Attorney General was initiated by a committee of five: Elmer A. Benson, Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, Clemens J. France, Rev. Prof. Fleming James, Sr., and Prof. Louise Pettibone Smith.

The letter declares:

"We, the undersigned, have become disturbed over the prolonged imprisonment of Martin Young and denial of bail to him.

"While we are in no way ready to pass judgment regarding deportation proceedings initiated against him, we do feel that his imprisonment without bail since October 4, 1951, is in violation of the spirit and intent of the Constitution.

"It is our understanding that your authority can release Mr. Young from Ellis Island on bail. We urge that you review your decision in Mr. Young's case and allow him to be freed on bail, to join his wife and two children until disposition of his case has been made."

COALITION FOR FREEDOM

AND DEMOCRACY

A REPORT OF THE WASHINGTON STATE COMMITTEE OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY - NOVEMBER 1955

The radiant promise of Geneva - that peaceful coexistence will replace the "cold war" - is of the greatest significance to defeating McCarthyism, restoring the Bill of Rights, and extending democracy in our country. During all the years of the "cold war" an ever-widening attack upon the most cherished liberties of the people has been casselessly pushed by reaction. Today, as we hail the great advances of Geneva and Bandung, American bourgeois democratic freedom stands in the danger of eclipse by the McCarran Act. A moment of supreme danger to American freedom comes at the moment when we are moving out of the "cold war" atmosphere into the sunshine of Geneva. The McCarran Act, coming up for decision before the U.S. Supremo Court this fall is a "legislative blueprint for a fascist state". Detect for the law passed in the hysteria of the early months of the Korsan war will give a big lift to the whole struggle to ensure and consolidate peaceful co-cristence; victory for the law will have the most serious and unfavorable consequences for realizing the spirit of Geneva. The people of the world are watching anxiously the outcome of this battle. It is a time for the fiveest unity of action of all democratic forces to smash McCarthyism and "end the cold war at home".

DEMOCRACY - HIGH ROAD TO SOCIALISM

What is the connection between the struggle for democracy and the goal of socialism?

Mark and Engels, founders of scientific socialism, proclaimed the basic unity of the struggle for democracy and socialism from the very beginning. Engels said:

"The imony of world history turns everything upside down..... the parties of order, as they call themselves, are perishing under the legal conditions created by themselves....they cry despairingly legality is the death of us'; whereas we, under this legality, get firm muscles and rosy cheeks and look like eternal life."

(Class Struggles in France, p. 27)

In the same year - 1895 - that Engels wrote these prophetic words, Lenin was writing a braft Program of the Social Democratic Party of Russia from a prison cell. Lenin urged:

"Therefore, the most urgent thing the workers must do, the first thing the working class must aim at in bringing its influence to bear upon the government is to achieve political liberty, i.o., the guarantee by law (Constitution) that all citizens will be able directly to participate in the administration of the state: to secure for all citizens the right to assemble freely, to discuss their affairs, to influence the state affairs through the medium of associations and the press."

(Selected Works, Vol. I., p. 491)

Twenty-one years later Lenin was polomizing against "leftist" views on the national question in the European accialist movement and emphasizing the unity of the battle for domogracy and socialism:

"It would be a fundamental mistake to suppose that the struggle for democracy can divort the proletariat from the socialist revolution, or obscure it, or overshadow it, etc. On the contrary. iust as socialism cannot be victorious unless it introduces complete democracy, so the proletariat will be unable to prepare for victory over the bourgeoisie unless it wages a many-sided. consistent and revolutionary struggle for democracy."

(Selected Works. Vol. V., p. 268)

The record of Marxism in America is a story of a continuous battle for more and more democracy. Communists today carry forward this democratic tradition as Betty Gannett urged in her report to the election conference in August, 1954:

"The task of defeating fascism, defending and extending bourgeois democracy is not a 'tactic' or a 'maneuvre' in order to win new supporters among the workers and the people generally. It is a orucial struggle which must be waged wherever the fascist danger roars its head. It is a prerequisite, under the conditions of our times, to the advance to socialism -- a stage of struggle that cannot be skipped over."

However, as Marxist-Leninists we must not idealize bourgeois democracy and "forget" its limitations. We must stubbornly and without reservation defend what has been won because we want to march forward to socialism.

'le must beware of the Right opportunist danger of reliance on the "automatie" functioning of bourgeois democracy. There is the Truman line that violations of civil liberties happen after every war and then pass away. There is the liberal line of "leaving it to the courts" in the hope that in some mysterious way the courts will hand out even-handed justice whatever the political climate, or the liberal line that Congress will not "dere" pass such and such a law because it is too rawly unconstitutional.

We must keep firmly in mind the shortcomings of bourgeois democracy in fully protecting the rights and living standards of the masses of the people. None the less, we Marxists emphasize, underscore, and hold to the principle of the inseparable connection of the struggle for more democracy as the highroad to socialism.

COALITION POLICY AND OVERCOMING RIGHT AND "LEFT" OPPORTUNISM

Basic to our work is a correct estimate of the objective situation and developing of a corroct political line. In the past there were moods and theories developed from incorrect estimates of the power of the peace camp and the war camp, and in the readiness and power of the American people in that struggle to come through and really deliver. The main errors have been "Left" with an underestimation of the power of the people of the world to really compel peaceful negotiations. From such profoundly pessimistic views and moods a fatalist line developed which conceded all kinds of struggles before an adequate battle was made. The special report of the National Committee has shown how the incorrect estimate of the power of the war camp and the speed of fascization in our country led to the piling up of "Left" errors in program, tactics, and organization. The recent possibilities for peaceful co-existence and for restoring American democratic rights underscores how wrong was the 1950-4 estimate in our district.

In the struggle for a correct estimate of the battle for democracy it is valuable to keep in mind the approach Mark Logan employed last winter:

"the two-sided development: an upsurge in the resistance to McCarthyism of great meaning and promise for turning the tide; and at the same time a sustained and systematic dismantling of the Bill of Rights by the Congress, the Department of Justice and the courts. Both these features must be understood if greater victories are to be scored in the immediate period....."

Only by keaping in mind the struggle between these forces and by careful observance of the changes in the relation of power between these forces can we arrive at a correct estimate and avoid Right and "Left" errors.

Dismantling the Bill of Rights

The sustained and systematic dismantling of the Bill of Rights is still on. Reaction is not giving up just because it has suffered some setbacks, but pushes its program as ferceiously as ever. Brownell launches new attacks on the trade unions - U.A.W. and Mine Mill. More Communists are arrested under Smith Act membership provisions. Outrageous bails are still set by the courts, and in the most recent case - Max Weiss - the judge declared that he would prefer to make a Smith Act arrest a non-bailable offense! The UnAmerican committee still prowls and sets up blacklists. Newspapers, radio, and T-V still retreat before the Ma-Carthyite blackmail. Cedric Belfrage is deported for challenging McGarthy. Anti-Communists in Congress prepare new bills to add to the structure of anti-democratic laws loading the books. In the midst of the world-wide concern over President Eisenhower's heart condition, the Justice Department refuses a parole to Jacob Mindel, Communist political prisoner, though he is 10 years older than the President and has suffered from such a severe heart condition that he collapsed several times during the 10 month trial! Finally, there are cases pending before the Supreme Court this fall and winter, which if undemocratically decided will mark a new leap backward to repression and tyranny.

The Popular Upsurge

It is refreshing and energizing to review the impressive list of victories in recent months which mark the growing advance to restore the Bill of Rights. The Bridges victory defeating a 21 year conspiracy to weaken the Longshore union; the ending of 5 years of attempted frameup of Cwen Lattimore as the intended fall-guy for "our loss" in China; the restoration of the 5th Amendment in the Emspak, Quinn, and Bart cases; the knecking out of the case against Corliss Lamont and his associates; the freeing of William L. Patterson from a frameup of indefinite jailings for alleged contempt; the winning of a new trial for Alexander Trachtenberg and George Charney because of the sensational Matusów expose; the Hastie opinion in the Pittsburgh Smith Act appeal; the Genzalez and Alacantra cases here affirming rights of the foreign born; the wimning of time in the Cleveland Smith Act trial - an unprecedented 2 years and more since arrest; the victory in the Connecticut Smith Act case on the jury challenge, which won favorable recognition in trade union circles; the splendid First Amendment position by the corporation lawyers appointed in the Denver Smith Act trial; the cutting of Cleta Yates' "contempt" sentence to one year. These are some of the cutetanding defeats for the 13th Juror in recent months.

In the past weeks a new spurt has taken place with the Supreme Court taking the unusual step of accepting the friend-of-the-court brief signed by 360 Americans asking that the McCarran Act be declared unconstitutional. "Let's take a second lock at all Smith Act convictions" said the Supreme Court in effect by agreeing to review the California Smith Act case on all the issues of the trial. Last week the Appeal Court in San Francisco ruled that the procedures used by the Coast Guard in "screening" maritime workers were arbitrary and unconstitutional. This break-through gains additional significance by the Court's declaration on "the clear and present danger" line that the "character and magnitude" is not so great as to warrant setting aside the Bill off Rights. Also, the decision raps the use of secret informers as harmful to the general welfare. These advances have taken place at a time when the most militant strike movement in years swept the South, when labor unity is moving to reality, and when continuing advances have been made in wiping out segregation in schools in scores of cities and areas in the South.

Perspective of Victory

The dominant note in this two-sided struggle today is that the opposition against the fascist danger has reached a new high and is now capable of routing the McCarthyites and restoring the Bill of Rights. This is a wonderful perspective for unleashing and mobiliz ing the popular counter-offensive against the whole system of repression in our country. Claude Lightfoot can realistically assert that while "the reactionary forces have held the initiative...firmly in their hands" that the situation now "opens up the possibility that pro-democratic forces can wrest the initiative entirely from the hands of reaction."

This welcome perspective puts more punch into every fighter for democracy and more zip into every campaign for freedom. The Big Lies are shriveling up. The quickening exchange of delegations is ripping apart the lie of socialist aggression. Tens of millions of Americans have got a good look at McCarthyism. They don't want it, and they're determined to get rid of it. These are strong and stable and growing currents and solid guarantees which add up to the perspective of victory - of saving our country from fascism.

Coalition

Our national Program affirms that a people's coalition is absolutely necessary to meet the problems confronting our country today, and that no one group can do this immense job. Today we can approach coalition work with a clearer perspective of the new opportunities and advantages which will bring victory. We can more easily and thoroughly throw off "loftist" isolating moods and methods of work, which have impoded our relations with bread forces. Fortified with confidence that the Big Lies are losing their potoncy we can approach many groups and forces, which we have, hitherto, thrown all too readily into "one reactionery mase". Coalition or muster front action has been a convert of Maruson since the Manifesto. The struggle for a mase line has been a signal feature of the history of the victorious parties in Russia, China, and the Peoples Democracies, as in the progress of the French, Italian, and other large parties in the ceptitalist world. The recent elections in Brazil and Indonesia demonstrate brilliantly how the Communict Parties were able to build a coalition to evergone the origeer threetening their countries.

The sectarian exposition to coalition has caused great harm. Because of this influence we have ignored many forward steps on the part of broad organizations or have missed the exportanity for developing parallel actions. For example, the railroad paper, Labor, week after week blasts away at IcCarthy and Brownell and their anti-labor record. When the railroad labor newspaper hit hard on the Kulich case of guilt-by-kinship last spring there was not an adequate local response which could bring a bigger sweep to the exposition to the frameup. That such exportanities existed was proved by the fact that 3 Congressmen, including the arch-reactionary Mack of the 3d District, spoke out against the persecution of halter Kulich. Again, during the University battle over the invitation to Professor Opponheimer the many possibilities of a state-wide fightback were not realized.

The right opportunist opposition to coalition has likewise caused groat harm, One prominent expression of this has been the under-estimation of the fight for the logality of the Party and its right to be a part of the coalition. This slackness in fighting for the right of the Party and the Left to a definite place in the popular coalition leads toward a "coalition" without the participation of the Marxist vanguard - or no coalition at all. Our main attention must be to do away with the isolating "Left" sectarian opposition to coalition, while we do not "forget" the Right danger of liquidating the fight for the right of the progressive movement to participate even if this will most often take the form of parallel actions in the present conditions.

Building the coalition against McCarthyism will bring about that "popular majority which is in the process of development but which has not yet been forged and organized in the country." (C. Lightfoot). Today we need to equip ourselves still more with the great strength in the theoretical works of Marxism, and in particular the History of the CPUSA by Bill Foster, if we are to avoid the obstacles of all forms of opportunism.

FOR A CONCENTRATION POLICY IN DEFENSE WORK

The ferocious attacks upon the people's liberties during the period of the Gold Mar are without parallel in the long history of our country. Attack has followed ettack in which each part of the government tried to outdo the others in dismenting normalar liberty. In his recent report Claude Lightfoot noints out that the reactionaries have held the initiative for years, and that "pro-democratic forces during this period were almost overwhelmed by the relentless attacks...on the Bill of Rights."

In Mashington the pro-democratic forces are not overwhelmed, but certainly have their hands full. Currently there is the McCarran "hearing" on the Mashington Pension Union, the Seattle Smith Act appeal is pending in San Francisco, there is a new state outlaw-the-Communists statute, a lumber worker faces prison under a Infi-Martley frameup, another is battling a Velde committee contempt conviction, a job blacklist operates against many progressive workers, a Negro leader is arrested on a perjury frameup, young workers are saddled with undesirable armed forces discharges, waterfront workers are screened, and foreign born persecutions continue.

How can our Party most effectively help the pro-democratic forces meet these multiple attacks? Some time ago has Hall characterized the central feature of the Leminist maked of work as composited than, for taking hold of the main link which can bring the whole claim along. Cloude lightfoot in his report shows how "The intense personation of the Party has unfolded on so many fronts that it has been exosedingly distable to work from unitional plans. Our whole Party must be garred to some lending on the most vital matters." What is our overall strategic aim in this fleid? That is our national concentration?

Our aim is to help restore the First Amendment liberties - the right of the people to free speech, free press, and to assemble peaceably and petition the government for redress of grievances. Our aim is to help restore democracy today as the necess ary basis for progress. We need to make this great and noble aim the guiding line of all our defense work. The battle for the First Amendment rights is the straight edge for keeping our work in the right direction. The First Amendment is the keystone of all the constitutional liberties, and its restoration will be the mightiest force for restoring all of the people's rights and expanding democracy. The right of the Communists to enjoy these liberties is at the heart of this battle, and the more the general right is restored the more rapidly will the rights of the Communists be restored also. The strategic aim and guiding principle of restoring the First Amendment and making it mean what it says, is in the highest and most patriotic interests of our country.

Within this general guiding approach pro-democratic forces must take hold of that precise link which is most important today. What is this key link? "Top priority must be given in all districts, without exception, to the McGarran Act" Lightfoot urges. This is the key concentration within a general concentration on 3 issues above all others: The McGarran Act, which comes up for decision by the Supreme Court this fall; the Steve Nelson case, which will decide the fate of all state sedition laws, also before the Supreme Court this fall; and the Smith Act membership cases of which the Lightfoot and Scales cases are now in the appeal courts. The master link today is to smash the McCarran Act peril.

How do we believe the First Amendment rights can be restored?

DEMOCRATIC UNITY TO RESTORE THE FIRST AMENDMENT

The full restoration of the First Amendment rights is a central task of the democratic movement in America today. This is the right at the very heart of constitutional liberties. It is the one best known and loved by the people. It is that right - with its declaration of free speech, press and assembly - which is most feared and hated by reaction. The First Amendment is therefore the special target of reaction in the dismantling of the rights won over centuries of struggle

Abraham Lincoln in speaking of the Declaration of Independence said words for the First Amendment:

"Its authors meant it to be, as thank God, it is now proving itself, a stumbling block to all those who in after times might seek to turn a free people back into the hateful paths of despotism. They knew the proneness of prosperity to breed tyrants, and they meant, when such should reappear in this fair land to commence their vocation, that they should find left for them at least one hard nut to orack."

The democratic tradition is such a hard nut to crack that American reaction must pose as the defenders of constitutional liberties as they attack the First Amendment with McCarran acts, Smith Act trials, Taft-Hartley frameups, and Velde "hearings". Then, there are the conservative-minded people who believe that progressive ideas and movements have only come from the "discontented", and, that in order to guarantee progress, the channels of discussion must be kept fully open, for what is a minority idea today may well prove itself to be the best idea to-morrow.

The idea of the First Amendment is indispensable to the struggles of the American people. As such its ready support by all sections of the people is a most powerful one. We must help bring about a coalescing of wide forces of all kinds to unite on the basic proposition of restoring the First Amendment rights.

Such forces and currents are active and potential in our state. We saw a vivid proof of it in the 1954 elections. The Republican congressional candidates rolled up a majority of over 100,000 over their Democratic opponents in the six Congressional districts. But, when it came to the Congressman-at-large race there was a shift unprecedented in the history of our state. Magnuson defeated Canwell by roughly 125,000 votes, which means that 225,000 voters switched on this one race! Thus, almost 1/3 of the voters drew a bead on Canwell and produced one of the outstanding victories over McCarthyism in the 1954 elections. Clearly, people of the most conservative views wanted no part of Canwell, and broad circles of the people had become convinced that our pioneer opposition to Canwell was correct. It is clear that many Republicans shifted on this one point because they didn't want Canwell. This is one indication that a ocalition much broader than any political party or grouping can be forged around the protection of the First Amendment liberties.

The Key Link

The burning need to orient and operate from a unified national viewpoint is so great that Claude Lightfoot urges that top place must be given to the battle against the McCarran Act... "Even in states where local Smith Act trials will take place shortly, this outlook must be established."

There is a need to find the ways and means to link up the different struggles with the battle against the McCarran Act. All struggles need to be examined with an eye as to how they can help swell the popular opposition to the McCarran Act and thus speed its defeat. Few pieces of legislation ever had so much resistance as did the Mundt-Ferguson-McCarran bills of 1950. All branches of labor, the Negro peoples organizations, churches, fraternal groups, scientists, etc. opposed its passage. Thus, there exists a powerful reservoir of sentiment which needs again to be set into motion.

This hearing and decision by the Supreme Court is no routine matter. It is another turning point similar to the Dennis decision of 1951, which opened up a flood of attacks on the rights of all Americans culminating in the McCarthy outrages. This is a turning point more profound and more decisive than the Smith Act decision, which formally affected only the rights of individuals "conspiring". The McCarran Act test is the most serious in the entire history of our country, for it involves the right of people's organizations to exist at all. The Communist Party declared in Sept. 1950 that it would never "register" under the Act because of its fascist character. Registration under the Act would compel an organization to hand over a list of its members to the Justice Department and mark each piece of mail "distributed by a Communist organization", when the terms of the McCarran Act make this designation equivalent to admitting it is an organization of foreign agents, spies, and traitors! Other savage restrictions would be in store for any so foolish as to "register". Officers and members of organizations which did not "register" would be in peril of 5 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for each day missed. Thus, the McCarran Act is not a registration act, as its defenders plead, but is a suppression act without parallel in our country's history.

The peril of the McCarran Act was acknowledged even by Harry Truman, whose administration launched the cold war and started the prosecution of Communiste, in his veto message:

"Once a government is committed to the principle of silencing the voice of opposition, it has only one way to go, and this is down the path of increasingly repressive measures, until it becomes a source of terror to all its citizens and creates a country where everyone lives in fear."

The McCarran Act can be defeated. The rapid easing of international tensions underouts the basic pillar of the Act that an "international conspiracy" is at work "directed from the Soviet Union". The McCarran Act is inconsistent and incompatible with peaceful co-existence. The democratic upsurge against the entire McCarthyite system cannot permit a McCarran Act to survive. The growing momentum and power of the popular upsurge has been highlighted by the filing of the friend of the court brief by 360 Americans, and the remarkable and unique acceptance by the Supreme Court of an amicus brief on a political case.

Provided we join with the popular forces and "work tirelessly, energetically, and above all correctly" this legislative blueprint for fascism can be defeated. What a wonderful and joyous day that will be when the McCarran walls come a-tumbling down! Then, the American people will really be over the hump in smashing the McCarthyite conspiracy.

NEW FORCES TO RESTORE THE FIRST AMENDMENT

The democratio upsurge against McCarthyism is bringing forward new forces for democracy. Among these are the Hennings Committee, the Freedom Agenda, Americans for Traditional Liberties, and the American Association for the United Nations.

The Henning Committee

Simultaneously with the development of coalition work around the First Amendment and the McCarran Act there is need to organize support to the investigations of the Henning Committee on Constitutional liberties, as part of the defense of the First Amendment.

This Committee opened its hearings on Sept, 17th - Constitution Day - sitting in the well of the old Supreme Court chamber and listening to spokesmen for organizations tell them from the bench how they view the picture of constitutional liberties. The Christian Science Monitor commented that this is the first time since the first Congress that the Congress has listened to the people on the Bill of Rights.

At this opening session it became clear that a mighty struggle is already underway to shape the direction and character of the Committee's work. Reactionary groups made it clear they wanted the committee to imitate the McCarthyite committees. NAACP and PTA spokesmen made the outstanding pro-democratic contributions, with labor being strong on "right-to-work" laws and silent on the witch-hunt legislation. Hearings on the status of free speech and free press started in November.

The Freedom Agenda

Beginning the middle of October the League of Women Voters sponsored a series of neighborhood discussions on civil liberties. The series is sponsored by well-known citizens - judges, bishops, business agents, etc. 27 discussion groups are now organized. A study of the locations shows a preponderant middle-class character with few in the working class and Negro neighborhoods. The study material will concentrate on the First Amendment rights, and was prepared by the Fund for the Republic, now under a vicious attack by the American Legion leadership and other McCarthyites.

These discussion groups represent another cracking of the wall of fear that the pro-fascists tried to throw around even discussion of the Bill of Rights. The rank-and-file of the discussion groups represent those elements who have decided that it is time to know their freedoms in order to restore them.

Americans for Traditional Liberties

On Sept. 25th a new group - Americans for Traditional Liberties - issued an Cpen Letter to the American people demanding reaffirmation of the historic rights in the Constitution and an end to violations of it.

It was issued over the signatures of almost a hundred well-known Americans, including labor leaders Potofsky of ACW and Randolph of Sleeping Car Porters, Edward Corsi former state department officer, LeRoy Gore, founder of the "Joe Must Go" movement, Archibald MacLeish, former Librarian of Congress, and Arthur B. Spingarn, President NAACP.

In its Open Letter are listed "nine evils" which "must be excised from the body politie". They are points of a broad First Amendment nature, plus a call for an end to denials of the vote, and the right to housing and unsegregated schools.

American Association for the United Nations

The AAUN is carrying on an intensive campaign for the widest observance of Human Rights Week - celebrating Human Rights Day (December 10th) to further understanding of the grand principles set forth in the International Charter of Human Rights and the American Bill of Rights on December 15th. Splendid educational material has been produced by the AAUN for Human Rights Week.

These are some of the broad forces moving actively into the defense of democratic liberties, and is undoubtedly only the beginning of the great popular upsurge which will restore the First Amendment liberties to their old and accustomed place.

THE MEMBERSHIP CASES

The membership arrosts under the Smith Act are a new threat to American liberties. At the same time they open new opportunities to expose the McCarthyite plot and to mobilize people against the whole business. Reaction by moving on from "conspiracy to advocate" charges to simple charges of membership in a political party is forced at the same time to tip its hand further as to its real intentions.

The deep resistance of the American people to political persecutions forced the government to put on a show of long trials in order to create the impression that the Communists had their "day in court" and more. The 1950 plans to imprison tens of thousands has not been so easy to achieve. "Advocacy" trials were long and drawn out. A speedier belt-line conviction machine of "guilty of membership" was needed.

However, things have not worked out that way. The rising upsurge against McCarthyism has caught up with this before it could get well started. McCarthy was censured the month before the Lightfoot trial. The climate has turned out to be quite different than the McCarthyites calculated. So, at the very time the needs of repression have demanded a widening of the attacks and speedier methods, there has been the emergence of a popular majority against McCarthyism upsetting all these neat schemes.

Moreover, the opening of the membership offensive has coincided with the tremendous turn in the exposure of the informer system through the Matusow-Natvig-Vatson-Deve Brown revelations, which has rocked public confidence in anything a government informer might say.

Nevertheless, the Justice Department is pressing the membership arrests as its answer to the Geneva spirit. There has been a step-up in the membership arrests - Blumberg, Noto, and Weiss, The reactionary calculations undoubtedly are that the membership cases would be a "bridge" to building a "proper" climate for the McCarran test, and a reserve in case this did not come off. It is clear that this is a major front of struggle in the coming months.

How fast are the membership cases moving? Very fast. Faster than the other Smith Act cases. The Justice Department is pushing the Scales case out front to be orally argued in the 4th Circuit Court this fall - one of the most reactionary-staffed courts in the country, headed by Judge Parker, who was kept off the Supreme Court by AFL and NAACP protests when he was nominated by Hoover in 1930. This is the court which brushed off the Baltimore appeal in record time. The Lightfoot case is due for oral argument on Nov. 1st.

THE NELSON CASE AND LABOR'S STAKE

The Nelson case is becoming one which can bring a radical shift in labor's intervention to restore democracy, and bring into play the decisive force in the coalition. The Nelson case, brought before the U.S. Supreme Court'by national reaction, which is seeking to retain its host of reactionary state laws, many far more vicious than similar federal laws, is beginning to arouse the trade union movement to the great dangers to itself in the Nelson test. This past week the Nelson defense amounced that the general counsel of the AFL, Herbert Thatcher, will argue the Nelson appeal before the U.S. Supreme Court. This follows the concern voiced by the national AFL executive council last fall that the fate of all state anti-labor laws will be at stake in the appeal on the Pennsylvania sedition law.

The First Amendment rights by which labor fights for its immediate demands are today menaced by the growth of right-to-seab laws, outbreaks of vigilante action against union organizers, capped by the mass shooting of pickets in the Newcastle strike, and anti-labor injunctions. The state sedition and anti-labor laws can be given a severe setback with a victory in the Nelson case.

As labor moves into the Nelson fight, there will become possible new opportunities to relate this to the Smith, McCarran and Butler laws. The same testimony was made against Steve Nelson in the sedition and Smith Act trials, and the Pennsylvania court held that there was not one word in the record that Steve Nelson had advocated overthrowing government, thus making even more clear the raw frameup in both cases, and paving the way for wider circles of labor to oppose the federal repressive laws.

TURN THE STRUGGLE AROUND THE LOCAL CASES INTO A POWER FOR THE FIRST AWENDMENT

In Washington there are a number of local cases, which, if fought correctly, can give strength to the key issues of the First Amendment and the McCarran Act. Because cases all over the country have been fought in relative isolation from each other there needs to be a special emphasis on relating the struggles to each other, for advancing the popular understanding of the key importance of the concentration cases.

State Outlaw "Loyalty" Test Case

Of outstanding importance is the coming appeal brought by two University professors against the State Outlaw law "loyalty" provisions. This is the first such challenge by academic forces in our country in some time. It comes at a time when the national "loyalty" racket is under the sharpest attack yet with such standout events as the Landy case, the Democratic Congressional attack on the Republican "numbers game", Harry Cain's attacks upon the Attorney General's list, and the still-mounting revulsion against the informer system. It comes at a time when Geneva undercuts the Big Lie of socialist aggression and the supposed need for "loyalty" caths for teachers and other government employees. A strong fight here can give solid support in building a favorable national climate for the consideration of the Nelson "sedition" case.

Washington Pension Union v. SACB

The ourrent "hearings" against the Washington Pension Union are an important milestone in the history of freedom struggles in our state. This is the first McCarran attack upon a state organization and marks a new penetration by the SACB against the people's right to assemble and battle for better conditions.

Through these hearings tens of thousands of Washington citizens will come to realize how destructive the McCarran Act is, and why the pending test in the Supreme Court is the decisive civil rights issue in our country today. Victory for the Communist Party appeal will wipe out the cases against other organizations. Defeat for the appeal will go far to close the door to winning any of the second round cases.

The Washington Pension Union case is an important one and all-out progressive support is called for around the two issues of the First Amendment rights and the high moral and humanitarian character of the Pension Union's record. One of the inspiring developments is how the Pension Union membership and its friends are beginning to come forward with a tremendous fight-back spirit.

The Seattle Smith Act Case

This case has great vitality to bring to the general anti-McCarthyite struggles. The raising of over $100,000 bail money demonstrated the deep-seated popular opposition to the threat of the Smith Act and the confidence which many people had in the program and record of the Communist Party.

Nationally the reactionaries have lost tempo and to some degree initiative in the Smith Act persecutions. In 1950 the plan was to put 21,105 Communists and non-Communists through the Smith Act wringer. Today there are 20 Smith Act prisoners in the country; in addition there are several score who are under indictment or whose cases are on appeal. The continued fight for amnesty or parole for those in prison and the quashing of the charges against those under indictment or on appeal is an indispensable part of the battle. The rising fight-back against McCarthyism has put a brake on the Smith Act timetable. The last "conspiracy to advocate" arrests were in Connecticut in May, 1954. It is now more than 25 months since the Scattle verdicts and the oral argument is satill to be made before the Appeal court (the first eleven were in prison 21 months after conviction). The Cleveland Smith Act trial opened October 31st or more than 26 months after the arrests - when the pattern in previous years was a 6 or 7 month interval between arrest and trial. It is possible that the Appeal Court in San Francisco may wait until it gets the signal from the Supreme Court on the Schneiderman appeal before it schedules the Hawaii and Scattle cases for oral argument.

The Smith Act struggles have clearly benefitted from the general sweep against McCarthyism and the braking it has applied to all repressive moves. The fight-back spirit and content of the trials made a significant contribution to this slowing down of McCarthyism. The Smith Act was a particular speerhead of repression, and the many struggles of the people against the evils and brutalities of McCarthyism has cut down the hear of conspiracy and blunted the Smith Act attacks. The widest support of the fight against the McCarran Act is today the single best defender against the Smith Act convictions here and elsewhere. Similarly, success and advances around the Steve Nelson and the membership cases, and all the other struggles, national and local, helps to build the climate and atmosphere necessary for victory.

In discussing the fatalism that no matter what we do the jury will convict political defendants, Claude Lightfoot makes the point that "the times determine the crime" and the important thing is how to change the times in each trial. Every trial - and every appeal - "must be viewed as a stepping etone toward changing the existing political climate". (Sept. '55 P.A.)

The James McDaniel Case

The charge against Mr. McDaniel combines an attack upon the right of the Negro people to organize for jobs without discrimination as he is charged with being an officer of the National Negro Labor Council, and an attack upon the right of Americans to join in the battles to improve social security for he is charged with being a member of the Mashington Pension Union.

So far as is known this case is unique in the U.S. As such it is nationally significant as a "tester" brought by the Justice Department. This is a case of potentially great power and vitality. The setting of a trial date has been indefinitely postponed with the government directed to supply the McDaniel defense copies of all original documents and the right to examine the originals.

The Al Fisher Taft-Hartley Appeal - An Attack on Labor Leadership

The mounting clash between the trade unions and the Cadillac Cabinet administration and its monopoly backers is a prominent feature of today's developments. As the economic storms gather round a decaying capitalist economy, based upon a war orientation in the time of Geneva, and when the confidence of capitalism's supporters is so thin that the President's heart attack can spark a sharp decline in the stock market barometer, it is clear that the American working class will not stand idly by to be pushed into the Hoovervilles. The militancy of the southern strikes this spring, the power of the longshore strike on the east coast, the stubbornness of the Kohler strikers, and the solidarity of the Newcaetle strike in the face of armed terror demonstrate clearly that the American workers will not put up forever with the anti-labor laws either. This is the objective basis within which the Fisher case can be won.

The Taft-Hartley affidavit gimmick was the direct forerunner of the McCarran Act proscriptions of people's organizations. Trade union support of the labor leader A. A. Fisher appeal against the Taft-Hartley frameup strengthens the national struggle against the McCarran Act. The Bridges victory shows what is possible and is of special importance in exposing the Justice Department and its informer system.

The Velde Cases

The Un-American Committee today is at its lowest point of public standing. The popular opposition is more outspoken and determined. The people are fighting back more militantly than ever - witness the mass picket line in Newark and the actors' fight back in N. Y. The Geneva spirit and the Emspak decision have caused a big change. The un-Americans were set back further this past week when the Judge acquitting Berrows Dunham held that if the atmosphere of the hearing was such that the accused was fearful of being trapped that he was entitled to use the Fifth Amendment even though any particular question might not be incriminating in itself. The Velde cases here can also be won, and they can be strong stepping-stones for changing the climate.

NEGRO FREEDOM - POWERFUL ALLY OF THE STRUGGLE AGAINST MCCARTHYISM

The struggles of the Negro people for full freedom have always been a mighty anti-imperialist and anti-reactionary force. Today this freedom movement is more powerful and united than ever before and with strong ties with the trade union movement. Proof of the power of this movement is demonstrated in the unanimous decision forced from the Supreme Court to end segregation in education, and the steadily rising number of Negroes elected to office in every part of the country, including the South.

Bandung represented a tremendous new world power for the defeat of racism everywhere. The Cairo conference coming next spring will further isolate the racists on an international scale and strengthen the arm of the Negro-white alliance within our country. The recent UN action to debate the Algerian question demonstrated a new majority within the world body, which will grow in the conditions of peace. (The Vatican's statement condemning the barbarous discrimination in the U.S. will be a mighty weapon in mobilizing wider support against the racists.)

The strivings of the Negro people for equality demand the full use of the First Amendment rights. As such it represents a mighty and permanent force for the defense of democratic rights. Recently the California Eagle wrote:

"The trouble with the kind of law that permits prosecution and conviction of a Claude Lightfoot is that it encourages other legislation to curb dissent and dissenters. As Negrões, we have a special stake in protecting the right to disagree. We must remember that the Abolitionists held very unacceptable beliefs for a long time and that the NAACP principles aren't exactly in favor in Mississippi and Georgia."

Negro leaders have been in the front ranks in the battles against McCarthyism - Dr. DuBois, Paul Robeson, William Patterson, and symbolized powerfully in the triumphant clash Mrs. Eslanda Robeson had with McCarthy.

Mat are the special features of the picture today? The unity of the Negro people for progress is at the highest point yet with the NAACP coming forward as the instrument for an all-class alliance. The law of the land is now officially anti-segregation, which gives a strong moral advantage to the Negro people and their white allies against the small and diminishing Dixlecrat oppressors.

Into this picture there has come the lightning flash of the Till murder and the mockery of trial at Sumner, Mississippi. This crime has stirred America to the depths. The Negro press reveals an indignation and anger of colossal proportions. In the jungle fury of the Dixieorats who sense their doom in the desegregation decision, the labor merger which has the power to organize the south, and the Bandung spirit, there is visible the desperation of a dying ruling class. Over the country we see the silence of the two big parties with their political ties with the Dixieorats. Only the working class alliance with the Negro people is powerful enough and determined enough to change this situation. Labor in turn needs the Negro alliance to organize the South, repeal anti-labor legislation, and aphievs a democratic America.

The labor movement is beginning to move with power. The Clothing workers of New York sponsored a street meeting protesting the Till murder which attracted over 20,000 persons. The United Auto Workers last week issued a splendid statement of laber's responsibility in safeguarding civil rights and announcing that it was joining "a host of other or ganizations" in a January, 1956, civil rights mobilization in Washington, D. C. This is the most advanced step yet taken by a trade union. The UAW proposed detailed actions to enlist U.S. Congressmen to enact civil rights legislation, which gives a clear lead for labor nationally to win the passage of civil rights laws, and stymis the Dixiecrat plan to take over the 1956 election struggles. In Washington there have been new and significant steps toward strengthening the Labor-Negro alliance as a number of unions responded to the NAACP appeal for support in the Till case and against police brutality.

DEFEND THE FOREIGN BORN - ALLY AGAINST MCCARTHYISM

The defense of the rights of the foreign born has always been of decisive influence in defending the rights of the native born. It was so during the Alien and Sedition acts and is even more true today.

Moreover, the key struggle today against the McCarran Act has a most powerful ally in the nation-wide opposition to the Walter-McCarran Act. Actually, the most vigorous fight-back against a repressive law - once passed - has been made precisely against the Walter-McCarran Act. Its repeal has been demanded by organizations representing a clear majority of the American people. Election platforms of both major parties call for some amendment of the Walter-McCarran Act. The spirit of Geneva pounds on the Walter-McCarran Act in a special way as increasing numbers of delegations from socialist countries come to America and are confronted by the fingerprint provisions of that law.

In Washington the struggle in defense of the foreign born has made important national contributions. In a recent evaluation of the work in this field, Abner Green, national executive secretary of the American Committee for Protection of the Foreign Born said:

"....The most important contribution....was made by the Seattle committee,....which won the Gonzalez case in the U.S. Supreme Court and the Alcantra case in the federal court of appeals in San Francisco...."

FOR A RENEWED OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE INFORMER SYSTEM!

The Justice Department is faced with a crisis in its use of infermers.

Following upon the Matusow exposure and the other confessions of false testimony, there have been as number of first-rate developments relative to abolishing the political informer. Judge Goodman in his opinion acquitting Bridges lashed out at the "inconsistencies, hates and malice" which marked the Justice Department witnesses, and stated bluntly "They were not worthy of belief." And this from a judge who made it clear that if he could have found a way to deport Bridges he would have been all for it.

Judge Ederle, hearing the denaturalization case against William Allen in Detroit, ruled that he would not recognize John Lautner as an expert in any sense of the word. The Fund for the Republic has allotted $25,000 to the Stanford Law School for a study of the testimony of the government witnesses in the Smith Act and other witchhunt trials and hearings.

The informer crisis has reached such proportions that J. Edgar Hoover recently complained that he was "disheartened". This admission reflects Justice Department alarm over the widespread opposition to the political informer system. A great change in the climate, indeed!

ABOLISH THE POLITICAL POLICE AND THE LABOR SPY RACKET

The restoration of the Bill of Rights must include the abolition of the political police and the rooting out of the nation-wide FBI sponsored labor spy racket in the industries and shops of America.

Twenty years ago the LaFollette Committee exposed the labor spy racket set up by the big monopolies to prevent trade union organization. Today the FBI organizes labor spies with the taxpayers dollars. The Smith Act trials, especially in Detroit, heve revealed how FBI informants were carrying on anti-union spying. Every trade union struggle brings to light more FBI labor spies at work. The country is literally crawling with these thought control police.

The FBI cannot find, let alone prosecute, a single lyncher. Roy Wilkins, Executive Secretary of NAACP, recently drew attention to the fact that FBI agents were searching for the kidnappers of a 3-year old white boy in New York state within one day, while no investigation was ever made of the gunpoint kidnapping of Emmett Till. Wilkins asked: "What is the role of the FBI in our country today?"

McCarthy is a discredited politician, but the FBI surveillance of workingclass leaders still continues. The wings of the un-American committee are being clipped, but the FBI wiretapping of homes, offices, and telephones still goes on. The informer racket is shaken, but the FBI continues its intimidation tactics to frighten Americans away from reading whatever newspaper or magazine they want to.

It is high time that the FBI political police activities and its labor spy apparatus be abolished.

THE NEED FOR A CORRECT TACTICAL APPROACH

We want to win the great majority of the American people for the Party's Program. Our policy for ending the cold war and McCarthyism is being proved correct every day. We must have correct tactical approaches to extend our general policy into flesh-and-blood reality among the masses of the people and their organizations.

Stalin speaks of "The task of tactical leadership is to master all the forms of struggle and...to bring to the forefront those forms of struggle and of organization which are best suited to the conditions prevailing..."

(Foundations)

Gus Hall in his report to the 1950 Party Convention pointed out:

"We do not always remember that tactics flow both from the Porty's general line and from the concrete situation at hand... A general political policy and line will not mean much, if the tactics used to put it into life are unsuitable and so defeat than nurness."

(Peace Can Be Won)

These guiding principles can be a big help to us in a persistent effort to overcome "Left" sectarian thinking and approaches which have plagued our Dietriot, as well as in combatting Right opportunist tendencies.

There are no "little" things in tactics. "Little things", "trifles" will either lead us in a correct direction or carry us off in a wrong direction. Either the "trifles" make perfection, or something quite different. Gus Hall's warning is that for correct tactics we need two things - an overall line and the closest analysis of the concrete situation. Recent examples make it clear that the overall effect of the "Left" line is still with us, as well as slippings into Right opportunism.

Let us beware of .

"...a careless disregard for tactical considerations,... Underestimation of the importance of tactics leads to indifference to the thinking of the masses, to disregard for their level of development at a particular time or in a particular place. For if you aren't worried about tactics, why worry about what the masses think, what they want to fight against, or how they want to fight?"

(Gus Hall - Peage Can Be Won)

Continuous checking of our tactical approach in light of these theoretical principles can greatly strengthen and speed our advances in all fields of work.

THE LEFT CENTERS AND COALITION

A mature and vital coalition spirit and approach will see the Left forces giving their main attention to seeking every possible point of unity with the other forces in the coalition - labor, the Negro people, professionals, etc.

Only the unity of the masses and their organizations can decide the vast national questions which face our country, and the Left must be a part of this unity. So long as the McCarthyite attacks on the peoplo's rights goes on there is need for Left defense organizations. Such Left centers have performed and can continue to perform a valuable service by:

- Speaking out and acting on advanced issues...defense of the rights of Communists, abolition of the Attorney General's "list", ratification of the genocide convention by the U.S. Congress.
- Linking up the advanced propositions with the already accepted struggles which others in the coalition do not yet see or do not yet want to speak on. In this way to help the coalition see further and move steadily ahead in the battle against McCarthyiem.
- 3. Constructive work winning acceptance as a legitimate section of the coalition.

The Left Centers must examine the struggle for the First Amendment in all parts of our state in terms of forces, currents, groupings, and organizations which are concerned with civil liberties issues. There is a need for a more intimats and extensive knowledge of who is who, and who is doing what, and who is ready to do more to restore the First Amendment rights and upend the McCarran Agt. The assistance of such forces, which exist in every area, can be invaluable in helping correct forms of organization, struggle and methods of work.

THE PARTY AND COALITION

The role of the Communist Party is to be vanguard in all the people's struggles. There is a special need for the Party to play an independent role today in the battle to restore democratic freedoms in America. The popular coalition needs the active participation of the Party in order to develop resistance to the Big Lie of "communist subversion".

In Washington there is a burning need for the Party to speak out on a state level, as well as in the regions and the clubs, in defense of the Party as the first line in the defense of the Bill of Rights. It is true that the Party cannot become a defense organization, and thus repeat the fatal mistake of the I. W. W., and it is equally true that the Party must defend itself as an indispensable part of the whole fight. The defense of the Party cannot be left to anyone else. On the contrary, to the degree that the Party speaks in its own defense to that degree will we be able to further help win non-Communists to the defense of the rights of the Communists.

Our Party hero has gone through a most severe ordeal. Our Party is now restored and forging ahead. Let us apply the lessons we have learned, and we can be sure that our contribution to the national struggle will be a helpful one, and that we shall see the Bill of Rights restored and America cleansed of the filth of McCarthyism.

In concluding his report to the August Conference Claude Lightfoot said:

"In a larger and more basic sense, in order to carry out these objectives, what is required is greater boldness and initiative in applying the policy of the united front everywhere. What is called for is a more consistent effort and resourcefulness to cultivate, crystallize, and influence on all levels, the strong democratic currents and rising peace expressions in the nation, and especially the heightened fighting spirit and unity trends among the workers and the Negro people."

The people can defeat the McCarthyite attack. It can be broken up with a concentrated force on the main objective - restoring the First Amendment by building the popular offensive to smash the McCarran Act.

There is a solid objective basis for our confidence that peace will conquer war, democracy will overcome fascism, and brotherhood will be achieved.

"It is now possible so to broaden the front against reaction by a correct policy of the united front in defense of the Bill of Rights that we can onter what Comrade Lightfoot called 'a new era of struggle - an era in which the fascist menace can be decisively crushed': Then, in Jefferson's words, 'We shall see the roign of the witches mass over, their spells dissolved, and the reople recovering their true sight'." (S. Gerson, Octobor '55 P.A.)

This is our goal. There can be no doubt that we shall see this happy and glorious time.

NORTHWEST CONFERENCE TO FIGHT DEPORTATION

of foreign-born Americans because of their labor and social activities.

Saturday, March 17, 1951

Marine Cooks and Steward Hall 110 Cherry, 2nd floor Seattle, Wash.

Dinner at 6:30, in honor of Northwest victims of the deportation drive. Irvin Goodman, Portland civil rights attorney will speak.

Rt. Rev. Arthur Moulton

Honorary Co-Chairmen /Rev. John W. Darr. Jr., Chairman of Board of Directors

- THE JUSTICE FIRST INCIT has announced that it will arrest and deport more than 3,400 non-citizens on the basis of the deportation provisions of the McCarran Law....
  - --that it intends to unlawfully revoke the citizenship of more than 1,000 naturalized American citizens.
- THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT, through its Immigration Service, is attempting to use the McCarran Law to establish concentration camps in the United States by illegally re-arresting 48 non-citizens and holding them without bail.

THESE ATTACKS ON AMERICAN HERITAGE AND TRADITIONS throaten 14,000,000 foreign-born Americans! The "Justice" Department seeks to use the foreign-born as scapegoats, and to establish legal and political precedents for attacking the civil rights of native born Americans as well.

THE "JUSTICE" DEPARTMENT - not our deportation victims - is overthrowing the Constitution of the United States in its attempt to enforce the unconstitutional McCarran Law. It is trying to silence criticism of the activities of our public servants - the President, Congress, the Justice Department - who share the tremendous profits that Wall Street reaps through war and inflated prices at the expense of the people and the death of their sons.

TO THIS CONFERENCE the Northwest Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born invites all organizations and individuals who wish to join in the drawing up of a program of action urgently needed to maintain the democratic rights of the American people by pretecting the liberties of the foreign-born Americans.

LET US UNITE TO SEND a relative of one of the deportation victims to Washington, D.C., the week of March 19th, to join other relatives from all over the United States to protest in person the wrecking of homes and friendship ties of these innecent people.

WASHINGTON COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF THE FOREIGN BOR

Vol. 3 No. 1

Seattle, Washington

January-February, 1956

CAMPAIGN GROWING TO STOP HAZEL WOLF DEPORTATION FEBRUARY FIRST

Senator William Langer introduced SB 1425 for the relief of Hazel Anna Wolf last March, long established precedent should have ensured stay of her deportation until Congress acted on the bill.

However, only the intervention of Sen. Langer prevented the Immigration from deporting Mrs. Wolf last October, despite the bill. At that time Immigration Commissioner J.M. Swing agreed to post-pone the matter "until February 1st if Congress had not passed the bill".

The WCPFB is doing everything possible to acquaint the public with this inhumane and shameful intention of the Immigration. It has and is calling on all of its supporters to write Sen. Magnuson at Washington, D.C. about this case, urging him to advise Commisioner Swing that the people of Washington demand that the February 1st order be cancelled.

Copies of letters already sent have been received. The Michigan Foreign Born Committee has written Senator Kilgore, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee and has pledged Mrs. Wolf its support.

Robert W. Kenny, former Attorney General of California, wrote Sen. Kilgore; also California attorneys John W. Porter, Esther Shandler, Leo Gallager, Daniel G. Marshall, Laurence Sperber, Wm. B. Esterman, A.L. Wirin and others.

Attorneys Royal W.France of N.Y. Harriet Bouslog of Hawaii, Nels Peterson and Irvin Goodman of Ore-Harriet Bouslog of Hawaii, gon; George W. Crockett of Michi-gan; Harold Buchman of Maryland; Ben G. Levy of Texas; Theresa Ehrlich of Illinois, John M. Coe of Florida, are among those that have come in to date.

In Seattle many attorneys have written who know Mrs. Wolf personally or through John Caughlan her employer.

Rev. John W. Caughlan, WCPFB chairman has advised many Methodist ministers of Mrs. Wolf's case and it is expected many will write to Senator Magnuson.

Friends and acquaintances of long years' standing are writing and have pledged to support Mrs. Wolf in her fight to remain in this country which has been her home for thirty-five years.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW JAY CASE

When Cecil Jay applied for suspension of deportation to England on the grounds of his long and law abiding residence in this country, the Immigration Department admitted that his character was exemplary and he was eligible. However, it added, because of confidential information which they refused to divulge, the Dept. denied his application. Mr. Jay's attorney, John Caughlan, charged that the Department had no confidential information and challenged it to produce any. Both the U.S. District and the 9th Circuit Appeals courts sustained the Immigration.

A petition was filed with the U.S. Supreme Court asking that they review the case. This petition was granted January 10th.

The WCPFB believes that in thus carrying the important issue: that the accused shall be faced with his accusers, to the high court, a favorable decision will result. In fact, it must if cherished American traditions are safeguarded.

The fate of many hundreds of foreign born who are in similar jeopardy is at stake, including the case of Jim Crain.

The WCPFB faces a serious problem in raising sufficient funds to carry this petition before the Supreme Court and will presently launch a fund raising campaign for that purpose.

ACPFB DEFENDED BY ABNER GREEN

At the hearings before the SACB in Washington, D.C. the government has been parading a long line of paid informers, including Barbara Hartle and Clark Harper of local fame, since last fall.

Abner Green who has worked for the American Com. for 20 years is now on the stand in defense of the Committee. He is one of the principal defense witnesses.

-2-KOREAN CHARGED WITH HOLDING DAN-GEROUS THOUGHTS

Doo Sik Shynn was born in North Korea 58 years ago, and left his native land because of Japanese oppression, like thousands of his countrymen, and settled in Manchuria, where he became a Chinese citizen. He came to Seattle in 1920, and has remained here ever since.

In July 1954 he was arrested for failing to report his address each January as is required by law of all non-citizens. A hearing was held before the Immigration Pept. and it was decided that his failure was not wilful and was, there fore, not contrary to the law.

At the hearing, however, under questioning by Immigration officials Mr. Shynn spoke freely of his political opinions. Among other things, he said that Chaing Kai Chek was driven out of China because he did nothing about land reform, nor did the South Korean government in South Korea.

He stated that the Communist government in China was good for the people of China.

But what really made the Immigration recoil was when Mr. Shynn said he believed, as Abraham Lincoln said, that the people have a right to any kind of government they choose, in China, in Russia, or in the United States, and to establish that government peacefully if they can and by force if they must!

So he was ordered deported (the order does not say where) because he is "an alien who advocates the economic, international and governmental doctrines of world communism."

Mr. Shynn is a culinary worker. The decision in his case is being appealed by John Caughlan and the WCPFB has pledged to support his fight to stay in this country.

ROSE CHERNIN TO VISIT SEATTLE AND SPOKANE

Mrs. Rose Chernin the executivesecretary of the LACPFB, will be the guest speaker at a dinner and rally held in Washington Hall in Seattle on January 28th, and in Broadway Hall in Spokane under the sponsorship of the Free Press Discussion Club.

Mrs. Chernin has just returned from the Detroit National Conference at which January was desig - nated the REPEAL WALTER MCCARRAN MONTH.

SEATTLE BAR ASSOCIATION SECURES COUNSEL FOR CLARA PAULSON

At a recent meeting of the Civil Rights Committee of the Seattle Bar Association, it was decided that the Bar Association would assume the responsibility of the Clara Paulson denaturalization case. Attorney Kenneth A. MacDonald was appointed to represent Mrs Paulson.

On Jan. 30 a government motion to consolidate the cases of both Gunnar Paulson and Clara Paulson will be argued in the Federal Court. John Caughlan, who represents Mr. Paulson, has stated his intention of opposing the consolidation in the interests of securing a fair trial for both persons.

RECENT COURT VICTORIES

The U.S. Supreme Court handed down a decision January 16th that it was unlawful for the Immigration Dept. to subpoena American citizens to testify at administrative hearings relating to proposed denaturalization cases.

Saul Grossman, secretary of the Michigan Committee for Protection of Foreign Born was recently acquitted of a charge of refusing to produce Committee documents before an Un-American Activities Committee hearing.

NON CITIZENS MUST REGISTER

During the month of January all non-citizens are required to report their addresses to the Attorney General. Forms for this report are available at all local post offices and at the WCPFB.

CAMPAIGN TO REPEAL WALTER McCARRAN ACT STEPPED UP.

Now that Congress has reconvened our representatives should be reminded that the people of this country expect the legislature to repeal the Walter McCarran Act.

Letters to congressmen should be sent containing the following:

- 1. What is their position on this unpopular law?
- 2. Ask them to make sure that a full report on the recent Kilgore hearing is made to the Senate.
- 3. Ask them to sign the Anfaso Discharge Petition on HR 501 (a bill to revise the law).

Only in this way can the current drive against the foreign born be stopped. TELL YOUR REPRESENTATIVES YOU EXPECT WALTER-McCARRAN TO BE REPEALED IN 1956:

* * * * FUNDS NEEDED

We know our supporters are not wealthy people and they have given generously in the past. We know, too, that they will continue to contribute. Our Committee is carrying a large load in our job of defending the foreign born and we urgently need funds for court cost and other expenses. Will you send us as much as you can spare to get us through the next few months?

THANK YOU.

February 17, 1956.

Dear Sir or Madam:

Enclosed please find two releases which describe the deportation proceedings against Mrs. Tora Rystad, 47 year old mother of two children, and Mr. Cecil Jay, 65 year old man, both of Seattle. There are many other persons in the state and throughout the nation similarly threatened with deportation under the Walter-McCarran law, but we feel the two above named are representative. The punishment of banishment meted out to an individual who has lived ten or more years in this country can no longer be described as a "deportation"; it can only be considered as "exile" and permanent separation from all that gives life meaning.

President Truman's Commission on Immigration recommended against such deportations and urged that "...(the law) should not require deportation of non-citizens who entered the country at an early age or have been long-time residents."

The Governor of Michigan, G. Mennen Williams, as a representative of the Democratic National Committee, commenting in Los Angeles recently on the Walter-McCarran law demanded an end to the "totalitarian concept of second-class citizenship" and branded the law a disgrace to the United States and written by "timid, fearful men who would restore the privileges of place, of birth, of nationality and creed."

In contrast to Governor Williams' opposition is the concept expressed in the recent recommendation of President Eisenhower for revision of the law to provide for the more speedy deportation of "criminals, narcotic agents and subversives". This is an artful attempt of the spokesman of the Republican Party, under the pretext of punishing unpopular individuals, to cover up the fact that a serious blow is aimed against 40 million foreign born and their families - a blow aimed by "timid, fearful men..." The truth is that tens of thousands of persons, in addition to the mere handful so astutely singled out by the President, are deportable under Walter-McCarran - and are being deported every day - for entry irregularities; for failure to register; for having been dependent on public assistance; for infringement of laws (even of the out-moded Prohibition law; for holding or for having held unpopular political beliefs. Even persons suffering from mental illness have been exiled under this most ruthless law - whose processes the President wishes to speed up.

The Party of Franklin Delano Roosevelt (who once said: "We are all immigrants or the children of immigrants") is shamed by such "timid and fearful men..." as Democratic Senator Walter the father of the Walter-McCarran law, Senator Eastland and other racist and wested-interest representatives in the Party, who have placed themselves outside of democratic principles.

We in the state of Washington are proud to recognize that Senator Magnuson placed himself in the forefront of the fight to repeal the Walter-McCarran law when he sponsored the Lehman-Celler bill. We believe that the rest of the Washington delegation would take a similar position were they appraised of the nature of this law and of the will of the people that it be repealed.

The Lehman-Celler and numerous similar bills are now bottled up in committee in the 85th Congress. Because a small clique headed by Rep. Walter block the emergence of these bills, Rep. Victor Anfuso (D-N.Y.) is circulating a discharge petition to bring his HB 50l on the floor of Congress for open debate. By signing this petition our Washington Representatives can help defeat the maneuvers of the handful of selfish men who are not responsive to the general interest of the people.

In the coming pre-election months we urgently ask you to consider these matters. We also respectfully suggest that (1) you write to the Washington delegation to reaffirm their position for the repeal of the Walter-McCarran law and the enactment of a just and humane Immigration and Nationality law; and (2) that you urge our Representatives to sign the Anfuso discharge petition.

Yours sincerely,

WASHINGTON COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF FOREIGN BORN 513 Second & Cherry Bldg. Seattle 4. Washington

Rev. John W. Caughlan Chairman

Marion Kinney Executive Secretary

Dear Candidate,

Do you know that there are 700 reasons for deportation under the WALTER-McCARRAN Immigration law?

Among these, the law provides that: a non-citizen who has been committed to a public sanitarium, say for tuberculosis or mental disease, may be deported; a non-citizen may be deported for unorthodox political views.

Under the Walter-McCarran law a foreign born citizen may be denaturalized and deported for having been a past member of a proscribed organization, say twenty or thirty years ago.

Hundreds of organizations have urged revision. Many bills have been introduced in Congress which would forbid deportation of noncitizens having resided here for twenty years and the denaturalization of anyone having been naturalized more than ten years.

This letter is to inquire about your position on the Walter-McCarran law.

A law which causes cruel hardship for thousands in our country and insecurity for 40 million people (this includes the foreign born and their children) should surely receive the attention and outspoken concern of every political leader of any persuasion.

80,000 persons have been deported since the enactment of the Walter-McCarran law. This does not include the Mexican people.

A typical case of threatened deportation is that of Mrs Tora Rystad, a Seattle mother, concerning whom a leaflet is enclosed.

Another pathetic case is that of a man, Nemesio C. Navarro, who has been arrested for deportation because he has been in one of our state mental hospitals.

We shall appreciate hearing from you on the law and what you will do to influence changes in the next session of Congress?

Sincerely yours,

Marion Kinney
Executive Secretary

NORTHWEST COMMITTEE FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE FOREIGN BORN
316 Bay Building
Seattle 1, Wash.

January 24, 1953

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

We are enclosing a breakdown and discussion of Public Law No. 414 the Immigration and Nationality Act commonly known as the Walter-McCarran Law.

This law affects directly 14 million foreign born Americans, some of whom are members of your union. Since two-thirds of the persons now facing deportation and denaturalization are members and leaders of unions, we can only conclude that the intent of this law is to curtail labor from seeking better wages and conditions. Such a menuce to labor is, of course, a menuce to all decent and democracy loving Americans.

The immigration director has the power not alone to screen travelers from Alaska but also to screen citizens and non-citizens alike going to Alaska. As you know screening is the polite term for blacklist. The livelihood and conditions for all seasonal workers in Alaska are at stake unless this arrogant invasion of their rights is stopped.

The President's Commission on Immigration & Naturalization has recommended complete revision of the law. Representative W. A. Barrett of Pennsylvania has already introduced a bill for the repeal of the law. Delegate E.L. Bartlett of Alaska has also introduced an amendment exempting Alaska from the law.

The Los Angeles Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born is calling a conference to help publicize and support the widespread demand for repeal. It will be held in Los Angeles, on February 7th., at 607 So. Western Avenue.

You are invited to send a representative. If you cannot do so, will you help us send a representative delegation by doneting in amounts that you are able.

We need funds to help us send out more materials to work for the repeal of this disgraceful and victous law.

We hope that your local will give grave consideration to the danger of this law to our cherished liberties and living standards and take all appropriate action to alert your membership and community to petition for repeal of the Walter-McGarran law.

Fraternally yours,
Stoned: Marion Kinney, Actg. Sec'y.

Men of Labor and Civic Leaders Throughout Nation Voice Indignation

By Terry Pettus

SEATTLE, June 5.—Judge Medina's jailing of the three Communist leaders is drawing bitter protest from all parts of the Pacific Northwest.

Within a few hours of the unprecedented court action, a flow of telegraphic protests were being sent to Judge Medina and to President Truman. Many also sent messages of greeting and pledges of support to Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the party.

Leaders of unions in lumber, maritime, the fishing industry joined with the Washington State Communist Party, the Civil Rights Congress, the Progressive Party and many individuals in wiring protests.

Russell Fluent, chairman, and Jerry O'Connell, executive secretary of the Progressive Party, wired Medina: "Thousands of members are shocked at your willful, unlawful and unconstitutional attempt to deny any defense to the Communist Party leaders now on trial."

Henry Huff, chairman, and Clayton Van Lydegraf, secretary of the Washington State Communist Party, wired Dennis; "The northwest district is proud and inspired by the splendid fight the defendants are making against the biased conduct and vicious rulings of Judge Medina who is acting as prosecutor at Foley Square. The jailing of John Gates, Gus Hall, and Henry Winston has shocked and aroused our party and the mass forces to a new fighting pitch and widespread protest action.

Speaking for the northern Washington district council of the International Woodworkers of America, Karly Larsen, president, and Walter Belka, secretary, wired Medina; "Your high-handed action makes a mockery of the Bill of Rights.

Protests were sent to the judge by W. W. Wallace, business agent of the Bellingham IWA local; Ray Glover, business agent of the Enumclay IWA local. and Giles Evans, business agent of the Sedro-Woolley IWA local.

Thomas C. Rabbitt, former State senator and secretary of the Washington State Civil Rights Congress, wired Medina that by his action he is attempting to replace traditional court procedure with a "trial by terror."

Robert Cummings, secretary of the CIO International Fishermen and Allied Workers Local 3 said: "This is turning American jurisprudence into American judasprudence."

A. Dearinger, business agent CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Local 9: "This is part of the rotten attempt to silence protest and intimidate the people. It is a coverup for the Truman administration's failure to produce on its campaign promises.

Robert Kinney, regional director, CIO Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers: "This is a new low in the court's savage repression of the minimum basic rights of the defendants.

Others who voiced protest included Winifred Thompson, business agent, IFAWA Local 7; Jerry Tyler, secretary, Seattle CIO Council.

William Pennock, president of the Washington Pension Union, wired Medina: "Your action strongly reminds us of the notorious Hitler courts where every cherished concept of justice and fair play was replaced by naked force and violence against accused. Surely you must be aware that before the peoples of the world you are holding up judicial process up to contempt and loathing. You should immediately disqualify yourself."

Joseph Harris, port agent, Marine Cooks and Stewards: "As a trade unionist I am opposed to anybody being jailed for refusing to become a stoolpigeon. We have enough professional stoolpigeons bothering us now, and the entire trade union movement must unite to stop them in their tracks."

Daily Worker Salesman Syndicalism Trial Set Middle of Next Month

PORTLAND, OREG., December 30.—Trial of Edward Denny, Daily Worker salesman, charged with criminal syndicalism because of his chairmanship of a meeting last July 27 to protest the terror against the west coast strikers, has been postponed to January 14.

Denny is the third criminal syndicalism defendant to go on trial in Portland, and the fourth in Oregon, as a result of vigilante-police raids on workers' headquarters, homes, and meetings, designed to break the west coast strike. In Portland, Don Cluster, 21-year-old organizer of the Young Communist League, has been sentenced to a year in jail, and Dirk DeJonge, Communist candidate for mayor in the last municipal elections, to 7 years.

All three cases are being appealed by the International Labor Defense, which is waging a broad legal and mass campaign also for the defense of the remaining criminal syndicalism defendants, and for the repeal of the anti-working-class law.

REPEAL THE WALTER-MCCARRAN LAW

This un-American law which breaks up families, allows the use of paid informers to testify falsely against their neirhbor, opposes the Fill of Rights and retards Fragmens must go. Only you can do it by constantly reminding your Senators and Representatives that we need a new Immigration and Nationality Act that is in accord with our American traditions of justice and progress, a law that will instead the rights of the non-citizen guaranteed in the 11307 Rights.

The Mational Conference of the American Committee has proposed the following five principles to serve as a guide for major provisions of a new immigration and nationality law. The Oregon Committee agrees with them. They are:

- 1. Any non-citizen who has lived in the U.S, for 2 or yrs. or more, if entry was in accordance with lsw, should be permitted to become a U.S. citizen by appearing in open court and taking an oath of allagiance to the Constitution
- 2. Any non-citiven who has lived in the U.S. for 5 yr or more should not be threstened with deportation for any reason whatseever.
- 3. A naturalized citizen should not be threatened wit cancellation of citizenship for any reason whatsoever, unless obtained by clear fraud; and then only if danaturalization proceedings are initiated within 5 years of the granting of naturalization.
- 4. Immigration should be permitted without discrimination as to country of birth, color, creed, or political belief, with full utilization of established quoty.
- 5. At no time should a non-citizen be denied the protection of any provision of the Pill of Rights, appearably those sections dealing with right to bail, and freedom of speech, belief and association.

Write your Senators asking them to make sure that a full report of the Kilgore Hearings be made in the Senate, Your A epresentatives should be asked to sign the Anfuso Discharge Fetition to bring the Anfuso Bill, H.R. 501, a bill to revise the law, to the floor of the House where it can be acted upon.

ILWII Tells Brownell: Hands Off

(By Allen T. Yates)

Long Beach, April 5.—In one of its first policy actions the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union convention today denounced the Brownell-Butler law, and pledged an unyielding fight to defend the union against attacks under that law. The resolution agreed with the officers' report that "the real purpose of this legislative monstrosity is to silence all dissent in our land."

Although the law is officially labeled "The Communist Control Act of 1954," the resolution pointed up its threat to labor.

The resolution cited Senator Herbert Lehman's warning that "this bill would place in the hands of an Attorney General who might be antagonistic to labor a powerful weapon to cripple labor, to break strikes, to prevent efforts to organize labor in areas where labor is weak and unorganized."

The resolution pointed out "that no government board, politician or agency is going to assume the power of passing on or judging the policies of this union."

The resolution was especially aimed at the portion of the law that empowers the Attorney General to label a union "subversive," and then haul it before the Subversive Activities Control Board which could put the union out of business.

LIVELY DISCUSSION

Presented by Chairman Charles (Chili) Duarte of the resolutions committee, the resolution provoked lively discussion among the delegates, including some from key dock locals.

James Fantz, Portland Longshoremen's Local 8, said the Brownell law is a hoax on the American people and the delegates should bring back the discussion to the rank and file.

"Today." he said, "there is no free discussion and we must speak out."

Bill Lawrence, president of San Pedro Longshoremen's Local 13, said "every member of ILWU should stand up and be counted for the real issue is do we have the right to take what action we deem best for the rank and file."

George Lee, Los Angeles Warehousemen's Local 26, called for renewed loyalty of all members to the ILWU to fight the law and said the convention delegates should give the resolution a rising vote so all could be counted.

TAKE TO RANKS

Aaron Bindman, Chicago Local 208, said the main job is to take this to the membership and bring to them clarity and militancy in the fight against the law.

L. B. Thomas, local 13, pointed out that "the ILWU is in a unique position—it has a responsibility to history—to fight against reaction, to speak out and fight."

Frank Maxey, San Francisco Warehousemen's Local 6, opposed a section of the resolution which called for defense of individuals who might be moved against because they are ILWU members.

President Harry Bridges pointed out that the resolution was dealing with an individual's right to belong to a union and to say what he wants in support or opposition to the union's policies.

EVERY RESOURCE

The resolution stated the ILWU "will fight with every resource at our command any attempt to prevent this union from continuing to make its own policies as its members decide. In such a fight we ask and expect every member of this union—no matter what his belief or bias—to leave the job and to appear as a boldly united group before any court or government board, if necessary, to protect the union."

Four Hundred and Thirty-Eight at Washington State Peace Parley Ask Immediate Cease-Fire, Big Five Talks

(By Will Parry)

SEATTLE, November 14.—A throng of 424 delegates, observors, and visitors—far exceeding expectations—packed the Swedish Club to overflowing here Sunday to chart a course toward peace at the statewide conference held under auspices of the Washington Peace Crusade.

Workers, farmers, housewives, mothers, Negroes, the young and old, elected James McDaniel, Negro people's leader, and Mrs. Hildur Jo Hughes, Seattle teacher and peace fighter, as conference cochairmen, then broke up into six panels to forge by vigorous democratic discussion the program this State's peace forces will take to the people.

At the heart of that program will be two key demands: For a cease-fire in Korea now, and for five-power peace talks.

The conference was keynoted by Giles Evans, business agent of CIO Woodworkers Local 2-75 in Sedro-Woolley and State crusade chairman, and tradeunion participation and leadership was evident throughout the proceedings Evans set the convention's basic demands for immediate cease-fire and a fivepower peace conference in what he termed "simplified definitions."

"Cease-fire means just one thing-to stop shooting at each other," Evans declared. "Big power talks simply means setting aside extraneous differences such as economic systems and sitting down together around the negotiating table to establish peace."

More than 80 workers took part in the labor and peace panel, chaired by Secretary Robert Cummings of Seattle Fishermen's Local 3-3. Rank-and-filers took the lead in denouncing the Defense Production Act, calling for struggle in behalf of the economic needs of Negro workers, demanding rejection of the Japanese war treaty and urging a vigorous defense of the trade-union movement against all attempts to smash it as an obstacle to war.

Housewives, mothers, and teachers, meeting in the panel on women and peace, found the welfare of children "closest to our hearts." That welfare, they said, "can only be served by waging peace."

Oppression of the Negro people at home was linked to colonial oppression throughout the world as a breeder of war by the panel on the Negro citizen and peace.

The panel declared its unanimous conviction that "peace is impossible without Negro-white unity in the struggle to attain it." It urged fullest support to the fight for jobs and social and political equality for Negroes throughout the State. It declared the Negro people are the first victims of the war program and pointed to three centuries of struggle for liberation as proof their energies and talents are indispensable to the cause of world amity and brotherhood.

War and preparations for war have meant the elimination of 31/2 million family-sized farms under the pretext that large corporate agriculture is "more efficient" in serving the war economy, it was pointed out by Mrs. Etta Tripp, Kitsap County Grange leader, in reporting for the panel on farmers and peace.

Emphasis was placed by the community, church, and peace panel upon personal contacts on the issues, small home gatherings, and the use of literature, John Affolter told the conference.

As State chairman, Evans set the keynote for the deliberations when he declared that "there is room in the peace movement for everybody but the warmakers."

"We must keep all doors open. We must set aside every other difference and unite on the common ground of our need for peace," he cautioned.

A special report was delivered by Gretchen Kimple, national committee member of the American Youth Peace Crusade, on the stake of young America in the fight for peace.

"For youth, peace means the right to live," Miss Kimple, a Garfield High School student, declared. She said the warmakers want to break up young people's homes before they get started, deny them jobs, education and a career and turn them into a "generation of cannonfodder."

Special greetings were brought direct from the Cincinnati convention of the Negro Labor Council by Earl George, veteran Negro warehouseman and secretary of the Washington council.

A highlight of the afternoon session was the reading of Beulah Richardson's poem, A Black Woman Speaks of White Womanhood.

The entire conference unanimously approved the declaration of principles and the plan for peace adopted last summer at the Chicago Peace Congress.

Auxiliaries of ILWU Support Rosenberg Plea

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—The worldwide movement for executive elemency for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg won support of the sixth blennial convention of the Federated (Women's) Auxiliaries of the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union.

The auxiliaries convention was held last week at the same time as the ILWU convention

The unions convention unanimously adopted a resolution recognizing the auxiliaries as representing "an enormous potential strength for any action in which the union is involved" and calling upon all ILWU locals "to encourage and stimulate the organization and growth of their auxiliary organizations.

The Rosenberg case was one of several included in a comprehensive section on civil liberties in the auxiliaries officers report unanimously adopted at their convention

PEACE DRIVE

In the civil liberties field, greatest emphasis was laid on-

Support for ILWU President Harry Bridges, vice president J. R. Robertson, and Henry Schmidt, whose "perjury" conviction is now before the United States Supreme Court.

Repeal of the Walter-McCarran immigration law which directly threatens the livelihood of thousands of Filipino ILWU members who work in Alaska and Hawaii.

The convention also agreed to continue work for repeal of the Taft-Hartley.

Smith and McCarran ("internal security") laws.

The issue of world peace was given prominence, via the officers' report and a special address by Mrs. Minnie Carter, chairman of the Northern California Peace Council, who attended the recent World Peace Congress at Vienna.

The convention voted to reaffirm opposition to universal military training.

Other guest speakers were ILWU vice president Robertson and Mrs. Goldie Kranz, secretary of the ILWU welfare fund, who spoke on health and welfare.

CHILDREN'S CAMP

Delegates were told that since the last convention, two new auxiliaries were chartered, at St. Helens, Oreg., and New Westminister, British Columbia, with a third auxiliary reactivated at Rainier, Oreg.

Thirteen auxiliaries were reported functioning, with the greatest strength centered in the small ports of the Columbia River area where six auxiliaries banded to form a district council.

Among other recommendations made were these:

To explore the possibility of setting up an ILWU summer camp for children. To offer assistance to the ILWU in carrying out surveys and plans for group purchasing service for food, wearing apparel, and other essentials.

To cooperate with local unions in administration of the ILWU health and welfare plan.

To request the ILWU book club to include works of special interest to women (Grace Hutchins' Women Who Work was mentioned) and to offer a guide to children's reading.

Officers selected for the coming biennium were:

President, Valerie Taylor, North Bend, Oreg.; first vice president, Alice Van Brunt, Kelso, Wash.; and secretary-treasurer, Norma Wyatt, North Bend, Oreg. In addition, there are four regional vice presidents:

California: Rose Arian, San Pedro.

Washington: Willabell Coop, Vancouver. Oregon: Lorette Wagner, St. Helens. Canada: Violet Godin, New Westminister.

134 Notables Hit Move to Ban Marxist School

Washington, November 24.—One hundred and thirty-four educators, ministers, and other professionals from 21 States and 3 foreign countries today declared their support of the "constitutional right" of Americans to teach and learn Marxism in institutions like the Jefferson School of Social Science, a 10-year-old adult evening school in New York.

Their joint statement was issued here on the eve of hearings scheduled to begin tomorrow (Wednesday) before the Subversive Activities Control Board on the petition by Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., petition to order the Jefferson School to register as a "Communist-front organization" under the (McCarran) Internal Security Act of 1950. Officers of the school contend that the Attorney General's charge is false, and that any such order to register would necessarily result in closing the institution in violation of the first amendment guaranty of free speech.

The full statement follows:

"Our constitutional right of free speech necessarily includes the right of Americans to conduct schools in which to teach and learn the truth as they see it. I believe, therefore, that any attempt to suppress the teaching and learning of Marxism in such an institution as the Jefferson School of Social Science represents a serious threat to all free inquiry."

Oregon Delegates Hail Victory Over Martin

'It Was the Logger and Lumber Mill Vote That Finished Him Off,' Say Visitors from the Northwest

By Art Shields

Back on the Oregon trail from the woods, and the ships and the ranches of the Pacific Northwest, seven Communist Party delegates rolled in for the Tenth National Convention yesterday.

They are a vanguard of the bigger delegation from Washington, Idaho and Oregon due in today.

Seaman, longshoreman, cannery worker, logger, teacher, student and professional—they are a cross section of the robust folks that have peopled the northwest since Clark biazed the trail in the dim long ago.

They were proud and happy. these 20th Century Americans, as they rolled up to the Daily Worker office. . . Proud of the Party they helped build; proud of the Party recruiting drive in the porthwest where the membership tripled since January, 1937. And happy at the good news that caught them in route from the Oregon primaries, where CIO and A. F. of L. unitedly showed Governor Martin that a politician who sends troops against strikers digs his political grave with their bayonets.

"The logger and lumber mill vote finished off Governor Martin in the late returns from the woods and the mill towns," said Claydown Van Lydegraf, the Party's organization secretary from Portland.

CIO GROWS

Charles Reno, a Washington State logger, who now serves as Communist organizer in the Grays Harbor lumber and shipping section, spoke up:

"You wouldn't recognize the logging country—it's changed so much in the last three years." he said. "A hundred thousand lumber workers have joined the CIO in the northwest. And that is making as much difference in the northwest's political life as it made in their standard of living."

He told of the wooden bunks and straw ticks that the union cleaned up. One boss had to spend $27,000 on new bods not long ago. Cleaning up of the government in Washington state will follow in the elections this fail and in 1940; he said.

Woodsmen are joining the Communist Party, and so are seamen, longshoremen and cannery and farm workers.

Some of the Party recruiting is done secretly, for Vigilantes and "goon squads" still trample down liberties in parts of the North-

"The worst farm Vigilantes are found in the Yakima area," said a cannery worker, whose name I can't use, "yet the Party gained 30 new Yakima recruits in the last two months."

The fascist "Associated Farmers" movement is behind these Vigilantes, who slug agricultural unionlists—they slugged two more near Yakima the other day—and terrorize poor farmers too.

But the "Associated Farmers" don't have things all their own way. Their slate got beaten in the Oregon Grange shortly before the primaries, and this defeat for reaction was a omen against Martin.

RED BAITING ON THE RUN

Red baiting is on the run among the longshoremen of Seattle, said a docker delegate. The Party is gaining members rapidly among the men on the piers and winning support for the unity program that is strengthening the union. Only three Northwest longshore locals are still outside the CIO.

No trail of roses leads the way to labor unity between A. F. of L. and CIO and independent unions. The "goon squads" of Lundberg of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, a seaman delegate told of, fight the progressives, who seek to unite the workers of the Porthwest.

But the movement gains power, "Labor's victory in the Oregon primaries will help bring labor unity in Scattle too," said Victor Hicks, section organizer of the Party, a former teacher.

Yes there are plenty of struggles ahead in the Northwest, but the peoples' forces grow stronger day by day, and if you talk with these even splendid 20th Contury American leaders, you know why,

WASHINGTON STATE VETERANS' BONUS CHECK OF CLAYTON VAN LYDEGRAF, Communist leader's bonus was for wartime service in the Far East

By ED GUTHMAN

TREASURER OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON

Clayton Van Lydegraf, state Communist secretary of the Party, indorsed his Second World War state bonus check to the Communist Party, an investigation by The Times disclosed today. The $475 check was cashed by the Washington State Communist Party Defense Committee. Van Lydegraf declined to comment.

The committee was organized to collect funds for the defense of 11 top Communists leaders convicted in New York last October of conspiring to teach foreful overthrow of the United States government.

Van Lydegraf, 35 years old, was an Air Force pilot and flew planes over the "hump" from India to China during the war.

Student Death Follows Red Design for Murder—Investigator Links UCLA Case to Six United States Assassinations

(By Gene Blake)

The death last April of Sheldon Joseph Abrams, 25, Socialist agitator at UCLA, falls into a pattern of at least 6 well-documented Communist assassinations in this country in the last 20 years, the Times was told exclusively vesterday.

Techniques varied but the motive was always the same—to silence someone either in or out of the party who had too much information and no longer was considered a good risk.

TOLD BY COMBS

And each assassination—whether undisguised murder or ingenious liquidation passed off as suicide or accident—served the additional purpose of warning others who knew too much of the fate that awaited them if they talked.

This picture of continuing Communist intrigue was painted for the Times yesterday by Richard E. Combs, chief counsel of the State Senate Committee on un-American Activities, following a 2-day hearing here into the circumstances and significance of Abrams' death.

DISCLOSURES MADE

Combs has been an intrepid investigator into subversive activities for two decades and is probably one of the best informed on the subject in the country. His library is said to be more voluminous than the FBI's.

It was his work on the Abrams case—which he tackled a few days after the student's body was found— that brought public disclosures this week indicating that the youth's carbon-monoxide death could not have been accidental.

Spurred by the expert testimony at the hearing, Santa Monica Police Chief Otto Faulkner announced yesterday that investigation of the 8-month-old case will be reopened.

And Combs—admittedly in possession of much more evidence than was made public at the hearing—said he will remain here until Monday to follow up leads and talk to persons who had volunteered even more information.

HAVE NAMES NEEDED

"We have the names of almost all the people even alluded to in all the correspondence found in Abrams' room," he said. "It is now a process of elimination to determine which ones he was closest to and who would have motives to kill him.

"But there were significant gaps in the chronological sequence of the documents. It is interesting that there were no gaps in the nonsignificant, non-critical documents. We don't know how much is missing."

Combs surmised that because of the volume of material in Abrams' room, his killers may have overlooked a most significant letter which told of his meeting in Pasadena with five "Stalinist" Caltech students, a representative of the French Communist Party, top local Communists and Trotskyites.

HIS INDISCRETION

The young Socialist's "indiscretion" apparently was in attending such a meeting and then "writing it all up," Combs said.

Significant from the committee's point of view, Combs said, was that this meeting was the first implementation in this country of a new "popular front" party line laid down last February by Soviet chieftain Nikita Khrushchev.

Combs expressed particular concern over the mention of the five "Stalinists" at Caltech because of the critical scientific work being done at the Pasadena institution. He recalled the case of a Chinese physicist at Caltech whose attempt to take classified material to Red China a few years ago was nipped at the last moment.

CONTACTS CALTECH

The committee counsel said he has been in touch with Caltech officials since the disclosure of possible new Red activity there and is receiving complete cooperation in the investigation.

Tracing the pattern of Communist assassinations in this country, Combs noted that the apparent ransacking and theft of documents from Abrams' room had a close parallel in the 1940 murder of Mrs. Laura Law in Aberdeen, Wash.

Both Mrs. Law and her husband had been active in Communist Party activities in the trade-union movement in Washington, Combs said. Jealous over her husband's attentions to another party member, Mrs. Law made the mistake of threatening to disclose what she knew.

WOMAN BLUDGEONED

She was bludgeoned to death in her home, beaten beyond recognition, and stabbed seven times with a stiletto. Her room was ransacked but no valuables were disturbed.

Later, there was sworn testimony before a State legislative committee that Communist Party functionaries had sent agents to the home before police arrived—to remove certain documents overlooked by the killers. The murder remains unsolved.

Typical of the finesse of assassinations carried out by the Soviet secret police, Combs said, was that of Gen. Walter G. Krivitsky, head of Red army intelligence in Western Europe just prior to the Hitler-Stalin pact of 1939.

ORDERED TO RUSSIA

"He had showed signs of defection and learned from friends that he was a candidate for liquidation," Combs said. "He had been ordered back to the Soviet Union, but he escaped to Paris and then to the United States.

"He published a book, 'In Stalin's Secret Service,' a classic work on the Soviet secret police, and started doing articles for the Saturday Evening Post. It was a tribute to the accuracy of the author when they shot him in 1941 in his hotel room in Washington, D. C."

Combs said the slaying was arranged to look like suicide and that's the way authorities closed out the case, although Krivitsky had left a document to his wife and child stating that he would never kill himself.

STALIN'S VIEW

"As Stalin once said, 'Anyone can commit a murder, but it takes an expert to arrange a suicide,' "Combs remarked.

Combs said everyone close to Communist investigations believes that Krivitsky was killed by a Philadelphia taxi driver, George Mink—an agent of the Soviet secret police and a cousin of a member of the Politburo. Mink vanished and is assumed to be in Russia—"probably dead," Combs said.

"Every head of the Soviet secret police has either been liquidated or has died in a mysterious way," he pointed out.

STARTS IN 1936

The series of documented Communist assassinations in this country ticked off by Combs began with the 1936 murder in Oakland of George Alberts, engineer of the steamer Point Lobos.

It varied from the pattern in two respects: Alberts was an ardent anti-Communist—and 4 of his 5 assassins were caught and convicted.

Combs said Alberts was marked for liquidation because of his intense fight against Communist infiltration in the maritime industry. He was clubbed to death and horribly mutilated in his stateroom.

HIDDEN BY REDS

The ringleader and a known Communist, Ber Sackowitz, was hidden out by party members in Alameda County until he could make good his escape to New York and eventually to Mexico, Combs said.

One of the assassins, George Wallace, turned State's evidence and went to prison with the other three, Earl King, E. G. Ramsay, and Frank J. Conner, identified by Combs as either Communist Party members or "so close to it that it would be just a matter of bookkeeping.

The next case was that of Juliet Stuart Poyntz, a New York woman described by Combs as a "do-gooder with a good family and social position who drifted into Marxism with sincere motives.

DEEP IN MESH

"But she was drawn deeper and deeper into the mesh of party work until finally she reached the point of no return," he said. "She transcended the ordinary rank and file of the party and obtained extremely critical information involving the Soviet spy net.

Combs said Mrs. Poyntz was contacted by the Soviet secret police and then just disappeared one day in 1937. Her fate was never determined officially. "Undercover party members have told me she was murdered," Combs said.

DEATH OF HUDSON

Next came the Law and Krivitsky assassinations, both occurring about the time Leon Trotsky, exiled foe of Stalin, was assassinated in Mexico City.

No. 5 was Everitt Hudson, 20, UCLA student found dead in 1948 in the furnace pit of a student cooperative dormitory near the Westwood campus.

Hudson had been active in Communist-front groups at Stanford before he transferred to UCLA, and had been in touch with "one of the most important Communists in the United States," according to testimony before the State committee in 1950.

One witness testified that Hudson's Communist advisers at Stanford were aroused because he had refused to carry out orders and remain at the northern school. Combs said he apparently had learned a number of secrets the agents were afraid he would divulge.

ACTIVE AT STANFORD

He had attended a Communist Party meeting the night before he died and had written letters expressing fear of a violent death.

Hudson's death was attributed to pulmonary edema—a seepage of body fluids into the lungs. The cause of the edema was never announced publicly but murder was indicated.

Combs said he knows the means used but would rather not disclose it, lest it give someone an idea. He emphasized, however, that reports Hudson was "literally scared to death" or was a victim of some "diabolical" method are not

And then came Abrams, found dead last April 20 of 71 percent carbon-monoxide poisoning in his rented 1-room bungalow in Santa Monica, where, according to testimony of 2 toxicologists, he could not possibly have met such a death accidentally.

7.500 Hit Firing—Union Parley Condemns "PW" Writer's Discharge

PORTLAND, August 2.—Delegates representing 7,500 CIO plywood veneer and box shook workers at their annual conclave here over the weekend branded the recent discharge of Julia Eaton (Kathleen Cronin) from her civil service position in the Oregon Welfare Commission as an attempt to abridge the freedom of the press.

Mrs. Eaton, who in her spare time was a special writer for The Daily People's World and other labor publications, at the time of her discharge was at work on a series of articles affixing responsibility for loss of life and property in the Vanport flood.

A former woodworkers' auxiliary chairman, Mrs. Eaton has an honorary lifetime membership in one of the locals affiliated to the plywood council.

'World' writer's discharge upheld by civil service

PORTLAND, Oct. 21-Discharge of Julia Eaton, civil service employe fired without notice July 26 because she criticised the Oregon public welfare commission for its failure to help Vanport flood victims today bore the approval of the civil service commission.

The three-member board admitted there were irregularities in the discharge.

The story in which Mrs. Eaton scored the commission and which was the pivotal point in the case appeared in the Daily People's World last June under the byline, Kathleen Cronin.

DANGEROUS PRECEDENT

Commenting on the board's decision, which has been pending since August 25, Irvin Goodman, attorney for the labor writer, today pointed out that a dangerous precedent has been created.

"If the appointing authority can get away with discharging a civil service employee without a moment's notice, then there is no security in employment for 8500 other public employees in this state," Goodman told The Daily People's World.

America's Stenchildren

The United States Has 14 Million People of Foreign Birth—Once They Had Protection Against Ex Post Facto Laws and Second Class Citizenship—Not Any More

By Julia Ruuttila

PORTLAND.—On October 31 a small group of people, including a grandmother and a young boy, stood shivering in the wind outside Portland's International Airport. The boy was sobbing inconsolably. His father was to be deported on the next plane.

At this same moment the boy's mother waited in a downtown office for a lawyer to get through to the appeals court in San Francisco; and the boy's father, in the county jail, waited for the turnkey's clock to click off his last minutes in the town he had called home for 30 years.

For Hamish Scott Mackay this desperate hour marked the end of a 6-year fight to remain in the United States. The charge in the Canadian-American's document of arrest was membership in a "subversive organization." But reporters who sat through the hearings came away feeling Mackay's doom was sealed when he participated in a strike during the depression.

The epilogue at the airport 20 years later was not unusual in year 3 of the Walter-McCarran Nationality Act. In that year the Immigration and Naturalization Service sent 11,954 persons of foreign birth into exile.

Of the number, only 853 were deported because of what Commissioner Joseph M. Swing described as criminal activity or immorality. Who were the others? What was back of this vendetta, unparalleled in United States history, against the foreign born?

A few were political dissenters; some were heads of unions which had fought the Taft-Hartley Act; one was the editor of a newspaper which had crusaded for peace.

But many were people of no political bias—men and women caught up in the technicalities of a 700-page law a President's Review Commission labeled "unworkable" and "in need of revision from end to end." Others had been brought over the Mexican border, and when the spikes were driven and the crops harvested, they had been shipped back like so many draft animals. A few were seamen.

Mackay's case differed from hundreds of others only in its surprise ending. In San Francisco a judge acted at the 11th hour. A family went home from the airport together.

Elsewhere in the United States the vendetta continued against those whose ships of entry had traced the Mayflower's wake.

In Wisconsin, a writer on a Finnish language paper,

In Wisconsin, a writer on a Finnish language paper, Knut Heikkinen, was tried and sentenced to 10 years in prison for failure to comply with some McCarran Law mumbo-jumbo. (The original trial was recently thrown out of court and a new trial ordered.)

In Michigan Mrs. Peggy Wellman, born during a visit of her mother outside the United States, was ordered deported to Canada; and the 70-year-old mother, forced under threat of imprisonment to testify as to her daughter's birthplace, was ordered deported.

Also in Michigan, Thomas Dutton, 70, told he could take only a couple of suitcases with him when he was deported, looked back over 45 years in Detroit and asked; "How much of my life can I carry away in my 40 pounds of luggage?"

These are some of the known victims. Hundreds of victims just disappear from the scene. People remembered by neighbors and coworkers as "that nice Canadian woman I used to meet at the supermarket," or that Norwegian, or Italian, or Finn.

People who had no money for lawyers' fees, no idea which lawyer to approach. Men who told their wives before they were hauled off to jail; "Call up the plant (or the hiring hall). Tell 'em I can't come to work for a while, but say I'm sick." Men who never saw their fellow workers again.

This might have happened in the Mackay case had it not been for the casual question of a reporter: "You belong to a union, don't you? What position does your point take?"

your union take?"

"I don't know," said Mackay. "I was hoping it wouldn't get out."

"They might help you," said the reporter.

And the union did. A union official, looking in on a hastily called meeting of Mackay's neighbors, remained to become treasurer of the new defense committee.

But the Mackay case was an exception. There were those who deported themselves, through exhaustion of funds, health—or because they felt that the help available to them should be used for others less able to endure exile

There were those who died. In Portland, since the late Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada drew up his blueprint for persecution, of 14 tagged for deportation under the dread "association" label, 3 escaped exile by suicide or death from heart attack

But it is not of the dead I would write, nor of the living who fought and went on to begin life again in another land—at 40, 50, 60, 70.

I would write of life under the shadow of the McCarran Act for those Americans of foreign birth (there are 14 million of them) who have come no closer to the midnight rap than the faint sound of it upon a neighbor's door. And I would write of supervisory parole, and what it means for the noncitizen to live in this limbo of surveillance and fear.

Under certain conditions a noncitizen who has been ordered deported may be placed on supervisory parole. The category includes persons who can find no country willing to give them asylum.

What are the conditions of this parole for a person whose crime under the McCarran law may have been that he read a newspaper the Immigration Service does not approve? Or one who may have failed to report a change of address within 10 days?

They include: (1) Submission to psychiatric and medical examination; (2) discontinuance of membership in all organizations on the Attorney General's "subversive" list (since the list is constantly growing, the noncitizen is forced to conclude it is safest to drop out of everything down to and including his pinochle club); (3) giving information under oath; (4) weekly reports as to his associations and activities; (5) travel restrictions (if the noncitizen wants to visit his brother-in-law who has a chicken farm outside the city limits, he must get permission to do so).

The newspaper-reading public learned of supervisory parole for the first time when 14 noncitizens (including Benjamin Saltzman of New York—one son killed, another wounded in the Battle of the Bulge) challenged its legality. The Supreme Court held that serious constitutional issues were involved, and sent the case back to a lower court.

It is not known how many persons in this country are living under supervisory parole. Millions of men and women outside the cities where our foreign-born population is concentrated have never heard of it. And even in such centers it is not spoken of openly in the meeting hall, but only in the family circle of the individual on parole or to his or her close friends.

With the cases on parole and those deported, there have been warrants of arrest and hearings—however far removed from the rules of evidence. But there are areas in our land today where restrictions have been clamped upon noncitizens and naturalized citizens as well, without benefit of official proceedings.

A recent survey in Oregon showed that many persons in towns along the Columbia River had been called into local immigration offices to answer questions about their activities and associations. In most instances they were made to sign documents; in at least one case the individual could not read what he was forced to sign. In one community, Government agents made surprise visits to homes, armed with recording machines.

The effect on the individual of such experiences is cumulative and corrosive. If you are active in your union or a vociferous critic of some of the evils in our country, and you have a neighbor named Ruuttinen, Rukich, or Rujalsky who used to borrow your power mower or give you a lift home from work but who lately was hurried into his house when you were out clipping your hedge—the chances are he isn't sore about anything, but that he has been made to understand by some bureaucrat in the immigration office that you are out of bounds.

The Nationality Act rescinded statutes of limitation which in former times gave some protection to the noncitizen of long-standing residence. Ex post facto laws are barred from the criminal statutes by the Constitution, but the Nationality Act permits persons to be deported for something they may have done 40 years ago when the action was legal.

Even more serious, the law has stamped the papers of naturalized citizens "second class," The American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born reported some time ago that more than 45 denaturalization proceedings had been initiated.

There are no reliable figures on the number of men and women who have been hauled before local immigration agents throughout the country, harassed in their places of employment, or called on the telephone and reasked questions they answered in detail when they received their papers 10, 15, and even 20 years ago.

Popular indignation over McCarran Act abuses finally exploded last November in a hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee. The committee heard testimony on the act itself, and on several bills to revise it. Among these was a measure sponsored by 10 Senators which would: restore the statute of limitations on the basis of 20 years' residence; replace the present undemocratic national-origins quota system; and remove the Immigration and Naturalization Service from the Justice Department, making it an independent Government agency.

Among the organizations that testified at the hearing or made known their opposition to the law before the hearing started were the AFL, CIO, NAACP, National Catholic Welfare Conference, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, National Council of Churches of Christ, American Civil Liberties Union, and the American Bar Association.

But the 84th Congress will not repeal the Walter-McCarran law on the say-so of a few organizations. The Lehman-Kefauver-Morse bill can be gotten out on the floor only if unions from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oreg., demand it be acted upon.

Who and What's Behind This Law-McCarran Act Exiled Over 11,000 Last Year

Others had been brought over the Mexican border; and when the spikes were driven and the crops harvested, they had been shipped back like so many draft animals. A few were seamen.

Some, like Mackay, might have lived out their lives in the country of their adoption, rearing their families, doing the nation's work, sending their sons to its armies, their blood to its blood banks, putting in their spare time as scout leaders and PTA members, paying their taxes, their mortgage installments and their union dues without notice, except for some long-ago episode hoarded in the memory of an immigration agent who might not have finished high school but who had the power to break up a family and send a father into exile.

The Mackay case differed from hundreds of others only in its surprise ending. In San Francisco a judge acted at the 11th hour. A family went home from

Oregon CP Presents Flood Aid Plan

(By Kathleen Cronin)

PORTLAND, OREG., June 1.—The Oregon Communist Party today presented a blueprint for relief of the 90,000 persons driven from their homes along the lower Columbia River in the worst flood disaster the Northwest has ever known.

In a leaflet distributed to 15,000 Vanport refugees, Jimcrowed in emergency shelters in Portland grade schools, the Communist Party proposed:

Enactment of emergency national legislation by Congress to provide grants of $2.000 for each adult evacuee.

Immediate construction of 10,000 decent low-rent housing units in safe areas of Portland on nondiscriminating basis.

A congressional investigation into the Vanport tragedy, in which an entire city was destroyed in 10 minutes and uncounted hundreds are believed to have lost their lives unnecessarily. A bulletin issued by housing authorities only a short time before the dikes broke urged residents not to evacuate.

Also requested was immediate construction of a 4-year State university in Portland and suitable temporary housing for students of Vanport College which was utterly destroyed in vesterday's disaster.

LOSSES OF WORKERS

Although hundreds of thousands of acres of rich farmland from Vancouver to Astoria, including 10-mile long Sauvis Island, are inundated and the property damage in river factories will run into millions of dollars, the real cost of the Memorial Day weekend disaster must be measured in terms of the losses suffered by the low-income families at Vanport and bleak despair of Vanport College students most of them Negroes, whose hope for an education, like their schoolbooks, lies buried forever in the Smith Lake mud.

In the case of Vanport's 5,000 Negro residents the right to live and work has literally been washed into the sea because of housing restrictions in this area where the semiofficial attitude since the last Liberty ship went down the ways has been that "colored warworkers should go back where they came from."

Today in dozens of interviews with workers and students, white and Negro, wandering aimlessly on the embankment near their ruined homes or squatting on the cheerless concrete in Portland schools, the writer saw the slow anger of an entire section of the populace, submerged at first by shock and grief, mounting as the empty hours wore on.

UNION HEROES

Bracketed today as heroes in the minds at the homeless were members of the AFL fire fighters local in Vanport who on Sunday morning, in the face of the housing authority's minimization of the danger, warned residents to flee until allegedly silenced by the sheriff's office; members of AFL Street Carmen Local 757, who risked their lives to take busload after busload of refugees out of the doomed city, and Portland's CIO longshoremen who, in response to radio appeals from their officials, on Monday morning carried 120,000 bags of sand to save the dikes guarding Portland proper.

In contrast to the selflessness of union members and hundreds of other volunteers, many of them members of the Armed Forces on leave in Portland, was the attitude of officials like race-baiting Governor Hall, who, while vacationing at the Oregon beach, said on Sunday, after a city had been destroyed, "I will give up my vacation and return to Portland if I am needed."

Tons of flour and other stores in riverside warehouses were moved to high ground ahead of the raging waters. Some 700 racehorses were evacuated to safety from low-lying Portland Meadows adjacent to Vanport City.

But today, under the planes, circling like buzzards over the dark waters, the flimsy war housing which yesterday was home to 18,000 human beings, had become for many their last resting place.

Layoffs Mount As State Dep't Bans China Trade

By Kathleen Cronin

ASTORIA, Ore.—Benefits paid to jobless workers in Oregon in July reached the highest midsummer total ever recorded, with the exception of 1946, when veterans and war workers hit the peacetime labor market in droves. The figures reflect twice as much unemployment as last year, when the Columbia River floods were a factor, and threo times as much as in 1947. Industries hit hardest include fish packing, marine commerce, humber and the building trades.

In Astoria, a Federated Press survey revealed that the hugo Pillsbury flour export mill was running only two days a week; 2,000 fishermen, ineligible for jobless payments because self-employed, were out of work; hundreds of camery workers had no jobs, and 635 World War II veterans had drawn their last 52-20 intemployment checks. In a city of 720,000, these layoffs really hurt the whole economy.

AT THE HEART of the rising joblessness is the U. S. State Department's disapproving attitude toward trade with new China.

The Pillsbury flour null, for example, was built "only because of the China trade," according to the firm's export department head, Carl Schenker. This year the huge plant has been running only spasmodically.

The local Chamber of Commerce and Astoria's martime and flour mill unions recognize the role removal of trade barriers with China could play in business recovery and expansion.

SPEAKING for the Chamber of Commerce, Frederick C. Hetzel told FP that "we are hopeful and we know the time is not far off" when the U. S. is going to recognize the new regime in China.

According to secretary Lawrence Fertig of the Columbia River District Council, International Lougshoremen's and Ware-housemen's Union (CIO), "the loss of the China market in flour and lumber has meant a loss of about $100 a month in the pay envelopes of each Astoria long-horeman."

H.WU Local 18, whose members work the Pillsbury mill, has called on the State Department to "make speedy efforts for renewal of trade relations with all parts of China."

MOL's Northwestern Correspondent.

ASTORIA, Oregon—Several thousand CIO fish processing workers drew their last check as cannery after cannery closed, with packers blaming the wholesale layoffs on "the increasing flood of cheap tuna imports" from substandard wage countries, principally Japan and Peru.

The CIO state convention last October supported the imports on the grounds they "would keep the canners running." It termed the tuna fishers' picket demonstration against imported tuna, last fall in San Francisco Bay, a "red plot" to embarrass relations between the U.S. and Japan.

Frozen tuna imports into Astoria from August, 1950 through June, 1951, totalling 20,154,000 pounds, helped put the American tuna fleet

There Was Hope for America in This Birthday Dinner

The day, April 9, 1954—on which United States Attorney General outlined his plan for Hitlerizing these United States by outlawing the theory and practice of Marxism, he was being answered by the Civil Rights Congress, one of his intended victims. For on that day, the Civil Rights Congress was 8 years old, a veteran in the fight against Brownell's McCarthyism and the big lie of "Communist conspiracy" upon which it is based.

munist conspiracy" upon which it is based.

There gathered in New York's Yugoslav Hall in West 41st Street a few hundred persons whom Brownell would call "potential saboteurs," "Kremlin agents" and members of the "international Communist conspiracy." But if America could have listened in on the proceedings of the dinner program, celebrating the eighth birthday of the CRC, it would have derived hope from what went on.

They would have heard the recorded voice of the 44-year-old Negro prisoner, Wesley Robert Wells, who was to have died in the California gas chamber that very night, but for the campaign for his life when the Civil Rights Congress was among the first to spark. They would have listened as McKinley Forrest, the unlettered Negro who, as one of the Trenton Six frameup victims, had spent a year in death cells. Forrest and his fellow defendants had been saved by the CRC in 1949 and were freed later when the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other groups entered the campaign for their freedom.

Brownell had boasted of the fact that 67 "Communists" had been convicted under the Smith Act for having ideas which collided with those established as official by the so-called "loyalty boards," congressional committees, and thought-control tribunals. But John Daschbach, Seattle secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, attending the dinner, belied the "dangerous" tag pinned on him by a Federal judge in a Smith Act trial in his hometown. Daschbach is one of the 67 Smith Act victims Brownell bragged about convicting. The CRC had defended these victims.

William L. Patterson, the Civil Rights Congress secretary, reminded that it is not possible to destroy the Constitution a "little bit" to get the Communists without removing the protection of the Constitution from all. He told the story of the Protestant paster in Germany who said "it was not I" when one group after another—Communists, Jews, liberals, trade unions, Catholics—was sent to concentration camps. And the good pastor came to realize, Patterson concluded, that when Hitler got to the Protestant groups, the passive churchman was forced to declare: "It was too late." The Civil Rights Congress, he said, was "the conscience of America" and would have to work to arouse the Nation to the danger, not only of McCarthy by to McCarthyism which infects, by way of the big lie, even those who fight McCarthy.

But despite this seeping of the big lie into American institutions, and the spreading hysteria against those who from the beginning have resisted the witch-hunters, the American Fascists have not won the final battle. Wesley Wells is still alive. Harry Sacher, the vigorous civil rights attorney, can still practice law, the United States Supreme Court has ruled. And he was present at the dinner.

And Hollywood motion picture workers, as the production of the working-class film, Salt of the Earth has proven, need not bend the knee to congressional un-Americans and Pentagon brass to function in their fields. Paul Jarrico, who directed Salt of the Earth, after being blacklisted in Hollywood, told of the film workers' victory. They joined, he said, with "the 1 billion people of this world (many of whom are in this country) who are fighting to be free and who will never get on their knees again." He paid tribute to the workers who know that unity and solidarity will win for them and for their country.

By fighting, he said, the workers won allies among frightened film workers who lent their talents but not their names to the film; they won landowners who weren't ready to lend themselves to the suppression of culture; they were aided by ranchers who guarded their equipment with guns when vigilantes threatened to disrupt the film production. Their production is now being shown across the Nation, a symbol of the willingness of Americans to fight for what the Constitution says is their rights against the vulgar interpretations of Brownell and McCarthy. The un-Americans have not won the final battle.

Harry Sacher, whom Federal Judge Harold Medina had given a vindictive prison sentence for his defense of the first 11 Smith Act defendants in New York's Foley Square, appraised the United States Supreme Court's ruling permitting him to continue practice in Federal courts. The law, he said, has become lawless to the point of making civil rights practice frustrating. He did not want to overemphasize his victory, he pointed out, for "they have given us a Harry Sacher in exchange for two Rosenbergs a Martinsville Seven and Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram."

He could have added "and a Civil Rights Congress." For the Civil Rights Congress itself—the conscience of America, defender of basic Americanism—is itself on the Attorney General's "subversive list." America would have understood the meaning of this listing had it been able to listen in on the group's eighth birthday celebration.

Appeals Filed in Three "Contempt" Cases

SEATTLE, July 1.—Appeal briefs in the Northwest Smith Act "contempt" cases—challenging harsh, 3-year prison terms for John Daschbach, Terry Pettus, and Dr. Herbert J. Phillips—were to be filed today in the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco. Two briefs will be filed. One is a consolidated brief in behalf of the appeal of Daschbach and Pettus, prepared by Attorneys John Caughlan and Irvin Goodman. A separate brief in behalf of Dr. Phillips has been prepared by Attorney Philip Burton.

The appeal from the Smith Act convictions themselves, involving Pettus, Daschbach, Paul M. Bowen and Henry Huff, must be filed by August 15 with the same court, the Washington State Civil Rights Congress disclosed.

Daschbach, who is CRC state director, said "several thousands of dollars" will be needed by August 15 to perfect the appeals. Some of the money is needed at once. Daschbach explained the exact sum required depends on the length of the $4.40-a-page appeal briefs.

Daschbach also announced that the Northwest Citizens Defense Committee, established after the September 1952 Smith Act arrests, is now a committee of CRC whose responsibility is to guarantee the Smith Act appeals.

Funds and communications relating to the Smith Act cases should be directed to CRC, 315 Bay Building, MAin 4972, Daschbach said.

CALL and PROGRAM

National Conference AGAINST Deportation Hysteria

Detroiter Hotel • Detroit, Michigan

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

December 3 and 4, 1949

SPONSORED BY

American Committee For Protection Of Foreign Born

"The impact of deportation upon the life of an alien is often as great if not greater than the imposition of a criminal sentence. A deported alien may lose his family, his friends and his livelihood forever. Return to his native land may result in poverty, persecution and even death. There is thus no justifiable reason for discarding the democratic and humane tenets of our legal system and descending to the practices of despotism in dealing with deportation."

-Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, June 1945.

The liberties of the American people are seriously endangered by a deportation hysteria which surpasses in its intensity and fury all past attacks on democratic rights, from the days of the Alien and Sedition Act of 1798 to the infamous Palmer Raids of 1920.

Non-citizens have been seized in an illegal and unconstitutional manner and held without bail by the Justice Department.

Excessive bail of $5,000, $10,000, and even $25,000, is being demanded for the release of non-citizens in deportation proceedings.

Many non-citizens are being forced to report in person once a week to the Justice Department in typical police-state manner.

Congress is considering seriously legislation that would establish concentration camps in the United States.

More than 110 non-citizens in 16 states have been arrested and held for deportation because of their political opinions and more than 3,000 additional non-citizens face deportation.

More than 238 naturalized American citizens face revocation of their citizenship because of their political opinions.

These and other manifestations of hysteria menace all Americans — native as well as foreign born. They may result in dangerous legal and political precedents that will be used to destroy the liberties of every person in this country unless the American people are made aware of these dangers and mobilized to act in defense of the Bill of Rights.

Therefore, we join with the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born in issuing a Call for a National Conference Against Deportation Hysteria to be held at the Hotel Detroiter, in Detroit, Michigan, on December 3 and 4, 1949. To this Conference we invite all organizations and individuals who wish to join with us in these efforts for the formulation of a program of action urgently needed to defend the democratic rights of the American people by protecting and extending the liberties of foreign-born Americans.

Rt. Reverend Arthur W. Moulton Honorary Chairman

REV. JOHN W. DARR, JR. Chairman, Board of Directors

Message from Deportees

We are happy to have the opportunity to utilize your National Conference to address a special message to the people of the United States.

We, the undersigned, are not yet sitizens of this country. We went to become citizens of this land of our adoption. But, instead of being granted citizenship, we have all been arrested and face deportation from the United States because of our political opinions.

We are not oriminals. Not one of us is charged with the commission of any crime or of any act that might emianger the welfare of the American people. Not one of us seeks to harm in any way the people of this country. Indeed, we face deportation because we have tried - each in our own way - to improve the living standards and the democracy of the American people.

We came to this country as immigrants. Some of us came here almost half a century ago. We came here, like millions of other immigrants have come seeking a new life in a better country for curselves and our families. Europe to us during the early part of this century meant oppression and wers and starvation. And family the Statue of Liberty greeted us, held out a hand of welcome and a promise of freedom and liberty and equality.

Through the years, we have lived useful lives. We have worked in the factories and in the mines. We have helped build the reads and the cities. We have raised funities and pid texas. We have helped build unions. During the depression, we fought for relief and unemployment insurance, and during the recent war we did our utmost for victory over fascism. We fought against Jim Crow, discrimination and anti-Samitism.

We are a part of morrica. Our lives and our fortunes are in the soil of America. Most of us know no country other than the United States. We belong here with our families and our friends and we are fighting to remain here where we belong.

The Department of Justice soeks our deportation on the ground that we advocate "the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence."
That is nonsense. Not one of us believes in or advocates a or has ever believed in or advocated - "force or violence" and we challenge the Justice Department to support its charge with one icts of proof.

We feel that there is a sense of decency and a sense of fairness that guides the overwhalming mejority of the American people, which folse charges and hysteria cannot destroy.

Today we appear to all fair and desent-minded Americans. We who have lived with you and among you for 35 and 40 and 50 years face exile from your midst. We face amforced apparation from our children, from our wives and husbands, from our fathers and mothers.

We look to the American people to the cur deportation and to demand that we be provided with an opportunity to beck the large of the United States. We are confident that the American people, and the provent our deportation and will defect the mained attack on the Bill of Rights and the liberties of all Americans.

Statement and Pledge

We have heard with mounting indignation reports of the tractment suffered by legally-resident non-citizens at the hands of agents of the Department of Justice.

We are shooked by the collous and inhumen manner in which the Justice Department is hounding non-citizens and naturalized American citizens and depriving them of their rights.

We pretest the attempt by the Justice D-partment to forcibly separate from their American families and to exile from the United States men and women who have devoted their lives to the building of this country and to defending the welfare of the American people.

We condern without reservation the attempt to deport these good and honest men and woman as a visious distortion of the laws of our land and as a disguised attack on the rights and liberties of all Americans, native as well as foreign borns

We associate ourselves with the position taken by the late Supreme Court Justice Frank Surphy, when he declared: "There is no justifiable reason for discarding the democratic and humans tenets of our legal system and descending to the practices of despotism in dealing with deportation."

These men and women/face deportation have made this the country of their conscious choice. They are good americans and are not yet citizens because they have been prevented from becoming citizens by the Justice Department and through no fault of their own. In the name of american decumey and in keeping with the filorious traditions of our democracy, we extend our hand in fellowship and pledge to these victims of hysteria:

WE WILL NEVER RELEVY IN OUR DETERMINATION TO DEFEAT YOUR DEPORTATION AND TO ENGLE YOU TO RESAIN IN THIS COUNTRY, WHERE YOU BELONG, WITH YOUR FAMILIES AND YOUR FRIEDDS.

WE WILL SUPPORT WITH ALL OUR RESCUECES THE FIGHT MCADIFY YOUR DEPORTATION TO THE END THAT YOU WILL ESCOME AMERICAN CITIZED AND CONTINUE IN YOUR REFORTS TO ADVANCE THE WELL-BEING OF THE AMERICAN SECPLE.

Mo, therefore, go on record in fever of the immediate establishment throughout the country of Local Councils for the Protection of Foreign Born as part of the American Committee and that all organizations affiliate to those Local Councils.

Naturalization

Whoreas, the naturalization of non-citizens benefits not only non-citizens but also their Aperican families, their communities and the nation as a whole since it makes possible more native participation in our economic and political life by the foreign born; and

The Immigration and Naturalization Sertice is trying to use the naturalization laws as a means of terrorizing the intimidating non-citizens, aspecially in the cases of those who are members of progressive social and fraternal empairizations; therefore, be it

Restlved, that this National Conference against Deportation Hysteria does hareby approve, enderse and support the recommendations of the american Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

Bridges, Robertson and Schmidt

Whoreas, the indictment and triel of Herry Brilges, J. R. Rebertsen, and Henry Schmidt, leaders of the Internetional Len sheremen's and Warehousemen's Union, is the latest frame-up in the perpetual harassment of Harry Bridges and the Internetional Longsheromen's and Warehousemen's Union; and

Whereas, the long and unrelenting effort of anti-labor forces in our country to remove Harry Bringes and leatrby the unity of the longshoremen and maritime workers has led to governmental actions which are unprecedented in American democracy; and

Whereas, this is the first time that an individual has been tried and cleared and tried again and again on the same charge; and

Whoreas, every worker in the United States - organized and unorganized has benefitted from the trail-blazing struggles and victories of the ILMU under the loclership of Harry Bridges; and

Whoress, the attempts to revoke the citizenship of Harry Bridges on a trumped-up charge of perjury and cons, irredy is an intimidation of every foreign born citizen in the United States and a warning that, unless he acts in accordance with the standards laid down by the FBI, he will be threatened with eventual deportation; therefore, he it

Rus: Luti n adopted by Lural Defense Punel

Whereas, from the 1948 free speech trials in Chicago, the trial of the lanters of the Communist Porty in New York and the gending trial of Herry Bridges in San Francisc, it is clare that lawyers who defend clients in political cases and eases involving civil rights in general are singled out for special attack by the courts and thereby limited in their time honored rights of vigor us defense of their clients, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, that we lawyers from cities throughout the United States assembled in Detroit this day in defense of the rights of the foreign born under the suspices of the American Committee for Protection of Fereign Born at its National Conference against Departation Hystoria, condens the use of the contempt power by the courts to limit the adaquate represention by lawyers of their client, a nativational rights.

Excurry of the exercise Committee for Production of The exercise Committee for Production of Foreign Early, also and the Matiental Conference Arthurst Deports-Hysteria, held in Detroit, Mickier, in December 3 and 4, 1946.

Three wooks ago, we wrote to the Attorney General of the United States oul to the Counissi mer of I mi, rotion and Naturalization inviting thou to extend the Conference and to be many december and self-prospecting Americans are tracted because they are fireign born.

I would not any that the Attorney General isn't interested in our prochadings. He is interested enough to send his agents here to report what we say and leaden. I am sorry the Attorney General is going to have to depend on partied versions of our deliberations. He could have some here hisself.

We would like the Attorney General to be informed of how we feel about the manner in which the Justice Department has been conducting itself during the past year - openly violating the lews of this country, hounding and harassing non-citizens and naturalized American citizens, conducting itself in an illegal and un-Accrimen faction.

We would like the Attorney General to be informed of how we feel about what the Justice Department is trying to do to our democratic institutions and tour American way of life.

Ellis Island, for instance, used to be the gateway to a new life. Phere, in the shadow of the Status of Literty, it was a symbol of hope for millions of immigratus who came here to escape oppression and starvations in their native lands.

Today, Bilis Island is no longer an Island of Happiness, a stopping-off place to new world. Today, Bilis Island has become an Island of Tears. Today, Bilis Island has become a prison - and the worst kind of prison in the world because no other jail onywhere is made brit hat night by the lighted torch of the Status of Liberty.

Rembed wire encircles Ellis Islan.. arms quards peredo along the walls to ancircle Ellis Island. These imprisoned on Ellis Island see their visitors for a tellis a double-mach grills - a treatment accorded only numberors and the wester kind of criminals in panisontiaries.

Today, Blis Island has become a replice of what existed in the old will, in the world of Nazi Germany - in the world of concentration camps and illimposts and unlawful detentions, and huminods of people are imprise and the formula, many of them for whose them a year. What crime did these people called Almest all of them entered this country illegally and are hold for depictor to the further, the furtice Department finds that, for one reason or mather, it content legarity them. Therefore, it keeps them in prison.

We real that it is about time that the facts about Ellis Island should see and light of day. We believe that a public committee or citizens take upon itself in investigation of Ellis Island and report its findings to the American points.

I would also like the Attorney Gameral to consider how the Justice Decontend has breated expects other non-citizens during the past year.

Gorge Fifinsty was held in Willia foliand for 91 days. Pater Hamistades for 4, days. Bentrie Steamed J han a Cir 40 days.

Profe 2

And Tome Babin, Yugoslav-American loader, has been imprisened new on Ellis Island for six menths. Tome Babin is still on Ellis Island and faces depertation to Yugoslavis and separation from his American-citizen wife.

Now, both George Pirinsky and Bestrice Johnson were first arrested in 1948. They were released at that time on $1,000 bail. In July 1949, they were both re-arrested and taken to Ellis Island - and held without bail.

When the ocurts ruled that they could not be denied boil, and ordered that they be released on reasonable bail, the attermay General osked for $25,000 beil and had the nerve to claim that $25,000 was reasonable bail.

Then Federal District Jungs alexander Holtzoff ruled that $15,000 was reasonable bail and refused to release George Pirinsky. This is the same Jungs Heltzoff, by the way, before whem a man admitted two days ago that he had defrauded the govern of the United States, actually state anney from the government, as a result of which he faces 32 years in jail and a fine of $40,000. How much tail did Jungs Holtzoff ask for that thiof and criminal? $1,0001 The self-admitted thief was J. Parnell Thomas. For him, $1,000 bail. For Guerge Pirinsky $25,000 bail.

We appealed and, on October 5th, the Circuit Court of appeals told the Attornoy General that he was wrong, and told Judge Holtzoff that he, the, was wrong - that $25,000 was not reasonable bail, and ordered George Pizinsky relreased immediately on tail of not more than $5,000.

So, six weeks later, the Justice Department arrosts two Finnish americans, Carl Paivio and Knut Heikkinon, takes them to Ellis Island and decards $10,000 bail for each. Could anything be more phantestic or ridiculous?

Mr. Attorney General, why do you play games with people's lives? Why den't you respect the laws of this country?

For weeks now the Justice Department has been breaking the law when it forces non-citisens to report in parson. Six federal judges - in New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, and San Francisco - have ruled that reporting is illogal. But, the Justice Department continues to insist that more than 30 non-citizens go on reporting in person - or face the possibility of being rearrested and held in prison for long periods of time.

There is enother thing the Attorney General should know. We are going into court to stop reporting in every case where it has been continued. We are not going to permit the Justice Department to deprive non-citizens of their rights. And the record of this past year shows clearly how we have been able - whose we have made a fight - to defeat every extempt on the party of the Justice Department to undersine the laws of this country.

We referred the attempt to held George Piransky and Bestrice Johnson without bail. We defeated the attempt to secure $25,000 bail for George Piransky. We defeated the attempt to put Peter Herislades on board a best for Greece, where he would be carriered as an anti-fascist. We defeated the attempt to not Peter Harislades indefinitely on Ellis Island and wen his released on $5,000 bail. We defeated the attempt to deport 35 Pakistanian seemen and won their release from Ellis Island. We defeated the attempt to deport Harry Bersin and wen American citizenship for him. We defeated the attempt to force non-citizens to report in person once a week. We defeated the attempt to force Kutherine Hyndman and James Mackay, of Gary, Inlians, to post $10,000 bail each and they con-time to be free on $1,000 bail.

and our must recent victory, only this past Tuesday, we defeated the demand for $10,000 boil in the cases of Carl Paivis and Knut Heikkinen when they were released on Newsaber 29th on $5,000 bail.

and these are only a few of the victories we have won during the post year. The number of victories in itself reflects the extent to which the Justice Department has a no in its campaign to deprive num-citizens of their rights in this country.

Indeed, the Justice Department has become the most open violator of the laws of the United States. Now, some of the people we are defending are accused by the Justice Department of believing in the everthrow of this givernment by force and violence. But, I don't see any of these non-citizens trying to everthrow our laws. Indeed, we find it necessary to fight constantly for the restablishment of democratic laws which the Justice Department is trying to everthrow and destroy.

Does the alien threaten this country? But, it isn't the alien who corrests people and holds them without bail in violation of the Constitution and the Bill of Richts. It is the alien who is in the concentration camp, a victim and not the advecate of force or violence.

Mr. Atterney General, it is your administration that is viclating the law, not the alien. It is the Justice Department that illegally questions and illegally deprives. American citizens as well as non-citizens of their rights. It is the Justice Department that endangers the very existence of the Bill of Richts as a result of its department hysteria. It is the Justice Department that, on the basis of the department drive, threatens to destroy the rights and the liberties of all Americans, native as well as foreign born, citizens as well as non-citizens.

During the past two and a half months, I traveled across the country, from coast to exact, going into fourteen states, inverviewing almost all of the 135 non-citizens who face deportation visiting their homes and seeking their funities.

In Minneapolis, I saw the Warhol family - three children, an American citizen wife, and the father a war veteran of two years war-time service in the armed f rows of the United States, a resident of the country for 34 years. How did a grateful government reward this veteran? The Justice Department is not only trying to prevent him from becoming a citizen, it has rewarded him by holding him for department of Czechoslovakia.

On October 3rd, I arrived in Seattle, Washington. 3 I reed in the papers how, by coincidence, that morning at 9 o'clock two trave FBI agents knocked on the Sockwilthe Barlow home in Seattle. Mr. Berlow had left for work. Mrs. Enid Barlow was told that they had come to deport her to Canada. The two clear children - 8 and 8 - Mrs. Barlow sent off to _shocl. Her third child she took with her to jail and she took with her three bottles of fermula and that eight-month-chi American-born citizen sat in jail with her slien mother all that lay.

In Scattle, also, I heard about how your brave agents, Mr. Attorney General, were terrorizing Filipino members of the Alaska Cannery Workers Union, trying to intimidate them into becoming stool-pigeons against the leaders of their Union. And I met the leaders of this Union, three of whom you have arrested for deportation in your offers to assist the Associated Farmers and on-

: loyers in the cannery industry.

In Portland, Gregor, on October 8th and 9th, I not some if the du, retees who had just been errosted in that dity. Dun't jou feel like a real hard, hr. its may General, new that you have all rehenned that demonstrate in its hard here. Lenn Helversin, 6t-year-old mather of two wer veterans, who is sufficient from some us heart condition, and to bey faces departation to Sweden offer living heart for 40 years? And are you proud, Mr. Attorney demond, if the feet that your brave agents arrested Casimire labsler, who is totally blind in the years and less than ten percent vision in his other eye?

In San Francisco, on O tober 10th, I not William Holkkila, who was brought to this country when he was three months old, and they it the Low field, facus deportation to Funland.

So it went across the country. In each state, there was evidence of this atterdisrequed for busine beings, this insulting trestaint of self-respecting pen and when at the brads of the Justice Department.

Justice Department? Mr. Attorney Comeral, your monts are professing that aroney of movernment. They are discretized it by their conducts.

Do you know what they did to Joe Dumes. They showed up at his ;1 so of work in Charleston, West Virginia, one day last much at 6: O P.M. They cill't arrost him. They just took him to the post-office building, forced him to the wort their questions from more than four bours. Do you know what also they did? They looked the building. Fis lowyer, who can down to represent him, couldn't just into the building. Jee Dumes was paradited to leave at 10:30 that night.

Then there is Vincent Komenovich in Pittsburgh. Year agents, Mr. at termsy Concret, promise. Vincent Komenovich his citizenshi; papers if he would turn sto lephyon evaluate the people he know when he was in the leadership of the National Minors Union during the early 1930's. Komenovich refused - s his was arrested and helt for deportation.

and what about Dora Lipshitz, Mr. Attorney General. Your Department of Justice has endored her deported to Germany. Den't you read the reports about what is halpenin; in Western Germany, where the Nexis are ended again an active and powerful force. Yet you would take this Jowish women and soud her to Germany? Dora Lipshitz spend the first 14 years of her life in Russia, where she was horn. Then she was in Germany for two days, to get her boot to this country. The last 42 years of her life she has spent in the United States. So you endor this 56-year-add Jowish we man deported to Germany. She hasn't know a worl of Dorana' She hasn't at a sincle relative or fricklin Germany. Do you know what your deportation program is dain? It is trying to make a displaced pure nout of Dora Lipshitz. And all these other deporteds, two, most of them will become displaced pursons in Europe - American displaced persons - displaced by the cold

I Do wish that the Atterney General had accepted our invitation. Because I would like to ask him + what do you want of these parile? What crimes have they committed? In what manner, shape or four has any no of them - any one huft the American police or endangered this country? Why do you persecute these people? Why do you thresten that with exile from this country, with enforced separation from their facilities?

And I will toll the Attorney General that those people - those conestimons out defurelised engrices citizens - are by fricteds, just as they relifted of everybody in this Conference. They are our follow-human beings. As the first the way you are treating them, and we intend to it secutions at it, as intended in fight year following drive just as past pen rations as times for his didner on following the fought the Palmar Raise of the later that is drive of the 1930 is.

We intend to do overything we can to rally the American people in every state and in every city of this nation to the end that your deportant in this will be refunctly to the end that these good men and wamen will be concitivenes of this country.

And, finally, I will want to say to the attorney General that the people in the states I visited are engry. They don't like what your Justice Department is drive to their neighbors and commerces, jouple they have known il their lives. They are programated and they are going to fight your deportation after two. The program adopted this week-and will become their property and will surve as the heats for the people's fight to preserve the Bill of Rights, for the fight to save these 155 man and wamen arrested for reportation.

We reslike also that this department drive and the inhuman treatment of non-citizens in this country is of concern to many people beyond the borders of the United States. While we fight to relly the American people and while we feel that it is the responsibility of the American people to defeat this hystoria, we believe that this entire problem may well came up for consideration before the Commission on Human Rights of the United Nations. This Commission was expendical to duel with problems of this character.

We must beer in min. that the Justice Department, while it sublicely talks about a drive against Communist non-citizens, is saturally carrying at an attack up nother rights of all non-citizens. In this period, the lews have been used in an attempt to deprive non-Communist of their rights, to silence trace una nists and non-citizens of all political beliefs and even many without any political beliefs, at all.

Our Committee during the past year has helped hundreds whose cases were not political in character. All kinds of people have found themselves in difficulty because of technical vi lations of the immi ration and naturalization has. In normal times, they would have no trouble adjusting their status. But, in those lays when hystoria has gripped the Justice Department and completely distorted its outlook, many people are finding themselves in serious difficilty.

Large numbers have come to us and I want to say on behalf of the Committee that we have easisted and will continue to holy in every way possible any nameditizen - regardless of his political or on name beliefs, recq color, or croad - who class tous for essistance.

During the past year, for instance, we forced the Justice Department to release from Ellis Island on tail 36 Paskistanian seamen, who were arrested and suffered discrimination because of the color of their skin.

We defeated the Justice Department's attempt to deportation element 50 Greek seamon to Greek, where they faced persecution because of their membership in the Federation of Greek Maritime Unions.

It should be clear that the 14,000,000 foreign bern in the United Status are under special attack. But, the foreign bern are not the only victime of hystoria. Indaes, every section of the American people fine that their rud, a are endamered.

We know if it includes intohing and Regro people in the 5 utile. If the intensified police prevailty absent the Esgro people in all in retain centers, of the country. Similar police bruality is used against been a pricate in the southwest and in southward liftmais. There is an increase in with Somitic propagates in all parts of the country.

Then, there is the Taft-Hertlay act for organized Lobe; the legality baths for government workers. Teachers, Lawyers, Hellywood actives, to follow organizations and progressives of all political telligist from galage to join to a concentrated carreion to durity then of their rights.

And, at the center of all this artack, is the conviction of the haders of the Communist Perty and the sentencing to jail of their lexyeds - which in itself carries out for this country the justern established by the hast. In Germany in their drive for power.

This over-all drive on the rights of the magrican people is concentrated against all advocates of peace and seeks to destroy the unity of the imarican people in order to isolate those that do not want another war - to pre-vent them I mangiving expression to the people's desire for peace.

In this drive, the foreign born of course are special targets. The immigrants came to this country to get away from oppression and storvation and war. They have always participated in and supported the later and progressive movement and have always been in she forefront of the fight to defend the welfare of the American people and our democracy.

At the same time, this deportation drive affects every American, foreign born as well as native born, citizen as well as non-citizen. In the course of this deportation hysteria, the Justice Department is trying to establish legal as well as political precedents that will deprive citizens of their rights as well as non-citizens. We must realize that, if the Justice Department had succeeded in its effort to hold George Pirinsky without bail, they would have used that legal precedent to deprive citizens of their right to boil.

Althought 140 non-citizens out of a population of 140,000,000 is a very small percentage, these 140 non-citizens do not live in a vacuum. They are an integral part of the population. You cannot uproot them without doing serious damage to our social fabric any more than you could tear out the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States without putting such a hole in the Bill of Rights as to make the whole thing useless.

No, the deportation of a non-citizen affects everyone in this country Trade unionists - it affects you. In addition to everything class, it will serve to decapitate your unions and more than 35 prade unionists already face description. It affects the Negro people since any intensification of intolerance or atrangthening of reaction in this country means still greater suffering and degradations for the Negro people.

It affects every mother and every father in this country since it serves to undermine the status of the faulty. It demonstrates a lack of regard on the part of the Justice Department for the welfare of American families. Lean Callow faces separation from his eight children and citizen wife, Juan Diaz faces separation from his seven children and wife. More than 125 of those held prictics regards from their children, wives, husbands, parents,

It iffects in a native born, directly as well as indirectly. It is now born, and what how to go on living in this country. And whether was not a government whether our amosters came over on the Mayflower, and country. It suffice equally under the brutal lash of fuscise if this duties of the seconds.

That is one tack of this National Conference Againstic optation Myetsii. This Conference has before at a great number of important problems which grow out of the Atlantit by the Justice Department to use the non-citizen and the number close of the a to respection legal as well as political procedures that will surve as a long to rights and alterties of all amoriouss.

You know, when the Justice Department errosts a non-citizen, and the faily emspapers play it necess their front pages, the average person gets the impression that the non-citizen is going to be dejorted. But, that is follow the Supreme Court of the United Stable has never ruled on the constitution lifty that rection of the 1918 Hamigration act under which those people are being created. The Justice Department depend know which the law is constitution—and therefored a soft know whether the law is constitution—and therefored a soft know whether, under our laws, it can deport these non-citizens. bit into a cond in carrying out the law. Until there is a Supreme Court to there is no knowing whether any one of these negociations to subject to decome in because of peat or present memberally in the Journal Forty. We find that we have a very strong case since the deportation has well clearly degree on citizens to freedom of speech and freedom of belief and actually destroy too All of Rights for all amoricans.

Now, obviously, all 135 cases to not have to go before the Supremo C. Int. All you need for the Supreme Court test is one case. And today we have that a in the case of Peter Hardeldes. The Hardeldes case is from the the Follow of Follow of trict C urt in New York. It is the first of the 135 policial to extend to the test to runch the Follow carts. After the District Court, it will go a the Court of A. pauls, and from there to the United Status Supremo Court. At this tall, a continue that the Hardeldes case should be before the United Status Suprema Court.

The Herisiadus case has, therefore, became a test case for these for a department because of their political opinions. The decision in the Hory  $\ell$  and case may well decide all other department is cases.

Now, while we feel that the deportant in law is anomalist. The we feel that we have a very good case, and while we have a the utmost roll of the abilities of our atterneys to present a good case and rake a good agent, we are not going to rely an the courts alone. The very existence of our a latter as a democracy may well be decied by the isolate, that will be note in the a rule as as case.

We know that the Supreme Court responds to public sentiable. We can assured that the Justice Dojamanous is gaing to use every orthogone in his to an attempt to get the Supreme Court to rule is its favor. In fact, they therefore an only not the Center in the person of Tab Clark, who is rule in the distance of Tab Clark, who is rule in the distance of the Clark, who is rule in the distance of the Clark.

The only way we are going to win the Revisiades seed in if the we wind people fro made aware of the issues and, by giving expressing to tapicals or the belief, make it japossible for the overt in this limit to make are decay to the town contrary to the wolfers and democracy for this country. It should be all to the wolfers and investigation of weathers are first responsibility, the abbilities on the recording to the two have, as an first responsibility, the abbilities on the recording to the force for a real meticowide companion to win the Haristades case in the Supress Court eince, if we win it, we now well have defeated this entire days retting Lives. And we have only the next above mathe in which to reguize to was the Haristades case.

Revication of American Citizenship

The Justice Department announced some time ago that it is preparing to proceed for the densituralization of 238 naturalized american citizens, because of their political opinions or political activities.

During the most several menths, a large number of naturalized Advances citizens have been called in to the offices of the Landgration and Maturalization 3 ratios and subjected to all kinds of questioning. They have gone so far as to send Justice Department agents to eitizens' homes to question them there. And most of the questions have to do with what the individual has been doing sime he became a citizen and not with what he did before he became a citizen.

Lot us make the thing clear. This questioning of American citizens ty the Immigration and Naturalization Service is illegal. This questioning is to in-vasioned the rights of American citizens. And the only way neturalized citizens are ging to be able to preserve their rights is going to be by fighting for their rights and refusing to permit the Justice Department to question them illegally and depretes them of their rights.

Naturalized citizens can refuse to answer any questions put to them by Justice Department agents. Non-citizens, too, can refuse to answer any questions unlass they have had an opportunity to consult an attorney and to be advised as to their rights under the Constitution.

We have a greater responsibility. We must defeat this attempt to create new condidates for deportation. We must defeat this attempt to make of 11,000,000 netweelized Americans second-class citizens in this country.

Again, the Justice Department is depending on the changed composition and changed character of the United States Suprems Court. They are hoping to everthrow the decision made by the Supreme Court in 1945 in the case of William Schoolderman and thereby deprive naturalized citizens of freedom of speech and freedom of belief.

This attack on the rights of naturalized citizens is an extension of the Justice Department's deportation hysteria. It exposes the fact that the Justice Department is not interested in depriving only the non-citizen of his rights but is really destroying the Bill of Rights for all Americans.

Blat Congress

Our third main problem erises as a result of the legislative situation that will confront us in January, when the second session of the Bist Congress recommends.

The Hobbs Concentration Camp Bill has been reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee of the House Representatives. It is now before the House Relas Committee. It is significant that two members of the House Judiciary Committee, and Martin Corski, of Illianis - issued a special min rity report condemning the Hobbs Concentration Camp Bill. And Representative Adult J. Sabath, of Illianis, chairment of the House Committee, has already viced vigorous operation to the provisions of the vicious and members on 11.

However, the Justice Department is publicly supporting this bill and we must expect a concentrated drive by the alien-batters during the early part of 1950 to pass the Hobbs Bill.

In the United States Senate, we may be faced with an even more serious problem. For more than two years now, the Senate Judiciary Committee has had a sub-constitute to Investigate the Inmigration Laws at work. This Sub-Committee is expected to make a rejort to the Senate in January 1950 and, as a part of its report, to propose legislation. The Sub-Committee will propose an ammibus bill in immigration and naturalization. I can recall one other cambbus bill in the loaders of the Communist Party were indicated, that all non-citizens were finger-printed and registated in 1940. The Suith Act of 1940 also had a deportation provision that is being used takey to seek the deportation of most of the 135 non-citizens arrested to date.

That 1340 usnibus bill must serve as a warning to us. The 1950 confibus bill will most certainly be as vicious. Our Conference panel on Legislation as an important function to perform in considering action on the legislative from

Organization

This report has indicated in only a limited fashion the work that has a seen a iny-to-day basis by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Borns. I have not attempted to report on a great number of other notivities in lefolies, in education, in naturalization, or in many other fields of work that the Committee entures.

This is the work that the american Committee has carried on for the past 18 years now, always with a limited budget and always with limited forces. We would be romiss in our duties if we did not bring to the attention of this important Conformed the fact that we cannot in the period to case continue to function as we have during the past 18 years on a limited budget with limited forces.

More than 135 non-citizers have been arrested in deportation proceedings and there is not knowing how many more are going to be arrested. More than 1.0 citizens will be faced with revocation proceedings. Our requirements in the field of defense alone are tremendous. We have to service attorneys, provide defense in most of the cases of those arrested, carry the fight in the courts. That i only a small part of our responsibilities. Welhave to carry out the public on-prigns to win these cases - issue literature, conduct protest campaigns, organisms and demonstrations.

Then there is the all-important case of Peter Harisiades. We have estimated that just the legal and physical exponess required to take this case to the Suprema Court will come to more than $35,000. And that does not include the cast of the public compaign to win support for the case.

Now, we are gring to fight for the rights of the foreign born in this country whether we have enough funds or whether we don't have funds. But, this Conforence must understand and appreciate the simple fact that the effectiveness of the fight we make for the rights of foreign-born agericans depends anny times on the size of our budget.

We have a real job sheed of us. We must break through the consol uscose of America, which is today befuddled and confused as the result of a carofully planned and carefully executed campaign of hysteris, terror, and relateiting. We must wake up the people of this country. We must make them realize what has happened already in this country and whit will eventually happen if they don't wake up in time.

If we are going to be able to do this in 1950, we must adopt new taction and now methods of work. We have to be the initiators of a real mass a vector of the American people. It is not essential that we be in the Leafership of the mass morement. We must understand one thing clearly. We want to see this deportation hysteria defeated and ended. We are aware of all its implicit and all of its dangers. We would, therefore, welcome any action the twill help or serve to defeat this deportation drive.

We do not intend to diminish in the slightest our fight against the deportation hysteria. We do not intend to sit back and wait for any one class to give leadership in this fight. But, we will always be propored to help into a congenization to make their a stribution to this fight for the present to a famorican democracy. We will always be happy to have any group of rate in the intended their intended in with our Committee or completely as their in their own frahion.

We are concerned only that there be an effective nationwide mass fight against the departation hystoria.

Similarly, we appeal here today to all Americans, regardless of their political views, to join in this fight. Every one of us is being affected by this hysteria. Every one of us stands to lose our rights and our liberties. We feel, therefore, that all Americans + of all faiths, of all beliefs, of all convictions - should participate to the fullest. And, again, we offer the facilities of our organization. If any individual or group of individuals want to carry out independent activity, we will welcome their participation in that manner in our fight to preserve the Bill of Rights for all Americans.

I said that we do not intend to diminish in the slightest our fight against the deportation hysteria. And we must show it by the decisions made hore this week-end and by the manner in which we carry out these decisions.

I would propose first that, in ivow of the fact that the Attorney General couldn't find the time to be here with us, that this Conference send a special delegation to see him and to tell him what he would have heard if he had been here.

of deportoes - the American citizen families - to callen prominent and influential Americans in all parts of the country to win their support in the first scaling toportation. During the past year, the most effective demonstration we hold was the visit in March of more than 40 relatives of deportoes to Washington, as decided by the Chicago National Conference last year. A delogation headed by Bishop Moult nand Reverent Derrocalled on the White House; a delogation mut with the Assistant to the Atturney General; a delogation met with the Countsioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Special delogations also visited Congression and Sanators.

Finally, I propose that this Confurence select a month to be known as FIGHT DEPORTATION MONTH, during which mostings and affairs and special activities be organized in all parts of the country. I propose further the month of February 1850 be designated by this Conference as FIGHT DEPORTATION MONTH.

In conclusion, I want to say that we have a great responsibility, not only to cursolves and to all of the poople we know, but also to the entire American people. We are confident that the plans made by this Conference will result in many benefits to the American people. We know that we are going to defeat this vicious deportation hysteria but we know also that we will defeat it only if we conduct a rigorous and effective fight. To that end we will defeat aurselves so that we, as well as allow the American people, can live as a free people in a world of peace; so that we can live in a better America where each of us can go shout our work and lives with dignity, in equality, and peace.

American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born
Chicago December 8 and 9, 1951 20th Anniversary National Conference

Report to the Conference bν Harriet Barron, Administrative Secretary ACPFB

We are meeting heretoday at this 20th Anniversary National Conference of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born to mark 20 years of service to foreign-born Americans and to outline a program to defeat those fascist minded forces who attempting to destroy the rights of the American recople and to discuss specifically those attempts as they apply to the rights of foreign-born Americans.

We are here today despite the fact that the Justice Department has attempted to destroy the work of our Committee, by the imprisonment of Abner Green, our executive secretary. The fact that we are meeting in this Conference indicates quite clearly that the work of our Committee will never be destroyed, until that day when the rights of the foreign will have been made secure. The jailing of our devoted executive secretary, who has given 17 years of his life to the defense of foreign-born Americans, has, of corrue had some serious affects on our work, but it has also stimulated the fight and has gathered around the Committee greater forces.

We are meeting despite indictments of peace fighters and Communists, despite police trutality and lynch terror against the Megro people, despite new outbreaks of anti-Semitism, despite levalty oaths in government jobs, in education and even in factories. We are meeting despite the new wave of terror which is sweeping foreign-born communities. Your presence here indicates that the American people will never be frightened by the Justice Department and its agents.

This new wave of terror in the foreign-bern communities carried with it the germs of broken families and broken lives. In its path it leaves corrow and destruction. It tears assumer the lives and fortunes of human beings. It cares not for human suffering. It goes into the families where there are old and sick. where there are young and hopeful. It cares not for sex, color, religion or country of origin. This wave of terror is set to destroy American homes and families. It is known as deportation.

When the American meenle fully understand what deportation means in the life of an individual - what sorrows and triels it h s for them, they will surely fight to end it. Deportation is worse than prison. It means the destruction of homes and families. It means starting a new life in a new country with a language that has long been forgotten, under new conditions. To the old and sick, deportation means the end of everything. To Peter Harisiades and others facing deportation to countries where fascism still holds sway - deportation means death.

This tide of deportation has been on the ebb and flow in this country for more than five years. It comes and goes, but its hit and run method leaves destruction in its path. For more than five years we have fought it and now we are awaiting decisions by the United Btates Supreme Court, which will have farreaching affects on the life of the entire country.

It is possible to break this wave of terror, because another wave is sweeping the land. That wave is the wave of resistance of the people to the current hysteria against the reace fights, the Negro people, the Communist leaders, and against the foreign born. We have seen it in hundreds of wars, some of which I will ennumerate later. Therefore, in presenting the picture of the events which occurred during the course of the rast year - and some of these events are indeed dangerous and bear with them an ill omen for the whole American people : let us keep in mind the growing resistance of the people.

The twin weapons of repression - the Smith and McCarran Iaws - have opened the way for greed and corruption to harass and intimidate the whole Ararican people. Like of the Alien and Sedition Laws of 1790, of which Jefferson said: "The friendless alien has indeed been selected as the safest subject of a first experiment; but the citizen will soon follow, or rather has already followed, for already has a sedition act marked him as its prey," so the Smith Act passed in 1940 as an anti-alien law, to which a last minute rider for general thought control was attached, shows clearly that the non-citizen is the scapegoat in the attempt to establish repressive legislation. The McCarran Law takes the Smith Act one step forward and we have a pair of the most undemocratic and anti-American measures ever to be mlaced on the books of the land.

These twin weapons of repression have opened up a whole series of attacks on foreign born Americans. The dejortation drive cannot now be considered in terms of the number of cases because it has become a mass phenomenon involving an untold number of people. Only in the past two months a new series of arrests have occurred. At the outset of the deportation drive the Justice Department indicated that it sought to deport $400 non-citizens. These are only the political deport ations. Nany in the recent months have been brought under arrest on warrants dating tack to the early thirties and several wore errested on warrants of 1920 issued during the infamous Palmer raids. Nost of these cases are in various stages of administrative hearings and some are already in the courts. Nany will hinge on the decision in the care of Feter Haristades, whose case was argued this week before the United States Suprems Court, together with the case of Dora Coleman, Hildelphia mother of three children.

Just briefly to rive you the facts in the Harisiades case, which has received nation-wide attention, and to bring you up to date. Harislades, a native of Greece, now 49 years cla, was by goht to the U.S. when he was 13 years old. He living and worked, as millions of immigrants did, getting jobs wherever he could in mines, in mills, on railreads and in factories. In 1935 he joined the Communist Farty. In 1930, he was working in a textile mill in New England and particles. ted in a strike there. A warrant for his arrest for deportation was issued a manut him at that time, but it was not until 1946 when Harisiales was called before the Immigration Service, presumably for the completency his application for citizenthat warrant was presented to him. At that time Harisiades was no longer a member of the Communist Party having been dropped from that Party in 1939. In the meantime, between 1930 and 1946, he had married, had settled down in New York, had two children, had edited the Greek-American Tribme, on whose masthed his name appeared, spoke before hundreds of meeting in mobilizing Greek-Americans around the war effort, but the Justice Department could not find him until 1946. Of course in 1946, a new situation prevailed. Harisiades was speaking openly against the fascist-controlled government in Greece which is numtured by American dollars. Now was the time to get rid of this man - to send him back to Greece so that they could put him in a concentration camp or put him to death just as thensands of Greek patriots have been murdered or tortured. So for five and a half years the case of Feter Harisiades has been in administrative procedures and the courts and now its rests with the U.S. Supreme Court. The decition in this care is of tremendous importance. Because if the Justice Department can succeed in deporting Peter Harisiades because he joined an organization which was legal at the time he joined it, and which the Attorney Ceneral new calls "subversive" to-morrow any trade unionist, any Negro, anybody in the United States, may go to jail because he was once a member of an organization which today does not meet the approval of the forces which are hell-bent for war and who want en end to any ideas which are contrary to the rad rush for prester profits and more destruction.

The hearings afforded those facing deportation are also in keeping with the Justice Department's program of oppression. The history of the epplication of the Administrative Procedure Act to deportation hearings is a long one. After much litigation one case finally was takento the U.S. Supreme Court to test end in February 1950 in the WongYang Sung case that court ruled that the ATA applied in deportation hearings. Neverthless, a Congress bent on taxing the people for war, decided it was too expensive to give non-citizens who are threatened with deporta-tion, a fair hearing before unbiased officers and eliminated part of the APA from deportation hearings. So a hearing is given before a hearing officer and an examining officer, both employees of the Immigration Service and committed to the policies of the Justice Department. To augment this duet is a stoolpigon or two, also in the pay of the Justice Department. There you have a setup which is purported to dive fair and unbiased hearings. From the outset the victim knows his bottom to the result and ministed mearing. First the outset and whole ministed mearing from. The cases are argued by able attorneys but the doom of the victim has already been sealed. A recommendation for deportation is written by the hearing officer. This recommendation is sent to the Commissioner of Innigration and Maturalization. He then orders deportation. Then one more step in the administrative procedure occurs. You may appeal before the Board of Immigration Appeals. An attorney is sent to Washington to arms before this Board - but to no avail. The decision comes down "ordered deported." A number of cases have reached this stage and we are confronted with court actions to save these people from deportation. Dail

And during all this there is a special kind of persecution carried on by the Justice Department called bail. It has become a gare - a very neat little game, which the Justice Department plays with the lives of human beings. This gare of bail - no bail - and bail again - is one so vicious and outrageous that most judges even today cannot abide it. Dating back to 1948, when five courageous men Judges even today cannot ande it. Lating back to 1940, when five courageous men went on a hunger strike to beat down this game, this year 1951 is instructly of the U.S. can be marked as the most crude in the matter of the first line of the Gmith Act victims, or beild the first matter of the East Rund, except to say that Rose Chermin, the secreture of the confidence of her courageous fight for foreign-low pricess still languishes in fail. But the deportation victims have had a special ... f torture prepared for them in this bail game. You all know the story of the Langht McCarran Lew arrests, when the Justice Department swooped down into 40 homes and dragged men and women from their families - from their children - sure in the dead of night to make the aircests more dramatic. They had all been out on bail and none had in any way abused the terms of bail. But to prove that the McCarran Law is the fascist weapon it is, the Attorney Ceneral put it into action just one month after enactment of the law. Then began a series of court actions. We won most in the District Counts. But John Zydok sat for five months in a filthy county sail in Detrois, and Enut Heikkinen sat for elmost five months in a similar hole in Duluth, and the Terminal Island Four - Miriam Stevenson, David Hyun, Herry Carlisle and Frank Carlson - were forced to remain on Terminal Island for more than six months. The first two won release by order of the Court of Appeals and the Terminal Island Four were released by the U.S. Supreme Court pending that court's decision on the right to bail during deportation proceedings. The Justice Department was not happy with the victories won in the Zydok and Heikkinen cases and appealed them. So all these cases were argued November 26th before the U.S. Supreme Court. The outcome of these cases, too, may have far reaching affects because if bail is denied during deportation proceedings, thousands now out on bail may have their bail cancelled. What is more, the whole question of bail to anyone stands in danger. The Eighth Amendment to the United States Constitution is imperiled.

But even with these cases pending, again came enother swcop down by the Justice Department. No sconer had Abner Green, the defender of the rights of foreign-born Americans been placed behind bars on Julé 27th, when on August 2nd, the bail of some 39 non-citizens in New York, Boston, Triladelphia and Detroit was cancelled, presumably because this bail was posted by the Bail Fund of the Civil Rights Congress. But when the victims and their families and friends attempted to post new bail the bondsmen became the victims of a new inquisition. The money used to purchase the bonds was "tainted." These are some of the questions they were asked: "How long have you known the person for whom you are posting buil? "Did you ever eat with him?" "Where did you get the monay?" "Who are the friends must you deer ear wind him: where all you get the money. Who are the lier?" what is their relationship to you and to the alier?" What organizations are you a member of?" These are but a few of the questions which were asked. They waited hours, even days, for approval from the Washington lords; they waited to find out if their money was galified - whether it was acceptable. After many weeks all were released but not until it was necessary to seek writs of habeas corpus in several of the cases. But some honest judges still refuse. in spite of all the hysteria, to obliterate the American tradition of the right to bail and in Detroit Judges Lederle and Levin refused to play the Attorney General's game and relased all nine non-citizens held there on bends of the Bail Fund of the Civil Eights Congress. And in New York, Judge Weinfeld ordered the release of Menuel Tarazona and Alexander Bittelman, ruling that a wife may put up bail for her husband without being forced to name the organizations of which she is a member; and that a member of the International Workers Order or any organization on the Attorneys Ceneral's subversive list may put up bail; and Judge Sugarman ruled in the case of Anthony Cattoner that he (Cattoner) did not have to give the names of all the people who lent him money for his bail.

Feport - 4

But with all of this battle, Martin Young was arrested on October 26 and is still on Ellis Island without bail, a because the Attorney General is again using his "discretion."

So the fight for bail must coninue and not relax for one moment because if we relax we shall find that the game of bail - and them o bail will continue unrelentlessly. And that human beings live not only in fear of deportation and separation from their loves ones but live in constant foer that even while their cases are being fought the knock at the door ray come at any moment.

This issue of bail can and must have the widest support of the American people. Criminals, racketeers, cangaters and their lime have no problem in securing bail. Costello was granted $5000 bail on the day Amer Green was denied bail. Bonding commanies open their books to them, but the non-citizen who has committed no crime is tarred from securing bail from bonding commanies, his friends and relatives are made innocent victims of government agents when they seek to place bonds and even then bonds are posted the victims never know but what they may be cancelled at any time.

And tweeping through every city, especially in industrial centers where thousands of foreign born work in the factories and mines, terror and harassment continue in the form of letters inviting naturalized citizens and non-citizens to visit the Immigration and Maturalization Service at a certain hour on a certain day. We have no statistics on the number of those subjected to this form of persecution. We know only that daily in the effices of our Committee and in the offices of the Midwest, Midhigan and Los Angelos Committees, people come to us - old people and cick people - people who for the past 10, 15, 20 or more years have not attended a meeting of anything that could be called remotely progressive, people who are or have been members of the International Workers Order or other such fraternal, insurance, or social organizations. They come to seek advice on these letters. Our attorneys calenders are filled with appointments to go with these non-citizens and help then through the questioning and investigation, pre-liminary, in most instances, to the issuance of warrants.

Hon-citizens are subjected to a form of parole - more strict than that than that of the most hardened criminal. The McCarran Law provides periodic reporting of non-citizens, who have been ordered deported and who have not been able to depart, and to submit to the most minute detailed questioning in relation to their physical and montal condition, to give under eath a detailed report on all associates, habite, etc. If this is not police-state - what is police-state? To simplify the complex procedure for themselves the Service has suggested that the so-called parelee may select for himself a "sponsor" to whom he reports periodically and the sponsor in turn makes the report to the Service. Not only are they attempting to drive the non-citizen to become a stoolpeion, but the victim must select another to help carry out this form of police-state. In Los Angeles, where the deportees could not find or would not find sponsors, the Service appointed sponsors, one of whom credered the victim to report to him periodically at the American Legion Hall. This was taken to court and the court ruled that the Service had no authority to appoint sponsors. But the terms of parole of the McCarran Law remain and these terms of parole must be wired out by the American people in the fight to repeal the McCarran Law.

A new "crime" has been legalized in the United States. The "crime" of failing to deport enecelf. If you have lived here for rany years - say 35 or 40 years - and you are ordered deported because you, like millions of others, helped to build the trade union movement, because you fought for unemployment insurance, because you fought jim crow and enti-Semitism, end generally helped to bring about democratic advances for the good of the people; you just don't feel like picking yourself up and saying goodbye forever to your wife or hustand, or your mother or your father, or your children. So it is a crime if you just don't want to go. This McCarran law says that six months after you have been ordered deported and you are still living here with your family, you are to be indicted for failure to depart and you can then go to prison for ten years. I know that you will say that it is hard to believe, but we already have two such cases - Fartin Marasek, of Estendorf, Iowa, and Tank Spector, of Los Angeles.

So the recople who have helped build this country, those people who have honestly devoted themselves to the welfare of their fellowmen, those who believe the constitution and what it stends for must get out - be pushed out if you please - to open the way for the faccist generals and the phoney DPs for whom the downs are widely opened. Hon-citizens who face deportation and who tried to become citizens of the U.S., to which they have given so much, are doubled citizenship, but in a lemma newspaper it was recently reported that 18 known members of the Mitler youth were granted citizenship. There is no bar to citizenship of faccists.

Wes, the doors have been opened wide to a whole army of fascist DRs, the worst elements in Europe, who fear to return to their native lands because they may suffer the fate of war criminals. And these DRs are brought here and placed in jobs and on farms at wages far below prevailing. The labor movement should take note that this bank of fascists, rany of them murderers of American soldiers, are coming in and reducing the standards fought for and won by the great trade union movement in this country.

Along with attacks on non-citizens, the naturalized citizens are being hounded and investigated with a view of revocation of citizenship. Now than a year ago the figure set by the Attorney for the number of cancellations of citizenship were over a thousand; already some 15 or more cause have developed throughout the country. The cancellation, presumably based on alleged membership in so-called subversive organizations at the time of application for citizenship, is just another subterfuge behind which to frighten naturalized citizens and deprive them of their rights. It is an outright attempt to create a second slace citizenship just as in the McCarran law it provides that a naturalized citizen may less his citizenship if he joins a "subversive organization" within five years after he has been naturalized.

Beport - 6

It is another method of police state procedure to watch the naturalized citizen and follow him in his daily life and associations just as the non-citizen who must now register once a year, between the 1st and 10th of January.

The question is often asked wherever we speak - why have these non-citizens - never applied to become citizens of the United States. Today thousands are awaiting completion of their applications for citizenship but they are being held up because these people are members or have been members of certain organizations which are considered subversive - just as many of those now arrested in deportation proceedings waited for years for citizenship only to be served with warrants of arrest for deportation. It is a vicious attempt to try to make the American people believe that those arrested in deportation proceedings mover wanted to become citizenship not of this country. But we know that this a lie because most of them. applied for citizenship not once but a number of times. It has recently been brought to our attention, and it is evidently not for gubbic knowledge, that citizenship has been denied to two individuals who ere members of a union which was ousted from the CIO. If then a person must the belong to aumion which covers his shop or office in order to hold his job, that person may have to forgo citizenship in order to earn his livelihood. If today it is a union ousted from the CIO, what will prevent denial of citizenship tomorrow to anyone who is a member of any union, or a church, or a social club, or any organization which may suddenly have lost favor with the Attorney General.

On Bedless Island, in New York Harbor, stands the symbol of hope and liberty - the Statue of Liberty. In its shadow is another island, the island of tears - Ellis Island. On that tiny island, crowded in a space assigned for four to five hundred people, are now from 1200 to 1800, many of them seamen, who sailed the high seas during the war days, were torpedoed and wounded, but today cannot be used by the U.S. and are discarded. Seamon of every nationality are herded there to deported to WEDE? Most of them have no countries to which to return having the many years ago. Processing cases is long and drawn out. They stay there for weaker for months, and sometimes for years. Only to be returned to lands they do not wish to go to, where they have no ties, or like Greek and Spanish seamen to lands of terrors.

Some of these searen have overstayed their shore leave of 29 days in this country. The coast guard has refused to screen them. They are picked up for deportation. But some, like Harry Chew, Chinese-American, have been excluded from the United States. Chew has been on Ellis Island since last March. He is a legal resident of the U.S., married to an American citizen. He sailed on American ships during the var and was torpedoed and left on an open raft for five days and has never fully recovered physically from this ordeal. A year ago, last November, he was screened by the coast guard when he sailed as chief steward on an American ship. On his return he was not permitted to land because the Justice Department soys it has confidential information regarding him, which to disclose may be prejudicial to the interest of the U.S. What is there that could possibly be prejudicial to the interest of the U.S. about Harry Chew, who almost died for this country. What could have been found from November 1950 when he sailed and was cleared until he returned in March 1951. We are trying to find out. This week the U.S. Court of Appeals upheld the decision of the District Court to exclude Harry Chew. Application has been made to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. In the meantime more than nine months have elepsed and Harry Chew is on Ellis Island separated from his wife.

Deportation is not only applied as punishment in so-called political cases. Hundreds of thousands are deported each year. By far the largest group are Nexican-Americans. Each year the United States government Eddnaps and tosses across the southern border into Mexico hundreds of thousand of human being. We, who consider ourselves a great civilized people, but in whose land chauvinism rides high against all those who are not the Anglo-Saxon type, use the Mexican-American for the lowest type of labor and when he is finished discard him. The officials do not check too closely whether these people are citizens - and some are. Their status in many cases could be easily adjusted, under the seven year law, even if they entered illegally. Some come as contract laborers and are starved and robbed. Those lexicen-Americans who live in the southwest live under the most inhuman conditions, discriminated against in jobs, subjected to the worst indignities and insults, denied the bare necessities of life, their children denied shools, barred from unions, denied entry into farm organizations. This great group of foreign-born Americans have been sadly neglected. If we are really to defend the rights of foreign-born Americans, the Moxican-Americans in the U.S. demand and need the greatest assistance in the fight for their rights. It is with pride in the Young Ios Angeles Committee that we announce that they have join with ANNA (Association Nationale Mexican American) and are beginning to fight correctly on this issue.

There is another group of foreign-born Americans who have been neglected. The West Indian Americans. Claudia Jones and Ferdinand Smith, outstanding Neuro leaders are examples. Hounded and harassed by immigration authorities, they live in the main on the east coast in cities like New York and Boston. Many are seamen whom the coast guard refuses to screen and they suffer the fate of all alien seamen. Nany West Indians are among the vast population of the overcrowded Ellis Island. Nany are contract laborers, like the Paxican-Americans. Nany have lived here for years and are citizens and wish to have their families join them. The berriers, elthough temporarily stopped in Congress through the efforts of our Committee and others, which ber West Indians from coming into the U.S. to join their families, have been set up by consular employees with the nod of approval of the State Department. There is an evergrowing awareness among the Pegro people that some of their brothers who were not born on the soil of the United States are victims of an additional terror, not only of the outrageous police brutality, which is becoming a common occurance in the big cities of the country. That is why the Negro people, who deeply understand what deportation means, what the breakup of family means, are allying themselves with the foreign born to fight the growing terror and intimidation of both great groups. And we witnessed last spring a dajomation of women to Mashington to demand an end to the deportation hysteria in which the majority of the delegation were Negro women. In this delegation we saw in action the meaning of Negro-foreign-born unity. White foreign-born Americans must place before themselves the task of eradicating from their communities the vils chauvinsim which exists and join with the Negro people in defeating the same forces which oppress both meat mouns.

As I said at the outset it is possible to defeat the wave of terror because another wave is sweeping the land. There is a rising tide of opposition which has shown itself these past months. The victory of Dr. DuBois and the point fighters is an indication that there is a growing fearless, courageous spirit that the fighters is an indication that there is a growing fearless, courageous spirit that the famorican people which can rise and win on every front. We greet with profound satisfaction the CIO's resolution for the repeal of the Smith and McCartan Laws as an expression of the indignation of their membership against these twin weapons of repression. We have noted the resolution of the UE Convention which seriously and forcefully expressed its opposition to the current attack on civil rights and definitely expressed its support of those within its ranks who are facing deportation. We are gratified with the news of the formation of a Workers Defense Committee in Ford Local 600, to defend members egainst the Smith Act, the McCartan Act and the UnAmerican Activities Committee. And coming from hundreds of organizations, fraternal social, women's, youth, church and others is a rising resentment against the attempt to stamp out the civil rights of foreign-born Americans, a resentment against the Smith and McCarran Acts, and against the attempted remession which appears in every phase of American life.

And we can report that new defense committees are being born in every area for the protection of foreign born. The newly formed Michigan Committee has already shown that great potentialities exist in Hichigan. The Yuditch Defense Cormittee formed of Jewish rank and file trade unionists has already established itself and is going forward. The Hational Monon's Appeal for the Rights of Foreign Form Americans is playing an important role in rousing American versunt the fight in defense of the 32 women who have been arrested in deportation proceedings. A new youth group has been planning a program to apprise youth of its stake in the defense of foreign-born Americans. The Los Angeles Committee, though deprived of its energetic secretary, has shown outstanding strength and courage and has added a new quality to its work in defense of Maxican-Americans. The Hidwest Committee carries on the fight consistently. The Greek Committee has shouldered the greatest part of the burden in defense of Fetor Harisiades. The Finnish American Freedom Committee through the Finnish press has carried thecam paign against deportation to all section of the Finnish-American community. The Lithuanian Defense Committee, the Rose Melson Defense Committee, the Unrainian Committee and many others have done oustanding work during the past year.

It must be remembered that although the campaign against foreign-born Americans has been carried on for more than five years - not one arrested for deportation for political opinions or activities has been deported. A few have left the country voluntarily for various reasons, but not one has been deported. This is so because of a consistent battle has been carried on in their defense. It is so because of the great staff of attorneys, headed by our general counsel, Carol King, has given themselves devotedly to the fight. And it is so because the rising tide of opposition to deportation is being felt: throughout the land.

But we cannot rest for a moment. The number of cases and the intensity of the attack have increased. Therefore, the program planned here today, must consider ways and means to increase and augment the work that has only commenced.

(For program see attached Program of Action)

This is indeed a large program and we hope in your deliberations this weekend you will add to it. You will discuss it more fully in your panels and caucuses. We hope that many new ideas will be presented here in the reports from the manels.

We have a growing feeling that the battle ahead can be wen. It will not be easy. It has not been easy these pact years and it will grow more difficult in the period shead. But we have great confidence because the past months have indicated to us that millions of individuals and many organizations are beginning to understand that the attack on the foreign is an attack on themselves, on their trade lunions, on their fraternal organizations, on their peace groups, on every phase of American life.

Standing naked and exposed before us is a picture of the corrupt forces which are carrying on this campaign of repression against all aspects of democratic life. We have these past weeks witnessed cheep and vulgar bribery by members of the Justice Department - that department which has prosecuted the cases against thousands of homest, decent human beings. The American people are disgusted and asleared by must show them the connection between the oppression and corruption end timy will understand and join in the fight. For they know that the foreign been have constributed to the wealth, the culture, the democratic heritage of this country. Not cannot remove the progressive segment of this great group of our population without removing a vital part of all that is America in its truest and finest sense. If a Reter Haristades, a Eatherine Hyddenn', a Claudia Jones, a Bonny Caltzman, a Burd Hyun, a Ernesto Mangoang is deported, or anyone of those who have made their mark in this country, they take away from us the finest of that great mass of immigrants that have helped to extend the democracy built throughout those many years by the heroic millions who founded and developed this great nation. If they deport them — they are deporting America.

PROPOSED PROGRAM OF ACTION

of the

20TH ANNIVERSARY NATIONAL CONFERENCE AMERICAN COMMITTEE FOR PROJECTION OF POREICH BORN

December 8th and 9th

Conference delegates unanimously adopted the following program of action as a basis for immediate work and future work:

1. THE IMPORTATE LAURCHING OF THE $50,000 KIND DELVE TO DESURE THE FULFILLMENT OF COMPERSORS DIRECTIVES.

> The forms of this fund drive are already beyond preliminary discussion state and when full proceedings of the Conference are forwarded to you. fund drive material will be included.

In the Editor's Panel, ways and means for editors to use their papers effectively in this drive, were brought out. All editors will receive recommendations and suggestions from the American Committee very soon.

2. 100,000 PROTECTS COMMENCING THE CUPRENT DEPORTATION DRIVE TO BE RECEIVED BY THE ATTOPMEY GENERAL BY MARCH 3.

> The American Committee has worked out special ways and means to assure this, as recommended by the Conference and each delegate, observer and organization participating in the Conference will receive this material as quickly as possible.

3. ESTABLISHMENT OF A MATIONAL COMMITTEE WIR THE PROTECTION OF MEET TEDIAN AMERICANS

The decision to establish this national cosmittee is based upon reports. to the Conference by Ewart Orinior and Cyril Entitips, conference delegates from the West Indian communities.

In the past four years, the Maturalization Aid Service of the American Committee has handled 7,000 cases growing out of the crass discriminatory immigration restrictions practiced by the State D partment against Westl Indians. In the very near future, the American Committee will publish a purphlet on the problems facing less Indian Americans and set forth a program dealing with this problem.

4. RECARLISHMENT OF A RATIONAL CONSULTER FOR PROTESTION OF MEXICAN AMERICANS

Ralph Cuaron, of Los Angeles, trads union leader and Conference dele-gate from the Amendration Recional Maxicana-Justicana, reported to the Conference that over 100,000 Maxicans are deported from the United States yearly. He emphasized the sub-human conditions in which Muxicans are formed to live and based upon his report, the Conference Secided to establish this Committee.

In the very mear future, the American Committee, in cooperation with the Ice Angeles Committee will publish a payablet setting forth the problems of Maxican Americans and our program to fight these deportations.

5. ESTABLISHMENT OF A NATIONAL TRADE UNION ADVISORY COMMITTEE

This committee formed as a result of special recommendations of the trade union panel, is to be an integral part of the American Cormittee. The trade union panel carried this one step further in recognizing the role of trade unions in the struggle to protect the foreign-born, by further recommending that local trade union committees be set up co-ordinated by the National Advisory Committee.

 HEIGHTHEAMBAICH AROUND THE CASE OF PETER HARISIAIRS NOW FENDING BEFORE THE INITIAD STATES SUPERIOR COURT.

This case, because of its basis of past membership in the Communist Party has tremendous significance. The Conference in calling for renewed activity in defense of Herisiades recognized that if Harisiades' deportation order is upheld, any American, citizen or non-citizen, can be harassed and imprisoned for past or present membership in any organization disliked by the Justice Beartment.

7. CAMPAIGN TO RETEAL SMITH AND MCCARRAN LAWS

Although all defense committees have carried on limited activities around Smith and McCarran Law repeal, the Conference recommended that this activity be heightened and that we seek ways and means to join with any and all existing organizations fighting for this repeal, especially the trade union movement.

Within a very short while, recommendations for intensified activities around this will be coming from the American Committee.

8. VISTY CONGRESSMEN AT HOME DURING HOLIDAY SEASON

It was recognized by the Conference that even more effective than delogations to Congressmen in Washington would be delegations to them at their homes during the Imma season, demanding repeal of McCarrun and Smith Acts, and an end to the deportation drive.

The Michigan Committee has already had one such delegation and is organizing another. You will notice on the covering letter that there is a section to be returned to the American Committee which asks whether you or your organization has made plans to visit your Congression. Do sure to return this section to the American Committee and, if you have not already made plans to visit your Congression, we recommend that you do so immediately. There are two main points to discuss with your Congression: (1) The repeal of the Smith and McCarran Acts and (2) a demand for an end to the deportation hysteria.

9. HEIGHTENED ACTIVITY AROUND THE QUESTION OF BAIL

Martin Young and Harry Chow still sit on Ellis Island denied bail. Chew, who is excluded from entering, although he is a legal resident of the U.S., has been sitting for nine months, and Young, a deportation case has been intermed since October 26.

Young is the only person who is presently being held for deportation, because of political grounds and denied bail. We are also awaiting a locision by the U.S. Supreme Court in the case of the Termis I Taland Four and although this decision is pending, we cannot for one moment relax our efforts in the fight for bail during deportation proceedings. We have the situation in the Young case, where despite precedents handed down by judges all over the country, the Innigration Service still seeks to set

10. MATTONAL DELEGATION TO MARRIMOTON

It was recommended that probably around March 3, the American Committee organize a delegation to Washingtonto visit the President of the United States, the Attorney Ceneral, the Commissioner of Damigration and Naturalization, demanding ossestion of the deportation drive. We hope to be able to plan this delegation as we are concluding the 100,000 protests to the Attorney Ceneral. We will have further information about the first of the year.

11. SET UP CHAPTERS OF THE BATTOMAL WOMEN'S APPEAL

It was decided by the Nomen's Famel that everywhere chapters of the Mational Momen's Appeal be organized. This is taking into consideration the fact that 32 women are today facing deportation and their deportation would break up American families and wreck homes. *Appeal activity should be organized around the case of Bore Colemn, which is now pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

12. MORK AMONG YOUTH

A national youth council will be set up to familiarize youth with the stalm they have in protecting the rights of foreign-born Americans.

HESSACES OF CHEETING MERE SERT TO:

- ARRER CREEN, executive secretary of the American Committee, who is being held at the Danbury House of Correction, because he refused to submit to the Federal Grand Jury in New York and deliver to them the books and records of the Committee, containing thousands of names of individuals throughout the country. Almor Green will be released on Doembor 24.
- CAROL KING, general counsel of the American Committee, who though seriously ill, postponed an operation so that she might argue the Zydok case before the United States Suprems Count. She is presently in a New York hospital.
  - MARTIN YOUNG, who is being held on Ellis Island since October 26, denied beil, although all other non-citizens arrested in deportation proceedings for political reasons, have been released on bail.
  - HARRY CHEW, Chinese American seamen, legal resident of the United States, who has been held without bail on Ellis Island since March, 1951, excluded from this country and separated from his wife.

Dear Erland .

We cordially invite you to participate in the National Conference to Protect the Rights of Foreign Born Americans which will be held in Detroit, Michigan, on December 13 and 14, 1952. The purposes and objectives of this important National Conference are set forth in the enclosed Call and Program for the Conference, which is sponsored by more than 85 prominent Americans.

More than 250 non-citizens in 21 states have been arrested in deportation proceedings. More than 17 naturalized arrested in deportation proceedings. More than 17 naturalized American citizens have been served with papers seeking the revocation of their American citizenship. On December 24, 1952, the Welter-McCarran Law, passed over Presidential veto, will become effective. This law, with its provisions denying non-citizens bail during deportation proceedings, can be used to fill the concentration camps which are springing up around the nation.

These attacks on the rights of 14,000,000 foreignborn Americans can destroy the liberties of all native-born Americans as well. Your organization, as well as your members, are seriously affected by these unprecedented attacks on the rights of foreign-born Americans.

We, therefore, urge your organization to send representatives to participate in this vitally important National Conference. (The registration fee for delegate or observer is $2.00.) We hope also that it will be possible for your organization to send a Greeting for the Souvenir Journal of this National Conference. The rates for Greetings are indicated on the enclosed Contract Form.

Finally, because of the tremendous task faced by this Conference, we appeal to your organization to make a sub-stantial contribution to help defray the expenses of organizing this Conference and carrying out its vital decisions

Sincerely yours,

CALL and PROGRAM

national conference to defend the RIGHTS OF FOREIGN BORN AMERICANS

Spensored by:

American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born

Since the days of Thomas Jefferson, the American people have always demonstrated their awareness that any attempt to deprive the foreign born of constitutional liberties is in reality an attack on the Bill of Rights and the freedom of all Americans, native as well as foreign born.

At the same time, anti-democratic forces in American life have always tried to resurrect the Alien and Sedition Laws of 1798. This reactionary drive has now culminated in the enactment of legislation and in decisions by the United States Supreme Court which can create police-state conditions of living for 14,000,000 foreign-born Americans.

Eleven million naturalized American citizens find their freedom curtailed and even their right to continue to be citizens of this country seriously threatened by the denaturalization provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law of 1952. Already, the Justice Department has initiated proceedings against 20 naturalized citizens in five states, seeking denaturalization on political grounds.

Three million non-citizens find that they are not entitled to freedom of speech or belief and that they do not have the protection of the Bill of Rights of the United States Constitution. Already, more than 250 non-citizens in 14 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico have been arrested for deportation under the McCarran Law and, after having lived here most of their lives, face exile from this country and life-time separation from their families and friends.

Any non-citizen can be arrested without a warrant; can be imprisoned indefinitely without bail, in concentration camp fashion; and can be denied due process of law in biased and unfair deportation hearings. All non-citizens must report in writing once a year to the Department of Justice and are subjected to forms of intimidations and harassment by Justice Department agents.

It is essential that the American people be made aware of the treatment accorded honest, decent and hard-working residents of this country solely because of their foreign birth. At the same time, this treatment of noncitizens and naturalized American citizens clearly jeopardizes the liberty of all Americans, native as well as foreign born. Therefore, we join in sponsoring this Call issued by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born for a National Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans, which is to be held in Detroit, Michigan, on December 13 and 14, 1952.

To this National Conference we invite all organizations and individuals who wish to join with us in the formulation of a program of action urgently needed to maintain the democratic rights of the American people by defending the liberties of foreign-born Americans.

"This National Conference, having considered carefully provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law and its effect on the rights of American people joins with the hundreds of organizations and prominent individuals who have voiced opposition to this law in recent months. We condemn the anti-immigration and so-called anti-alien and anti-citizenship provisions of this law as a threat to liberties of non-citizens and naturalized citizens, a menace to the Bill of Rights and the freedom of native-born Americans.

"Since basic principles expressed by this new law are diametrically opposed to the best interests and welfare of the American people, there is no way in which it can be amended in order to make it conform with our democratic traditions and history as a people. Since the provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law are based on ideas alien to democracy, it is essential to the preservation of our liberties that the American people and their organizations be mobilized for the repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

"In place of the Walter-McCarran Law, we urge a new immigration and nationality policy which will be based on the following general principles:

- 1. That any non-citizen who has lived in the United States for two years or more, if entry was in accordance with law, be permitted to become an American citizen by appearing in Open Court and taking an oath of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States.
- 2. That any non-citizen who has lived in the United States for five years or more should not be threatened with deportation for any reason whatsoever.
- 3. That a naturalized citizen should not be threatened with cancellation of citizenship for any reason whatscever, unless it was obtained by clear fraud; and if denaturalization proceedings are started on the ground of fraud, they must be started within five years of the granting of naturalization.

- 4. That immigration be permitted without discrimination as to country of birth, race, color, creed, or political belief with full utilization of quotas established on the basis of the country's social, economic and cultural requirements.
- 5. That at no time can a non-citizen be denied the protection of any of the provisions of the Bill of Rights, especially sections dealing with the right to bail and freedom of belief, speech and association.

"In support of these democratic principles and the fight to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law, this National Conference adopts the following minimum program of action:

- 1. We call on the newely elected 83 Congress of the United States to repeal the Walter-McCarran Act and replace it with a new Immigration and Nationality Law based on immocratic and humanitarian principles. We authorize that a special communication be sent in our name to each member of the 83rd Congress, before January 4,1953, summarizing our deliberations and findings.
- 2. We urge that all organizations send special communications to members of Congress on the Walter-McCarran Law and that, whereever possible, delegations visit Congressmen at their home or local offices during Christmas Week.
- 3. We authorize the issuance of a Petition to Congress calling for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Act and adoption of the general principles outlined previously in this Statement.
- 4. We designate the month of March,1953, as REPEAL THE WALTER-MCCARRAN LAW MONTH and recommend the fullest development of all possible activities leading to the most effective protest during and after this Month. As a part of this observance, we recommend the establishment of an immediate Repeal Walter-McCarran Law Lobby in Washington,D. C. We recommend also that, during the month of March 1953, all organizations, groups and communities send special delegations to Washington to support the repeal fight.
- 5. In preparation for a proper observance of the REFEAL THE WALTER-MCCARRAN IAW MONTH, we urge all communities throughout the country to hold conferences during the month of February,1953. The birthdeys of Abraham Lincoln, Frederick Douglass and George Washington, and Negro History Week-which give expression to American democratic traditions—can heighten the objectives of these conferences. In addition, we urge organizations throughout the country to petition their State, City, and local legislatures to memoriali_e Congress for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

"We regard this five-point Action Program for Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law as serving only to stimulate and initiate a people's campaign against this un-American law. Many additional activities can and must be developed by all organizations and communities, if the will of the American people is to prevail, if this law is to be replaced with an immigrat on and nationality policy fully in keeping with the democratic and humanitarian traditions of the American people and the rights of all Americans, native as well as foreign born, are to be preserved and strengthened.

STATEMENT OF DEMOCRATIC RIGHTS

"As part of its general attack on the rights of all Americans, the Justice Department has been conducting an intense drive on the liberties of the foreign born. As a result of decisions by the United States Supreme Court, legislation enacted by the Congress, and the manner in which the Justice Department is administering the law, the democratic rights of 14,000,000 foreign born Americans are in grave jeopardy.

"Three million non-citizens are today denied all democratic rights, without the protection of the Bill of Rights. Any deed or thought of a non-citizen can be construed as subversive and open the way to harassment and the threat of deportation.

"Similarly 11,000,000 naturalized citizens live in constant fear of losing their citizenship for so-called crimes which are not crimes when committed by native born Americans. Actually, they have no rights that need be respected any more than non-citizens, since denaturalization proceedings are followed by deportation proceedings.

"The obstacles placed in the way of naturalization, limiting the non-citizen to activities which the Attorney General deems proper, closes the door to citizenship for hundreds of thousands of non-citizens.

"This National Conference calls on the American people and their organizations, such as church, civic, trade unions, women's, youth, in order to guarantee the preservation of American liberties, fight to re-establish the democratic rights of non-citizens in the United States.

"We demand that the Bill of Rights of the United States Constitution apply to all within our borders, native as well as foreign born. We demand an end to all discrimination and red-tape in the naturalization process in order to encourage and facilitate the naturalization of all non-citizens in the United States. We demand that non-citizens be free to participate in the democratic life of the country without fear of deportation. We demand that no person be threatened with deportation under any circumstances if he has lived in the United States for five years or more.

"This Conference opposes also any attempt to cancel American citizenship on any ground other than cutright fraud. At the same time, we favor a five-year statute of limitations so that, in case of fraud, cancellation proceedings have to be initiated within five years of the granting of naturalization.

STATEMENT ON POLICE_STATE PRACTICES

"When the Walter-McCarran Law goes into effect on December 24, 1952, noncitizens will be forced to carry on their persons at all times certificates of alien registration; they could be arrested in deportation proceedings and held without bail indefinitely - for any infraction of rules arbitrarily decreed by the Justice Department. If paroled, they could be subjected to loss of all democratic rights and to Justice Department pressure to become informers.

"Naturalized citizens face screening and interrogation to gauge their ideas and behavior and, if they are found to have concealed what the Attorney General may decree is a material fact at the time of naturalization, they may lose their citizenship.

"The United States may well become a police state - insofar as the foreign born are concerned. However, there can be no police-state practices against the foreign born without at the same time creating those conditions which pave the way for a police-state for all Americans. The threat of police-state conditions of living becomes real when the Walter-McCarran Law goes into effect. However, there have always been times when there were those who sought to impose police-state practices upon the people and there were always those who sounded the slarm to which the people responded. This National Conference becomes the clarion call to action to safeguard the democratic rights of the foreign born as a means of preserving the liberties of all Americans. To this end, we propose:

- 1. To inform the people of the provisions of the law through meetings, forums, leaflets, letters, folders, brochures, and whatever means are at our disposal.
- 2. While working for mullification and repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law, special emphasis must be placed on provisions promoting police-state practices.
- 3. To work individually and collectively to insure that not one person who finds himself victimized by these provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law is left undefended.
- 4. As a part of this work, we will seek constantly to reach other organizations, such as trade unions and churches, to join in this fight either together with us or on the basis of their own independent program.

STATEMENT ON RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN THE WALTER-McCARRAN LAW

"The Walter-McCarran Law, through its racist discriminatory policies, seeks to freeze into immigration law the Jim Crow and anti-semitic policies too long a blot on the American scene. Through this racist piece of legislation, the United States has adopted the master-race theory of Hitler Germany and scuttled the fundamental spirit of brotherhood which is a cornerstone of democracy and strength.

"In a calculated design to dispel unity of the colored people, the law sets a quota of 100 for natives of Japan, who has previously belonged to an excludable class, while maintaining an almost non-quota class for the reet of the people of the Far East.

"A quota within a quota is the decree for West Indians. Heretofore, their entry, though limited, was at least attributable to the quota of the governing country. France, Great Fritain, and the Netherlands were granted quotas and their West Indian colonies had immigration rights based on that quota. The United States grants Great Fritain an annual quots of more than 65,000 and then, under this new law, tells Great Britain that no more than 100 persons from the British West Indies can enter this country under that 65,000 quota in any one year. This is the clear parallel of jim crow. When there is a double standard in the United States it is the Negro people who are hardest hit; and, when that jim crow is mirrored in our immigration laws, against it is the Negro people who are hardest hit.

"But, coupled with the vicious discrimination against the Negro people, all colored peoples are singled out for limited entry. The Philippine Islands, Korea, Japan, China, Birma, Indonesia — along with other Asian countries — are lumped together into an Asian-Pacific Triangle, in which some  $1\frac{1}{2}$  billion people live (almost two-thirds of the world's total population) and this so-called Asian-Pacific Triangle is given a quota whereby not more than 2,000 persons can enter the United States in any one year. In addition, nations within the continent of Africa are allowed annual quotas of only 100.

"This is the pattern of discrimination embodied in the United States immigration laws. It is a pattern which is consistently discriminatory. The most cursory examination of the quota procedures shows that color, not skill nor the country's needs, becomes the yardstick of acceptance within our borders.

"This conference views this shameful policy as one which will foster hatred and prejudice. We condemn this policy and support the adoption of an immigration policy without discrimination as to place of birth, race, color, religion or political belief.

STATEMENT ON MEXICAN_AMERICANS

"As a result of the deportation hysteria stimulated against Mexican-Americans, the Immigration and Naturalization is responsible for the development of many discriminatory attitudes by the press and certain section of the public against Americans of Mexican birth or descent.

"Thousands of people are deported to Mexico each year. There is no knowing how many of them are American citizens or legal residents. The Justice Department engages in constant round-ups and in mass deportation hearings devoid of any semblance of fairness and then dumping these people into Mexico.

"We condemn this unwarranted treatment of Mexican-Americans by the Justice Department. We protest especially the use of airplanes to carry out the deportation of Mexican-Americans as cruel and dangerous. We call for an immediate cessation of the mass deportation of Mexican-Americans and urge all Americans and all organizations to join in the fight to end the persecution of citizens and non-citizens of Mexican descent by the Department of Justice.

STATEMENT ON MEMBERSHIP IN PEOPLE'S ORGANIZATIONS

"This Conference condemns the deportation and naturalization laws by the Immigration and Naturalization Service to harass non-citizens because of their membership in progressive people's and labor organizations. The outrageous nature of this procedure is clearly seen in the case of Andrew Dmytryshyn, a leader of the Ukrainian Society of the International Workers Order.

"The Dmytryshyn deportation hearing, which lasted ten wee s, was in reality a trial of the International Workers Order without that organization being represented. The finding, after a long parade of stool pigeons, was that andrew Dmytryshyn be deported because he was affiliated with an organization that was affiliated with an organization that was affiliated with an organization that advocated 'force and violence.'

"We further condemn the manner in which the Justice Department delays interminably and without justification application for American citizenship filed by members of the International Workers Order, thereby preventing them from becoming American citizens.

"This Conference views the attack on non-citizen members of the International Workers Order as a cross violation of the right of people to join an organization of their own choosing. We pledge our full support to Andrew Dmytryshyn; Dr. Krishna Chandre, of Sacramento. Calif.; Maurice Cardosi, of Union city, N. J.; John Vidolin, of San Francisco, Calif.; and to any other non-citizen arrested in deportation proceedings because of membership in any labor, fraternal, or progressive organization.

STATEMENT ON IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE

"The Immigration and Naturalization Service, under the Truman administration, has been guilty of gross violations of the rights and liberties of non-citizens and naturalized citizens and has shown an utter disregard of democratic and humanitarian principles in its treatment of foreign-born Americans. It is clear that the Immigration and Naturalization Service has been transformed into a police agency by the Justice Department and that it is being dominated by FBI principles in seeking to establish police-state conditions of living for the foreign born.

"This development violates the pledge made to the American people by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1939, when the Service was transferred from the Labor Department to the Justice Department, that the Service would always function as an independent agency, guided by humanitarian and democratic principles.

"The continued domination of the Immigration and Naturalization Service by the Justice Department exposes the foreign born to police-state threats, harassment, intimidation and oppression. This National Conference goes on record demanding that the Immigration and Naturalization Service be transferred out of the Justice Department and be established as an independent agency of the government.

CAPOL KING

"RESOLVED: That this National Conference express its deep sense of loss in the passing of Crol King, for more than ten years General Counsel of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. For thirty years, Carol King was an outstanding fighter in defense of human rights, participating in the fight against the Palmer Raids, in defense of Sacco and Vanzetti, against the frame-up of the Scotts-boro victims, in defense of William Schneiderman, Harry Bridges, Feter Harisisdes, and thousands of non-citizens and naturalized citizens. We voice our admiration for her life and con ributions to the defense of foreign-born Americans and others. We are pleased to hear that a special book on Garol King's contributions to the defense of foreign-born Americans is now in preparation. We look forward to its publication and pledge to devote ourselves to the widest possible distribution of this book when available as well as supporting in every way possible all other appropriate tributes to the life and work of Carol King.

DEPORTATION BEFORE U. S. SUPREME COURT

"RESOLVED: That this Conference call for the widest possible mobilization of people's action in the cases of two non-citizens - Refugio Roman Martinez, of Chicago, and William Heikkila, of San Francisco - whose deportation cases are now pending on appeal before the United States Supreme Court.

"Mr. Martinez, a native of Mexico, a former organizer for the CIO Packing-house Workers Union and a leader in the Mexican-American community in Chicago, is the father of two American-born children. His case tests the constitutionality of the deportation proceedings and deportation law.

Mr. Heikkila, a native of Finland, was brought to the United States when an infant of six months and today, at the age of 44, is threatened with deportation because of his membership in the Communist Farty before 1939. His case is a clear challenge of the constitutionality of the deportation provisions of the 1950 McCarran Law. now incorporated in the 1952 Walter-McCarran Law.

HARRY CHEW

"RESOLVE: That this Conference condemn the 21-month imprisonment on Ellis Island of Harry Chew, legal resident of the United States, who was denied permission to re-enter this country when he returned in his calling as a seaman, despite the fact that the U.S. Coast Guard granted him permission to work on American ships. We support the challenge against Chew's exclusion order now pending on appeal before the United States Supreme Court.

HARRY BRIDGES

"RESOLVED: That this Conference condemn the Justice Department's unrelenting persecution for 19 years of Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshorement's and Warehousement's Union. We regard this as an attack on the ILWU and on all organized labor. We voice our condemnation especially of the vicious frame-up which has resulted in the conviction of Harry Bridges. We pledge our fullest cooperation in Bridges' fight for freedom. We pledge our every assistance against the Justice Tepartment's attempt to deprive Bridges of his American citizenship and the resulting threat of deportstion.

CHATLES CHAPLIN

"RESOLVED: That this National Conference protest the Justice Department's treatment of Charles Chaplin, one of the leading motion picture artists in the world. Mr. Chaplin, when he left the United States, was granted a re-entry permit, which was a promise that he could re-enter with his American citizen family. The Attorney General's announcement that he would bar Charles Chaplin, despite his re-entry permit, makes a mockery of American traditions of fair play and subjects the American people to ridicule in the eyes of the world. Charles Chaplin has been excluded from the United States by trickery and a callous deceit practiced by the Attorney General. We protest Mrin Chaplin's exclusion and urge all organizations and individuals to join/the demand that the Justice Department permit Charles Chaplin to return to this country, with his family, where he belongs.

DENTAL OR PATE

"RESOLVED: That this Conference condemn the Justice Department's action in denying bail to Katherine Hyndman, Sam "ilgrom, Frank Borich, Harry Yaris, and Michael Nukk. We pledge our continuing efforts to win their freedom, to end this threat to the American right to bail, and re-establish the right of non-citizens to bail in deportation proceedings.

DENATURALIZATION CASES

"RESOLVED: That this Conference condemn the denaturalization proceedings initiated by the Justice Department against more than 20 naturalized American citizens. We pledge our support for the appeal pending in the Federal Court of Appeals challenging the decision cancelling the citizenship of Micholas Chomisk, of Detroit, or political grounds. We pledge our support to all naturalized Americans whose citizenship is under attach, especially in the case of John Steuben, trade union leader and editor of 'March of Labor,' who became an American citizen while a member of the armed forces of the United States. We condemn also the denaturalization proceedings against Hyman Kaplan, of New Haven, Conn. Mr. Ka lan has lived here more than 40 years, is the father of four children born in the U. S., two of his children having served overseas as members of the U. S. Army during the Second World War.

MARTIN KADASEK

"RESOLVED: That this Conference protest the Justice Department's attempt to railroad Martin Karasek, of Bettendorf, Iowa, to jail for ten years on the McCarran Law charge that he 'willfully failed or refused' to deport himself. We pledge our support to Mr. Karasek in his fight against this frame-up and pledge also to defend any other non-citizen who is victimized in the same manner by the Justice Department.

ETHEL AND JULIUS ROSENBERG

"On a motion from the floor, the Conference voted to send a special message to President Truman calling for clemency for Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, facing death during the week of January 12, 1993, as the result of a political frame-up.

MESSAGES

TO: Harry Chew Ellis Island New York, N. Y.

"The National Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans, meeting Detroit, greets you in your heroic fight to win permission to rejoin your wife in the United States. We pledge our support and assistance in your case.

TO: Andrew Dmytryshyn Jack Schneider Joseph Siminoff Paul Yuditz

"We greet you on your release from Ellis Island and on defeating the Justice Department's attempt to hold you indefinitely - in concentration camp style - without bail. We are happy that our participation in the fight for your freedom contributed to some measure in winning your release and pledge to intensify our efforts to win bail for Sam Milgrom, Harry Yaris, Frank Borich, Michael Mukk and "atherine Hyndman and defeat this victous attack on the American right to bail.

TO: Martin Young

The National Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans greets you and expresses its commendation for your unswerring devotion to the democratic cause despite an unjust and unwarranted imprisonment on Ellis Island without bail almost one year. We are happy to know that you were released from Filis Island on October 22 and that you are reunited with your family. We pledge to continue our fight against your threatened deportation.

TO: The Attorney General

"The National Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans condemns the treatment of Sam Milgrom, who was imprisoned on Ellis Island without bail for six weeks despite a serious heart ailment and spinal discreder. We shocked that, even after it became necessary to remove Mr. Milgrom to a hospital in New York City, bail was denied and he is threatened with being returned to Ellis Island at any time. We protest the denial of bail and deportation proceedings against Sam Milgrom. We demand that bail for his release from Ellis Island be accepted immediately by the Justice Department and this harassment be ended.

TO: Sam Milgrom

"We gathered at the National Conference to Defend the rights of Foreign Born Americans, greet you and send you best wishes for a speedy recovery. We condemn your persecution at the hands of the Justice Department as un-American. We pledge our efforts and support in your fight to win the right to bail. We condemn the Justice Department's deportation proceedings against you and their harassment of you, which we regard as part of their attack on the International Workers Order, a people's fraternal insurance organization of which you are a leader.

TO: The Attorney General

"In two short weeks the Walter-McCarran Law goes into effect. For five non-citizens held without bail at your request, this law has already taken effect. Michael Nukk, Harry Yaris and Frank Borich are held in the McCarran wing of Ellis Island. Katherine Hyndman languishes in a filthy cell in the County Jail at Crown Point, Indiana. These non-citizens held without bail have served as warning to thousands of Americans that the Justice Department is bent on using non-citizens as the scapegoat in a nefarious plot to do away with the right to bail for all.

"We, delegates assembled at a National Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans, are completing two days of sessions devoted to consideration of the treatment of the foreign born. We call upon you to release the five non-citizens currently held without bail because we regard their freedom essential to the preservations of the American right to bail and the liberties of all Americans native born as well as foreign born.

TO: Michael Nukk
Harry Yaris
Frank Borich - Ellis Island

"With the cancellation of bail in your cases and the steadfast refusal of the Justice Department to release you, the rights of the American people are endangered. We, delegates to a National Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign born Americans, assembled in Detroit, Michigan, want you to know that we view your imprisonment as a desperate attempt on the part of the Justice Department to render you impotent in the fight for peace and democratic rights.

"We want you to know that our efforts to secure your release have really only begun and that we shall leave no stone unturned until you have the right to rejoin your families, assured that the McCarran Wing of Ellie Island is emptied of its political hostages and your democratic rights re-affirmed.

TO: Katherine Hyndman County Jail Crown Point, Indiana

"We, the delegates to a National Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born greet you. We salute you for your courage and your unrelenting fight against jim crow and for your efforts in the cause of peace and freedom for all.

"In our deliberations, you have become a symbol of the lengths to which the Justice Department will go in order to still the voice of the foreign born and we want you to know that we are deeply concerned about you. We pledge to you that as we leave this Conference hall, we shall redouble our efforts to secure your freedom on bail as for the first step toward the restoration of the democratic right to bail for all.

Dear Friends:

We invite your organization to participate in the National Conference to Repeal the Welter-McCarran Lew and Defend its Victims, which is to be held at Walsh's Hall, in Chicago, Illinois, on December 12 and 13, 1953.

The Lehman-Celler Bill must be made one of the first items to be considered by Congress when it reconvenes in January 1954.

With more than 350 persons arrested in deportation proceedings or threatened with revocation of their American citizenship under the police-state provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law, this National Conference takes on great signific-ance in the fight to preserve the liberties of the American people.

Your organization can cooperate by:

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Resolution on the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born

For twenty-one years, the American Committee for intection of Foreign Born has faithfully gerved the American people and the cause of musen liberty by defending the democratic rights of non-citizens and naturalized American citizens, and helping foreign born Americans with problems resulting from their foreign birth. The program and work of the Committee has been possended and supported by Americans in all walks of life, including the late President Franklin Deleno Roosevelt, the Hon. Cordell Rull, Wendell Willkie, the Hon. Harold Ickes, and many others.

We regard the work and program of the American Committee as vital to the existence of democratic liberties in the United States. We view with grave concern, therefore, the attempt that is being made by the Attornay General to outlaw the 'merican Committee and prevent it from carrying on its work in defense . . . of foreign-born Americans and the Bill of Rights. We condemn the Attorney General's action in petitioning the Subversive activities Control Board to order the American Committee to register as a "communist-front" organization as an attack on the liberties of all Americans.

It is our feeling that these proceedings against the American Committee are an attempt by the Attorney General to eliminate the organization because it defends the rights of non-citizens and naturalized citizens against whom the Attorney General has initiated deportation or denaturalization proceedings under the Walter-McCarren Iaw. We are aware of the fact that the Attorney General has announced his intention to initiate proceedings to deport 12,000 non-citizens and denaturalize 10,000 naturalized American citizens. It is our opinion that the Attorney General seeks to outlaw the American Committee in order to make possible the success of his widespread attack on the Bill of Rights in these 22,000 proceedings against foreign-born Americans.

We resolve to defend to the limit the right of the American Committee to carry on its work. We pledge our complete support for the Committee in its defense against the Attorney General's fantsstic charges filed with the Subversive Activities Control Board. We pledge also to rally all forces we can to protect against these unjustified protectings which seek to outlet the American Committee.

We call on the Attorney General to withdraw the petition he has filed with the Subversive Activities Control Board in the case of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

We call on all organizations and individuals to protest scaling these SACE proceedings and to support fully the 'merican Committee's defense against these unfounded charges.

To provide the funds needed for the Committee's Defense and its work in this period, we launch from this N tional Conference a campaign to raise $50,000 by April 1, 1954, for the defense of the American Committee and for its work in defense of foreign-born Americans.

We are determined also to guarantee appropriate campaigns and activities in defense of the American Committee and we therefore designate the month of Merch, 1954 as DEFEND THE MOPTH. We call on all organizations in all parts of the country to organize special activities during the month of March for the defense of the organization that defends foreign-born Americans end, thereby, the liberties of all Americans. We urge that special meetings and campaigns and affairs be organized during March to guarantee an effective fight for the defense of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

Repeal the Walter-McCarran Law

The Welter-McCarran Law has been condemned by the overwhelming majority of the American people as racist, discriminatory, and repressive. It seeks to use the non-citizen as a scape-goat in order to legitimatize police-state conditions of living for the American people. It discriminates against most of the peoples of the world in its immigration sections. It jeoperdizes the status of American citizenship by making second-class citizens of naturalized Americans.

Due to its general repressive and discriminatory character, the Walter-McCarren Law is totally unacceptable. E-ch section of the Law reflects that bias of those who were responsible for drafting it and securing its enactment by Congress over the President's veto in June 1952.

Therefore, we call on the Congress of the United States to repeal the Walter-McCarron law and to adopt an immigration and naturalization law that would be in keeping with our democratic traditions and liberty-loving heritage.

Lehman-Celler Bill

Thirty-two members of Congress have joined in sponsoring the Lehman-Celler Bill, which provides for the repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law and adoption of a new immigration and naturalization policy for the country.

We regard this Bill as being extremely important to the welfare and the liberties of the merican people. We are shocked, therefore, by the agreement reported by the "New York Times" of September 24, 1953, between Senator McCarran and Republican leaders in Congress to prevent any revision of the Walter-McCarran Law when Congress reconvenes in January, 1954. We regard this agreement as a conspiracy against the expressed will of the American people to revise or repeal the Welter-McCarran Law.

We call on the Congress of the United States to guarantee that public hearings be held on the Lehman-Cellar Bill to provide the umerican people with an opportunity to be heard concerning this vital question. We call on all organizations interested in preserving the democratic process to join in this demand for public hearings for the Lehman-Cellar Bill, at which the American people will be given the opportunity to propose changes which will strengthen the Bill.

In order to fight effectively for public hearings, we adopt the following minimum program of action:

- 1. To visit all Congressmen during Christmas week to urge upon them that they demand public hearings on the Lehman-Celler Bill, and that they work actively for the repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.
  - 2. To sponsor a Petition to Congress for public hearings.
- $\mathfrak{F}$ . To utilize the special post-card printed by the specian Committee for Protection of Foreign Born for public hearings.
- 4. To circulate as widely as possible a special printed folder concerning the fight for public hearings for the Lehman-Celler Bill, as well as any other material that is published as part of this campaign.

Resclutions - 3

5. To call for and support a special mobilization in Washington, D.C., during the coming session of Congress, to lobby for public hearings for the Lohman-Celler Bill.

Ameniments to Lehman-Cellor Bill

In a statement issued on August 3, 1953, when they introduced the Lehman-Celler Bill, the thirty-two members of the United States Congress who spensored this legislation declared in part that, "The proposed Act does not purport to be a finished product," and called for "public discussion and comment" concerning the Bill's provisions.

In the spirit expressed by the Bill's spensors, we urge that the Lohman-Celler Bill be amended in the following manner before it is enacted by Congress:

- 1. Repeal of the section providing for deportation of non-citizens who "have taught or advocated subversive destrine" or "have been members of or affiliated with any organization which advocates or teaches subversive destrine." Since there are already laws to punish acts of treason, this had similar provisions are unnecessary and serve only to create projudice. This provision, bused on McCarthyite standards, would deny non-citizens freeden of speech, belief, or association, and would always make possible the development of hysteria in times of selitical or secondaic crisis in the country.
- 2. Repool the section providing for lonial of citizenship to any non-citizen who, within five years before filing a potition for naturalization, alvegated or taught "subversive destrine" or belenged to any organization so advocating.
- 3. Repeal the provision authorizing arrest of non-citizens without
- 4. Roponl the exception in the prevision that, "The right of any person to bail in preceedings under this Act shall be inviolate, except in cases affecting the national health and security of the United States."
- S. Report the section providing that, if deportation of the infection cannot be effected within six menths ofter a final order, the non-citizen "shall become subject to such further leteration or supervision pending eventual providing as may be prescribed by the Counissien." This provision authorized life-time imprisement for non-deportable non-citizens.
- 5. Roponi of all provisions authorizing Supervisory Perclo of the sitizons orlored toported but whose deportation cannot be affected.
- Repeal of all provisions socking to throw the burden for achieving deportation on the shoulders of the non-citizen ordered deported.
- 8. Ropoal of the prevision authorizing the deportation of non-offices to any country that will accept them.
- 9. Repeal all provisions that interfere with non-citizens' eppertunities to secure full Court rovice and consideration of deportation erlors.

Strying of Proceedings Until Congress Can Act on the Lehman-Celler Bill

The Atterney General has announced that the Justice Department is properly to imitiate 12,000 department or proceedings and 10,000 denaturalization proceedings. At the same time, hundreds of non-citizens are threatened with indictions and other resecutions for alleged violations of the Malter-McCarren Law.

The Atterney General is proceeding with this drive on the rights of fereign-bern americans despite the fact that the everwhelming impority of the american people have veiced their opposition to the Welter-McCarran Lew and celled for its revision or repeal. The Welter-McCarran Lew is one of the most unpopular laws ever emetad by a United States Congress. The popular epposition to this Law resulted in the introluction of the Lehman-Geller Bill, spensored by thirty-two members of Congress, for the repeal of the Welter-McCarran Law.

Deportation and denaturalization proceedings seriously damage large numbers of non-citizens and naturalized citizens, as well as their American families, entailing unnecessary publicity, loss of jobs, financial expense, enotional and mental disturbance.

This inconvenience and hurdship for thousands of Americans and their families may be unde unnecessary by Congress in 1954 when it considers the Lehran-Celler Bill and repeals or revises the Walter-McCerran Law.

Therefore, we call on the Attorney Coneral to stay all proceedings now conding or to be initiated under the Walter-McCarran Low in those cases where hardship is entailed or where the proceedings are based on political opinions or activities.

Rights of Fereign Born

The Walter-McCarran Law provides note than 125 grounds for the deportation of non-citizens without any regard to the length of time the non-citizen may have lived here. It provides numerous grounds for the denaturalization of naturalized American citizens without any regard to the length of time the person may have been a citizen.

Non-citizons can be subjected to all kinds of harassment and persecution under the Velter-ReGerran Law. They can be arrested without a warrant and deried bail if arrested in deportation proceedings. They must report their address and supply other required information, once a year to the Atterney General. The must report any change of address within ten days to the Atterney General, must carry on their person at all times their alion Registration Cards, weiths serves to establish a Gestape pass system in the United States. Violation of these previsions is punishable by jail sentences, fines, and then deports

The status of three million non-citizens living in the United Status today, denied all democratic rights and denied the protection of the Bill of Rights, creates serious dangers to the liberties of all Americans.

We fully support the provision in the Lehran-Collor Bill that any non-citizen who has lived in the United States for twenty years or more could not be deported for any reason whatsoover.

We fully support the prevision in the Lehman-Coller Bill that any jersen who has seen a naturalized citizen for ten years or more mannet have his or her citizonship roveked on any ground whotsocvor.

We call for an ond to the Alion Registration provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law, as well as for the provisions ordering non-citizens to report annually, report any change of address, or carry on their persons at all times taking Alice Registration Carls. We call on the American people and their organizations to fight to re-establish the democratic rights of all nem-citizens in the United States as essential to the preservation of American liberties. We demand that the Bill of Rights of the United States constitution apply to all within our bergers.

Recial Discrimination in the Imagration Laws

The Walter-McCarran Law seaks to freeze into immigration law the jimerow and anti-Semitic policies too long a blot on the interioan scone. Through this racist law, the United States has adopted the master-race theory of Hitler Gormany and scuttled the fundamental spirit of brotherhead, which is the cornerstone of democracy.

The Philippine Islands, Kerea, Japan, China, Burma, Indonesia - aleng with other asian countries - are lumped together into a so-called asian-Pacific Triangle, in which almost two-thirds of the world's population lives. This asian Pacific Triangle is given a quote whereby not more than 2,000 persons can enter the United States in any one year. In addition, nations within the continent of Africa are allowed annual quotas of only 100.

A quota within a quota is the decree for West Indians. Although Great Britain, for instance, has an annual quota of 65,000, immigration from the British Wost Indies is limited to no mere than 100 a year within the 65,000 quota.

This is the pattern of discrimination embedded in the United States is ingration laws. It is a pattern which is consistently discriminatory. The most cursory examination of the quote procedures shows that color or descent becames the yardstick of acceptance within our borders. This conference views this shameful policy as one which fosters hatrod and projudice. We condown this policy and support the adoption of an immigration policy without discrimination as to place of tirth, race, color, religion, or political bolief.

Supervisory Parele

Legal Control The Walter-McCarran Law Provision authorizing Supervisory Parales San Concargo, 200 April 200 Ap cartein non-citizens is abharrent to the American concept of democracy. ragoous prevision subjects non-citizens who cannot be deperted, since no will accept them as deperteds, to virtual house arrest. They must reported non-citizens who cannot be deperted, since no will accept them as deperted, to virtual house arrest. They must report son periodically, in many instances once a week, to immigration officer that to "medical and psychiatric examination", "give information under cet" is their essociations and activities; "conform to such reasonable written ras to use on conduct or activities a are prescribed by the atterney concret." The strict-ions" include disassociation from the Communist Porty or any so-cally affiliate of the Communist Party, which is intended to force non-citizens to Flacontinue ony association with the leber and progressive nevement. Failure to comply with these Supervisory Parole conditions is a criminal offense punishable by one-year imprisonment in jail.

Rus lutions - 6

Untold hardship, insulting treatment, and indimities are citizens; have an Supervisory Parole. In many instances, have an insultant secure or held a job as a result of having to report ends a ways to be in isolation from family and friends would often be necessary to constitute edicus conditions.

We condown the provision in the Walter-McCouran Law for Supervise furole as a police-state procedure reminiscent of Nazi Germany. We call for at and to this harasement of honost and law-abiding non-citizons. We derived that the Justice Department conse forcing those energies conditions on non-citizons. We call on all organizations to expose these conditions to their membership and to their communities so that the American people can become fully aware of the un-American treatment accorded decent non-citizons under the Walter-McCorran Law.

Bittlernn-Gannett-Jones Tost of Supervisory Parole

We command the action taken by Alexander Bittelman, Betty Cannott, and Claudia Jones in refusing to accept the Supervisory Parelo conditions the Justice Bepartment attempted to impose in their cases. We command the challenge of the Supervisory Parele conditions initiated in their cases in Federal District Court in New York, and glodge our complete support in the fight to establish the unconstitutionality of the Supervisory Parele provision of the Walter-LeCarran Law.

Donaturalization Cases

RESOLVED: That this Conforence condom the denaturalization proceedings initiated by the Justice Department against more than 45 naturalized American citizens under the Walter-McCarren Law. We plodge our support to all naturalized American citizens whose citizenship is under attack, especially in the cases of Men. Stanley Newak, of Detroit, former Michigan State Senator; John Stouben, editor of Tiarch of Labor," who became an American citizen while a Monther of the armed forces of the United States; Paul Nevick, editor of the Jowish daily newspaper, "Morning Freiheit", and Rose Chernin, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Fereign Born. We regard this attempt to use the Walter-Becaran Law in order to establish a status of second-class citizenship for naturalized Americans as a threat to the citizenship rights of all Americans, notive as well as foreign-born.

Donial of Bail

For the just five years, the Justice Department has been trying to destrey the american right to bail by selecting cortain non-citizens arrested in deportation proceedings for special persecution. These non-citizens are held without bail, in some instances for as long as a year or more, pending hearings, appeals, and the six-menth period after a final erfor for deportation has been issued. As we meet today, four non-citizens are being held on Ellis Island: Herman Mixon, 78 years eld; Israel Blankenstein, 66 years eld; Beris Sklar, 63 years eld; and Felix Kusman, 44 years eld.* They have been held for some menths, separated from families and friends, and are destined to be imprisened for rany menths more. This Conference denounces this arbitrary denial of bail to non-citizens arrested in deportation proceedings. It is completely at variance with the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, thus subverting the Bill of Rights and turning ever to the Atterney General of the United States unlimited powers.

Freedem of the Pross

Thirtoon oditors of foreign language and progressive newspapers and publications have had denaturalization or deportation proceedings initiated against them. The proceedings initiated against these editors are an attempt to use the Welter-Heckaran Law to harass and punish editors of publications for expressing their views and opinions. We view these proceedings, in this respect, as a clear threat to the freedom of the press.

These facing denaturalization proceedings are Paul Novick, New York, Jowish Caily INCHING FREHEIT; in Richard, San Francisco, PEOPLES' DAILY WORLD: Tory Minorich, Chicago, Creation Number GLISNIK; John Steuben, Chicago in Minorich, Chicago representative, Paul Multeh, New York, labor editor, Morting FREHEIT; Codric Balfrage, New York, NATIONAL GLARDLAN; Vincent Andrulis and Loon Prusoidas, Chicago, Lithuanian Daily WIDNIS; Michael Mukk, New York, Estenian VUS UM; Knut Medikinen, Superior, Wisconsin, Finnish daily TYCHELS-FREITPLHI; Diamond Kinn, Los Angeles, KORLAN INDEPLIENCE; Boris Sklar, New York, Russian Daily RUSSKY COLOS. Some of the publications affected by those proceedings have been on the American scone for 50 years, others for more than 25 years. Throughout the years those papers have consistently defended the rights of the foreign bern.

Because of the clear threat these Walter-McCarran Law proceedings contain for the American cencept of freelen of the proces, we register our concern and protest. We call on the Atterney General to cancel these proceedings enlanguring freeden of the press and help belster thereby the rights of all Americans, native and foreign-born.

Worden

Of the 300 non-citizens arrested in deportation proceedings, fifty-eight are women - Negro, Hexican, foreign-born of all nationalities - many of when are wives, mathers, granhothers of kieriaan citizens, and even in one case, a great-grandmether.

Some are older weaken, who have deveted themselves to their families and communities. Some are new ill, and at this mement of their lives when they need rest and reace, they are harassed and threatened with exile from their homes and families.

It is to the overlasting shame of the justice department, whose inhumanity is evidenced in its general treatment of fereign born Americans, that this particularly brutal and scandalous treatment of woman persists.

This Conformed condoms with particular scorn the initiation of deportation proceedings against these 58 women, and calls upon the American people to demand an end to this continued persocution.

Since the Walter-McCarran Law is responsible for this breakup of families, tearing methods and fathers from their children, and sending them either to endless jail terms or to a strange country; and since the Law endangers not only personal security and fracta, but carning ability and jobs;

We recommend rejust of this vicious law and urge all out activity to bring up for public debate and open hearings, the Lehman-Coller Bill.

Statement en Deportation to Mexico

Each year, the Invigration and Naturalization Service deports many hundreds of thousands of Mexican-Americans. This deportation drive is effected by mass arrests without warrants and mass deportations without harrings. These deported are quickly transported in large numbers across the border, and are left stranded in Mexico.

Hany of those workers are encouraged and induced to came to the United States by premises of high wages and good working conditions. Those premises do not materialize, and the people suffer great exploitation. Once here, many of these workers sink roots in this country by marrying and raising families.

The result of the deportation drive is the terrorization and intimidation of the Mexican workers to stiffs any movement to better their occurric and political welfare. The westing away of the sole support of an American family, resulting in the concenitant breaking up of a family unit, creates the most agentzing hardship.

These mass deportation drives engender the development of un-American attitudes on the part of the press and consequently on the public. The effect of these discriminatory attitudes is carried over against the entire Mexican-American community.

We condomn the trutal and illegal mass round-ups, mass arrests without varrants and mass deportations without hearings of Maximan-Americans. We call for an end to this inhuman treatment of Maximan-Americans, and for the observance of all of the elements of due process guaranteed all persons under the Constitution.

Pregram of Action:

- 1. Placement before the United Nations Human Rights Commission the plight of millions of agricultural workers in the Southwestern U.S.
- If. Fight the usage of the threat of deportation as an enti-labor well by guaranteeing minimum wage standards and social security for all agriculty by workers ignospective of citizenship status.
- 3. Call for a change in the Immigration and Naturalization act was assistant of a maxican National can be adjusted as permanent after a 2 years of in the U.S. and to facilitate naturalization.
- 4. Fight to guarantee to all Mexicans all the elements of due process as: right to counsel, right to qualified interpretors, right to hearings,
- 5. Call for a National publication in English and Spanish which will caucate the progressive forces as well as expose the false and discriminatory attitues festered by the Irmigration and the Press.

Return of Bail

The Justice Department sacks to held bail posted for the release of non-citizens indefinitely despite the fact that there is no provision in the law authorizing such action. One court decision, by Federal District Court Judge authorizing such action. One court decision, by Federal District Court Judge Jeyce, in Minneapolis, has ruled already that, once it has been established that the Justice Department cannot deport the non-citizen since no country will accept him or her as a deported, bend proviously posted must be returned. The Justice Department, however, continues to refuse to release bend. We condom this illegal procedure by the Justice Department, and ungo that court action be initiated, where possible, to secure return of bend and force the Justice Department to comply with the law.

Frame-Up Cases

The Justice Department is seeking to intensify its drive on the rights of foreign-born Americans by using special logal procedures to involve non-citizens in expensive court proceedings and jail. We plodge our full support for the defense of the following non-citizens in their fight against the threat of being framed and railreaded to jail:

Mikifor Wolchik, of Bayonne, New Jorsey, indicted for allegedly giving incorrect information when applying for American citizenship in 1950;

Mike Gates, of Philadelphia, indicted for allogodly failing to report his current address during January 1951 and January 1952, as required by the Law;

Martin Karasok, of Bottonderf, Iowa, Frank Specter, of Los Angelos; and Knut Hoikkinon, of Superior, Wisconsin; - all three indicted and threatened with ten-year jail sontonees for allogedly failing or refusing to apply for documents to facilitate their own deportations.

Colvan Caso

We voice our complete support for the challenge being made by Rebert Galvan, of San Diege, before the United States Supreme Court, of the Justice Department decision to deport him to Lexice under the Walter-McGarran Law on the Ground of past membership in the Communist Party, We regard this challenge of the Walter-McGarran Law deportation previsions as being of the utnest importance to the Preservation of American liberties and voice our support for Mr. Calvan's fight against deportation.

We pleaded our full support for the Alaska Cannory Workers Union Court challenge of this Valter-ReCarran Law provision.

citizen, and father of two young children, faces deportation and possible death in Erca, after having lived in the United States since he was seven years old. In August 1949, he was arrested in deportation proceedings on charges of alleged past membership in the Communist Party. His deportation was sustained by the Federal District Court in Los Angelés and an appeal taken to the Federal Court of Appeals in San Francisco, where the case is now pending. This Conference support the campaign of the Los ingeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born in its fight against the deportation of David Hyun, and pledges all possible support to end the persecution of this Korean- merican.

Ciacomo Quattrone

Giacomo Quattrone has been held in the East Boston Deportation Station, Massachusetts, denied bail, since January 1953. Charged with "affiliation with the Communist Party", Quattrone faces Walter-McCarran Law deportation to Italy. This case of a father of eight United States citizen children and a legal resident of the United States for 46 years, imprisoned despite his poor health, attests to the inhumenity of Walter-McCarran provisions. We condemn the continued imprisonment of Giacomo Quattrone. We demand that the Attorney General drop deportation proceedings against Giacomo Quattrone, whose life has been devoted to promoting the welfare of the American people through the organization of the unorganized, and through his consistent leadership in community efforts.

Saul Grossman

We commend the action taken by Saul Grossman, executive secretary of the Michigan Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, in refusing to turn over the organizations records to the House Un-American Activities Committee. We pledge are support to Mr. Grossman in his defense against the indictment entered against him or the Federal District Court of the District of Columbia, on which he is to stand trial on December 21, 1953. We regard the attack on Mr. Grossman as an attempt to deprive the people of Michigan of his leadership and experience in the fight against the Walter-McCarran Law and in defense of its victims.

Message to Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr.

We, 321 delegates assembled in Chicago at the National Conference to Repeal the Walter-McC rrem law and Defend Its Victims, wish to convey to you our sharpest protest against your continued imprisonment of seven non-citizens without bail.

These non-citizens, all held under the Walter-McCarran Law deportation proceedings, have been charged with no "crime" other than the alleged holding of ideas contrary to those approved by you.

Giacomo Quattrone, ill and infirm, has been held in the East Boston Dexitation Station since January 1953. The father of eight American-born children, functioned has contributed much to the furtherance of democratic practices and ideals. Tet. today, he faces deportation to Italy for "affiliation to the Communist Party", after he has lived in the United States for 46 years.

Israel Blankenstein, Felix Kusman, Herman Mixon and Boris Sklar have been jailed on Ellis Island in New York Harbor from eight to two months without bail in a manner which makes a mockary of traditional justice and democratic processes. Gilberto Delgadillo is on Terminal Island, California, and Steve Tsermangas in Cook County Jail, Chicago, both also held without bail.

We protest this undemocratic incarceration of these non-citizens and call upon you to use the power of your high office to effectuate their immediate release on bail pending eventual outcome of proceedings initiated against them.

Message to Dr. Krishna Chandra, Sacramento, California

We great you on your successful fight against deportation. The resent decision by the Board of Immigration appeals, ordering cancellation of the Justice Department's proceedings seeking your deportation to India on the ground of mountership in the International Workers Order, is indeed a significant victory in the fight to save the Bill of Rights for all Americans. The Justice Department regarded your case as a test case and the decision in your case may save thousands of non-citizens from the threat and harassment of arrest and deportation proceedings.

Message to Ernesto Mangaoang, Seattle, Washington

We great you on your successful fight against deportation. It is significant that, in defeating the deportation order in your case, you have make in outstanding contribution to the welfare of the American people by now making it its estible for the Justice Department to continue its deportation drive against [0,000 Filipino-Imericans since the Courts have determined that those who entered as "nationals" from the Philippine Island cannot be deported under the laws providing for the deportation of those who entered this country as "aliens."

Massage to Harry Bridges, San Francisco, California

We greet your recent victory in the United States Supreme Court, defeat the Justice Department's attempt to frame you end your associates for allegedly a mitting perjury. We condemn my new attempt by the Justice Department to condemn its 19-year-old campaign to deport you because of your activities as a leader of genized labor. We pledge our support to you in fighting my renewed efforts to seel your interican citizenship.

Messages to:

National Conference to Repeal the Walter-McCarran Law and Defend Its Victims Chicago, Illinois December 12 and 13, 1953.

REPORT

By Abner Green
Executive Secretary, American Committee for Protection of Foreian Born

This National Conference marks the conclusion of twenty-one years of work by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. The Attorney General perhaps thought he could prevent us from completing our twenty-first year of work. However, with the support of the American people, we meet again in conference this year. We intend to go on meeting and fighting until we have achieved our objective of ending the Justice Department's persecution of foreign-born Americans - and it will not take another twenty-one years to achieve that objective.

It will not take the *merican people twenty-one years to defeat those forces that seek to lead us down the road to fascism and war. Today, these forces, working under the banner of McCorthyism, have intensified their reactionary offensive on the liberties of the American people. Beaded by a three-ring circus - the Velde, Jenner, and McCarthy Committees of Congress - they seek to impose their rule by the use of intimidation, terror, and hysteria.

This Conference is concerned with the status of the rights of foreign-born Americans. It is an area in which the McC-rthyites have made serious inroads. The Walter-McCarran Law contains the essential feature of McCarthyism for the foreign born. It is a first step, followed by the Justice Department efforts to implement those provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law which seek to control by police-state methods the minds and lives of fourteen millism foreign-born Americans. The Walter-McCarran Law is a vital part of the McCarthyite program for America.

But, a resistance movement and a great people's counter-offensive is under way to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law and defend its victims. This Conference is a part of that people's movement to preserve the Bill of Rights and American liberties.

In 1798, it took the /merican people exactly two years to get rid of the Alien and Sedition Law. The whole history of immigration law since has been the attempt to negate by gradual steps the popular rebellion which wiped the Alien and Sedition Laws off the statute books.

In 1893, the United States Supreme Court held that, "The right to exclude or expel all aliens or any class of aliens, absolutely or upon certain conditions...(is) an inherent and inalienable right of every sovereign and independent nation." This came in an exclusion case affecting the right of a Chinese immigrant to enter the country.

Then, in 1905, in a political deportation case - the first in the history of the country - the United States Supreme Court declared that the "immigrant does not become one of the people to whom (the Bill of Rights) are secured by our Constitution by an attempt to enter forbidden by lew." The court was then thinking still of deportation as an adjunct of the exclusion laws. If the immigrant was not eligible to enter the country but did enter, then he could be expelled. There was as yet no attempt to deport long-time legal residents.

But, in 1912, the Supreme Court held that deportation is not punishment, and Court decisions and immigration laws since have been able to descend to inhuman levels on the basis of this fantastic concept that deportation is not punishment.

Report - 2

Several court decisions during the 1920's and 1930's continued this reactionary development. Then, in 1940, Congress passed the Alien Registration Act, satting apart; the entire non-citizen population for special discriminatory treatment. In 1950, Congress resurrected the Alien and Sedition Laws in the immigration provisions of the McCarran Act. In March 1952, the Supreme Court made its decisions in the Carlson bail case and in the Harisiades deportation case, holding that non-citizens rrested in deportation proceedings can be held without bail and that non-citizens, regardless of their length of residence here, can be deported on the ground of past membership in a proscribed organization.

Finally, in June 1952, Congress passed the Walter-McCarran Law.

The Alien and Sedition Laws of 1798 provided for the deportation of any non-citizen whom the administration in power might regard as dangerous to the welfare of the United States. The Welter-McCarran Act of 1952, operating in a more complex world, is more complicated than the 1798 Law. It tists more than one hundred and twenty-five grounds for the deportation of non-citizens, including one provision for the deportation of any non-citizen who has a "purpose" to engaged in activities "prejudicial to the public interest."

All of this background is reflected in the annual statistics. The figures for deportations, outside of Mexico and Camada, show that, in 1900, 256 were deported; in 1950, 6,628 were deported, including four on political grounds; in 1952, with the McCarran Law in effect, 20,181 were deported, including ten on political grounds. Now, in 1953, with Walter-McCarran Law on the statute books, the Attorney Ceneral speaks of twelve thousand political deportations alone, which will mean more then two hundred thousand people to be deported from the United States for non-political, technical violations. To this figure must be added a few million deportations to Mexico and Camada.

The Walter-McCarran Law has been on the statute books for one year now. If we are to duplicate the example set for us by the American people in 1798, we have only one year left. Our goal must be to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law in 1954.

However, our desire to duplicate the example of 1798 is not the only consideration spurring us on to fight for speedy repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law. There are many more pressing reasons.

The Walter-McCarran Law seeks to use the non-citizen as a scape-gost in order to legitimatize police-state conditions of living for the American people. The rights and liberties of all Americans, native-born as well as foreign-born are seriously jeoperdized by this Law. The Walter-McCarran Law has been condemned by all sections of the American people as racist, discriminatory, and repressive. In the hands of the Justice Department, it is an inhuman law - brutal and indecent.

Once phase of its operations is illustrated in the discussion earlier this year before the Senate Appropriations Committee between Senator Ellender, of Mississippi, and Mr. Kelly, of the Immigration and N-turalization Service. Mr. Kelly was testifying about the cases of non-citizens ordered deported from the United States. Senator Ellender asked, "Is there anything under the law you can do so aggravating that they will went to leave the country?"

Mr. Kelly replied that the Justice Department was trying to do just that by holding non-citizens in detention. Senator Ellender concluded the discussion by stating that he thought the Welter-McCarran Law gives the Justice Department "full power to make conditions so distasteful that they would not want to live in the United States."

As bad as the Walter-McCarran Law is . in the hands of the Justice Department - it becomes worse since it serves as an instrument of terror and oppression.

Refugio Roman Martinez came to the United States in 1926, at the age of twenty-two, and devoted his life to organizing Mexican-Americans. In the 1930's, he helped found and build the CIO Fackinghouse Workers Union. In 1949, the Justice Department started deportation proceedings against him. Three years of herassment and persecution broke his health. In 1952, Martinez suffered a heart attack and a paralytic stroke. In April 1953, he was ordered to surrender for deportation. His friends urged the Justice Department not to proceed with his deportation because it would endanger his life. On April 28th, he was deported. Two days after he arrived in Mexico. Refusio Roman Martinez died at the age of 49.

Norman Tallentire lived in this country for thirty-three years, devoting his life to the best interests of the American people. In 1949, he suffered a heart attack and was forced to retire! from active work. In 1950, he was arrested in deportation proceedings. For three years, the Justice Department aggravated his condition, despite the fact that they were fully informed as to his serious heart ailment. For almost ome year, Norman Tallentire was forced to report once a week at Ellis Island in person, there to be subjected to indignities, questionings, threats. On September 17, he was notified that he was scheduled to be deported to England in four days, on September 21. Tallentire flew to J shington to start court proceedings, which prevented his immediate deportation. But, the excitament and strain had their effect. Norman Tallentire died of a heart attack on November 8, in the midst of the court fight.

The Justice Department is clearly responsible for the death of Refugio Roman Martinez and Norman Tablentire. Hundreds of non-citizens are being subjected to the same kind of inhuman police-state treatment.

Mrs. Mary Baumert, of Elsinore, California, is 72 years old and has lived in the United States for 51 years. Last month, she was arrested for deportation.

In Los Angeles on November 4th, two non-citizens were arrested and taken to Terminal Island to be held until $4,000 bail could be posted. One was Lars Berg, 69 years old. The other was his wife, Sabina Berg, 67 years old. Mr. & Mrs. Berg are to be deported to Sweden after having lived in this country since 1904, almost 40 years.

One arrest this year was particularly outrageous. Francesco Costa, of Rochester, New York, was arrested for deportation to Italy at the age of 83 because he refused to provide information to the Justice Department that could be used to deport his son, Leonard, to Italy.

To date, 300 non-citizens have been arrested in political deportation proceedings. Ninety-three are over the age of sixty and have lived in this country on an average of 40 to 50 years. They came here in their youth, strong and healthy. Their lives have been spent in this country. Their energies and their strength went into the building of our cities, and our factories, our railroads and our subways. Their sweat is imbedded in the bricks that went to build skysorapers. Their life's blood is mixed with the coal dug out of the earth and the automobile coming off the assembly line.

They organized trade unions, fought for and helped win social security and unemployment insurance, fought for equal rights and opposed jim crow, and supported and helped build everything decent and progressive in our american society.

They have been "rewarded" already with being registered and fingerprinted like common criminals. They are being "rewarded" in January of each year when they have to report their current addresses to the Attorney General. They are being "rewarded" every day of the year by having to carry on their persons - in Gestapo-like manner their alien registration cards. Is their final "reward" to be deportation? Is this the way the American people are going to repay honest and decent immigrants for their sacrifices and their labor - separate them from their families and friends and exile them in their old age to lands whose language and whose customs they do not know? To permit this to happen would be disgraceful. The American people would stend condemned in the eyes of the world as barbarians bereft of all sense of honesty or decency.

The Justice Department seems prepared to ignore all concepts of decency. Thousands of American families are being harassed. Thousands of non-citizens are being threetened and intimidated. Thousands of American citizens, naturalized years ago, find themselves threatened with revocation of their citizenship and possible deportation.

This is a program of chaos and terror. It would be impossible to calculate the extent of suffering, emotionshapset, financial expense, and fear resulting from the Justice Department's attack on the rights of foreign-born Americans. But the Attorney General speaks of arresting 12,000 in political deportation proceedings and revoking the naturalization of 10,000 American citizens.

These 22,000 proceedings would mean untold suffering for thousand upon thousands of American families. It would mean arrests, newspaper publicity, loss of jobs, financial expense, emotional strain. For the American people it would mean havoc and turmoil the likes of which we cannot imagine because it is something we have never before experienced.

The Attorney General threatens to use the Walter-McCarran Law to completely disrupt American life. The overwhelming majority of the American people, however, have expressed their opposition to this law. Thirty-two members of Congress are sponcoring the Lehman-Celler Rill for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law. There is every good possibility that Congress will either amend or repeal the Walter-McCarran Law in 1954. For the Attorney General to continue to use the Law in the manner that he is using it today reflects a desire to intensify political harassment and intimidation.

This Conference must consider, therefore, the social and political effect of this Justice Department program and outline action that will prevent such havoe from being unleashed on the people of this country. From this Conference, as from all organizations, can come a public demand that the Attornay General stay all W-lter-McCarran Law proceedings involving hardship or political persecution until Congress has hed an opportunity to consider the Lehman-Celler Bill.

The fight against the Walter-McCarran Law, if it is to be successful, must be conducted on two fronts - in a repeal movement and in a defense movement. These two constantly supplement and strengthen each other. The booad repeal movement that has developed during the pest year has aided immeasureably in winning support for those victimized under the Law. And exposure of the effects of the Law by developing broad protest movements against deportation and denaturalization has made the repeal movement constantly more a significant and vital in the life of the country.

This Conference has before it a series of test cases in the fight against the Walter-McCerren Law.

David Ryum, of Los Angeles, faces deportation to Italy on the charge of affiliation with the Communist Party because he made financial contributions to the Communist Party and read the "Daily Worker." Quattrone, 64 years old, has lived in the United States for 47 years and is the father of eight American-born children. His case is pending in the Federal Court of Appeals in Boston. Quattrone, meanwhile, has been held in the East Boston Deportation Station, denied bail, for almost one year, since January 19th.

The Hyun and Quattrone cases are test cases in the fight against deportation.

In effective fight in these two cases can serve not only to expose the deportation providions of the Walter-MuC-rran Law but can help prevent the arrest of 12,000 non-citizens now threatened with deportation proceedings.

In the fight to defend the rights of naturalized American citizens, four denaturalization cases are of major importance at this time. They are the cases of the Hon. Stanley Nowak, of Detroit, for ten years a Democratic member of the Michigan State Senate and a founder of the Ford Local of UAW-CIO; John Steuben, of Chicago, editor of "The March of L-box," who became an American citizen while wearing the uniform of the United States as a member of the armed forces; Paul Novick, editor of the Jewish daily newspaper, "The Morning Freiheit," who has been an American citizen for 27 years; and Rose Chernin, executive director of the Los Angeles Committee for Proteotion of Foreign Born.

A third major area is the fight for the American right to bail. Israel Blankenstein, Felix Kueman, Herman Rixon, and Boris Sklar are today on Ellis Island, denied the right to bail since their arrest in deportation proceedings. Herman Rixon is 73 years old. Three years ago he suffered a cerebral hemmoerrhage. This sick and old man has been held on Ellis Island since April 3rd because he is supposed to be a menace to the security of the United States. Neither Herman Nixon nor any of the other three non-citizens now imprisoned on Ellis Island can be deported since there is no country that will accept them as deportees. Their imprisonment is a form of political persecution and harassment made possible by the provisions of the Walter-McCarrem Low.

Growing out of the Justice Department's deportation hysteria are new frame-ups and persecutions. Nikifor Wolchik, of Bayonne, New Jersey, has been indicted for perjury because he allegedly gave an incorrect address as his place of residence when he applied for American citizenship in 1950. Mike Gates, of Philadelphia, has been indicted for alleged failure to report his address to the Justice Department in January 1951 and January 1952. Three non-citizens - M-rtin Karasek, of Bettendorf, Iowa; Frank Spector, of Los Angeles; and Knut Heikkinen, of Superior, Wisconsin - have been indicted for willful failure to apply for documents to facilitate their own deportations or to depart from the country, and each faces ten years in jail if convicted.

Three other court actions must receive our special attention.

Next month, the United States Supreme Court will hear argument in the case of Robert Galvan, of San Diego. The Galvan case challenges the constitutionality of the Walter-McCarran Law provision for the deportation of non-citizens who are past members of the Communist Party.

Also to be heard by the Supreme Court in January is a challenge brought by the Alaska Cannery Workers Union, ILWU, Local 37, of Seattle, of the constitutionality of the Walter-McCarran Law provision under which non-citizens who are legal residents of the United States find that they can be excluded and deported when they return from a trip to Alaska.

Finally, we are testing in the Federal courts the constitutionality of the Supervisory P-role provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law. The Law provides that, in those cases where the Justice Department cannot carry out a deportation order since no country is ready to accept the non-citizen as a deportee; the non-citizen is to be placed under Supervisory Parole.

In September, Alexander Bittelman, Betty Gannett, and Claudia Jones - leaders of the Communist Party facing deportation and also facing jail under the Smith Act - were summoned to Ellis Island and informed that they were being placed on Supervisory P-role. The parole conditions provided that they report at Ellis Island once a week; give information under ceth as to their associations and activities; submit to physical and psychiatric examinstion; restrictions on their right to travel; discontinue membership in the Communist Party; discontinue associating with any person who is a member of the Communist P-rty, a member of an affiliate of the Communist Party, or affiliated in any way with the Communist Party.

Alexander Bittelman, Betty Gammett, and Claudia Jones refused to accept these conditions. They went into Court to challenge the constitutionality of these Supervisory Parole conditions. Their challenge is now pending the the Federal District Court in New York.

The Supervisory Parole conditions are a blue-print of the police-state for noncitizens whose deportation orders cannot be carried out since there is no country to which they can be deported. This means perhaps 90% of the three hundred deportation cases initiated to date. The Justice Department wants to intimidate and terrify these non-citizens with the threat of jail sentences provided by the Law for violation of any of the Supervisory Parole conditions. The Justice Department wants to isolate these non-citizens from their families and friends and to force them to leave the labor and progressive movement.

As the attack on the rights of foreign-born mericans unfolds, it brings into its orbit growing numbers of people of all beliefs and backgrounds. Many thousands of non-citizens, guilty of some petty or technical violation, find themselves subjected to the same kind of harsh and bestial treatment accorded those arrested on political grounds. The development of a deportation drive affects all non-citizens, not only those against whom it appears to be directed. We must be prepared to help and the fend all non-citizens harsesed, threatened or arrested by the Justice Department and provide them with every possible assistance in their efforts to remain in this country with their families.

It is clear now that certain groups of people are special targets of the Justice Department's deportation hysteria.

One of the major objectives of the deportation and denaturalization drive is to weaken the organized labor movement. The history of the Harry Eridges case exposes the anti-labor character of attacks on the rights of the foreign born. John Santo, Ferdinand Smith, Charles Doyle, and Refugio Roman Martinea are labor leaders who have been casualties of the deportation of the denaturalization proceedings against James Matles, James Lustig, and Sam Sweet illustrate the use of denaturalization proceedings to attempt to undermine the status of labor leaders.

A large number of those arrested in deportation proceedings are rank-and-file and local union leaders and members. Of the three hundred arrested, a rough tabulation shows that at least 90 - or about one-third - are active trade union members. Unions affected in the American Federation of Labor include Machinists, Teamsters, Typographical Workers, ILGWU, Hotel and Restaurant Workers, Ironworkers, Textile Workers, Carpenters and Painters; in the CIO, Steelworkers, Clothing Workers, Rubber Workers, Woodworkers, Oil Workers, and Auto Workers; in independent unions, Furriers, ILWU and UE. In Western Pennsylvania alone, ten founders and members of the National Miners Union are among those arrested for deportation. There are in all at least forty American Federation of Labor locals; fifteen CIO locals, three United Mine Workers locals; and twalve locals of independent unions. This would indicate that the deportation drive is a widespread attack on members of organized labor.

A second target is the progressive social and fraternal movement in foreign-born communities. The Justice Department aims to force non-citizens to discontinue membership, in or any association with, progressive organizations that fight for peace and civil rights. Non-citizens are subjected to all kinds of harassment and threats because of their activity in labor and progressive organizations. The attack on non-citizen members of the International Workers Order is one illustration of this operation, which threatens all fraternal, social and cultural organizations in the foreign-born communities.

A third major grouping under special attack are non-citizens and naturalized citizens associated with foreign-language newspapers. Theforeign-language press plays a vital role in the life of fourteen million foreign-born Americans. The Justice Department's campaign to destroy freedom of thought in the foreign-born communities of the country includes, as a special target, the destruction of those independent newspapers which seek to bring to their readers are understanding of the people's fight against McC-rthyism. Eleven persons associated with the foreign language press, including seven with daily newspapers, are threatened with deportation or denaturalization. But it is not just the foreign-language press that finds itself under attack. Credic Belfrage, editor of "The N-ticmal Guardian," faces deportation and Al Richman, of San Francisco, editor of the "Daily People's World," is threatened with denaturalization.

A fourth group violimized by the Justice Department is the Mexican-American community in the United States. The Justice Department maintains a continuous and unrelenting attack on the rights of Mexican-Americans, not only recent arrivals but also long-time residents, including native-born American citizens of Mexican descent.

The United States government treats Mexican-Americans in an inhuman manner. Arrest without warrent is the rule. Mass raids and arrests in Mexican-American communities, including police raids on Mexican-American homes, are being conducted constantly. Road-blocks are set up, all vehicles stopped and any Mexican-American who cannot then and there establish legal residence in this country is removed from buses and automobiles and deported without any hearings or opportunity to defend himself. It is in this area that we can see in operation already the use of mass deportations as a means of achieving terror and oppression over entire communities of people.

During the first six months of 1953, more than 480,000 persons were deported to Mexico - almost one-half million people - or en average of 2,000 deportations each day of the week. Further illustrating the fact that this is an attempt to use deportations to terrorize large groups of people and maintain a source of cheap labor for the large agricultural interests of the Southwest, almost one-half million people are brought into the country for agricultural work. This is intended to maintain a population in flux and available for the most difficult jobs at the lowest possible pay.

The defense of the rights of Mexican-American non-citizens is not the responsibility alone of the people of the Southwest or Southern California, where the major concentrarions of Mexican-Americans are to be found. The immensity of the problem, and its effect on our country, requires that all organizations assume responsibility for developing a fight against the terrorization and deportation of Mexican Americans.

Since enactment of this Law, Senator McCarran has tried to create the impression that it has elminated racial discrimination in the immigration and naturalization law of the country. The Walter-McCarran Law does provide for the entry of immigrants from Japan, Korea, Indonesia, Burma, and other countries previously barred, and grants them the right to become American citizens.

But, as a part of the repressive and radist character of the Walter-McCurren Law, there are endless discriminations against natives of these Far Eastern countries. comprising a majority of the people of the world, they are allotted the smallest possible immigration quotas of one hundred each year. All kinds of recist concerns.

Report - 8

written into the Law further limit immigration from these countries.

Illustrating the racist character of the Walter-McCarran Law is the provision affecting immigration from the British West Indies. In the past, immigrants from the British West Indies entered under the British quota of about 60,000 each year. The Walter-McCarran Law, while maintaining an annual quota of 60,000 for Great British, limits the British West Indies to no more than 100 immigrants a year. This is obvious racist legislation aimed at preventing Negroes in the British West Indies from entering the United States.

This report has concerned itself at length with the cases of individuals and problems of defense because of the urgent need to establish more effective defense of those individuals under attack. While hundreds of organizations have spoken out against the Walter-McCarren Law, the aperican Committee for Protection of Foreign Born is the only organization in the country that defends those victimized by the law while flighting for its repeal. It is only natural, therefore, that this Conference should give special consideration to the defense of those attacked by the Walter-McCarran Law as an integral part of our fight for its repeal.

The movement for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law is one of the most heartening developments in the fight to preserve the democratic liberties of the American people. Due to its repressive and discriminatory provisions, the Walter-McCarran Law is opposed by the overwhelming majority of the American people. It is one of the most unpopular laws every enacted by the United States Congress. Organizations of the most diverse political and social views are united in their opposition to this law.

Yesterday, Mayor-elect Wagner, of New York City, condemned the Walter-McCarran Law as an "ugly monument to the theories of racism and isolationism." Last month, the CIO National Convention in Cleveland went on record officially for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law. Organizations and individuals representing a cross-section of America are on record publicly for repeal of this police-state law.

The President's Commission on Immigration and Naturalization, in its report, reflected astonish ment at the fact that, of the 600 witnesses who appeared before the Commission's hearings, very few - no more than 25 by actual count - supported the Law. Most of the 575 who opposed the Law felt that it is such a bad law that the only thing to do is to repeal it.

The continuing protests against the Walter-McCarren Law resulted finally, on August 3rd, in the introduction of a repealer - the Lehman-Celler Bill - sponsored by 32 members of Congress.

The Lehman-Celler Bill repeals the Walter-McCarran Law and prosposes a new immigration and nationality law for the country. It is an exceedingly interesting and important piece of legislation, one of the most significant ever introduced in this field of immigration and naturalization.

It would remove the Immigration and Naturalization Service from the Justice Department and establish it as an independent agency of government. It provides that any non-citizen who has lived in the United States for tweaty years or more could not be deported for any reason whatsoever. It provides that any person who has been a naturalized citizen for ten years or more could not lose citizenship by revocation proceedings for any reason whatsoever.

Under the Walter-McCarran Law, a non-citizen can be deported regardless of length of residence in this country and citizenship can be revoked regardless of how many years ago citizenship was obtained.

Report - 9

The Lehmen-Celler Bill reflects a completely different attitude to the rights and status of non-citizens and naturalized citizens. The Lehmen-Celler Bill gives recognition to the democratic concept that, once a person has settled in this country, has become a part of its social and political life, he or she should be immune from the threat of exile or persecution because of foreign birth or non-citizenship.

It is regrettable that the Lehman-Celler Bill, which reflects basically a progressive and humane point of view, contains several of the police-state provisions of the Walter-McCerran Law. These include arrest without warrant, denial of bail in deportation proceedings, registration and fingerprinting of non-citizens, annual reporting, and supervisory parole. In perpetuating these Walter-McCerran Law provisions for non-citizens, the Lahman-Celler Bill reflects a dangerous concession to the McCerthrite spirit.

The 32 sponsors of this Bill, when introducing it, stated that, "The proposed Act does not purport to be a finished product" end called for "public discussion and comment" concerning the many provisions of their Bill. In the spirit expressed by the Bill's sponsors, we urge that they amend the Lehman-Celler Bill to make all sections uniformly progressive and democratic.

At the same time, we are faced with several serious problems in seeking to repeal the Walter-McCarren Lew.

The House and Senate Judiciary Committees are in position to defeat the Lehman-Celler Bill by preventing it from ever reaching the floor of Congress. The June 1952 votingrecords show that ten members of the Senate Judiciary Committee voted for passage of the Walter-McCarran Law over the President's veto, while only three members opposed it. In the House Judiciary Committee, 15 members voted for the Walter-McCarran Law, while nine opposed it.

These are serious odds against any fair consideration of a bill imagealing the Walter-McCarren I.w. But, Senator McCarran and his McCarthyite cohorts are afraid to take any chance with even this advantage. On September 24, "The New York Times" reported that Senator McCarren had made an agreement with Republican leaders in Congress that there are to be no changes in the Walter-McCarran Law in 1954. This conspiracy is spelled out to the extent where it is agreed that the Lehman-Celler Bill is to be tabled without debate by the Senate and House Judiciary Committees when Congress reconvenes in January.

This agreement results from the fear that consideration by Congress of any changes in the Walter-McC-rran Law will result in completely revising or even repealing the Law. The McCarthyites in Congress are afriad to give the people an opportunity to be heard because they fear that Congress could not withstand the strong and insistent demand for basic changes or repeal of the Law.

Our first objective, therefore, must be to win public hearings for the Lehman-Celler Bill when Congress reconvenes in January. Because of the character of the opposition to the Walter-McCarren Iaw, it should be possible to win public hearings for the Lehman Celler Bill. This demand for public hearings is not a commitment of support for the Bill and therefore can win the support of an even greater number of organizations and individuals than has the fight against the Law for its repeal.

We propose that this Conference issue a call for a Lobby in W-shington during Jenuary to fight for public heerings for the Lehman-Celler Bill. We must focus national attention on the Congressional conspiracy. We must expose this conspiracy to the American people if we are going to be able to defeat it.

We are not alone in this fight. A Mational Committee is now being organized to work for rep al of the Walter-McCarran Law under the leadership of United States Senator Herbert H. Lehman. The organizations which have spoken out against the Walter-McCarran Law -hundreds and thousands of organizations - are a part of this movement to win decent treatment for foreign-born Americans. Local conferences and mass meetings for revision or repeal of the Walter-McC-rran Law are being held in the major centers across the country. The strength and vitality of the repeal movement is demonstrated, if edditional proof is needed, by the very existence of the McCarran conspiracy in Congress since it would not be necessary for the McCarthyites to conspire and make deals against a weak opponent.

Deport - 10

Let us guarantee an effective demonstration in Washington in support of the people's fight to win public hearings for the Lehman-Celler Bill as a first step toward the repeal of the hated Walter-McCarran Law.

Certain important victories have been scored during the past year in the fight against the Walter-McCarren Law and in defense of the rights of the foreign born.

Most outstanding perhaps was the victory won by the labor movement in defeating the attempt to frame Harry Bridges and railroad him to jail for perjury. The victory in the Bridges case was a set-back for American reaction. Any new attempt to revoke Bridges' sitizenship, and to continue the 19 year campaign against this labor leader, must meet the same fate as ell past attacks on Bridges. Today Harry Bridges is an American citizen. The people must guarantee that he retains his American citizenship.

Another member of the ILMU has scored a significant victory. In June, the Federal Court of Appeals in Sen Francisco ruled that Ernesto Mangaonng, business agent of the Alaska Cunnery Workers Union, ILMU, Local 37, of Seattle, could not be deported because, when he came here from the Philippine Island, he entered as a national and the Law provides for the deportation of those who entered as "alicus." This decision means that some 70,000 Filipino-Americans can no longer be intimi ated by the Justice Department with the threat of deportation. The importance of this decision is heightened by the fact that, on November 2, the U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear the government's appeal and the Court of Appeals decision prevails.

In Minnespolis, last month, a Federal District Court order the Justice Department to return $4,000 in bonds in the Rowoldtwase. Charles Rowoldt was ordered deported to Germany but cannot be deported since Germany will not accept him. Last year, Rowoldt was placed on Supervisory Parole. He asked for the return of his $4,000 bond posted in the deportation proceedings. The Justice Department refused and indicated that it intended to hold on to the bond indefinitely. Rowoldt sued and the Federal District Court ordered the bond returned. Similar court action is now being planned in other cities since the Justice Department seeks to ignore the clear provisions of the law when it tries to hold indefinitely bonds posted in deportation proceedings.

One of the most significant victories in the fight against the deportation drive was scored in the case of Dr. Krishna Chandra, of Scoremento, California. In 1950, the Justice Department started proceedings to deport Dr. Chandra to India solely on the ground that he had been a member of the International Workers Crder, a fraternal insurance organization. The hearing officer in San Francisco ordered Dr. Chandra deported. The Board of Immigration Appeals, in Washington, however, reversed the decision and ordered the deportation proceedings terminated. Among the grounds for the Board's decision was its determination that neither Dr. Chandra nor the IWO lodge of which he had been a member participated in any activities that were detriminable to the United States.

These victories are some indication of the important work that is being done by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. For 21 years, the American Correlative has defended countless numbers of non-citizens and naturalized citizens. If we it has the responsibility to develop defense in a new kind of case - a defense of the organization itself.

In 1951, the Justice Department used the New York Grand Jury in an effort to destry the Committee by railroading its executive secretary to jail. That attack folled completely.

Now, the Attorney General seeks to use the registration provisions of the 1950 McCarran Law to destroy the Committee. He seeks to outlaw the organization, to make it impossible for the Committee to function. There are obvious reasons for the Attorney General's attack.

First, the Attorney General seeks to disrupt the people's movement for repeal of the Walter-McCarran law by starting proceedings against our Committee. Then, we defend those he seeks to deport or denaturalize. Time and again we have challenged - often successfully - the Attorney General's activities in the Federal courts. We regard it as our duty to expose the Justice Department's violations of law and mistreatment of foreign-born Americans.

The Attorney General has announced that he will use the Walter-McCarran Law to deport 12,000 non-citizens and denaturalize 10,000 naturalized "merican citizens. The Justice Department fears it may not be able to carry out that kind of program successfully as long as there is an American Committee to provide defense and assistance to those under attack.

Therefore the proceedings before the Subversive Activities Control Board for an order that the 'merican Committee register as a "communist-front" organization. There are four main charges against our Committee: (1) We defend non-citizens arrested in deportation proceedings on the charge of membership in the Communist Farty; (2) We defended Gerhart Eisler against deportation; (3) We opposed the Hobbs Computation Camp Bill, and the Mundt-Nixon and the McCarran Bille; and (4) we do not like the House Un-American Activities Committee.

To all four charges, we are proud to plead guilty.

But, we deny emphatically the Attorney General's assertion that we did these things at the order and direction of the Communist Party and that, in carrying out these activities, we were in effect an erm of the Communist Party. We resent the insinuation that we did not have the intelligence to realize by ourselves that these attacks on the rights of the foreign born were a menace to the liberties of all Americans. It is of no great surprise to hear that the Communist Party supported and agreed with our program. So did hundreds of other organizations. So did thousands upon thousands of individuals of all political beliefs. The Convention platforms of the Democratic Party have always agreed with the essential features of our program. The Fresidential candidates of the Democratic and Republican Parties of 1952 stood for revision or repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

Our decisions were made by our Annual Conference. We conduct our activities because we feel that they are vital to the welfare of the American people and to the preservation of the Bill of Rights for all Americans.

Now, among the five members of the Subversive Activities Control Board, which is supposed to sit as a feir and impartial body to judge our Committee and the Attorney General's fantastic charges, there is a men by the name of W-tson B. Miller.

We are accused of defending Gerhardt Eisler in deportation proceedings. Well, the man who ordered Gerhardt Eisler arrested in deportation proceedings in 1948 was named Watson R. Miller. It is the same man. In 1948, he was Commissioner of Irmigration and N. turalization. Today, he is a member of the SACE.

Remort - 12

We are accused of opposing the Hobts Concentration Camp Bill. In 1948, we appeared before the House Committee on Immigration and Naturalization to oppose the Hobbs Eill. Appearing for the Justice Department at those same hearings, to surport the Hobbs Bill, was Matson B. Miller.

We are accused of opposing the McCarran Law. Harry P. Cain is a member of the SACE. In 1950, there was a United States Senator by the name of Harry P. Cain who voted for the McCarran Law. It is the same man. In 1952, the people of the state of Washington voted Harry P. Cain out of office. Now he is to sit in judgment on our organization.

We filed motions of bias and prejudice with the SACBasking that Miller and Cain either disqualify themselves or be disqualified from sitting on our case. The Board denied our motions, one of the grounds being that Miller and Cain say that they are not prejudiced against our Committee.

Obviously, we will defend the American Committee only if we reach the American people and mobilize the people in an effective protest movement. That is a prime responsibility of all organizations and individuals concerned with guaranteeing that the foreign born attacked by the Justice Department will be defended in public campaigns as well as in the courts.

We are determined to fight and defeat these unjust proceedings before the SACE. We will fight for the Committee's right to carry on the work it has been doing for the past twenty-one yeers. And, in the course of defending the American Committee's, we plan to maintain and even increase its activities, to strengthen the organization in order to make it a more effective instrument in the fight against the Walter-McCarren Law and in defense of the rights of foreign-born Americans.

It is inconceivable that the American people will permit the Attorney General to arrogate to himself the determination as to which organizations are to exist in this country. That is a right vested in, and reserved by, the people of this country. The people have always - and will always - provide the inspiration and the opportunity for an American Committee as long as the need for such an organization exists. No law, no board, no administration, and no petty official will ever be able to destroy the democratic aspirations that live and grow in the hearts of the American people.

We are of the opinion that there should be no need for an American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born in this country. However, we are not going to permit the Attorney General to determine the question of its need. We prefer to accommudate the American people, and their needs and desires, rather than accommodating an Attorney General intent on using the law to spread hysteria and fear. We are going to eliminate the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born ourselves - by making its work unnecessary, by ending for all time the persecution of foreign-born Americans.

While the Justice Department's attack on the rights of non-citizens and naturalized citizens has been intensified in the past year as a result of its impementation of Walter-McCarran Law provisions, there have been significant developments in the movement for the defense of their rights.

* * * *

The organized movement for the defense of the foreign born today has never been parallelled in the history of the United States. There are more than one hundred functioning groups to defend the rights of non-citizens and naturalized citizens.

Report - 13

And there is a broad people's movement for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

Creater defense activities can be expected as a result of the growing realization on the part of groups throughout the country of the need to develop broad organized movements to defend the rights of foreign-born Americans. On the eve of this Conference, organizations in Pittsburgh and vicinity established a Western Pernsylvania Committee for Protection of Foreign Bown. We look for similar developments in cities like Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Hartford, Baltimore, and elsewhere.

Outstanding contributions to this fight are being made by those sections of organized labor which are devoting themselves to the problem of defending members victimized by the Walter-McCarran Law. Unions providing leadership in this respect have been the United Electrical, Redio and Machine Workers, especially in the Matles, Lustig, and Tonie Sentner cases, and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, especially in defense of Harry Bridges and Filipino-American members of the Union.

An equally important contribution is being made in the fight against the Wilter-McCarren Law by national group organizations, especially in the Lithuanian, Ukrainian, Finnish, Italian, Russian, Hungarian, and Jewish communities.

One of the factors contributing to the development of effective defense of the foreign born has been the attitude of those victimized under the Walter-McCarran Law. The foreign born are refusing to submit to the Justice Department's intimidation and are insisting on fighting for their own rights. Outstanding in this respect was the action taken in Detroit by twenty-one non-citizens who refused to accept the police-state bond conditions the Justice Department sought to impose in their cases. In February, these twenty-one non-citizens surrandered themselves, prepared to go to jail if necessary in order to fight to preserve the liberties of the American people. They were released on court bond in two hours and not one of them has been held since.

In Ios Angeles, five non-citizens were held at Terminal Island because they refused to accept the police-state bond conditions. After several weeks of imprisonment, their release was ordered by the Federal District Court. Two of these non-citizens, Werner and Emma Grondehl, suffered serious hardship because of ill health and old age but refused to give up the fight until it was won.

A similar contribution was made by Net Yanish, of San Francisco, who sat in jail for two months in His fight against the new bond conditions. After two months, Yanish was released as the result of a special decision by United States Supreme Court Justice William Douglas.

As we meet and discuss our problems this week-end, non-citizens sit in jail, hostages of the Justice Department, refusing to give up their dignity, refusing to give up their self-respect, despite oppression and presecution. From this conference, we extend our hand in brotherly solidarity to Steve Tsermenges, in Cook County Jail; to Israel Blenkenstein, Felix Kusman, Herman Nixon, and Boris Sklar on Ellis Island; and to Giacomo Quattrone, in the East Boston Deportation Station.

Our admiration and solidarity greetings go also to three non-citizens jailed under the Smith Act. We greet Irving Potash, in Leavenworth Penitentiary, Kausas; John Williamson, in Lewisburg Penitentiary, Penmsylvania; and Jack Stachel, in Danbury Correctional Institution, Connecticut. We can never give up the fight for their freedom because we know that they sit in jail for us.

Despite intensified hysteria, non-citizens are continuing to fight for their status and rights. No amount of threats or intimidation can force non-citizens to desert their democratic principles or can weaken their attachment to the lear expressive movement which they helped build and of which they are an integral expressive movement.

The fact that the movement for the defense of the rights of foreign-born Americans has grown tremendously in this period of attack does not mean that there are no weaknesses in our fight. While the Justice Department is responsible for the death of Refugio Roman Martinez and Norman Tellentire, we were not strong enough to save them. It was possible for both of these men to have been given the opportunity to live out their normal lives in this country. But, we failed to achieve that objective. Neither are we prepared for the new attacks planned by the Attorney Ceneral with the initiation of twenty-two thousand deportation and denaturalization proceedings.

We must organize ourselves to meet these responsibilities. We must have available the means to guarantee a more effective fight to defend the rights of the foreign born end that will enable us to measure up to our responsibilities in the difficult struggles that are to come. An excellent base is there in the already existing defense novement, in the growing protest movement, in the constantly developing repeal movement. We can win this fight. We plan to organize to do so.

This Conference marks one more year of service on the part of our national officers. In Mey, more than one hundred and thirty prominent Americans greeted our Honorary Chairmen, Bishop Arthur W. Moulton, of Salt Lake City, on his eightieth birthday, for his contribution to the fight to preserve democratic rights. Bishop Moulton wanted to be here this week-end but poor health prevents him from travelling during the winter months. He asked that I bring his personal greetings to this Conference and to say that he is wholeheartedly a part of this fight and has no intention to stop fighting for the rights of foreign-born Americans.

Our National Co-Chairmen have continued to make outstanding contributions to the development of our work. George Murphy has helped immeasureably in carrying out the Committee's program. Professor Louise Pettibone Smith has participated actively in the Committee's work, just concluding a five-week tour of the country in defense of the American Committee. We are to hear from Mr. Murphy this evening at our banquet and Prof. Smith is to report to us this afternoon on the campaign to defend the American Committee.

Most of you know, or will meet this week-end, the Committee's administrative staff, which, in addition to this reporter, includes Harriet Barron, Administrative Secretary; Alec Jones, Assistant Secretary; and Charles Musil, Treasurer. The work of the American Committee could not be carried on without the tireless devotion and sacrifices of its staff.

Neither would it have been possible for our Committee to work and defend the rights of foreign-born Americans without the outstending contributions that have been made and continue to be made by attorneys in every area of the country. We have a proud tradition of legal defense forged in tireless sacrifice by that outstending fighter and woman lawyer, Carol King. Her work is being carried on today in every part of the land, with the major burden falling on her partner, Blanch Freedman. It is not possible for us to give expression to all our deep feelings of appreciation to the countless lawyers throughout the country who are devoting themselves in such a self-sacrificing manner to make it possible for us to provide adequate defense to foreign-born Americans attacked under the Walter-McCarran law.

Equally vital to the very existence of the nationwide fight to defend the rights of foreign born Americans are the independent committees in the major areas of the country who devote themselves to the defense of the people in their own communities. Their steffs are tireless, self-sacrificing and devoted. They overcome insurmountable obstacles in order to be able to carry on their work and organized.

rectivity. One, Rose Chernin in Los Angeles, is threatened with jail and less of more citizenship. Another, Saul Grossman in Detroit, goes on trial in Washington, 5.3., on December 22nd for contempt of Congress because he refused to supply the records of the Michigan Committee for Protection of Foreign Born to the House Un-Laricon citivities Committee. We have a responsibility to see that Rose Chernin and Saul Grossman do not go to jail but that they continue the work to which they are dedicated in our interests.

Our Committee has carried an exceedingly heavy burden during this past year. The initial steps taken by the Justice Department to implement the provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law created many difficult and complicated problems that consumed great amounts of time and energy. We tried to fulfill our responsibilities to the best of our ability and tried to make best possible use of our resources.

Needless to day, there have been many weaknesses and shortcomings in our work. We are constantly seeking to correct these weaknesses and overcome our shortcomings. At the same time, we have not had the funds we needed during the past year to enable us to function with maximum effectiveness.

It is now clear that we are going to be confronted with even more serious problems and even greater responsibilities in the period ahead of us. We are faced with the prospect of new arrests, new prosecutions, and the need to defend people against all the new varieties of harassments made possible by the Walter-McCarran Law. The Attorney General's announcement of twenty-two thousand deportations and deneturalizations is not idle talk nor an empty threat. The danger of mass arrests and mass prosecutions - the likes of which we cannot possibly imagine - is with us daily.

We expect also that, some time next month, hearings will be started by the SACB in Washington on the American Committee's case. These hearings will take at least two months to complete and will be a serious drain on our finances and organization.

The staff and officers of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, in keeping with its bistory and its tradition as a people's organization, are determined to fight the deportation hysteria and the attempt to outlaw our organization. We are prepared to make every sacrifice that may be necessary in the course of this fight to preserve the liberties of the American people.

However, we cannot be effective unless the necessary funds are available to meet at least minimum needs. Our requirements today are doubled since we are responsible for the defense of foreign-born Americans and defense of the American Committee, as well. We propose that this Conference launch a campaign to raise fifty thousand dollars by the end of March 1954 for the defense of the foreign born and for the defense of the American Committee.

We look to those organizations and individuals who have supported our Committee in the past and helped us carry on our work these twenty-one years to come forward again today to meet these new and greater responsibilities.

The atmosphere in which we live has changed sharply in recent weeks, both insofar as the McCarthyite assault on human rights and human dignity is concerned and the people's reaction against McCarthyism.

For years we warned that the attack on minorities endangered all of the people. But, it was not until this program of smear and repression was turned upon one of its architects and threatened to make Harry Truman one of its victims, too, that the American people came to really understand that there are no limits to McCarthyism any more than there were any limits to the inhuman excesses of fascism in Nazi Germany

Harry Truman defined McCarthyism as "the corruption of truth, the abandonment of our historical devotion to fair play" and "the abandonment of 'due process' of law". That is correct just as is Mr. Truman's warning that "The terrible cancer is eating at the vitals of America and it can destroy the great edifice of freedom."

Other voices are being raised in warning, too.

Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, declared on November 16th that, "Our civil liberty is being threatened in America and the level of political morality has sunk to the lowest in the history of American politics. The apostles of fear and hatred and hostility are playing politics with our basic human rights."

The General Council of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., writing to members of eight thousand congregations on November 2nd, declared that, "Favored by an atmosphere of intensive disquiet and suspicion, a subtle but potent assault on basic human rights is now in progress."

Professor Herry Steele Commeger, writing in "The New York Times" on November 8th, charged that. "Our great tradition of voluntary democracy is now in peril."

The dangers condemned by these spokesmen for some of the major democratic forces in the country fall under the general heading of McCarthyism. These threats to our liberties arose in the post-war period, and developed in an atmosphere of war hysteria. But, they were not lessened by the end of hostilities in Korea. The easing of war tensions did not mean am end to the persecution of fourteen million foreign-born Americans, because the danger of fascism and new wars continue to exist. McCarthyism seeks to dominate the world and the American people are only its first victims.

All sections of the American people are threatened. The concentrated attack on minorities - the Negro people, the Jewish people, Mexican-Americans, the foreign born, leaders and members of the Communist Party - is the cancer eating at the vitals of America. The people's resistance to these attacks, including our defense of the rights of foreign-born Americans and the campaign to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law, seeks to prevent this cancer from destroying the great edifice of freedom.

We join with the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt in repeating his statement in 1940 that, "We are fighting for a free /merics - for a country in which all men and women have equal rights to liberty and justice."

That is the only kind of America that merits our enthusiasm or the respect and admiration of the people of the world. That is the kind of America for which we are fighting today. This National Conference to promote a democratic status for fourteen million foreign-born Americans takes its place in the people's struggle for the defeat of McCarthyism, for an end of McCartanism. Our program gives life to the democratic aspirations of the American people. Our work is a part of the great traditions on which this country is founded. We speak and we fight for the right to live as free men and women in a society that is free because it would be a society that has eliminated discrimination and jim crow; because it would be a society that has ended oppression based on race, color, national origin, croed, citizenship, or political beliefs; because it would be a society dedicated in the interests of the people to the cause of equality, to the cause of democracy, to the cause of peace.

A SCLUTIONS ADOPTED

Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans

Attacks on the rights of 14,000,000 foreign-born Americans violate the democratic traditions of the American people and endanger the liberties of all Americans. A major threat to the civil and human rights of non-citizens and naturalized American citizens is contained in the many repressive police-state provisions of the Malter-Actaran Law.

The Walter-mcCarran haw provides more than 125 grounds for the deportation of non-citizens without any regard to the length of time the non-citizen may have lived here. It contains numerous grounds for the denaturalization of naturalized citizens without any regard to the length of time a person may have been a citizen.

Mon-citizens can be subjected to all kinds of harassment and persecution under the Walter-Loderran Law. They can be arrested without a warrent and denied bail if arrested in deportation proceedings. They must report their address, and supply other information, once a year to the Attorney Jeneral. They must report any change of address within ten ways to the Attorney Jeneral. They must carry on their person at all times their alien medistrationsCards, which serves to establish a Gestapo pass system in the United States. Violation of any of these provisions is punishable by a fail sentence, fine, and then deportation.

The status of three million non-citizens living in the United States today, denied all democratic rights and a make the full protection of the bill of hights, creates serious dangers to the liberties of all Americans.

We call for an end to the alien registration provisions of the Malter-AcCarran Law, as well as for an end to the provisions ordering non-citizens to report annually, to report a change of address, or to carry on their person at all times an Alien negistration Card. We call on the macrican people and their organizations to fight to re-establish the democratic rights of all non-citizens in the United States as essential to the preservation of macrican liberties. We call on the American people to defeat the attempt to force naturalized americans into the status of "second-class" citizens. We demand that the Bill of Mights of the United States Constitution apply to all within our borders.

Rereal the Valter- ... Carran Law

The Walter-hodarran law has been condemned by the overwhelming majority of the American people as racist, discriminatory, and repressive. It seeks to use the non-citizen as a scape-gout in order to legitimatize police-state conditions of living for the American people. It discriminates against most of the peoples of the world in its immigration sections. It jeoparuizes the status of American citizens by making "second-class" citizens of naturalized Americans.

Due to its general repressive and discriminatory character, the later-McCarran Law is totally unacceptable. Each section of the Law reflects the bias of those who were responsible for drafting it and securing its enactment by Congress over the President's veto in June 1952.

Therefore, we call on the Congress of the United States to repeal the Malter-McCarran Law and to adopt an immigration and naturalization law that would be in keeping with our democratic traditions. We propose that the following principles serve as a guide for the major provisions of a new immigratuon and nationality law:

- 1. Many non-citizen who has lived in the United States for two years or more, if entry was in accordance with law, should be permitted to become an American citizen by appearing in Open Court and taking an oath of allegiance to the Constitution.
- 2. Any non-citizen who has lived in the United States for five years or more should not be threatened with deportation for any reason whatsoever.
- 3. A naturalized citizen should not be threatened with cancellation of citizenship for any reason whatsoever, unless it was obtained by clear fraud; and then only if denaturalization proceedings are initiated within five years of the granting of naturalization.
- 4. Immigration should be permitted without discrimination as to country of birth, race, color, creed, or political belief, with full utilization of the established cuota.
- 5. At no time should a non-citizen be denied the protection of any provision of the Bill of Rights, especially those sections dealing with the right to bail and freedom of speech, belief and association.

We urge that all organizations and individuals interested in the repeal or revision of the Walter-mcCarran Law arrange to see members of Congress before the convening of the 84th Congress on January 3rd, circulate petitions to their Congressmen urging repeal or revision of the walter-mcCarran Law, and work to secure adoption of Memorials to Congress by local and State legislatures urging Congress to repeal or revise the Law.

We recommend that the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Bonn convene a National Legislative Conference in mashington, b. C., during the month of Earch 1954 in order to develop all efforts for repeal of the Walter-EcCarran Law.

The Immigration and Naturalization pervice

Since the Immigration and Naturalization Service is a part of the Justice Department, non-citizens are placed under the supervision of the police agency of the government, which is incapable of dealing with 3,000,000 non-citizens in a decent and humane manner. This Conference urges the Congress of the United States to remove the Immigration and Naturalization Service from the jurisdiction of the Justice Department and establish it as an independent agency of the government.

Deportation

More than 340 non-citizens have been arrested and face deportation under the political deportation provisions of the Malter-McCarran Law. In each instance, the non-citizen is a long-time resident of the United States and has sought to bolster the democratic traditions of this country. In each instance, the non-citizen has worked to build the labor and progressive movement in the United States, for which they face separation from family and friends through deportation.

Therefore, this Conference goes on condemning the deportation provisions of the Walter-koCarran Law and demands that no person who has resided here for more than 5 years be deported for any reason and that any non-citizen who has lived here for two years or more be permitted to become an american citizen.

: and unalization

The Talter-colorran Law seeks to establish two classes of citizenship - one for the naturalized citizen. Frovious of the Law decree that naturalized citizens can lose their citizenship pratically at the which of Justice Legartment officials. But, citizenship, according to statements by the latterney General, is "precious." It should not be something easily taken away. The fini, however, that more than 60 naturalized citizens - active passicipants in laws, fraternal and community organizations - are today faced with programings to revoke their citizenship despite the fact that they have been citizens to many years.

Therefore, this Conference condemns the cenaturalization proceedings initiated against more than 60 naturalized divisors on political grounds under the Lalterword Carran Law and pleage our support to all whose ditioenthit is under attack, especially in the cases of Harry wholes, of our mannings that would, of Detroit; Charles Collins, of New York; and mose Guernin, of Los angeles. We reject this atture to use the walterworderian Law as a venicle to establish a status of second-class divisors; for naturalized wherever as a threat to the divisorship rights of all mericums, native as tell as foreign torm.

Right to Dail

The Justice repartment is using the halter-contran Law to undermine the american right to bail. Mon-citizens arrosted in approaching proceedings have been held, in some instances, for more than a year in juil, denied the right to bail, pending deportation proceedings. As we kneet, Nose doon, which a history of tuberculosis, is held in the Los Angeles Count, Jail even though in ill health. Harry Chew and Frank Ybanez are held in the Federal Louis of Le ention in New York City. In each instance, these men are being under the right to bail solely at the captice of the Attorney General. This Conference denounces this arbitrary ionia, of bail to non-citizen arrested in Alter-Lod runn law deformation processings. We maintain that such denial of bail violates the 6th Americant to the United States Constitution and thus subverts the bill of higher.

Intural Lation

The atmosphere of hysteria and clitical discrimination engagered by the Immigration and Naturalization service interferes with the naturalization for thousands of non-citizens in the United tares. They coustn's of non-citizens have been waiting for years to become activens while their applications are investigated and recinvestigated. These people have lived on, worked all of their lives in this country and malify for the rights of distenship. This Conference gradems the unnecessary red-tape and political discrimination which prevents thousands of non-citizens from becoming american citizens.

Immigration

The malter-modarran law establishes in immigration the immore and anti-mendtic policies too long a blot on the meeting scene. Through the law, the united States has adopted the master-race theory of ritler Germany and sputtled the fundamental spirit of brotherhood, which is a cornerstone of democracy.

The Philipping Islamus, dorea, Japan, China, Burma, Intonesia - along with other asian countries - are lumged together into a so-called asia countrie. Triangle, in which almost two-thirds of the vorld's population lives. This densely populated area is given a quota of not more than 2,300 persons who can enter the United States in any one year.

Although Great Britain is given a mota of 65,000 a year, immigration from the British Lest Indies is limited to 100 a year within this o5,000 quota. The countries of Northerm and Western Europe are given quotas completely out of like with their population or newds, while the countries of Lastern and Couthern Europe are given ridiculously low quotas in a discriminatory fashion. Exchange of scientific and cultural ideas are instically limited by the curbinf og leaders in these fishes from entering the United States except under the sharpest scrutiny and investigation of their ideas and activities.

This is the pattern of discrimination embodied in the Malter-LoCarran Law. It is a pattern which is consistently discrimintory. The most currory examination of the quota procedure shows that color or descent becomes a yardstick of acceptance within our borders. This Conference views this snameful policy as one which fosters hatred and prejudice. We contemn this policy and support the adoption of an immigration policy without discrimination as to place of birth, color, race, religion, or political belief.

The Case of Knut eikkinen

Under the Lalter-Lodern nlaw, it is a criminal offense, punishable by ten years in jail, for a non-sitizen ordered imported to fail or refuse to cooperate in carrying out his own deportation.

Knut Heikkinen, 64-year-oli elitorial worker of the Finnish-American daily newspaper, "Tyomdes-Libengain," of Luperior, Lisonosin, has been convicted of such a so-called crime and has been sentended to surve ten years in a Federal penitentiary. At the age of 04, this is virtually a feath sentence.

This Conference condemns this victous provision of the Lalter-EcCarran Law and pledges full support in the fight to reverse the conviction of Enut Heikkinen, now pending before the Federal Court of Appeals in Chicago.

The Case of .ik' lates

The Calter-Ecdarran Ecd makes it a "crime," punishable by imprisonment and deportation, for a non-citizen to rail to report his address to the attorney General each year during January. Like cases, of shilad-lpuia, war veteran and father of two young children, has been found pullty, sentenced to serve six months in jail, and fined ol.200 for allegelly failing to report his address to the attorney General during January 1952 and 1953. This Conference condemns this police-state procedure of forcing non-citizens to register annually and pledges full support to dike Gates in his fight to reverse his conviction, now pending before the Federal Court of appeals in childdelphia.

Supervisory Farole

The Walter-accarran Law provision authorizing Supervisory Parole for certain non-citizens is abhorrent to the American concept of immocracy. This outrageous provision subjects non-citizens who cannot be deported, since no country will accept them as deporteds, to virtual house arrest. They must report in person periodically to immigration officers; suching to "medical and psychiatric examination";

Tesolutions - 5

Trive information under oath" as to their associations and sctivities; "conform to such remonable written restrictions on connect or activities as are prescribed by the attorney Jeneral." These "restrictions" include disassociation from the Communist Farty or any so-called affiliate of the Communist Farty, which is intended to force non-citizens to discontinue any association with the labor and progressive movement. Fullure to comply with these supervisory proble conditions is a criminal offense punishable by one-year imprisonment.

Until hardheir, insulting treatment and unwarranted indignities are accorded non-citizens placed on outervisory hardle. In many instances, the non-citizen cannot secure or hold a job as a result of having to report once a week in person. Virtual isolation from family and friends would often be necessary to comply with these additions conditions.

We condern the bunervicory variety provisions of the "alter-weCarran Law as police-state procedures reminiscent of mani warmany. 'e call for in end to this harassment of honest and low-addition non-citizens. We pleage our complete support and cooperation to the test of the contentutionality of the unpervisory variet provisions of the malter-med man Law now before the inited states supreme Court in the cases of fourteen non-citizens differed by the new York Schmittee for Protection of Foreign Born.

Deportations to Lexico

Each year, the immigration and Maturalization ervice deports many hundreds of thousans of people to lexico. These deportations are effected by mass arrests without warrants and mass reportations without hearings. The objective of these recurrent mass deportation invies is the terrorization and intimidation of lexican communities in the United states. The contemn the orbital and illegal mass round-ups, mass agreests without warrants, and mass a portations without hearings of United states residents to lexico. The call for an end to this brutal and induman treatment of americans of lexican birth or descent and demand full observance of the principles of due process guaranteed all persons unlast the Constitution.

- In line with those views, t is conference agents the following program:
- 1. Hace before the United Mations Human . ights Commission the plight of millions of Agricultural workers in the Lott. . est.
- 2. Fight the use of the deportation threat as an anti-labor weapon by winning minimum wage standards and social security for all agricultural workers, regardless of citizenship status.
- 3. Win for mexican mationals the right to adjust their status to permanent residence after living here for two years and to facilitate their naturalization.
- 4. Win for exican immigrants due process in deportation proceedings, especially the right to counsel, the right to dualified interpreters, the right to hearings.

Deportations to Israel

This Conference condemns as anti-lemitic the procedure adopted by the Immigration and Naturalization dervice in ordering certain non-citizens ordered deported to make application with the government of Israel for travel accuments solely on the basis that these deportees are Jawish and without regard to whether they wish to go to Israel to live or not.

Detention Centers

During the past month, the Justice Department has instituted a program of eliminating detention centers maintained by the Immigration and Naturalization Service at Alis Island, Terminal Island, Boston, Seattle, San Francisco, and eslewhere. It is the announced intention of the Justice Department to use county jail facilities for non-citizens held in deportation or immigration proceedings.

We regard denial of bail to any non-citizen as an unwarranted deprivation of the American right to bail. We are opposed equally to non-citizens, who have committed no crime, being held in county jails in view of the general sub-human conditions prevailing in county jails in the United States. We call on the American people and their organizations to protest this policy as a cruel and harsh manner in which to treat human beings solely because of their status as non-citizens.

The Alcantra Case

Chinese Students

The Immigration and Naturalization Service has denied 40 Chinese students, residing temporarily in the United States, remmission to return to their homes and families in China. The Conference conferms this use of the provisions of the Malmer-McCarran Law in an effort to prevent the voluntary repatriation of temporary visitors or students in the United States.

Defense of the ..ights of Foreign Born !omen

Of the almost 400 non-citizens and naturalized citizens threatened in Walter-McCarran Law proceedings, there are 65 women facing deportation and 9 women facing denaturalization. Of these 63 women, five are over 70; 16 are over 60; and 28 are over 50. Six have lived in the United States for over 50 years; 40 have lived here more than 40 years. They are mothers of 116 children; 24 are granumothers and several are great-grandmothers.

These women have devoted themselves to their families and communities. Some are now ill and, at this moment of their lives when they need rest and peace, they are harassed and threatened with exile from their homes and families. It is to the everlasting shame of the Justice bepartment, whose barabrity is evidenced in its general treatment of non-citizens, that this particularly orutal and saundalous treatment of foreign-born women persists.

Vail. They were so "dangerous" that bail was genied to them, yet protests released them without bail. Peggy /ellman, of Detroit, mother of two teen-agers, was ordered to surrender for deportation to Canada in November. Her mother, are annie Hobson, of Ceattle, was ordered at the same time to surrender for deportation to England. In the meantime, David and Victoria Jellman, 14 and 12, are played in the position of having to choose to leave their home to go with their mother to Canada; or remain here with their father, who is appealing a five-year Smith Act jail sentence.

This Conference condemns the destruction of American homes and families as a result of Malter-Adarran Law proceedings. This Conference pledges to bring the unusual cruelty of women's deportations to the special attention of other organizations, urging that they join actively in the fight to repeal the Malter-McCarran Law. This Conference pledges wide distribution of this Mesolution to individuals and organizations throughout the country. This Conference urges that women's committees be organized in every area, whose purpose should be concentration on women's cases, on defense of the home, children and family and Nor repeal of the Malter-McCarran Law.

Trade Unions

A. F. of L., C. I. G., and independent unions have all roundly condemned the Walter-kcCarran Law and urget its revision or repeal. The unified demand by labor that the Walter-kcCarran Law be changed can be enaked up to a recognition by labor that this Law is an anti-labor Law, which can be wielded both to deprive labor of its most militant leadership and as a strike-breaking weapon.

Of the 400 non-citizens and naturalized citizens threatened in Walter-McCarran Law proceedings, 90 are active trade unionists - 76 facing deportation and 14 facing denaturalization. Across the country, we see flagrant persecution of trade union leaders and members: Harry Bridges, longshore; James Latte, US; Louis Weinstock, Fainters; James Lustig, US; Frank Bonetti, Teamsters; Jack Schneider, Furriers; Joe Lukas, Typographers; John Mabeshka, Shoe; Charles Gollins, Food; and many others, whose only conceivable "crime" could be their efforts to secure better working conditions for themselves and their fellow maericans.

This Conference concerns the Justice Legartment's utilization of the Walter-Mc-Carran Law to threatened and intimidate trade unionists and to seek to use it in an effort to deprive the labor movement of its most capable organizers. We pleage our full support to all trade unionists who under walter-mcCarran Law attack.

Freedom of the Press

Fifteen editors of foreign language and progressive newspapers and publications have had denaturalization or deportation proceedings initiated against them under the Walter-EcCarran Law in an effort to harass and punish them for expressing their views. We view these proceedings, in this respect, as a clear threat to the freedom of the press in the United States. Because of the clear threat these Walter-ECCarran Law proceedings contain for the American concept of freedom of the press, we register our concern and protect. We call on the Attorney General to cancel these deportation and denaturalization proceedings that endanger freedom of the press and help bolster thereby the rights of all Americans, native and foreign born.

Defend the ACrFB

For 21 years, the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born has served the American people and the cause of human liberty by defending the democratic rights of non-citizens and naturalized citizens and helping foreign-born Americans with problems resulting from their foreign birth. The program and work of the Committee has been commended and supported by Americans in all walks of life, including Franklin Lelano Roosevelt, Tendell Willkie, Cordell hull, harold Ickes, and many others. We regard the program and work of the American Committee as vital to the existence of democratic liberties in the United States.

We view with grave concern, therefore, the attempt that is being made by the attorney General to outlaw the American Committee and prevent it from carrying on its work in defense of foreign-born Americans and the Bill of Lights, we condern the Attorney General's action in petitioning the Subversive Activities Control Board to order the American Committee to register as a "communist-front" organization as an attack on the liberties of all Americans.

It is our feeling that these proceedings are an attempt by the Attorney General to eliminate the organization because it defends the rights of non-citizens and naturalized citizens against whom the Attorney General has initiated Malter-WcCarran Law proceedings. We are aware of the fact that the Attorney General has announced his intention to deport 12,000 non-citizens and denaturalize 10,000 citizens. It is our opinion that the Attorney General seats to outlaw the American Committee in order to make possible the success of his widespread attack on the Bill of mights as represented in these 22,000 proceedings.

We resolve to defend to the limit the right of the uncrican Committee to carry on its work. We pledge our complete support for the Committee in its defense against the Attorney General's fantactic charges. We pledge also to rally all forces we can to protest against these unjustified processings.

We call on the attorney General to withcraw the petition he has filed with the Subversive Activities Control Board in the case of the american Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. We call on all organizations and individuals to protest against these proceedings.

ose Chernin

ars. Rose Chernin, executive director of the Los angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, has been convicted under the Lmith act and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. She is awithing appeal of her case. Simultaneously, she has been fighting a Lalter-LoCarran haw attempt to deprive her of her citizenship. It is obvious that these persentions of Lms. Chernin lerive from outstanding leadership and unceasing fight in defense of foreign-born Americans. This Conference condemns the unwarranted persecution of Loss Chernin and pleages its support to her fight to preserve her citizenship and to prevent her imprisonment.

Saul Grossman

Saul. Grossman, executive secretary of the Michigan Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, has been convicted of contempt of Congress for his refusal to turn the books and records of his Committee over to the House Committee on Un-American activities. He is now appealing the one-year jail sentenced imposed on him.

There is no coubt that this attempt to imprison Saul Crossman is based on his leadership of the Michigan Committee and his devotion to the protection of the rights of foreign-born dericans.

This Conference commends Saul Grossman for his churage and fortitude in withholding the names of hundreds of contributors to the inferest of the rights of the foreign born since their livelihood hould be journized. This Conference pledges its support to the fight to reverse Saul Grossman's conviction, which is now pending before the Feormal Court of appeals in the District of Columbia.

Pational Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans New York - December 11 and 12, 1954

REPORT

Abner Green, Executive Secretary
American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born

We are gathered in this Netional Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans at the call of one hundred prominent leaders in all walks of American life, who join in sponsoring this Conference because they feel keenly the urgs need to guarantee repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law in 1955 and adequate defense of the rights of wittims of the Law until such time as it is repealed.

During the period in which this Conference was organized certain events contributed to influencing in a positive manner the public atmosphere in which we meet. In November, the /merican people registered some decisive set-backs for reactionary elements at the polls in Michigan, Pennsylvania, California, New York, and elsewhere. Than deys ago, as a result of the puople's demand for action, the United States Senate condemned Serator McCarthy.

On the eve of this Conference, just two days ago, the Justice Department was forced to announce ebendonment of its policy of holding non-citizens in county jails as a result of widespread criticism and protest.

These and other developments reflect a growing public awareness of the dangers to civil rights and to peace inherent in the reactionary campaigns of hysteria and intolerance emanating from McC-rthyite sources in Congress and in the administration.

Reaction, however, seeks to maintain its attack on civil liberties and, if possible, intensify every phase of the attack in order to disrupt and paralyze the rising strength of the democratic forces.

In the District of Columbia and elecwhere, fifteen American citizens face trial on the charge of contempt of Congress. Legislation now on the statute books seeks to outlaw the Communist Party and to deprive American citizens framed under the Smith Act of their American citizenship. In New York Colorado, Texas, California, and Washington, labor leaders are being framed on so-called violations of the Taft-Hartley Law. More than one hundred Americans face jail in Smith Act frame-up, and Irving Potash who completed a five-year jail sentence on Thursday is taken into custody again to stand trial on the charge of membership in the Communist Party, for which he faces a second Smith Act frame-up and a second five-year term.

Fourteen million foreign-born mericans find that the attack on their demooratic rights is being intensified in the same manner as it is against all other sections of the American people.

The Justice Department has a ready vehicle for seeking to undermine the people's unity in the racist, discriminatory, police-state provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law. Despite the clearly-stated opposition of a majority of the American people to the Walter-McCarran Law, the Justice Department tries to implement its provisions and to strip naturalized citizens and non-citizens of all of their rights.

But, we gather to consider the defense of the rights of foreign-born Americans in an atmosphere that offers excellent opportunities to rally and etimulate to action new and ever more important forces in the fight to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law. We gather in an atmosphere that provides unprecedented possibilities to win many more allies, and stimulate parallel movements, in the fight to preserve the civil and human rights of fourteen million foreign-born Americans.

One indication of the possibilities that exist for developing effective public defense of the rights of the foreign born and its relationship to repeal of the Law is reflected in the aditorial position adopted during the past month by the New York Times. Just this week, on December 6th, a New York Times editorial posed a question that is directed to the heart of our deliberations have this week-ond. The Times asked: "Are aliens second-class human beings without the protection from abuses that should be everyones' right?"

With the Walter-McCarran Law in operation the answer to that question is, "Yes, three million nun-citizens in the United States today are regarded by Congress, by administration officials and by the Federel courts as 'second-class human beings.'"

The Times, in its editorial made another statement of great significance to this conference when it said that this is a "a fundamental question that demands the decisive answer that only action can give..."

This Conference is one of the democratic forces in American life today that will formulate its "decisive ancwer" wer this week-end in the program of action we adopt for reveal of the Welter-McChron Law and defense of its victims.

Fourteen million people living in the United States are foreign born. Together with their twenty-six million native-born children, the comprise 25% of the total population of the United States. Attacks on the rights of these fourteen million foreign-born Americans - with which this Conference is concerned - are both legal and political in character. But they affect not alone the foreign born against whom they are estensibly directed. Every American is effected. Our rights, our living standards, and our welfare are undermined by attacks on the rights of foreign-born Americans.

We proceed first to consider the status and rights of non-citizens as they are effected by the Walter-McCarran Law and by the manner in which the Justice Department seeks to implement the many revised we provisions of the Law. Three million non-citizens are placed by the Law in a special category that stigmatizes them and subjects them to endless herassment and intimidation at the hands of the Justice Department.

Non-citizens have been registered and fingerprinted like common criminals. They must carry on their person at all times their Alien Registration Card. Once a year, during Jenuary, they must report their current address to the itterney General in writing. If they change their address during the year, they must notify the Justice Department within ten days.

Non-citizens can be arrested without warrants. They can be deported, regardless of how many years they have lived here, on any one of one hundred and twenty-five grounds. They have been deprived - and are being denied - freedom of speech, freedom of belief, freedom to associate with whomever they please.

If arrested in deportation proceedings, they can be held without bail. In deportation proceedings, any charges which a non-citizen fails to deny are assumed to be true since an inference - of guilt - is drawn against the non-citizen who fails: to deny a charge.

In considering the status of three million non-citizens, we are faced with the inescapible conclusion that the Walter-EkCarran Law seeks to make them something even less than "second-class human beings."

Report - 3

The most extreme and shocking illustration of this fact is to be observed in the manner in which the Justice Department treats Mexican communities in the United States. During June, the Justice Department carried out mass raids in the Mexican communities of Los Angeles. Homes were broken into during the early hours of the morning and Mexican residents torn from their families. Mexican residents were arrested at their places of work, or stopped on a city street, or removed from buses in transit.

Mexican immigrants, arrested without warrants in these mass raids, were thrown into a concentration camp, processed and summarily deported - dumped over the border into Mexico - without any deportation hearings, without any opportunity to defend themselves, without any opportunity to secure legal advice or legal assistance, and - in many instances - without even the opportunity to see their wives or husbands and children before being deported.

The treatment of Mexicans by the Justice Department exposes its callous disregard of democratic procedure, of human dignity, and the rights of people.

We emphasize what the New York Times stated in its editorial of December 6th the decisive answer is action. Other newspapers are joining in the demand for action, as reflected by an editorial in the St. Louis Post-Dispetch on November 22nd, which condemned these police-state provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law, calling them burdensome demands on law-abiding people," and urging Congress to act in January to alleviate this burden.

We must fight to re-establish the democratic and constitutional rights of noncitizens in the United States; to win back their right to bail; to end the Gestapo pass system, annual reporting end registration procedures, to stop the endless raids of Mexican communities and the mass deportations to Mexico.

Simultaneously we must win for non-citizens the simple human right of residence in the country of which they are an integral part. This means the fullest possible development of protest campaigns against the deportation of non -citizens, which can at the same time help win greater support for the campaign to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law.

In the fight against deportation, important cases are now pending in the Federal courts in California, Michigan, and Washington. The case of David Hyun, 36-year-old architect of Los Angeles, is now before the Court of Appeals in San Francisco. Hyun, father of two children and husband of an umerican citizen, faces deportation and certain death in South Korea. Prominent individuals in all parts of the country have joined in protesting Hyun's threatened deportation to South Korea. Indicating the character of the public interest shown in the Hyun case was an editorial in the 3 n Francisco Chronicle, of September 7th, declaring that Hyun's "deportation (to South Korea) would appear unthinkable and illegal."

In October, Peggy Wellman, of Detroit, was ordered to surrender for immediate deportation to Canada and only an appeal in the Federal courts prevented the Justice Department from deporting her at that time. What would happen to Mrs. Wellman's two young children? Her husband, Saul Wellman, has been sentenced to serve five years on a Smith Act frame-up. While sending the father to jail and the mother to Canada, the Justice Department is completely callous to the problems faced by 14-year-old David Wellman and 12-year-old Victoria Wellman.

At about the same time that Peggy Wellman was ordered to surrender for deportation to Canada, her 70-year-old mother, Mrs. Annie Hobson, of Seattle, Washington, was ordered to surrender for deportation to England. Only an appeal to the Federal courts prevented the Justice Department from sending Mrs. Hobson to England immediately. This despite the fact that Mrs Hobson is 70 years old, has lived in the United States for 41 years, and despite the fact that her only relations in the world are her children - Mrs Wellman, in Detroit, and two sons - both American-born citizens - in Seattle.

DUME U T

The manner in which the deportation laws are administered and their effect on people and on Americans families is one of the most inhuman and barbaric aspects of American life today. No rationale - other than sheer brutality, could possible justify this treatment of people who have lived in this country all their lives and who have made, each in his or her own way, such outstanding contributions to the limited States.

The results of this drive were artly characterized as "human tragedies" by Umited States Senator Herbert H. Lehman when he condemned deportations for "breaking up homes, destroying lives, and flinging human victims eside with the unfeeling deliberateness of a bulldozer."

To date, 340 non-citizens have been arrested in political deportation proceedings. Sixty-three are women - mothers and grandnothers and even great grand-mothers. Many of those arrested for deportation are more than seventy years old. One non-citizen, Francesco Costa, of Rochester, New York, faces deportation to Italy although 63 years old. Many of those arrested have lived in this country for forty and fifty years.

William Heikkila, of San Francisco, faces deportation to Finland although he was brought to this country when he was three months old and has lived here for the past 43 years.

Mrs. Tora Rystad, of Seattle, faces deportation to Norway although her mother and grandmother were both born in the state of Minnesote. Her mother married in Norway while there on a visit and lost her United States citizenship as a result. Mrs. Rystad, therefore, is not a citizen.

Cas Santes, of Pittsburgh, is 67 years old and has lived in the United States for 40 years. His two daughters and son are native born American citizens. But, Cas Santes faces separation from his family at the age of 67 and certain death if deported to Greece.

Leon Callow, of Niles, Chio, is the father and sole support of nine-American born children. And, even as Leon Callow faces imminent deportation to Greece - any day - his oldest son, 19-yeer-old Carl Callow, wears the uniform of the United States Army since September when he was drafted.

Each person arrested in deportation proceedings can tell a special story. At this time, however, cases such as those of D vid Hyun, Peggy Wellman and Annie Hobson provide us with an organity to expose dramatically the meaning of the Wilter-McGarran Lay to the Merican people and to carry a successful fight to save these non-citizens from the threatened destruction of their American homes.

Equally vicious is the policy developed in recent years by the Justice Department on the basis of which it holds non-citizens imprisoned for indefinite periods of time without bail. Frenk Yhanez, a native of Cuba and a resident of the United States for 29 years, was arrested in deportation proceedings on November 18 and has been held without bail since. Yhanez, husband of an American citizen, is a member of the AFL Bakers Union, Local 1, and a former editor of the Local's newspaper.

Even more outrageous is the treatment of H-rry Chew, e native of China, seamen and husband of an American citizen, who is threatened with imprisonment for life since he has been ordered excluded and, in view of the decision by the Supreme Court in the Mezei case, can be held without bail for life. During 1952, 1953 and 1954, Chew was held at Ellis Island for two years and four months, then released by order of the District Court. But, in July 1954, Chew was returned to custody in view of the Supreme Court's latest decision and he has been held without bail since.

At the same time, there are many non-citizens who cannot be deported since no country will accept them as deportees. They left their countries of birth forty and fifty years ago. They are citizens of no country, after having lived most of their lives in the United States. While the W-lter-McCarran Lew authorized the Attorney General to send deportees to any country that will accept them, there is no country to which they can go and these non-citizens will in all probability live here for the rest of their lives.

The Walter-McCarran Law provides, however, that they are to live under Supervisory P-role. Supervisory Parole is an attempt to force these non-citizens to live in what would amount to a self-imposed jail or concentration camp for the rest of their lives. their Supervisory P-role, non-citizens must report to the Justice Department in person once a month, give information under cath as to their associations and activities, submit to psychiatric and medical examination, have nothing to do with any person or organization that the Attorney General regards as "subversive," not travel outside a radius of 50 miles from their homes.

Therefore, not only would a non-citizen have to walk around with a tape measure to be sure not to go out side the 50-miles zone, but, before talking to engone, he must find out first whether that person is "aubversive." Almost 24,000 non-citizens are today forced to live under these police-state conditions and many thousands more similarly threatened.

A major test of the constutionality of Supervisory P-role is now pending before the United States Supreme Court. The test is based on the Supervisory Parole conditions imposed on 14 non-citizens defended by the New York Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. Full support for this appeal is of prime importance because of its affect on the rights of all non-citizens as well as in the fight against the Walter-McCarren Lew.

All of these endless regulations and innumerable restrictions on their conduct is not only burdensome for the average non-citizen but dangerous as well. If a non-citizen fails to report inis address to the Attorney General during January, he has committed a crime for which he can be sent to jail for three months - and then suffer automatic deportation.

It taxes credulity to have to understand and appreciate what are regarded as criminal offenses, punishable by jail sentences, in the United States under the Walter-McCarren L.w - failure to cerry an Alien Registration C.rd on one's person, failure to notify the Attorney General of a change of address within ten days, failure to report to the Attorney General during Jenuary. These are all crimes.

A non-citizen on Supervisory Parole who violates any of the parole conditions - such as not travelling outside of a radius of 50 miles - commits a crime for which the penalty is one year in jail. At the same time, this ais a double-edged sword suspended over the heads of three million non-citizens in the United States. Any non-citizen might be framed and railroaded to jail and deported by the Justice Department on a trumped-up charge of failing to comply with any one of this multitude of orders, regulations and restrictions.

Suppose a non-citizen fills out and submits his Annual Report to the Attorney General in January. Or, suppose a non-citizen moves and sends proper notice to the Attorney General. How is a non-citizen going to prove non-wiolation of the Law if the Justice Department comes into Court to say that no report or notice was received?

Report - 6

Last month, Mike Gates, of Philadelphie, war veteran father of two children, was sentenced to serve eix months in a Federal penitentiary for alleged failure to report his address to the Attorney General during January 1952 and 1953. All that the Justice Department did to prove its case was to semd its representatives to the trial to testify that a search of records in Washington failed to disclose any report of these two years from Mike Gates. He was found guilty and faces going to jail unless we can defeat this frame-up in the appeal now pending before the Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

Judging by the penalty, the most serious crime a non-citizen can commitmore serious than smuggling, or counterfeiting, or dope peddling - is to fail to cooperate enthusiastically and fully in carrying out his or her own deportation after being ordered deported. For this - the crime of living in the United States - a noncitizen can be sent to jail for ten years.

I imagine that, at this point, some delegate to this Conference is going to say to himself that, while everything else I said may have been true, it is impossible that a person could be sent to jail for ten years for the fantastic crime of living in the United States.

First of all, how could living in the United States be a crime? Then, what jury would ever convict anyone and what judge would sentence a person to ten years in fall for not deporting himself?

Rnut Heikkinen, of Superior, Wisconsin, was ordered deported to Finland on April 9, 1952. On April 30, 1952, the Immigration and Naturalization Service sent Enut Heikkinen a letter in which they stated, in part: "Arrangements to effect your deportation... are being made and when completed you will be notified when and where to present yourself for deportation."

In accordance with this statement, Knut Heikkinen waited to hear from the Service. In October 1953, the United States Attorney in Medison, Wisconsin, had Knut Heikkinen indicted.

The Walter-McCarran Law provides that non-citizen must make some efforts within six menths after a final order of deportation to secure documents needed for their deportation. Decause he waited to hear from the Service, Enut Heikkinen was charged with having committed a crime. Among the meny things the Heikkinen case illustrates, the most obvious seems to be that it is a mistake for any non-citizen to ever listen to the Service or the Justice Department. It is adviseble that the non-citizen elways check what the Service says with an attorney or organization.

In April 1954, Knut Heikkinen went on trial in Wausau, Wisconsin. One would imagine that any judge or jury, hearing the facts, would throw the Justice Department out of court because of the obvious frame-up it was trying to pull. But, Knut Heikkinen works for the enti-fascist daily Finnish-American newspeper, "Tyomics-Etempain." He had been ordered deported for past membership in the Communist Party.

The jury found Knut Heikkinen guilty of violating the self-deportation provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law. The judge sentenced Knut Heikkinen, at the age of 64, to serve ten years in a Federal penitentiary.

If the constitutionality of this section of the Law, now being tested in the Reikkinen appeal pending before the Court of appeals in Chicago, is sustained, it will expose many non-citizens to similar frame-ups and endless harassment at the hands of Justice Department officials.

Report - 7

For instance, on Rovember 16, a hearing officer in Cleveland, Ohio, ordered Joe Lukas, after Lithmania had refused to issue a passport for him, to make from sevent to ten applications for travel documents. The hearing officer told Lukas, who as born in Lithmania and has lived all of his life in the United States, that he should apply to the countries having colonies in Advice, the countries of Central and Bouth America, the countries of the Southwest Pacific, and to Australia. The hearing officer threatened Lucas that, unless he made from seven to ten applications for travel documents, he would be indicted and sent to jail for ten years.

Threats of jail are a routine occurrence in the life of the non-citizen who is forced to deal with the Immigration and Maturalization Service, since intimidation and terror is an integral perc of the atmosphere engendered by the police-state provisions of the Walter-McC rran law.

Still another fantastic provision of the Walter-McCarran Law is being tested in a case now pending before the Court of Appeals in San Francisco. Alec Alcantra was born in the Philippine Islands 47 years ago. He came to the United States in 1928 and has lived here for the past 26 years. On May 28, 1953, he went to Alaska to work in the salmon conneries as he had been doing during the previous ten years. On August 6, 1953, at the end of the canning season, when Alcantra returned to Seattle the immigration authorities ordered him excluded from the United States on the basis of some minor offence committed during the 1930 decreasion years.

Actually, Alcantra never left the United States. He travelled from Seattle to Alaska, which is a part of the United States, and from Alaska back to Seattle. He had been doing this for the years before the Walter-McCarran Law was pessed without ever having any trouble on returning to Seattle. The Walter-McC-rran Law provides, however, that when a non-citizen comes to the mainland from a territory or possession - like Hawaii or Alaska - it is as though he were coming to the United States for the first time, is to be examined as though he were an immigrant, can be ordered embluded for any reason whatsoever and, if ordered embluded, can be immediately deported to his country of birth.

The Walter-McCarran Law, in effect, makes Hawaii and clasks foreign countries. This provision is an obvious asportation trap. Dick H-ymes, the singer, was caught in this same trap when, in 1933, he went to Hawaii to visit his future wife, Rita Hayworth, and on his return was ordered excluded and deported to his native Argentins.

This tricky provision of the Walter-McCarran Law affects many thousands of non-citizens, especially same 2,000 Filipino members of the Alaska Cannery Workers Union, ILMU, Local 37, who go to Alaska each year for the canning seasonin order to earn a living.

The Federal District Court in Seattle sustained Algentra' explusion and deportation and an appeal was taken to the Court of Appals in San Francisco, where the case is now pending.

Deportations and frame-ups are not the only problems facing non-citizens as a result of the Walter-McCarran Law. A large number of non-citizens encounter unnecessary difficulties in secting to become American citizens as a result of the witch-hunt atmosphere that prevals at the Immigration and Naturalization Service and endless delays and red-tape as a result of the provision requiring thorough investigation of each applicant for citizenship.

The serious difficulties created for non-citizens who try to become American citizens is perhaps typified by the political bias expressed in a recent case in which the Justice Department opposed the naturalization of a non-citizen on the ground that his "loyalty to the United States was under suspicion because he worked in the Office of War Information (for the United States government during the second World War) in which there were a great many Communists."

We have cutlined the problems faced by three million non-citizens - an important section of those with whom this National Conference to Defend the Rights of Foreign Born Americans is concerned.

Clearly, the question posed by the New York Times - as to whether non-citizens are "second-class human beings" can be answered only in the affirmative since that is the status forced upon the non-citizen by the many repressive provisions of the Walter-McGarran Law

The second group- eleven million naturalized American citizens - find their rights under serious attack.

To date five naturalized citizens, all in Michigan, have had their citizenship revoked and, in three cases last month, the Supreme Court refused to hear the appeal. Move than 60 other citizens in nine states are in court defending their citizenship in denaturalization proceedings. One case which has received already widespread notice is that of Earry Bridges, profident of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. After 20 years of unsuccessfully trying to deport Bridges, and after one unsuccessful attempt to frame him and send him to jail for five years, the Justice Department is moving to revoke Bridges' citizenship as a prejude to a third attempt at deporting him to Australia.

The case of Harry Bridges is one of those which exposes the manner in which the Justice Department uses the Walter-McCarran Law for anti-labor purposes, seeking to undermine and destroy a trade union leader because of his adherence to progressive and democratic principles of trade union leadership.

Another trade unionist facing denaturalization is Charles Collins, of New York, former leader of the AFL Hotel and Club Workers Union. Collins, a citizen since 1999, has lived in the United States since 1924, when he came here from the Pritish West Indies.

In Detroit, a decision in the denaturalization case of Stanley Nowak has been awaited since conclusion of his denaturalization trial in September. Howak, one of the founders of Ford Local 600, of the UWA-CIO, was elected a member of the Michigan State Senate on the Democratic Party ticket for five terms and over the years has been an outstanding leader in the Polish-American community of Detroit and elaborate.

A fourth denaturalization case of special importance is that of Paul Motick, editor of the Jewish daily nowspaper, "The Morning Freiheit," since his case represents the manner in which the Justice Department uses the Walter-McCarran Lew to attack the freedom of the cress.

On November 11, in a speech to newly-naturalized citizens, Attorney Coneral Brownell stated that, "United States citizenship is priceless. It is a heritage of the freedom loving peoples of all ages." The Attorney Coneral than told the new citizens that, "From this day hence, you stand on an equal footing with all the citizens of this unique Republic."

Perhaps we should be used to meaningless generalities from the Attorney General. But, such obvious misstatements of legal fact is really beneath the dignity of the chief legal officer of the United States. Under the Walter-McCurran Law, naturalized citizens are not on an equal footingwith native born citizens. The Walter-McCurran Law seriously undermines the right of naturalized citizens to their American citizenship.

Remort - 9

The new citizens to whom the Attorney Ceneral spoke so glowingly on November II are not American citizens in the full sense of the word. They have been given their citizenship on sufference. Any one of them would lose citizenship if, within the next ten years, he or she is found to be guilty of contempt of a committee of Congress; any one of them would lose citizenship if, within the next five years, any one of them joins an organization that the Attorney General regards as "subversive."

Even while the Attorney General spoke, his Department of Justice was preparing new denaturalization proceedings against American citizens and trying to figure out ways to convince the Supreme Court to sustain the W-lter-McCarran Lw's denaturalization provisions and to reverse its 1943 decision in defense of the rights of naturalized citizens in the Schneiderman case.

Just as in the case of non-citizens, where the Walter-McCarran Law makes residence impermenent, it makes United States citizenship impermenent. Just as in the case of non-citizens, where the Law leaves determination of a person's right to live here up to the whim of petty officials, it gives these same officials control over a person's right to continue to be an American citizen.

This attempt to create second-class citizens of naturalized Americans is akin to the attempt to make second-class human beingsof non-citizens. The seriousness of this deportation and denoturalization drive is reflected in one way by the increased numbers of people threatened with the growth of the Justice Department's hysteris.

In 1946, when the attack on the rights of foreign-born Americans was launched, the Justice Department announced that it would deport 124 non-citizens on political grounds. No mention was made in 1946 of any denaturalizations.

In 1950, a Justice Department official announced that there were planned 3,000 political deportations and 1,000 denaturalizations.

In 1953, the Attorney General stated, that, under the Walter-McC rran Law, the Justice Department would deport 12,000 non-citizens and denaturalize 10,000 naturalized American citizens.

What will the figure be next year, or the year after?

It is impossible to speculate about numbers and difficult when those numbers represent untold suffering and hardship for thousands of Americans and their families. But, we have no desire to speculate. It is our intention to forge a program here this week-end that will mean an end to these horassments, an end to the persecution of honest and decent Americans, and repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

We are determined to guarantee that every victim of the W-lter-McCarran Law receives adequate court and public defense. For us, defense of the rights of non-citizens and neturalized citizens is a daily responsibility. We feel that every person victimized under the Walter-McCarran L-w is entitled to, and must receive, full defense of his or her rights. That is one of the basis principles guiding the work of our Committee in the 22 years of its existence.

We look upon the defense of the rights of foreign-born /mericans not only as important in itself but of special importance elso in view of the opportunity to expose drawnically the menner in which the law threatens individuals and families which can give greater substance to the fight for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

Report - 10

In considering the status of foreign-born Americans, it is necessary to examine the role of the government agency responsible for dealing with immigrants the Department of Destine and its Immigration and Maturalization Service. The immigration and Maturalization Service has direct contact with three million non-citizens, and therefore, should be exceedingly sensitive to people's needs and problems. Its personnel should be of the highest calibre, trained to perform their cuties as a Service agency of the government. The atmosphere that prevails among Service personnel is obviously effected by proceedings such as those now pending in Seattle, Weshington, against an immigration inspector who is being given a "loyalty" hearing on the sole charge that relatives in Idaho are supposed to be members of the Communist Party.

But, even more serious is the change that has been effected in the character of these responsible for administering the work of the Service. In the past, the Commissioner of Landgration and Naturalization has usually been someone acquainted with its functions or has had some experience in social welfare work.

In April, Commissioner Argle Endey, who had many years of experience as a career worker in the Service, was eased out of his job. A new Commissioner was appointed and on key 18th was contirmed by the United States Senate. The new Commissioner elo had years of experience working for the United States government. In fact, he had 40 years experience - in the United States Argy. As a retired Lieutenant General, Joseph Swing may have been qualified to deal with soldiers and perhaps to rum an army but his qualifications for dealing humanely with the problems of non-citizens are open to serious question.

In fact, immediately after taking office as Commissioner in M-y, General Swing supervised personally the carrying out of a military offensive against one section of the 'merican people - in the mass raids and mass devortations directed against the Moxican community in Los ngeles.

Then, on August 2nd, the President appointed as an Assistant to the Commissioner a man with 25 years of experience of working for the United States government - but also only in the United States Army. Serving as Assistant to the Commissioner is Nafor General Frank P-tridge, retired.

These two appointments can mean only an attempt to militarize the personnel and the functions of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. One development this month appears to continue this trend. On December 3, the Justice Department ennounced the details of a general reorganization of the Service. The Service is to be decentralized with four regional heedquarters. The reorganization of the Service appears to follow military lines of command and responsibility. But, obvicuely, policy in this instence is a great deal more important than form of organization. And, while the Service is being reorganized, its policy - which needs change more than did the organization form - appearently is to remain the same.

As a result of the policy pursued during the past eight years of deportation hysteria, the general character of the Service's work and activities have been altered in a dangerous menner. In fact, the 'Service" is no longer a Service. It is today and has been for some time an arm of the Justice Department, which is the law enforcement agency of the government.

Today, the Service is much more of an investigating and prosecuting agency than it is a Service. The Service has some 7,500 people on its staff. Roughly, this breaks down to 2,000 inspectors, 2,500 clerks, 1,000 custodial and security officers, 500 supervisors, and 1,000 investigators. One of the most important functions carried out by the Service, from the Justice Department's point of view, is the gathering of information about non-citizens and citizens, as well. The Service has become in reality on FBI functioning exclusively for the legal and political supervision and control of foreign born Americans.

Now, the appointment of retired Army generals to run the Service indicates a greater trend eway from the functions for which the Service was organized and even less possibility that the Service might contribute to the strengthening of our democracy and the rights of foreign-born Americans.

One recent development emphasizes this trend. At a time when the government is spending billions of dollars - a great deal of it for very questionable purposes at home and abroad - the Justice Department becomes economy minded. At a time when the budget of the Immigration and N turalization Service in 1954 is 42 million dollars, higher than at any time in its history; when more than six million dollars are spent each year on investigators and investigations, on maintening a private stable of stool-pigeons and informers and professionals - in reality just plain professionals at living off the government because at one time they may have been members of the Communist Party and now devote all of their time - at a price - to fabricate stories about non-citizens and naturalized citizens - naturally the Justice Department becomes economy-minded. Look at all of the taxpayers' money it is wasting, and worse, using for anti-democratic purposes.

But, where does the Justice Department decide to cut expenses? Does it fire a few hundred unneeded investigators? Does it get rid of a few of its highly paid so-called Communist experts? No. in the interests of so-called economy, the Justice Department decides to increase the hardship and worsen the lot of certain non-citizens by closing its detention centers at Ellis Island, Terminel Island, San Frencisco, Hawaii, Seattle, and Boston. En November 11, the Attorney General made this program public and emphasized that this would mean a saving of one million dollars to the government.

If the Attorney General had said in addition that the Justice Department would no longer hold non-citizens without bail, we would say that this is an extremely worthwhile saving. But non-citizens held without bail were to be imprisoned in county jails. It would appear at this time that the elimination of Ellis Island and other detention centers has nothing at all to do with economy or saving the government money. It is a dangerous step in the direction of worsening the treatment of non-citizens held in custody. There is a moried difference between the living and health standards that prevailed at Ellis Island and those that exist in county jails. Similarly, in relation to food, cutdoor exercise, regulations, and the general atmosphere.

Actually, county jails were never intended as places where people should be imprisoned for any extended periods of time. If there was any economy in this move, it was recommy at the cost of human lives, it was economy instituted in spite of the obvious threat to the welfare of non-citizens. It is impossible to believe that the Attorney General and the Justice Department were unaware of the conditions that provail in county jails, in the United States, which of course emphasizes their callous disregard for the welfare of human beings.

This is clearly evidenced in the case of Jose Ocon, of Los Angeles, Ocon, ordered deported to Mexico, appealed his case to the Federal courts, where it is now pending. It may take two years before a final decision is made in his case. At first, he was held on Terminal Island. On November 1, he was moved from Terminal Island to the Los Angeles County Jail. Jose Ocon, however, is in poor health, has a history of tuberculosis, and imprisonment in the county Jail jeopardizes his life.

The transfer of non-citizens to county jails in New York resulted in vigorous protests and condemention by prominent Americans, such as Pearl Buck, noted author and lecturer, and New York State Covernor-elect Averill Harriman; by the Americans Civil Liberties Union, and by the New York Times. As a result of this storm of protest, the Justime Department ennounced in Washington on December 9 that "under no circumstances may alien detainess any longer be placed in jail." lasteed, the Justice Department has taken over the Empire Hotel, in New York City, to house population detainess.

The Justice Department was to have notified all district directors of this new policy. But, as of yesterday morning, Jose Ocon was still being held in the Los Angeles County Jail. It is our responsibility to fight for Jose Ocon's removal from the county jail and to fight to win bail for his immediate release after two months imurisonment in a rotten county jail environment.

The Service's attitude to people and to their rights reflects the police mentality influence of the Justice Department. When the Service was transferred from the Labor Department to the Justice Department in M-y, 1940, President Roosevelt, in his message to Congress proposing the reorganization, expressed serious hesitation and reluctance, stating that "much can be said for the retention of these functions in the Department of Labor during normal times." President Roosevelt stated also that, "this proposal does not reflect any intention to deprive (non-citizens) of their civil liberties or otherwise impair their legal status."

President Roosevelt's hesitations were well-founded and his intentions were speedily forgotten by the Justice Department in the course of its deportation hysteria. Today, remowal of the Immigration and Raturalization Service from the Justice Department, removing it from the atmosphere of investigation and prosecution and direct influence of the FBI, is one of the objectives which must be achieved in the fight to re-establish the democratic rights of non-citizens and defend the liberties of naturalized @morfora citizens.

While the general assaulton the rights of the foreign born is widespread and exceedingly serious, it is countered to some degree by the many activities for mosel of the Walter-McCarran Law and campaigns for defense of the rights of victims of the Law in public and in the courts. It should be clear that the best possible protection we can win for the rights of foreign born americans in this period is repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law. Undoubtedly, the Justice Department will seek to prevent any changes in the Law despite the fact that President Elsenhower is on record supporting revision of the Law in statements made during the 1952 election campaign and in 1953 in response to public protest against the Law.

On April 6, 1953, the President sent a letter to Senator W tkins indicating certain changes needed in the Law and stating that study of the Law's provisions was needed. But, study of the Law's provisions is not needed. During the past 22 years there have been innumerable studies of the immigration and naturalization laws of the United States. In 1931, the Wickersham Committee, appointed by the President, studied the immigration laws and made a special report. In 1934, the Committee on Ellis Island studied the law and made a special report. In 1942, the House Committee on Immigration, under the chairmanship of Representative Samuel Dickstein, studied the immigration laws and made a special report as the result of which the law was codified. In 1943, the Senate Judiciary Committee started a three-year study of the immigration laws, which served as the basis for passage of the Walter-McCarran Law, 1952.

During October 1952, the President's Commission on Immigration and Naturalization, composed of outstanding and prominent citizens, heard the testimony of 600 witnesses in 11 cities across the country and made an exhaustive study of the provisions of the Walter-McCarren Law - as a resit of which it issued a occumrehensive report on January 1, 1953.

Then, in April 1953, President Eisenhower talks about the need to study the provisions of the Law. Any proposal to study the provisions of the Law is an obvious memousever to postpone and thereby descat any changes or even repeal of the Law.

Report - 13

The extent to which reaction will go to prevent Congressional consideration of changes in the Law was illustrated by the successful conspiracy in the 83rd Congress that prevented public hearings from being held, or any consideration being a given to the Lehman-Celler Bill even though it was sponsored by 32 members of Congress.

But a new Congress meets in January 1955. Sitting as members of the 84th Congress in January will be one hundred Congressmen - 79 in the House of Representatives and 21 in the United States Senate - who were members of Congress in June 1952 and voted to sustain President Trumman's veto of the Welter-McCarren Law.

In addition, at least five members of the new Congress who were not in Congress in June 1952 committed themselves to work for repeal or revision of the Law during the recent election camesian.

These 105 Congressmen can serve as a force in Congress to express the people's determination to repeal or revise the Walter-McCarran Law in 1955.

One additional force that can be won to support the fight for repeal of the Law is local and State legislative bodies. These legislatures can adopt memorials to Congress calling on Congress to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law. Such memorials were adopted by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1953 and by the City Council of Philadelphic in 1954. Each state legislature and every local legislature can be gotten to adopt such Memorials to Congress and help swell thereby the public eampaign for repeal.

The demand for repeal or revision of the Law is greater today than at any time since its emactment. During the past few months organizations that have gone on record as opposed to the Law included the California State Grange, the Methodist Federation for Social Action, the International Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of the AFL, the 1954 Convention of the CIO, and the 40th Annual Convention of Hadassah. After a two-year study, the California Bar Association went on record for basic changes in the Law.

This Conference is a part of that broad people's movement that has as its goal winning for the United States a new immigration law in keeping with our history and traditions - a democratic and non-discriminatory law. In fighting for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law, we propose that this Conference adopt a five point program which should serve as a guide for the kind of provisions we would like to see incorporated in a democratic immigration law. We propose the following program for your consideration:

- 1. Any non-citizen who has lived in the United States for two years or more, if entry was in accordance with law, should be permitted to become an American citizen by appearing in Open Court and taking an oath of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States.
- 2. Any non-citizen who has lived in the United States for five years or more should not be threatened with deportation for any reason whatsoever.
- 3. A naturalized citizen should not be threatened with cancellation of citizenship for any reason whatsoever, unless it was obtained by clear fraud; and then only if denaturalization proceedings are initiated within five years of the granting of naturalization.
- 4. Immigration should be permitted without discrimination as to country of birth, race, color, creed, or political belief, with full utilization of the established quota.

Report - 14

5. At no time should a non-citizen be denied the protection of any provision of the Bill of Rights, especially those sections dealing with the right to bail and freedom of belief, speech and association.

We feel that these five points should serve as an excellent basis for bringing home to the American people the kind of immigration law we would like to see excepted:

To more effectively support our fight for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law, we propose that this Conference authorize the convening of a N-tional Legislative Conference in Washington, D. C., during the month of March 1955.

Several aspects of the Justice Department's implementation of the Walter-McC-rran Lew provisions as it affects certain sections of the American people are of special concern to this Conference.

The deportation and denaturalization provisions of the Law are being used by the Justice Department for obvious anti-labor purposes, as illustrated by the cases of Harry Bridges, Charles Collins, James Lustig, and many others. Of those arrested in deportation proceedings, more than 76 are active members and leaders of AFL, CIO and independent unions. Of those threatened with deneturalization, 14 are active trade-unionists.

Similarly in respect to the foreign-language press, the Justice Department uses the Lew to haress and threaten independent labor and progressive newspaper workers and editors, such as John Steuben, Cedric Belfrage and Faul Novick. Sixteen newspaper workers - reporters, writers and editors - face deportation or denaturalization.

One other aspect of the Justice Department's implementation of the Walter-McCarran Law of special concern to this Conference is its racist and discriminatory expression. The immigration provisions, in their political content, discriminate against all democratic-minded people in the world, and in their quots sections, discriminate intentionally against the people of Southern and Eastern Europe and, in a racist menner, against the people of the Far East.

The racism that is so much a part of the Walter-McCarran Law is typified by the treatment of the Negro people in the British West Indies. Although Great Britain has an annual quote of 65,000, the British West Indies, who inhabitants should enter under the annual quote of 55,000, is restricted by the Law to no more than 100 a year. The racism in the Law is compounded by the manner in which the Justice Department treats immigrants from the West Indies, both those who seek to come here and those who are here. This discrimination levelled against West Indian communities in the United States is intensified by the Justice Department's implementation of the political provisions of the Law with deportation proceedings pending against Claudia Jones and the initiation of denaturalization proceedings against Charles Collins.

In administery the Law, the Justice Department demonstrates a bias that is added to the discriminatory provisions already existing in the Law. One illustration is the treatment accorded Mexican immigrants in Southern C-lifornia and in the Southwest. The innumerable round-ups of Mexicans and the rereated raids on Mexican communities is a shocking display of the racist bias that permettes the thinking and the activities of those in the Justice Department responsible for administering the provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law.

An equally serious expression of intolerance is the mitter of anti-Semitic bias that has developed in the course of the current deportation drive. In May, the Justice Department ordered irs. Anna Taffler, Brooklyn housewife and mother of two American-born sons, to apply to the government of Israel for travel documents in view of the fact that Russia refused to issue travel documents for her deportation. Israel was selected because of its policy of accepting as immigrants all Jewish persons who wish to go there. But, the Justice Department never asked Anna Taffler whether she wished to go to Israel. It ordered her to apply for admission to Israel because she is of Jewish descent. Refusal to make such application would have meant ten years in jail. Does the Justice Department plan to try to force all Jewish deportees to apply for admission to Israel? Is it their aim to dump all Jewish deportees in Israel as it is their policy to dump hundreds of thousands of Mexicans in Mexica each year?

The general significance of this development is highlighted by the fact that, of 340 non-citizens arrested to date in deportation proceedings, more than 100 are Jews. Thus, almost 25% of those arrested in deportation proceedings are Jews while the Jewish people comprise no more than 3% of the total population of the country.

As a result of this development, we find that in the area of Petaluma, California, which has a small community of Jowish farmers, there are four deportation cases - all of them Jewish - and one denaturalization case - also Jawish.

These facts reflect a pattern that can develop into open anti-Semitism as the Justice Department unfolds its anti-denomiate departation drive. One additional illustration of this pattern can be observed in the attack on the Jewish daily newspaper, "The Morning Freiheit." As previsouly discussed, the editor, Paul Novick, is threatened with denaturalization. An editorial writer, Sol Almazov Pearl, similarly faces denaturalization. The paper's labor editor, Paul Yuditz, faces deportation and its Midwest representative, Moses Resnikoff, of Chicago, also faces deportation.

These developments, at a time when the American people are commenorating the 300th anniversary of Jewish life end culture in the United States, reflect the serious dangers facing the American people in the Justice Department's deportation and departmentization drive.

In considering the tasks shead of us in the fight to repeal the Walter-McCarman Law, and especially in defending victims of the Law, we have a great responsibility. But, we are in a fortunate position in two respects. First, the non-citizen and the naturalized citizen victimized under the Walter-McCarman Law has shown in practically every single case a refusal to submit to the Justice Department's demands and a determination to fight to defend their own rights. The attitude of these foreign-born Americans is a source of inspiration and encouragement to those seeking to defend the rights of foreign-born Americans. So many of them are extremely quiet in their heroism and suffering but, at the same time, extremely vocal and devoted to the fight against oppression and persecution.

The Justice Department has failed, therefore, in its first objective - which has been to seek to terrorize and silence those foreign-born Americans it has attacked.

Neither has the Justice Department succeeded in immobilizing the millions of foreign born it has hoped to terrorize with its deportation and denaturalization drives. One tribute to the democratic understanding and militancy of the foreign born is to be found in the statement of Representative Louis E. Graham, Republican McCarthyite of Pennsylvania, defeated for re-election in November. On November 16, former Representative Graham stated that, "In my district 50% of the people are of foreign extraction. Until these people come to understand what merica is, there is no hope."

It would obviously be impossible for meoule like Representative Graham to under-that the reason there is hope for the future of America is that the foreign born, together with millions of other Americans, do understand what America is and ere fighting to make it a better and healthier and samer America.

Second, we are not alone in this fight to defend the rights of foreign-born Americans any more than we are alone in our fight to repeal the Walter-McCarran Law. Thousands upon thousands of mericans, and organizations throughout the country, porticipate in one way or another in this fight to defend the rights of non-citizens and naturalized American citizens. From time to time, this democratic sentiment finds expression in the major newspapers of the country, as illustrated by editorials during the last month or two in "The New York Times," "St. Louis Pest-Dispatch," and "The S-n Francisco Chronicle."

It was this favorable public opinion, that made possible several important victories during the past year. We suffered also serious set-backs, especially in the Supreme Court's decision in the Galvan case; the Supreme Court's refusal to grant certiorari in the three Detroit denaturalization cases; in the deportation to Italy of Giacomo Quattrone, of Boston, after the Supreme Court refused to hear his appeal; in the deportation to Czechoslovakia of Marie Kratochvil, of Chicago, at the age of 71; and in the departure to Poland of three Greek-Americans - Nick and Steve Tsermegas and James Tapendreau.

While mindful of the weaknesses that resulted in these set-backs, we can take justifiable pride in some of our achievements this past year that demonstrate the possibilities that do exist of reversing the Justice Department in its efforts to implement the provisions of the Walter-EcCarren Lew.

Mrs. Mary Quist was arrested in Tampa, Florida, for deportation at the age of 68 a few months after she and her husbend had moved to Tempe from South Bend, Indiana, because of her poor health. The proceedings against Mrs. Quist were based on a statement she had signed in South Bend the previsou year. But, M-ry Quist had not known what was in the statement she had signed. First, she had been teld that she either sign the statement or she would be thrown in jail. Then, she was practically blind and coundn't see what was typed on the page. And even if she had been able to see, she couldn't read a word of English. Despite all of this, the hearing officer in Tampa ordered her deported to Hungary. An appeal was taken and Ira Gellebin, New York attorney, argued the case before the Board of Immigration Appeals in Washington Duly 22nd, the Board reversed the hearing officer and ordered the deportation proceedings against M ry Quist cancelled.

Another important victory was won in the fight for return of bail in deportationcases. The Justice Department took the position that, once bail was posted in deportation proceedings, it could be held by the Department for the rest of the non-citizen's life. It was ourposition that bail had to be returned once non-citizens were placed on Supervisory Proble. A test was started in the case of Charles Rowoldt, of Minneapolis, by his attorney, Kenneth Enkel, and with the help of the Minnesota Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. On November 25, 1953, the Federal District Court, in Minneapolis, sustained our position and ordered Rowoldts bail returned. The Justice Department appealed, and on June 17, 1954, the Court of Appeals in St. Louis ruled against the Justice Department. At first, the Justice Department considered appealing to the Supreme Court but then apparently gave up the idea. Despite the decision by the Court of Appeals, it took four more months of constant demands for the Justice Department to start refunding bail. This was a complete reversal of Justice Department policy.

In the field of deportation, we won an extremely important victory in the case of Fred Gonzales. Gonzales, a non-citizen born in the Philippine Ialands, came to the United States in 1928. In 1952, he was arrested in deportation proceedings on the basis of two minor of lenses committed meny years before. The District Court in 3 n Francisco sustained his deportation. The Court of Appeals in San Francisco, however, held that Conzales could not be deported since he entered before 1934 when he was a national owing allegiance to the United States and the deportation laws provide for the deportation of non-citizens who entered as "aliens." The Justice Department appealed to the Supreme Court. On June 7th, the Supreme Court ruled against the Justice Department and sustained our position.

As a result, some 70,000 non-citizens of Philippine birth cannot be deported from the United States for any reason whatsoever and are removed from the pressures and intimidations of immigration agents, who had previously flooded the Philippine communities on the West Coast.

The Conzales case illustrates also the value of defense organizations in this area of work. Conzales was represented in the District Court and in the Court of appeals by 'loyd McMurray, a Sun Francisco attorney. He was defended by the Washington State Committee for Protection of Foreign Burn, in Seattle, He was represented without fee before the United States Supreme Court by Blanch Freedman, a New York attorney.

The Department of Justice must be acutely aware of the importance of this defense movement in the fight to defend the rights of foreign-born Americans and to repeal the Walter-BoCarran L w. In its desire to intensify its attack on the rights of foreign born, the Justice Domartment seeks to disrupt and, if possible, to destroy this defense movement.

Therefore, there is a special attack on those who give leaderthip in this work.

Rose Chernin is executive directory of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. Mrs. Chernin, as a result of whose efforts the Los Angeles Committee was established firmly and was built into a powerful defense instrument, was indicted and framed under the Smith Act, as a result of which she faces five years in jail. In addition, the Justice Department has started denaturelization proceedings against Mrs. Chernin, seeking to take away the citizenship she obtained in 1928.

Soul Grossman, executive accretary of the Michigan Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, was subpossed in 1993 by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and ordered to produce the books and records of the Michigan Committee. Saul Grossman refused to produce any books or records and, on January 7, he was sentenced to serve on year in juil for contemp of Congress. His case is now before the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

It is significant that the Committees which Rose Chernin and Saul Grossman head are each defending the largest number of Walter-McCarran Law victims - the Los Angeles Committee defending about 130 persons and the Michigan Committee about 75 people. These are the first committees selected for attack by the Justice Department.

The Justice Department has tried other methods to intimidate those who seek to defend the rights of foreign-born Americans. In the midst of the Justice Department's "Operation Terror," carried out against the Mexican community in Los Angeles during June, the Inmigration and Naturalization Service demanded that the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born turn over to the Service all Mexicans who had entered the country illegally and came to the Committee for assistance. Of course, hundreds of Mexicans came to the Los Angeles Committee office, as the Service well knew. The Service threatened the Committee that, unless Mexicans subject to deportation were turned over, court proceedings would be initiated to convict and jail all persons associated with the Los Angeles Committee under Walter-McCarren I w provision making harboring illegal residents a criminal offense and making conspiring to violate the Low a criminal offense.

Report - 10

In the face of this threat, the Los Angeles Committee refused to diminish in the slightest its efforts on behalf of Mexican immigrants. Neither, of course, did they turn any one over to the Service - and they never will.

At about the same time, the Northern California Committee for Protection of Foreign Dorn, in San Francisco, distributed in the Mexican community a special inglish-Spanish folder, "Enow Your Rights," informing non-citizens of their rights if questioned or arrested. On July 30th, the Northern California Committee received a communication from Lloyd H. Burke, United States Attorney in San Francisco, stating, in part: "This letter is for the purpose of advising you, and you are hereby placed on notice of the fact, that the aforementioned pemphlet contains false and misleading advice and erroneous statments of law. It is deemed that conveying such inaccurate advice to the persons to whom the pemphlet is addressed would constitute the inducing, counceling and procuring of such persons to violate the laws of the United States. It is strongly suggested (1) that you take immediate action to assure that the pamphlet described above be not circulated and distributed; (2) if any copies thoreof have been released, that you take prompt steps to recepture them; and (3) that you notify any persons to whom such distribution has been made of the contents of this letter."

This is the worst imagineable kind of intimidation. But, in the fact of this threatening letter, the Northern C lifernia Committee proceeded to get several thousands of the folder end, with special efforts, distributed those, too. We agree completely that the only possible enswer to this kind of threat is to do more work and fight all the harder to defend the rights of foreign-born Americans.

Of course, the most serious threat to the organized fight to defend the rights of the foreign born continues to be the Justice Department's efforts to destroy the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

In April 1953, the Attorney Coneral petitioned the Subversive Activities Control Board to order the American Committee to register as a "Communist-front" organization under the provisions of the 150 McCarren Law. When we met in Conference in Chicago last year, we were waiting for the SACB to schedule hearings on the Attorney General's charges. As yet, no hearings have been held. We expect, however, that the hearings may be scheduled shortly after the beginning of new year. All that actually did happen during the past year was an offer to one near-citizem in Minneapolis to cancel the deportation proceedings against him and to grant him American citizenship if he were to agree to testify against our Committee.

Peter Warhol told the Justice Department that he planned to be a witness before the S/CB. Except that he was going to testify in defense of the American Committee and that, with the help of the "merican Committee, he hoped eventually to become an /merican citizen without having to dirty himself by testifying to falsehoods.

Other may have been similarly approached. It is indeed odd that 15 months after the Justice Department has filed charges against the American Committee, it should be looking for witnesses it can bribe to manufacture testimony to support its felse charges against the American Committee.

Our hearings, however, will undoubtedly be started in the near future and we are mereared to defend the American Committee since we are justifiably proud of its record established in 22 years of work. We recognize that the attempt to destroy the American Committee means not only intensified suffering for thousands of foreign-born Americans but threatens also the liberties of every American, native as well as foreign born.

In considering the defense of the rights of the foreign born, it is important to examine not only the manner in which those rights are under attack and the program needed to win public support for the defense of those rights but also the organizations that will help put that program into effect and seek to implement a proper and full defense.

There are today about 100 organizations in 15 states organized to work exclusively for the defense of the rights of the foreign born. The states where such committees function include Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jorsey Pennsylvenia, Chio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Minnesota, Washington, Oregon and California. These 100 committees function as independent organizations in all respect. They make their own decisions and raise their own funds to defend the people under stack in their area or community.

While each one of these 100 committees has made outstanding contributions, perhaps the most outstanding contribution has been made by the Los Angeles Committee, under the leadership of Rose Chermin. At its Annual Festival in June, the Committee brings together some 3,000 people. At its Annual Banquet honoring its panel of 25 attorneys, last month, the Committee brought together 1,300 people. But, perhaps, the most important contribution the Los Angeles Committee has made is in the fight to defend the rights of Mexican immigrants in Southern California. It opened and has indirected during the past year an E st Side office in the heart of the Mexican committy in Los Angeles, with Josefina Yanez as secretary.

Other committees here made special contributions - Minnesota Committee in the successful fight for return of bail and in defending Enut Heikkinen against a ten-year gail sentence; the Washington State Committee in winning the Gonzales case and defending the rights of Filipino-Americans; the Northern California Committee in defending William Heibile.

The newest organization is the New York Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, organized on February 28th, with Alcc Jones as executive secretary. In these first nine months of its existence, the New York Committee has demonstrated effective leadership in the fight to defend the rights of foreign-born Americans. It is carrying the fight against Supervisory Parole to the United States Suprements. It is fighting the Justice Department's attempt to consolidate denaturalization proceedings for the purpose of corrying on a mass political trial of foreign-born citizens. It wan the release in November of four non-citizens held for months without beil - Clara Gelman, M ry and Nick K rman, and John Billy Zazullak, and in December of Nick Marines.

Of the many committees organized to defend individuals, perhaps the most outstanding work has been done by the Friends and Neighbors Committee to Defend David Ryun, of Los Angeles. This group is conducting a nationwide campaign to win support for the fight against David Ryun's deportation to South Korea. It was undoubtedly the meet effective campaign organized during the pest year. The Friends and Neighbors Committee to Desend David Hyun merits our sincerest commendation for the work that they are doing.

An equally important contribution to this fight is being made by the defense committees organized in national group communities. It is these committees that today serve in the main as the organizational base for the work of the American Committee. Excelent committees are functioning in the Russian, Finnish, Lithuanian, Armenien, Czechcelovak, Yugoslav, Polish, Ukrainian, Eungarian, Jewish and Greek communities.

It would, of course, be impossible to speak of effective defense of the rights of foreign-born Americans were it not for the role that is played by more than 100 lawyers in all parts of the country. We cannot possibly estimate the extent of the sacrifice made by attorneys who defend non-citizens and naturalized citizens today. Theirs is a sacrifice in time, in money and in energies. They are, all of them, selflessly devoted to the cause of human rights and demonstrate every day of the year their unselfish devotion to the fight to defend the rights of the foreign born. It is indeed gratifying to see how these attorneys are carring forward proudly the tradition forged by Carol King during her life-time of devotion to the defense of the civil liberties of foreign-born imericans.

Others also are making their contribution to these organized efforts in defense of the Bill of rights. We continue to be honored by the interest and support demonstrated by our Honorary Co-Cheirman, Bishop Arthur W. Moulton, of Salt Lake City. When I saw him lest month, Bishop Moulton wanted to be sure that I told this Conference that he was wholeheartedly a part of this fight and to emphasize that it is only reasons of health and age that prevent him from being here with us this weekend. He wants this Conference to know that, while he cannot be with us in person, he is with us all of the way in spirit and in determination to fight for the liberties of the foreign born.

FishopMoulton's associate as Henorary Co-Chairman, Professor Louise Pethilic ne Smith, is with us again this year as she has been since she became associated with our work. We regard ourselves as extremely fortunate in having Professor Smith's interest and active support and cooperation. We are indeed grateful and appreciative of her consistent advice and assistance throughout the year in the furtherance of our program and wirk.

We are fortunate in addition in having had the services this past year of two Co-Chairman of the calibre of the Reverend Renneth Ripley Forbes and Mr. George B. Murphy, Jr.

This year, as a result of the establishment of the New York Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, the work and activity of the American Committee was reorganized in an effort to develop more effective national leadership in the fight to repeal the Walter-McC rran Law and to defend its victims. As a result of the reorganization, the American Committee's stark is now composed of your reporter as executive secretary and Harriet Barron as administrative secretary.

While the American Committee's everhand has been out to the minimum, we can provide proper leadership and fulfill our reapprobabilities only to the extent that we have the funds to guarantee proper functioning of the committee. Special consideration must be devoted by this conference to guarantee adequate financing of the American Committee's work in the year to come.

We are confident that the organizations represented in this Conference will, as they always have in the past, make possible the proper functioning of the American Committee in the crucial period shead of us.

In trying to estimate our work, it would be well to commerc certain aspects of the current drive on the rights of the foreign born and the periods of the Alien Registration Act and the Palmor Raids.

In 1940, when the Alien Registration of was passed and more than seven million non-citizens were registered and fingerprinted, there was almost universal accentance of this first step leading to the total destruction of the rights of non-citizens in the United States. At that time, the American Committee was almost the only originization in the country that felt that the fingerprinting and registration program was unjust and unwarranted and/invasion of people's rights. The American Committee stood for repeal of the Alien Registration Act but it was a Lonely voice. The lesson we must draw from what heppened in 1940 - a lesson we must never forget - is that the failure to defend the rights of the non-citizen at that time facilitated the enectment of the Walter-McCarran L w in 1952.

But, today, unlike the situation in 1940, the people and the people's organizations are aroused over the Walter-McCarran Law. There is an insistent public understanding today of the interdependence between the rights of foreign born and native born Americans.

In 1920, at the time of the Palmer Raids, there want one single organization in the country that was prepared to come forward in defense of those arrested, besten, mistreated, degrived of their rights and hold for interminable periods of time in juils throughout the country. There was only a handful of attorneys prepared to defend non-citizens arrested in Palmer Raids of 1920.

Today, there are more than 100 attornelys actively engaged in defending the rights of the foreign born. Today, there are almost 100 organizations working to defend the rights of the foreign born. There is an obvious and important difference between the situation as it existed in 1960 and as it exists today.

Of course, we cannot, for a momentuministic by comparison the much greater threat that menaces the American people in 1954 than in 1920 or 1940. Today, the American people are menaced by the possible establishment of police-state conditions of living for all. The danger of fascism confronts the people today. But the campaign for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law and the general character of the organized efforts to defend victims of the Law has made important contributions to the preservation of democratic liberties. The fact remains that while, in March 1955, the Atterney General spoke of arresting 12,000 noncitizens in political deportation proceedings, only some 340 have been arrested to date. The fact remains that, while the fituringy General spoke them of starting 10,000 denaturalizations, only some 60 have been initiated to date.

We are faced today with some 400 proceedings rather than 22,000 proceedings against foreign-born amoricans because of the general atmosphere created by the fight to repeal the Walter-ReCarran Law and to defend its victims.

But, we are far from satisfied. Indeed, we can never be satisfied until the W-lter-McCarvan Law is repealed and until the 400 proceedings now pending are concelled and the possibility of additional humasments or drives on the rights of foreign-born Americans are ended once and for all.

This National Conference will take its place in the broad people's movement that will addreve repeal of the Walter-NcCarran Law and an end to the herassment of 14 million foreign-born Americans. We must emphasize that repeal of the Valter McCarran Law is a realistic objective in the life of the 'merican people today. In the legal arena we must achieve two trake.

First, we must fight to maintain the 1943 decision by the United States Supreme Court in the case of William Schneiderman sustaining the democratic rights of naturalized American citizens and, especially, as to the inviolability of United States citizenship.

Second, we must fight to reverse the trend of Supreme Court decisions reflected in the Eurisiades and Galvan deportation cases and the Carlson ball case. These decisions are based principally on a decision by the Supreme Court in 1893 in the Fong Yue Ting case, in which the Court held that deportation was not punishment. On the basis of this 1893 myth, non-citizens find that, in deportation proceedings, they can be deprived of the protection of the Bill of Rights.

We can reverse this 1393 decision since deportation is punishment of the worst kind. And we can find inspiration for our efforts, if any is needed, by the historic decison this year in which the Supreme Court reversed an 1895 decision - known as Plessy versus Ferguson - in respect to segregation in the schools.

The Supreme Court was forced to change its position on segregation by the insistent mass pressures of the American people. It can be forced to change its position in respect to the rights of non-citizens and in respect to deportations in the same ammer. It is our responsibility to develop the kind of atmosphere, to educate and to develop the people's understanding to the point where the Supreme Court will find that it has to meet the people's demands and reverse this ancient theory that is so dangerous to our democratic rights.

The achievement of these objectives would be a major contribution to the complete defeat of McCerthyite reaction in the United States. It would help strengthen and give life to the democratic aspirations of the American people. It is a prerequisite to the development of an American that will be devoted to the principles of democracy and peace and humanity. To that goal do we dedicate ourselves and for that purpose have we convened in Conference to deliberate, to discuss, and to work together for its achievement.

23rd Annual National Conference American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born Detroit, Michigan December 10-11, 1955

REPORT

By Abner Green

This National Conference marks the conclusion of twenty-three years of work by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. These twenty-three years have been eventful in many respects. But, at no time during this period could we see such possibilities as exist today for the resolution of many of the problems that confront us.

Those prospects are especially significant, coming as they do after a long and difficult period of hysteria and repression. For almost ten years following the end of the Second World War, reactionary forces maintained an intensified drive on the liberties of all Americans. A symbol of this drive was made public only last month, when it was revealed before the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights that the Civil Service Commission maintains a card index file of two million persons "allegedly affiliated with some sort of subversive organization or activity."

For almost ten years, every section of the American people found their rights under sharp attack. This anti-democratic drive suffered its first serious set-back with the exposure and condemnation of Senator McCarthy last year. Developments this year on the international as well as on the home front served to further isolate those forces in our national life intent on advancing the reactionary McCarthyite drive on the people's rights.

On November 25th, the "San Francisco Chronicle," in an editorial, greeted signs of return to "traditional American sentiments that were cherished by the framers of the Constitution." And, the Chronicle editorial concluded, "Such signs and portents are most welcome to the wast majority of Americans."

Many important changes have taken place and are taking place in the life and the thinking of the American people.

Just a few days ago a National Convention, meeting in New York City, formally voted into existence the AFL-CIO as a united national labor body comprised of sixteen million workers. This achievement is obviously of momentous importance in the life of the American people.

Another indication of significant changes in public thinking are the pronouncements of Chief Justice Earl Warren, including such statements as, "When the rights of any individual or group are chipped away, the freedom of all erodes." And, "Justice, like freedom, needs constant vigilance."

There are indications of another sort. For instance, the speech last month by Court of Appeals Justice Harold Medina seeking to define the word, "liberal," as to include himself. Or Attorney General Brownell's statement this week criticizing the Walter-McCarran Law.

During the past year, the American people welcomed the promise of peace inherent in a policy of co-existence. The people's reaction to international developments gave rise to a national wave of relief and relaxation of tensions, which speedily registered itself in all areas of thought and action and was reflected perhaps most immediately by the Federal courts.

Witness the action of the United States Supreme Court, during its current term, granting certiorari in the California Smith Act cases, with the obvious implication that the Court was going to take a new look at the Smith Act; the acceptance of a brief amicus signed by 360 prominent Americans declaring that the registration provisions of the 1950 McCarran Act were a threat to civil rights and unconstitutional; the decision reversing Judge Medina in respect to the Supervisory Parole provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law, holding that there are constitutional issues involved in this treatment of foreign-born Americans.

There is indeed a new and fresh wind blowing today in America as we sit and deliberate on the treatment of foreign born Americans and its relationship to the status of democratic rights in the United States.

We can be proud of the role we played in fighting to re-establish a democratic atmosphere in the country.

For almost ten years, we maintained a continuous defense of democratic rights in opposition to those who would have brutalized the mentality of the American people into acceptance of their undemocratic excesses. Our efforts not only helped save individuals but also helped prevent a total obliteration of democratic rights - which was the goal sought by the McCarthyites.

During the past ten years, we contributed in meny ways to meintaining democratic rights. We were part of that America that never lost sight of our heritage as a people or our country's traditions. In fighting to maintain the democratic rights of foreign-born Americans, we contributed to the developments which result today in a changed public atmosphere.

Within the past year, for instance, we scored significant victories in defense of the rights of the foreign born.

In the case of Doctor Krishna Chandra, of Sacramento, California, we defeated the Justice Department's attempt to make mere membership in the former International Workers Order an automatic ground for deportation.

In the case of Alec Alcantra, of Seattle, Washington, we defeated in the United States Supreme Court the Justice Department's attempt to use the Walter-McCarran Law to exclude and deport thousands of non-citizens on the spurious ground that a trip to Alaska or Hawaii was a departure from the United States.

In the case of Knut Heikkinen, of Superior, Wisconsin, we won reversal of his conviction and ten-year jail sentence for failure to apply for a passport after being ordered deported.

In the case of Mike Getes, of Philadelphia, we won reversal of a six-months jail sentence for allegedly failing to report his address to the Attorney General during January 1952 and 1953, thereby preventing the Justice Department from carrying out thousands of frame-ups on the same grounds.

In the case of Matthew Brzovich, of Chicago, we contributed to the exposure of the character of professional Justice Department witnesses when the United States Court of Appeals ordered deportation proceedings against Brzovich cancelled on the ground that Matthew Cvetic, a professional informer, could not be believed.

In at least two cases recently, the testimony of John Lautner, another professional witness for the Justice Department, was found to be insufficient and unreliable by the Board of Immigration Appeals when it ordered deportation proceedings cancelled in the cases of Costas Athos, of Charleston, West Virginia, and Charles Soldo, of Coaldale, Pennsylvania.

Report - 3

In the general defense area, we witnessed the victory in the denaturalization case of Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. It would indeed be significant if this victory were to mark an end to the Justice Department's 22-year campaign to use the deportation laws to get rid of Harry Bridges because of his militant leadership in the American labor movement.

In the fight for repeal of the W-lter-McCarran Law, we saw scheduled last month for the first time public hearings by the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration and Naturalization.

In addition, there has been the day-to-day work of the American Committee and organizations throughout the country in defense of the rights of foreign-born Americans. It is impossible to recount, or even summarize, the activities of the American Committee and other organizations in this general area.

But, this work and these victories serve as a background for our Conference this week-end. They serve as a promise of what can be achieved, in an increasingly more favorable atmosphere, by our efforts to secure the most effective expression of public opinion in support of the proposition that civil rights are indivisible and that an attempt to deprive people of their rights because of their foreign birth jeopardizes the liberties of all. As stated by Chief Justice Warren, "When the rights of any individual or group are chipped away, the freedom of all erodes."

While registering the victories just listed, we suffered defeats. The Immigration end Naturalization Service is maintaining its operations on a businessas-usual basis. One illustration was the announcement on October 26th by Commissioner Swing that the Immigration and Naturalization Service had deported fortyone mental patients, taking them out of institutions here and flying them to Portugal, Spain, Greece, Italy, Sweden, England, Austria, and other countries.

Six months ago, Cedric Belfrage, editor of "The National Guardian," was deported to England as a result of a Justice Department frame-up because of his staunch opposition to McCarthy and McCarthyism. And yesterday, the S.S. "Queen Elizabeth" took from these shores into exile Claudia Jones, a Negro woman, who spent her entire adult life here in the United States and was prevented from fighting deportation for membership in the Communist Party because of her ill-health.

On July 15, Federal District Court Judge Frank Picard, here in Detroit, ordered citizenship cancelled in the case of Stanley Nowak, Polish-American leader and former Michigan State Senator. In Los Angeles, Eulogio de la Cruz and Sam Title had their citizenship cancelled. These cases are now pending on appeal. But, here in Detroit, ten United States citizens who lost their citizenship in political denaturalization proceedings, have since been arrested and now face deportation from the United States. One, Mrs. Stella Brown, faces a six-month jail sentence for contempt of court for refusal to answer self-incriminating questions while on the stand defending her citizenship.

After several months during which no non-citizen was arrested in political deportation proceedings, three Mexican immigrants were arrested in Denver, Colorado, ten days ago and held for deportation on the charge of past membership in the Communist Party.

These developments emphasize the importance of our deliberations. They reflect the fact that, although the American people are beginning to cast off the crippling effects of fear and tension, we have with us still the undemocratic remnants of hysteria and persecution. We have with us still the residue of the hysteria, which can serve as a source of reactionary poison infecting the political and social life of the American people and interfere with the people's efforts to work out their problems in a democratic and humane fashion.

The ten-year post-war drive on the rights of the foreign born conducted by the Justice Department registered serious reactionary inroads on democratic rights.

Today, a non-citizen can be deported for exercising his or her democratic rights, for engaging in any activity that can be labelled "subversive," for associating with individuals or organizations labelled "subversive."

The non-citizen - and we speak of a group of three million people scattered throughout the population - is no longer protected by the Eill of Rights in respect to freedom of speech, belief or association. A non-citizen can be arrested without a warrant and deported from the United States on any one of 125 grounds. A non-citizen arrested in deportation proceedings no longer is protected by the American right to bail.

The American people are very proud of the slogan inscribed on Federal court buildings, reading "Equal Justice Under Law." But, the Justice Department has added a few words to that slogan, changing its meaning completely, so that it now reads: "Equal Justice Under Law - Except for Non-Citizens."

All non-citizens have been registered and fingerprinted, must report to the Attorney General in writing once a year, must notify the Attorney General of any change of address, must carry on their persons at all times their Alien Registration Cards. Violation of any of these conditions could mean a jail sentence and then deportation.

Could envone claim that the three million non-citizens now in this country are free and independent human beings? And how long before this kind of treatment of three million people within our borders will serve to corrupt our legal and administrative procedures, before citizens find themselves in no better or more adventageous position than non-citizens?

Already, naturalized citizens - under our way of life supposedly equal in all respects with native-born citizens except that they cannot qualify for the Presidency - find their right to their United States citizenship seriously challenged and jeopardized.

These remnents of hysteria have been given legal sanction by the manifold provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law of 1952. The Justice Department has made clear that it intends to use the provisions of this infamous law to deport twelve thousand non-citizens on political grounds and to denaturalize ten thousand citizens on political grounds. The Walter-McCarran Law, which was passed over President Truman's veto after a seven-year campaign of hysteria by the Justice Department, is the major stumbling block that prevents our country from returning to a sane and democratic policy in the treatment of foreign-born Americans.

In addition to the many repressive features discussed previously, the Walter-McCarran Law provides that non-citizens ordered deported but not deportable are to be placed under Orders of Supervision for the rest of their lives in this country - requiring their appearance in person once a month before a Justice Department agent; requiring them to submit to medical and psychiatric examination when ordered; requiring information under oath as to association or activities; restricting the right to travel to no more than fifty miles from a non-citizen's place of residence; requiring disassociation from the labor and progressive movement. Violation of any of these conditions may result in a one-year jail sentence.

Under the W-lter-McCarran Law, non-citizens who fail to make an effort to deport themselves after being ordered deported are committing a crime punishable by the fantastic sentence of ten years in jail.

Report - 5

Under this Law, citizens as well as non-citizens are harassed by Justice Department agents, pressured to become stool-pigeons and informers against their relatives, friends, neighbors, and fellow-workers, and even served with subpoemas seeking to force them to become informers.

Under this law, the United States stands condemned in the eyes of the world for practicing racist and discriminatory policies in its immigration procedures.

People in Eastern Europe and Asia, and many other parts of the world, look askance at our democratic claims in view of the undemocratic content of our immigration laws. The people of the West Indies find that the United States practices racism in view of the manner in which the Law consciously bars Negro immigration into the United States.

Perhaps the most vicious and un-American program is reserved for the Mexican immigrant - subjected to all kinds of discriminatory treatment while working here, then arrested in mass round-ups and literally kicked out of the United States without a hearing and without any regard for his rights or his welfare.

This Conference has indeed a special responsibility. We must plan our program and activities to eliminate as speedily as rossible these undemocratic remnants of hysteria. We cannot be satisfied simply with diminished activity by the Justice Department in its campaign against the rights of the foreign born. We must end these attacks completely. We must eliminate the legal justification for these attacks.

Otherwise, these attacks on our democratic rights may return speedily with renewed vigor - especially since the legal and political basis for the hysteria will be there ready-made and the Justice Department won't need a period of seven years in which to build the hysteria to the point where a Walter-McCarran Law could be enacted. Otherwise, these expressions of intolerance will serve to undermine the democratic rights of all.

Therefore, our Conference must set for itself as its major responsibility to campaign and to work to reestablish the democratic and constitutional rights of non-citizens and naturalized American citizens.

The main point on any such program is self-evident - the speedy repeal of the Walter-McC-rran Law and its replacement by a new immigration and naturalization law that will deal with the potential immigrant, the non-citizen resident, and the naturalized citizen as human beings entitled to equal justice under law, to democratic consideration and to democratic rights.

The first major step in this direction are the public hearings just recessed by the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration and Naturalization and scheduled to be resumed in January. When hearings were announced - the first Congressional hearings since enactment of the Law in 1952 - the Senate Subcommittee was flooded with requests from organizations and individuals for an opportunity to be heard on legislation now pending before Congress for repeal or revision of the Walter-McCarran Law.

During the weeks of November 21st and November 28th, among those speaking in support of repeal or revision of the Law were representatives of the A.F. of L.-C.I.O., National Council of Churches of Christ in America, Synagogue Council of America, National Lutheran Council, National Catholic Welfare Conference, scientific and learned societies, Senators Lehman, Ives, Case and Kennedy, and Governor C. Mennen Williams, of Michigan.

Report - 6

Only one organization - the American Legion - voiced unqualified support for the Law as it now stands on the statute books.

Opponents of the Walter-McCarran Law heard during these first two weeks of the public hearings, concentrated on the racist and discriminatory immigration provisions but, at the same time, condemned all provisions allowing for police-state treatment of non-citizens and naturalized citizens.

These hearings by the Kilgore Committee reflect in a small measure the intense feelings of the American people in opposition to the Walter-McCerran Law. They should serve as a basis for securing action on the Law by the United States Senate in 1956.

All organizations should concentrate on securing action by the Senate Judiciary Committee in reporting a bill to the Senate as speedily as possible to guarantee that sufficient time is provided for the enactment of legislation by Congress in 1956.

If there is action in the Senate on legislation to repeal or revise the Walter-McCarran Law, it should help to force action on the Law by the House of Representatives.

In the House of Representatives, one member has set himself up as a virtual dictator and prevented any consideration of bills introduced for changes in the Law by the House Judiciary Committee. Representative Francis Walter, co-author of the Law, serves as a major obstacle to any changes. The builder of the prison hates to see his dungeon torn down.

As chairman of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Immigration and Naturalization, Representative Walter controls proposed legislation that can be considered by the House in this field. And Representative Walter has stated on innumerable occasions that he will not allow his Subcommittee to consider any legislation to revise or repeal the Walter-McC-rran Law. He thinks it is a good law and, no matter how many people criticize it, he will not even allow them to discuss their criticisms or all the House of Representatives to consider any changes. Representative Walter feels that he - alone - should decide for Congress what the immigration and naturalization laws of this country should provide.

Representative Walter's dictatorial and anti-democratic attitude toward changes in the Law is fully in keeping with the author of a police-state law like the Walter-McCerran Act.

If Representative Walter succeeds and the House Judiciary Committee is prevented from acting on the Walter-McCorran Act, the people have available one other approach to the problem. Representative Victor Anfuso, author of one of the forty-odd bills pending in the present Congress for repeal or revision of the Walter-McCarran Law, has introduced a Discharge Petition - to discharge the House Judiciary Committee from responsibility and to bring the Anfuso Bill, H.R. 501, to the floor of the House of Representatives for debate and a vote.

The coming year will indeed be propitious to press for basic changes or repeal of the Walter-McCarren Law. It is a presidential election year, when the people and the major political parties are more sensitive than usual to public issues. For three years, the people and organizations throughout the country have maintained their demand for changes in the Law. The continued public pressure, coupled with national election considerations, could serve to affect substantially the situation in Congress.

Report - 7

For instance, a United States Schator from the State of Texas, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, last month in a speech at Whitney, Texas, Said that he will urge changes to make the immigration laws "fair and just."

There are singere opponents of the Walter-McCarran Law who are pessimistic about the possibility for changes in the Law in 1956. But, it is not a question as to whether Congress will change the Law. It is a fact that Congress has a responsibility it must not shirk. Congress has a responsibility to the people and to the country to make basic revisions in the Law and even to repeal the Law and to replace it with a democratic and humane immigration and naturalization law.

Practical politicians may be fully informed about the legislative situation. But, they do not take into account the possible effect of public demand for changes in the Law, especially if those public demands are intensified at this particular time.

It is up to us to seek ways and means to help secure expression for the people's sentiment and for that sentiment to register in the halls of Congress. If we carry out our work effectively, it should be possible to win repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law, or basic revision of its provisions, during 1956.

While we will continue to campaign and fight for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law, it is highly possible that the L w will not be repealed and, if anything, only revised in certain sections. Therefore, while fighting for repeal we must at the same time set forth what we regard as minimum alternatives to repeal that we feel are acceptable.

The immigration provisions of the Wolter-McCarran Law are universally condemned because of the manner in which they subject the potential immigrant to racist and discriminatory treatment. The racist and anti-Semitic core of the Law is its National Origins Immigration Quota System, which should be scrapped for a non-discriminatory immigration system. Equally in conflict with the democratic spirit are the provisions which discriminate against the potential immigrant on political grounds. These, too, should be scrapped since not only are they insulting and degrading to the potential immigrant but they serve as the basis for the provisions used to harass and discriminate against permanent residents of the United States on political grounds. These political discriminations in the immigration sections of the Law feed hysteria. They do not help build democracy. They are as un-American as the racist provisions in the Law.

At the same time, the anti-Negro features in the immigration section of the present Law should be eliminated.

In respect to the status of the foreign born, some minimum objective must be achieved if the Law is amended.

The value of United States citizenship - for native born as well as naturalized citizens - depends on the extent to which citizens feel secure in their right to their citizenship.

Under the present law, naturalized citizens cannot be certain that their citizenship will not be subjected to legal attack for political reasons regardless of the length of time they have been citizens. A citizen's right to his or her citizenship must be clearly recognized and established by the law. Any person who has lived here long emough to go through the naturalization process, established a clear in tention and qualification for United States citizenship should not have to be faced with the threat of revocation of that citizenship for any reason whatsoever.

керогt - 8

One of the factors leading to special difficulties for the naturalized citizen under the present law results from its treatment of the rights of the non-citizen.

The status and dignity of fourteen million foreign born Americans are seriously undermined by the fact that, in so far as the Law is concerned, the non-citizen has no right to live in this country. This is true in the legal as well as the rolitical sense. The non-citizen may have been here for fifty years. But he can still be deported. He still has no right to live in this country.

A non-citizen may have been brought into this country when three months old, and never left the country for one minute since being brought in. There would be no relatives and no friends in the old country. Everything and everyone that means anything would be here in the United States. And, at the age of 50, the non-citizen could be arrested for deportation. This is fantastic. But it is happening to people like William Heikkila, in San Francisco, and to Raye Rubin, in Los Angeles.

The law - if it is to be a democratic law - must establish clearly that a non-citizen has a right to live here. It should be clear in the law that once an immigrant has lived here for a period of time - five years, ten years - he or she cannot be deported from this country for any reason whatsoever.

We must raise a minimum demand that the law recognize a naturalized citizen's right to his United States citizenship and a non-citizen's right to be secure in his or her right to live in the United States.

Equally important is the need to reestablish in the law the non-citizen's right to full protection of the Bill of Rights - to freedom of speech, belief, and association; to the right to bail and the right to be secure from arrest without warrent, intimidation and threats. There is no need for the annual reporting, notification of change of address, and especially for the insulting police-state Supervisory Parole provisions. These various control provisions of the Law should be eliminated.

If the American people are to revive for themselves the democratic spirit that prevailed before the caset of the post-World War Two hysteria, it will be necessary first to regain for the foreign born their self-respect and dignity as citizens and permanent residents of this country.

That becomes properly the concern and property of this National Conference. The American people must be made to understand what is involved and what is at stake in the treatment accorded foreign born Americans. That the native born will suffer just as much as -. if not more than - the foreign born if this kind of treatment of people is allowed to continue. Then, the Courts must be prevailed upon to view the Constitution in auch a manner as to bolster democratic rights.

We need a campaign of public education and the initiation of a legal offensive that will serve to reverse the trend that resulted in the enactment of the Walter-McCarran Law and validation of its major deportation and bail provisions by the United States Supreme Court.

This is a great responsibility. And this National Conference is perhaps the only body in the country at the present time capable of appreciating the problem and its seriousness and capable of doing something about it.

The development of concepts on the basis of which the democratic rights of non-citizens can be effectively defended in the Federal courts is crucial. In its decision in the Galvan case - sustaining the constitutionality of the Walter-Mc Corran Law provision for the deportation of non-citizens who are past or present members of the Communist Party, the United States Supreme Court declared that the formulation of policies perteining to the right of non-citizens to remain in this country "is entrusted exclusively to Congress."

We must challenge this concept. Doctor Alexander Meiklejohn, in his brilliant statement before the Hennings Committee of the United States Senate, pointed out the fact that the American people, at the time the Constitution was drafted, were reluctant to adopt the Constitution because they were fearful of the power of the Legislature. One of the facts used to win public support for the adoption of the Constitution was that the Legislature would have no law-making authority other than those limited powers specifically delegated to it by the Constitution.

The only power in this general area given Congress by the Constitution is the power to make a uniform law of naturalization. Control over immigration is claimed by Congress on a special basis, as reflected in the following sentence from House Report Number 1513, dated March 13, 1952: "The power of Congress to control immigration stems from the severeign authority of the United States as a nation and the constitutional power of Congress to regulate commerce with foreign nations."

The Constitution gave Congress the right to regulate commerce - the entry of goods into the United States. Therefore, it was assumed years ago that Congress had the right to regulate immigration - the entry of people into the United States. The power to regulate immigration was not granted Congress by the Constitution. It is a power implied from the constitutionally granted power to control commerce. And the power to deport a legally resident non-citizen was also never granted to Congress by the Constitution. This, too, is an implied power. Except it is implied from the implied power to regulate immigration.

The power to deport, therefore, is twice removed from the Constitution. There is nothing in the Constitution, and nothing that can be implied from the Constitution directly, that gives Congress the power to order deported legally resident non-citizens.

One of the first decisions by the United States Summer Court establishing the power to deport, the Zakonaite case, upheld the constitutionality of deporting a non-citizen found practicing prostitution within three years of entry. This Zakonaite decision was based on the Court's decision in the Zucker case, which involved the forfeiture of goods that had been allowed entry into the country because of the fraudulent concealment of their value.

There is an obvious inconsistence here in view of the fact that the law regards imported goods with a great deal more deference and humanity than it treats human beings. Goods lose their status as imports once they are merged with the general domestic economy. But, under the law, immigrants are never permitted to lose their status as immigrants even if they have lived here for fifty years and are completely merged with the general domestic population.

It may be difficult, if not impossible, to question the right of Congress to control immigration, even though that right is not specifically granted to Congress by the Constitution. But that, we must insist, is the limit of the power possessed by Congress in this field. It can determine who shall be allowed to enter the country. As a part of that power, Congress could order the deportation of any person who comes in outside of, or in violation of, the immigration law.

Report - 10

But, the Constitution never granted Congress the power to say that an immigrant who complied with all of the conditions set down for entry can be expelled from the country for acts committed while a legal resident of the United States.

We must challenge the Congressional usurpation of power, which deprives the non-citizen of the right accorded to him by the Constitution to live in the United States. To the first citizens of the then new United States of America it would have been inconceivable that Congress should have the right to exile people from the country. Many of them had themselves suffered the tortures of exile from their native lend and they understood it to be the worst kind of pumishment that could be needed out to people. There is no doubt that they would never have accepted a Constitution that gave the Legislature, whose arbitrary power they feared especially, the power to exile people.

It wasn't only the first Americans who felt this. Almost one hundred years passed before the first exclusion law was passed in 1880, in the wake of hysteria against immigration from China. And the first important decision by the United Stetes Supreme Court in a deportation case was made in 1893, in the Fong Yue Ting case. In that case the Supreme Court, in upholding the deportation of an immigrant, employed language and legal concepts that served as the basis for the Harisiades and Galvan decisions in the 1950's.

In sustaining deportation in the Fong Yue Ting case in 1893, the Supreme Court held that deportation was not punishment, that it was not a criminal proceeding but a civil proceeding. Therefore, the protection accorded persons in criminal proceedings need not apply and non-citizens could be deported on the basis of ex post facto laws or on a Bill of Attainder. And, since deportation is a civil proceeding, the non-citizen in deportation proceedings does not have the protection of the First or Fifth Amendments to the Constitution.

In 1893, the Supreme Court was swept along in a wave of racism that engulfed the democratic processes. That decision was made also in a case where the non-citizen had just come to the country, where his right to enter the country was involved, and when there was a comparative handful of non-citizens in the country.

Today, the average non-citizen has lived most of his or her life here. Thousands upon thousands are affected by each decision. The non-citizen is an integral part of the social, economic and political life of the country. In so far as the foreign born are concerned, there is no comparison between the United States of 1955 and the United States of 1893. But, a racist decision made in 1893 rules the lives and destinies of millions of residents in 1955.

This conference can take the first steps toward ending this situation where the dead hand of the past throttles the people's liberties today. It must become our objective to make the people and the courts understand the need for reversing this 63-year-old racist decision and to end the manner in which Congress deprives the non-citizen of the constitutional right to live in the United States.

The time has come for the development of a new approach to the defense of the rights of non-citizens arrested in deportation proceedings. We have to prepare the basis that will help convince the Supreme Court that it should take a new look at the status of the non-citizen in our laws and in our courts.

One of the steps available to us in striving for this objective is the development of a special legal research project that would have as its objective the presentation to the United States supreme court of new and available information on the basis of which the Court can take the road leading to a return to this country's early democratic attitudes to immigration and the rights of non-citizen residents.

Report - 11

The foundation upon which the structure for judicial justification for oppressive anti-foreign born laws rests is the thesis that a sovereign nation may exercise a plenary power over the lives of foreigners within its borders.

However, in so far as our constitutional procedures are concerned, the United States government can be regarded as having exhausted its sovereignty over the irrigerat once the immigrant has entered the country legally and settled within its borders. Sovereignty for the United States government, in keeping with our traditions and history, can extend only to setting forth conditions for the admission of immigrants.

In the moral and historical sense, unlike many other countries, this country does not have the right to the plenary exercise of a continuing power over immigrants once they have entered the country. The country's national growth and history have made it different in this respect from any other country in the world. Its "aliens" are not "aliens" in the same sense known to any other nations.

People who came here as immigrants have never been transients. They came here to stay and to become part of this country. They broke their ties in their homelands. They have spent all of their lives here, all of their energies, and what fortune, initiative and ability they may have possessed. Their ideas and feelings were molded here in this country. They became and are an integral and an essential part of the community known as the United States of America.

It is these and many other thoughts, fully supported by legal and sociological research, that have to be gathered into a single document. This document would then serve as a brief that can be used in the Federal courts in an effort to win reconsideration by the United States Supreme Court of its decisions in the Harisiades and Galvan cases. This document could help win from the Supreme Court a reaffirmation of basic democratic concepts which recognize the right of noncitizens who are legal residents of this country to the complete protection of the United States Constitution and its Bill of Rights.

Research for this brief would include, as a minimum, the following four points:

- 1. The place of the non-citizen in the development of the United States.
- 2. A description of the type of non-citizen being arrested in deportation proceedings, based on an analysis of the facts in the cases of the 360 non-citizens arrested in political deportation proceedings.
- 3. The origin and existence of the doctrine of plenary sovereign power over foreigners in the laws of other countries and in international law.
- 4. The anachronistic character of the 1893 judicial precedent relied upon by the courts to uphold the deportation Provisions of the Walter-McCarran Act.

The importance of this project should be self-evident. When we consider the advisability of our endorsing this project, we must bear in mind that it is of necessity an expensive project because of its scope and also because of its importance. One of our responsibilities will have to be working out ways in which we can help defray the expenses involved in carrying out this project, which has been estimated as being somewhere in the vicinity of five thousand dollars.

As we meet in this Opening Session of our National Conference, there is in progress a meeting of the Panel on Legal Defense. Attorneys from all parts of the country are discussing various legal problems in relation to the defense of the rights of foreign born Americans. High on the agenda of the Panel on Legal Defense is this all-important question of the challenge of the manner in which the courts book upon the rights of non-citizens, of working out a procedure to guarantee that we secure serious reconsideration by the Supreme Court of its attitude to the mights of the non-citizens as reflected in the Harisiades and in the Galvan decisions.

It is for us to develop the public program and campaigns that will give meaning to the efforts of the automays in the courts. It is for us to help create the public understanding and the public opinion that will serve to convince the Supreme Court of the advisability of reconsidering its recent decisions in respect to the rights of non-citizens. It is for us to stimulate the support called for by the late Supreme Court Justice Jackson, who wrote just before his death, "Any court which undertakes by its legal processes to enforce civil liberties needs the support of an enlightened and vigorous public opinion . . ."

Simultaneously with our efforts to secure reconsideration by the courts of their attitude to the rights of non-citizens, and with our campaign for repeal of the Walter-McCerran Law, we must gurrentee the most effective legal and public defense possible of the rights of those non-citizens and naturalized citizens who are being victimized by provisions of the Law.

During the past year, the Justice Department's program of arresting noncitizens in deportation proceedings elockened somewhat. Lowever, there are still about 350 non-citizens who have been amested in walter-McCarran Law deportation proceedings. About sixty denotablication proceedings are pending against naturalized American citizens. A large number of non-citizens, ordered deported but without any country to which they can be sent, face the rest of their lives in this country living under the inhuman restrictions of the Orders of Supervision.

Non-citizens live still within the shedow of McCarthyism. They are open to all forms of harassment by Justice Department agents, interviews and prying into their private thoughts and their private lives.

In the general field of the defense of the democratic rights of the foreign born, there are three areas to which major attention must be devoted: 1) Supervisory Parole; 2) Denaturalization; and 3) Deportation. In each one of these areas, it is necessary not only that we defend the rights of the individuals concerned but that we also take the offensive, going to the people and their organizations, explaining the issues and winning their support and protest.

Under the Orders of Supervision, non-citizens must report to the Justice Department in person at least once a month, give information under eath as to association and activities, submit to medical and psychiatric examination, not leave the city in which they reside without special permission of the Justice Department, disassociate from the labor and progressive movement. Violation of any of these conditions is a crime punishable by one year in Jail.

One illustration of what this means is to be found in the case of a New York deportee who became ill and was told by his physicien to go to Lakewood, New Jersey, for a few weeks. He applied with the Justice Department for permission to go to Lakewood and permission was granted. The Justice Department then asked the address to which he was going and he gave them the hade of the hotel at which he had reservations. The Justice Department told if m that, while he could go to Lakewood, he could not stay at this hotel since procumably it was run by subversives and reservations at a different hotel had to be made before written permission for him to go to Lakewood was issued by the Justice Department.

Or, in the case of another New York deportee, in June of last year, the Justice Department denied him permission to leave New York City to take employment at a summer camp because the camp was supposed to be subversive. The deportee spent the summer without employment.

There are an endless number of similar examples of the manner in which Justice Department agents - given arbitrary power - try to rule the lives of deportees. There is no appeal from these capricious and ridiculous orders. By the time the non-citizen could get a decision from any court, the summer would be over and the money and energy spent in an appeal would be wasted. The non-citizen, meanwhile, is subjected to petty tyrannies, prejudices, caprice, and untold hardships.

Fourteen non-citizens in New York City are challenging the constitutionality of the Supervisory Parole provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law. This challenge in the Federal courts was started in 1953. In 1954, a three-judge Court in New York City, in an opinion by Court of Appeals Judge Harold Medina, held that there was no issue for it to decide. But, two months ago the United States Supreme Court held that there is a constitutional issue involved and sent the case back for reconsideration and a decision on the ments. It is expected that the three-judge Court in New York will hear argument in the case again in January.

A similar challenge has been developed now in the case of Moses Resnikoff, of Chicago, Midwest representative of the Jewish daily newspaper, "The Morning Fretheit."

The Justice Department apparently found the decision by the Supreme Court, that there is a constitutional issue involved, a serious set-back.

The provisions for Supervisory Parole were first enacted in 1950, as a part of the McCarran Act. Since enactment of this provision, the Justice Department has tried to use it to force non-citizens to conform to Justice Department concept of thought and behavior. But these non-citizens resisted Justice Department efforts to regiment them. Despite the fact that these non-citizens are forced to live constantly with the fear of being framed and the fear of being railroaded to jail, they refused to submit to the Justice Department's threats and intimidation. The Supreme Court's decision served to bolster their determination not to submit to the Justice Department's demands, not to become stool-pigeons and informers, to go on fighting for democratic rights in every way that they knew how. The Supreme Court's decision held out the possibility that they could not be framed and could not be railroaded to jail.

The Justice Department moved rapidly. Two non-citizens were indicted in Chicago for violation of the Supervisory Parole provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law. James Keller and George Witkovich were indicted because the Justice Department was desperate for some means - any means - to nullify the effect of the Supreme Court decision and to carry on a program of terrorization against non-citizens.

The legal basis for the Keller and Witkovich indictments exposes the emptiness of the Justice Department's threats. The indictments were based on the sole fact that Keller and Witkovich refused to answer incriminating questions concerning their beliefs, associations, and activities. They are charged with nothing other than refusal to answer questions. Their sole "crime" is their refusal to become stool-pigeons and informers for the Justice Department.

The case of George Witkovich contains the added factor that it is an attack on the freedom of the press. Questions put to Witkovich dealt with his relations with workers on foreign language newspapers and with his normal activities as a newspaper worker.

Report - 14

The facts clearly expose the Justice Department's motivations in securing the indictment of Keller and Witkovich - to seek to intimidate and terrorize non-citizens. For one thing, it wasn't until five years after the Supervisory Parole provisions were incorporated in the Law that these two indictments were obtained. For another thing, although Keller and Witkovich have always refused to answer questions during 1953, two years ago. And, finally, the immistments were not obtained until two weeks after the United States Supreme Court said that there are serious constitutional questions involved in the Supervisory Parole provisions.

This Canference has a responsibility to establish the basis for public campaigns on all phases of the Supervisory Parole issue and to support every fight against Supervisory Parole. This is an issue that goes to the heart of civil and human rights. Despite the two-year court fight and the decision by the Supreme Court, the American people are not sufficiently aware of the problem or the issue. That will be one of our major tasks during the coming year.

Equally important to civil rights is the Justice Department's treatment of the naturalized citizen's right to his or her United States citizenship.

A little more than two years ago, the Justice Department launched this phase of its attack on the liberites of the foreign born. For a period of time, the general question of denaturalization was a matter of lawyers' motions and arguments in sourt. During the past year, however, we witnessed the phenomenon in several sittes where a United States citizen walked into court one morning and walked out of court that afternoon no longer a citizen with an immigration inspector standing at the door to greet the former citizen with a warrant for his arrest in deportation proceedings.

This is a frightening picture. A life-time spent in becoming an American citizen erased in a few brief hours of legal argument before a judge. A life-time spent as a citizen of the United States, exercising all of the rights and perogatives of citizenship, fulfilling all of the duties of sitizenship - end, with the flick of a pen, a judge strips away citizenship.

The Justice Department has threatened the American people with ten thousand denaturalizations. This would be only a start. If the Justice Department's program is allowed to start rolling, there will be bundreds of thousands of denaturalizations.

Because of the importance of this problem, we have issued a call for a special meeting, as a part of this Conference, of all citizens threatened with denatural-ization. These citizens will meet as a committee of this Conference tomorrow morning to discuss the issue of denaturalization and to try to work out urgently needed astion. The Conference Committee on Denaturalization will report on their important deliberations tomorrow afternoon.

In regard to the issue of deportation, in addition to the research project outlined previously, there are sertain eases that are of special significance.

Leon Collow, a Niles, Ohio, steelworker, is 60 years of age and has lived in the United States almost forty years. Father of nine American-born children - the class of whom is now serving as a member of the United States Army - Leon Callow faces deportation to Greece for membership in the Communist Party from 1928 to 1931. His deportation case is now pending before the United States Fourt of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Now she faces separation from her American-citizen husband and family.

Here in Detroit, Thomas Dutton, a 60-year-old pensioner who has lived in this country for forty-five years, has been ordered to surrender on December 22nd for disportation to England. Thomas Dutton made this issue in his case, as well as many other cases, crystal clear when he stated recently: "I'm an old man whose life is nearly over. I've been an American most all of my life. They've let me grow old and now they want to send me away to die."

The Heikkila and Rystad and Dutton cases symbolize the fact that those who face deportation are in no sense of the word "foreigners." They are as much American, as much a part of the United States, as any one else in the country.

Two other currently pressing cases pose the additional problem that the non-citizens face persecution and possible death if they are deported to Greece. Gus Sentes, of Pittsburgh, is 69 years old and has lived in this country 45 years. Harry Price, of Santa Clara, California, is 61 years old and has lived in this country 42 years. Both are seriously ill -- Mr. Santes with a heart condition and Mr. Price suffering from tuberculosis. Both entered this country young men - strong and healthy. Now, in their old age, they face separation from their American families and possible death in Greece if deported to that country as Communists.

An important test of the unfair deportation hearings forced upon non-citizens will be heard by the United States Supreme Court this coming year in the appeal of David Hyun, Los Angeles architect facing deportation to South Korea. The Justice Department ordered Hyun deported on the basis of a deposition, testimony taken from a witness in Lawaii while Hyun was in Los Angeles and financially unable to send an attorney to Hawaii to cross-examine the witness against him.

There are many other cases in all parts of the country that are similar to the Heikkila, Callow, Rystad, and Hyun cases. In pledging to fight against deportation, we assume responsibility to defend cases as they develop and wherever they develop.

In opposing the deportation of non-citizens, we face a special responsibility in defending the rights of Mexican immigrants. The Justice Department's treatment of the Mexican immigrant creates a special threat to the rights of the American people. In the Sauthwest, in Southern California, and in other parts of the country, the Justice Department engages in periodic round-ups of Mexican immigrants and carries out mass deportations without any hearings and without any consideration of the human beings involved.

But, it is not only the Mexican non-citizen who is treated in this inhuman and indecent fashion. Many persons born in the United States of Mexican descent suffer equally at the hands of the Justice Department.

Bernardo Diaz, for instance, was born in La Habra, California. In 1945, he was tried and convicted for going AWOL from the Army and served one and one-half years in Leavenworth Penitentiary. After completing his sentence, he returned to La Habra, married, and raised a family of six children. In January 1955, Dermardo

Diaz went to Mexico for a visit. When he tried to return to his family, he was ordered excluded by the immigration authorities on the ground that he had lost his United States citizenship as a result of his conviction, anyone convicted of desertion from the Army during war-time is ineligible to citizenship, and the Walter-McCarran Law provides that persons ineligible to citizenship be excluded from the country.

One final issue to which we must give consideration is the case of Knut Heikkinen, of Superior, Wisconsin. As noted previously, Knut Heikkinen's conviction and ten-year jail sentence for failure to apply for a passport after being ordered deported was reversed by the Federal Court of Appeals in Chicago. Now, the Justice Department is going ahead with preparations for a second trial, to be held in Madison, Wisconein, some time in January. Knut Heikkinen faces again the threat of jail in this Walter-McCarran Law frame-up.

These are the major issues in the defense of the rights of the foreign born that confront us today as we meet in Conference. These are the issues that will be discussed in our panels, committees, and other meetings and sessions. We have a responsibility to guarantee the fullest possible consideration of these issues by this Conference, from which is to come the general program to guide the work of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born during the coming year.

In discussing these issues, we have the special responsibility to utilize fully our imagination and initiative to help formulate action programs that will seek to bring these issues to the attention and consideration of ever larger numbers of individuals and organizations.

At the same time, we must devise ways and means of stimulating other sections of the population to act on their own, if they won't act with us, in defense of these very same issues to which we are going to be devoting ourselves. Supreme Court Justice Warren recently quoted the Athenian thinker, Solon, who was asked how justice could be secured in Athens and who replied: "If those who are not injured feel as indignant as those who are."

We have noted a change in the general attitudes of the American people to the repression and hysteria of the post-Second World War days. Many additional thousands upon thousands of Americans will feel indignant at the injuries inflicted upon the foreign born if they get to learn the facts and are informed as to what has happened and what is happening. It is for us to see to it that the people are informed so that they can give expression to their indignation.

The Panel on Trade Unions, for instance, has before it the fact that the American labor movement is reunited and a more powerful force in the life of the country than ever before. Interesting trade union groups and trade unionists in the fight to defend the rights of the foreign born has become more important today than at any time in the history of our Committee.

The Trade Union Panel can make a real contribution to our deliberations by giving serious consideration to what the American Committee can do while at the same time considering what can be done to secure action for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law by forces within the organized labor movement not connected with our organization and forces unwilling to be connected with our Committee in any way.

The same is true for the other Panel and Committee meetings, and especially for the meetings of National Groups this afternoon. The national groups especially can make important contributions by developing activities and campaigns within their communities, since national group communities today are really a cross section of the American people and have a high percentage of trade uniquists who should be especially aware of the problems facing the foreign born.

Report - 17

in addition to considering the general problems existing in the defense of the rights of the foreign born, this Conference has the added responsibility of considering how best to defend the defender of the foreign born.

The American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born is as much under attack today as any of the four hundred citizens and non-citizens it is defending.

Two weeks ago, the Justice Department completed presentation of its so-celled testimony in the case of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born tofcre the Subversive Acitvities Control Board, in Washington, D. C.

Between June 21st and November 29th, the Department of Justice used seventeen so-called witnesses in thirty days, 257 exhibits, and 3,500 pages of what it calls testimony to try to establish that the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born is a "communist-front" organization.

I sat through each one of those thirty days, listened to all of the testimony, and I must share with you my complete bewilderment.

The only thing the Justice Department proved in the course of those thirty days is that the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, since the first day it was organized in 1933, has consistently defended the democratic rights of foreign born Americane; fought deportation and denaturalization and discrimination; opposed alien-baiters like Dies and Reynolds, Walter and McCarran; defended the rights of the foreign born regardless of their race, color, creed, national origin or political opinions.

The Justice Department does not seek to illegalize our Committee because we are a "communist front" organization. They never proved it - and they couldn't prove it. The Justice Department seeks to illegalize our Committee because we have never swerved from our avowed purposes, which are in every sense of the word legal and unassailable.

We are now in the process of preparing for our defense. On December 13th, our attorney in the SACB proceeding, Joseph Forer, of Wesnington, will submit in our behalf a series of motions. At this time, we expect that our defense will be opened formally on Tuesday, December 20th, with our first witness being Professor Louise Pettibone Smith, our Honorary Co-Chairman.

Others who have agreed to give testimony in our defense are Bishop Arthur W. Moulton, of Salt Lake City; Bishop Walter Mitchell, of Rancho Santa Fe, California; Professor Anton J. Carlson, of the University of Chicago; Reverend Mark Chamberlin, of Gresham, Oregon, secretary of the Methodist Federation fo Social Action; Professor Robert Mores Lovett, former Government Secretary of the Virgin Islands under President Roosevelt.

But, the case of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born - no more than the case of any non-citizen or naturalized citizen - is not going to be won within the four walls of a hearing room. We stand as much chance of winning our case before the Subversive Activities Control Board as a non-citizen has of winning his deportation case before the Justice Department.

The only way we will be able to defeat this attack on the American Committee is by the organization of mass protest, by winning public suport for our right to defend the liberties of foreign born Americans.

Report - 18

Simultaneously with these proceedings before the Subversive Activities Control Board, New York State Attorney General Jacob K. Javits has launched an attack upon our Committee with the avowed intention of moving for the registration of our Committee under the New York State Charity Laws. Mr. Javits maintains we are a charity because we raise funds to help people by fighting for their civil rights.

Between Mr. Brownell and Mr. Javits, apparently, we will have to describe ourselves as a "charitable communist-front" organization. But, between Mr. Brownell and Mr. Javits, the American Committee has become an impossible contradiction.

In Washington before the Subversive Activities Control Board, Mr. Brownell seeks our registration - and illegalization - and one of his grounds is that we receive money from the Communist Party.

In New York State, Mr. Javits seeks our registration - or liquidation - and one of his grounds is that we raise money as a charity and turn the money over to the Communist Party.

This, I saw, is an impossible contradiction. Somebody must be wrong - either Mr. Brownell in Washington or Mr. Javits in New York. We obviously cannot be doing both - taking money from the Communist Party and giving money to the Communist Party, since that would be a completely fruitless procedure.

However, we don't have to concern ourselves with which Attorney General is wrong. They are both wrong - dead wrong.

It is you gathered here at this Conference and people like you in all parts of the country who have made it possible for the American people to exist and to function these past 23 years. Mr. Brownell is completely wrong - our funds come from the people and people's organizations. Mr. Javits is just as wrong - the only people to whom we give any money, when we have it, is to our creditors - to printers and stationers, to the United States post-office for stamps and to our landlord.

But, even though mutually exclusive by their grounds, Mr. Brownell and Mr. Javits will press their individual actions. We will start the defense of the American Committee before the Subersive Activities Control Board on December 20th. And, as executive secretary of the American Committee, I am ordered to appear in the New York State Supreme Court on January 12th with the books and records of the American Committee and to submit myself to an examination by Mr. Javits.

Because of the importance of this issue, we have set aside a one-hour period immediately following lunch this afternoon for a Conference-wide session on the defense of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. Prof. Louise Fettibone Smith will chair that session and the reporters will be Joseph Forer, of W shington, D.C., our attorney in the SACB proceeding, and Gloria Agrin, of New York, associated with Blanch Freedman as our counsel in the New York State proceeding.

Others who fight for the rights of foreign-born Americans find themselves similarly under attack.

Rose Chernin, executive director of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, is involved in two proceedings. Her conviction and five-year jail sentence under the infamous Smith Act is now before the United States Supreme Court. In addition, the Justice Department has started denaturalization proceedings against Mrs. Chernin, seeking to take away the citizenship she obtained in 1928.

Report - 19

Saul Grossman, executive secretary of the Michigan Committee for Protection of Foreign Bolm, was sentenced to serve one year in jail for contempt of Congress because he refused to cooperate with the House Committee on Un-American Activities when ordered to produce the books and records of the Michigan Committee. Fr. Grossman's conviction is now on appeal before the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

These attacks on our organization and on individuals active in this movement for the defense of the rights of foreign born Americans have failed in their first objective, as they will in all of their objectives.

Despite the fact that, for six months, the American Committee has been on trial in Washington - with all of the work end attention and energies and funds involved as a result - all phases of the Committee's work and program was not diminished in the slightest, principally as a result of the devotion and work of my associates on the staff of the American Committee - Harriet Barron, administrative secretary, and Aleo Jones, assistant secretary.

The Justice Department has discovered that it could not prevent the American Committee from carrying on its work by scheduling hearings in Washington. We simultaneously organized and carried out our campaigns, tours, meetings, banquets, conferences, and other activities.

One obvious purpose of these attacks on the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born is to divert its funds, to benkrupt the organization and interfere with its work in defense of the rights of the foreign born. This is a real danger, We have been able so far to defend the American Committee and simultaneously continue its work in defense of the foreign born in large part by utilizing our credit and good will. This, of course, is a situation which cannot continue indefinitely.

The American Committee today is faced with important commitments to attorneys and to others. These commitments must be met as speedily as possible if we are to be in position to function effectively as an organization.

We propose, therefore, that this National Conference initiate an Emergency Campaign to raise funds for the defense of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born and set itself the goal of raising $10,000 by March 31st. That is a minimum. It has to be understood also that this is a special fund to be used for the defense of the American Committee.

We urge all panels and committees of this Conference, as well as State Delegations and all other bodies, to consider in the course of their meetings today and tomorrow what they can do to fulfill this goal by March 31st and what pledges they can make this week-end for this purpose.

The fulfillment of this Emergency Fund Campaign will enable the American Committee to devote itself to the all-important task of defending the rights of the foreign born while effectively defending the American Committee. The summary program of action, which this Conference has to consider, therefore, would in the main be as follows:

1. Repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law. Special Attention to the Second Cession of the 84th Congress when it reconvenes in January 1956 - attempting to secure action by the Senate Judiciary Committee and support in the House of Representatives for the Anfuso Discharge Petition on H.R. 501. Securing commitments from all candidates for office in the 1956 national and local elections in reference to the Walter-McCarran Law and the defense of the rights of the foreign born.

...eport _ 20

- 2. Supervisory Parole. Full support for the challenge pending in the rederal courts in the case of the 14 non-citizens in New York and in the case of the 14 non-citizens in New York and in the case of Moses Resnikoff, in Chicago. Full support for the defense of James Keller and George Witkovich, of Chicago.
- 3. Denaturalization. The preparation of special literature in defense of the rights of naturalized American citizens. The launching of special campaigns against the Justice Department's denaturalization program. Full defense of the rights of each citizen threatened with revocation of his or her citizenship.
- 4. Deportation. Full support and defense of Leon Callow, of Milos, Chio; David Hyum, of Los /ngeles; Gus Santes, of Pittsburgh; Harry Price, of Senta Clara, California; William Heikkila, of San Francisco; Mrs. Tora Rystad, of Seattle; Thomas Dutton, of Detroit; and all other non-citizens who are threatened with deportation and separation from their American families and friends.
- 5. Defense of Knut Heikkinen, of Superior, Wisconsin, who faces a ten-year jeil sentence under a Walter-McCarren Law frame-up for failing to apply for a passport after having been ordered deported to Finland.
  - 6. Defense of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

These six points represent a minimum Action Program to be considered by this Conference, in penels and committee meetings. It is proposed for your consideration as the Action Program to be carried out during the coming year by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born.

The American Committee is in an excellent position to work for the fulfillment of this kind of program. It has available a wealth of experience and a reservoir of support that provides the organization with an excellent opportunity to make a real contribution to the fight to prestablish democratic rights in the United States today.

Outstanding among those who have made - and will undoubtedly continue to make - important contributions in all phases of our work are the officers of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born - Bishop Arthur W. Moulton, of Salt Lake City; Professor Louise Pettibone Smith, of Hartford; the Reverend Kenneth Chipley Forbes, of Philadelphia; and Mr. George B. Murphy, Jr., of Washington, D. C.

Throughout the country, local committees have developed their own programs and carried on effective work in defense of the foreign born in their communities. It is heartening to observe the manner in which prominent citizens are coming forward to give leadership to their communities in this work, such as Bishop Walter idtchell and the Reverend Stephen Fritchman, in Los Angeles; Reverend Clarence Herriott, in San Francisco; Reverend Mark Chamberlin, in Portland; Reverend John Caughlan, in Seattle; Professors Anton J. Carlson and Robert Mores Lovett, in Chicago; Reverend Paul Allured, Reverend Charles Hill and Professor C.L. Header, here in Detroit; the Reverend Kenneth Ripley Forbes, in Philadelphia; and Professor Louise Pettibone Smith, in New England.

This conference should take note also of the important work carried out by defense committees in national groups communities throughout the country, especially among Finnish-Americans, Hungarian-Americans, Russian-Americans, Bulgarian-Americans, Rumanian-Americans, and Jewish-Americans.

During the past ten years, we have gone through a difficult period in the life of the American people as a result of the hysteria, tension, fear, and intimidation to which they have been subjected.

Report - 21

But, in the course of these ten years, we have seen developed organizations throughout the country dedicated to the defense of the rights of those under direct attack. Today, there are more than seventy committees throughout the country devoting themselves exclusively to some phase or phases of our general program.

As we enter a new period in the life of the American people, as the country sheds the operations of hysteria, there organizations can serve as a mighty force to help eliminate the remnents of hysteria and to enable the American people to shed completely the effects of the hysteria and to return to democratic normalcy.

But, we must recognize that we cannot achieve this objective by ourselves. No matter how powerful we might be or become - and we are far from powerful enough - we could never by ourselves achieve what can be achieved only by the people themselves.

We must set as our goel the rallying of as many sections of the people as we can while simultaneously spurring to activity in parallel action those other sections of the population.

We are confident that the American people, in their wisdom, will right those many wrongs of which we complain. We are confident that the essential decency and the democratic faith that is a part of the people of this country will gain expression. That the mighty force of the people, in fulfillment of our heritage and in keeping with our traditions, will sweep away all McCarthyite remnents of the rost-World War Two hysteria and will return our country to the democratic path, to the road leading to peace and humanity and brotherhood.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

REPEAL THE WALTER-MCCARRAN LAW

The Walter-McCarran Law has been condemned by the overwhelming majority of the frecicen people as fascist, discriminatory, and repressive. It seeks to use the non-citizen as a scape-goat in order to legitimatize police-state conditions of living for the American people. It discriminates against most of the peoples of the world in its immigration sections. It jeoperaises the status of American citizens by making (second-class" citizens of naturalized Americans.

Due to its general repressive and discriminatory character, the Walter-McCarron Lew is totally unacceptable. Each section of the Lew reflects the bias of those who were responsible for drafting it and securing its enactment by Congress over the President's veto in June 1952.

Therefore, we call on the Congress of the United States to repeal the Walter-licCorran Law and to adopt an immigration and naturalisation law that would be in keeping with our democratic traditions. We propose that the following principles serve as a guide for the major provisions of a new immigration and nationality Law:

- 1. Any non-citizen who has livid in the United States for two years or more, it entry was in accordance with law, should be permitted to become an American citizen by appearing in Open Court and taking an oath of allegiance to the Constitution.
- 2. Iny non-citizen who has lived in the United States for five years or more should not be threatened with deportation for any reason whatsoever.
- 3. A naturalized citizen should not be threatened with cancellation of citizenship for any reason whatsoever, unless it was obtained by clear fraud; and then only if denaturalization proceedings are initiated within five years of the genting of naturalization.
- 4. Emmigration should be permitted without discrimination as to country of bitth, ace, color, creed, or political belief, with full utilization of the established quota.
- 5. At no time should a non-citizen be denied the protection of any provision of the Bill of Rights, especially those sections dealing with the right to bell and freedom of speech, belief and association.
- is the first steps toward realization of that principle we call for the following action in Congress:

SERVITE: In view of the Kilgore hearings we urge that individuals and organizations bring pressure for a full report from the Kilgore hearings. Also that Senators be visited and urged to bring to the floor for a vote on a bill to mencal or revise the Walter-McCarran Law.

HOUSE: A concerted campaign to have Congressmen sign the Anguso Discharge petition which would bring HR 501 out of Committee to the Floor for a vots. H.3. 501, the Anguso Bill, established a statute of limitations relative to deportation and denaturalization and eases the radist and discriminatory immigration provisions of the Walter-McCauran Law.

DEFEND THE RICHTS OF FORLICH BORN AMERICANS

Attacks on the rights of 14,000,000 foreign-born Americans violate the democratic traditions of the American people and endanger the liberties of all Americans. A major threat to the civil and human rights of non-citizens and naturalized American citizens is contained in the many repressive policestate provisions of the Welter-McCarren Law.

The Welter-McCarran Law provides more than 125 grounds for the deportation of non-citizens without any regard to the length of time the non-citizen may have lived here. It contains numerous grounds for the densturalization of naturalized citizens without any regard to the length of time a person may have been a citizen.

Mon-citizens can be subjected to all kinds of harassment and persecution under the Walter-McCarren Law. They can be arrested without a warrant and denied bail if accested in deportation proceedings. They must report their address, and supply other information, once a year to the Attorney General. They must carry on their person at all times their Alien Registration Cards, which serves to establish a Gestapo pass system in the United States. Violation of any of these provisions is punishable by a jail sentence, fine, and then deportation.

The status of three million non-citizens living in the United States today, denied all democratic rights and denied the full protection of the Bill of Rights, cleates serious dangers to the liberties of all Americans.

We call for an end to the alien registration provisions of the Walter-

We call for an end to the alien registration provisions of the Walter-McCarren Lev, as well as for an end to the provisions ordering non-citizens to report annually, to report a change of address, or to carry on their person at all times an Alien Registration Card. We call on the American people and their organizations to fight to re-establish the democratic rights of all non-citizens in the United States as essential to the preservation of American liberties. We call on the American people to defeat the attempt to force naturalized Americans into the status of "second-class" citizens. We demand that the Bill of Rights of the United States Constitution apply to all within our bonders.

RESOLUTION ON DEFENSE OF THE AMERICAN COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF FOREIGN BORN

Fo. 23 years, the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born has served the American people and the cause of human liberty by defending the democratic lights of non-citizens and naturalized citizens and helping foreign-born Americans with problems resulting from their foreign birth. The program and work of the Committee has been commended and supported by Americans in all walks of life, including Franklin Delano Accesselt, Wendell Wilde, Cordell Hull, Harold Ickes, and many others. We regard the program and works of the American Committee as vital to the existence of democratic liberties in the United States.

We view with grave concern, therefore, the attempt that is being made by the Attorney General to outlaw the American Committee and prevent it from carrying on its work in defense of foreign-born Americans and the Bill of Rights. We condemn the Attorney Germeral's action in petitioning the Subversive Activities Control Board to order the American Committee to register as a "Communist-front" organization as an attack on the liberties of all Americans.

It is our feeling that these proceedings are an attempt by the Attorney General to eliminate the organization because it defends the rights of noncitizens and naturalized citizens against whom the Attorney General has initiated Walter-EcCarran Law proceedings. We are aware of the fact that the Attorney General has not renounced his intention to deport 12,000 non-citizens and deneturalize 10,000 citizens. It is our opinion that the Attorney General seeks to outlaw the American Committee in order to make possible the success of his widespread attack on the Bill of Rights as represented in these 22,000 proceedings.

We likewise condemn, for the reasons already stated the proceedings initiated against the American Committee by New York State Attorney General Jacob K. Javits. Attorney General Javits, under the flimmy charge that the function Committee is violating the State law relative to charitable and millenthropic organizations, is demanding the production of American Committee books, records and correspondence.

We esslive to defend to the limit the might of the American Committee to garry on its work. We pledge our complete support for the Committee in its defense against both the New York State and the United States Attorney's General fentastic charges. We pledge to rally all forces we can to protest these unjustified proceedings.

FUND IRIVE - It is recognized that in order for the American Committee to defrey the costs of defense against these attacks special steps must be taken. Therefore, this Conference goes on record approving the launching of a $10,000 Fund Drive to commence on January 1, 1956, and to end March 31, 1956. Inherent in the authorization of the Fund Drive is the cooperation of all representatives of organizations delegated to attend this conference as well as individuals and observers.

RESOLUTION ON DEPORTATION

More than 340 non-citizens have been arrested and face deportation under the political deportation provisions of the Walter-McCarran law. In each instance, the non-citizen is a long-time resident of the United States and has sought to bolster the democratic traditions of this country. In each instance, the non-citizen has worked to build the labor and progressive movement in the United States, for which activities they today face separation from family and friends through deportation.

Therefore, this Conference goes on record condemning the deportation provisions of the Walter-McCarran Lew and demends that no person who has resided here for more than 5 years be deported for any reason, and that any non-citizen who has lived here for two years or more be permitted to become an fame ican citizen.

DESOLUTION ON SUPERVISORY PAROLE

The Walter-McCarran Law provision authorizing Supervisory Parole for certain non-citizens is abhorrent to the American concept of democracy. This outrajeous provision subjects non-citizens who cannot be deported, since no country will accept them as deportees, to virtual house arrest. They must report in person periodically to immigration officers; submit to "medical and psychiatric examination"; "give information under oath" as to their associations and activities; "conform to much reasonable written restrictions on conduct or activities as a encesoribed by the Attorney General." These "restrictions" include disassociation from the Communist Party or any so-called affiliate of the Communist Party, which is intended to force non-citizens to discontinue any association with the labor and progressive movement. Failure to commly with these Supervisory Parole conditions is a criminal offense pumishable by one-year imprisonment.

Untold hardship, insulting treatment and unwarranted indignities are accorded non-citizens placed on Supervisory Parole. In many instances, the non-citizen cannot secure or hold a job as a result of having to report once a week in person. Vi.tual isolation from family and friends would often be necessary to comply with these odious conditions.

Since 1993, fourteen non-citizens in New York City have been challenging in the Federal courts all sections of the Supervisory Parole provisions of the Walter-McCarran Low. Recently, the United States Supreme Court held in these cases that there is an important constitutional issue involved and that the District Court has to to take evidence and rule on the issues.

Ten days after the Supreme Court decision, indictments were obtained by the Justice Department against James Keller and George Witkovich, in Chicago, for violation of their Supervisory Parole in "wilfully refusing to answer questions" regarding their activities, habits and associations. The threat to jail James Keller and George Witkovich is an attempt by the Justice Department to use the Supervisory Parole provisions to terrorize and intimidate non-citizens in an effort to prevent them from exercising their constitutional and democratic rights.

We conderm the Supervisory Parole provisions of the Walter-NcCarran Law as police-state procedures reminiscent of Nazi Germany. We call for an end to this harassment of honest and law-abiding non-citizens.

We pledge our complete support to the test of the constitutionality of Supervisory Parole which will come before a three-judge court in New York early in 1956. We pledge our full support to the defense of James Keller and George Witkovich.

RESOLUTION OF JAMES KELLER AND GLORGE WITKOVICH

James Keller and George Witkovich, of Chicago, Illinois, are the first non-citizens to have been indicted anywhere in the United States for alleged violation of the Walter-McCarran Law Supervisory Parole provisions.

Exercising their constitutional rights, Keller and Witkovich refused to give testimony relative to themselves or others when questioned by Justice Department agents.

This Conference views the indictment of Mr. Keller and Mr. Witkovich as an outragous attempt at intimidation of non-citizens. We pledge our fullest support to Mr. Keller and Mr. Witkovich in their efforts to defeat this frame-up.

RESOLUTION ON DENATURALIZATION

The Walton-McCarran law seeks to establish two classes of citizenship - one for the native born and one for the naturalized citizen. Provisions of the Law adecree that naturalized citizens can lose their citizenship practically at the whim of Justice Department officials. But, citizenship, according to statements by the Attorney General, is "Precious." It should not be something easily taken away. We find, however, that more than 60 naturalized citizens - active marticipants in lobe, fraternal and community organizations - are today faced with proceedings to revoke their citizenship despite the fact that they have been citizens for many years.

Therefore, this Conference condemns the denaturalization proceedings initiated against more than 60 naturalized citizens on political grounds under the Walter-McCarran Lew and pledges support to all whose citizenship is under attack, especially in the cases of Stanley Novak, of Detroit; Charles Collins, of New York; Paul Novick, of New York; and Rose Chemin of Los Angeles. We reject this attempt to use the Walter-McCarran Law as a vehicle to establish a status of second-class citizenship for naturalized Americans as a threat to the citizenship rights of all Emaidens, native as well as foreign born.

RESOLUTION ON STELLA BROWN

Stella Brown, a resident of Detroit is fighting a six month jail sentence for contempt of court. Mrs. Brown's so-called contempt arose during her denaturalization trial when she refused to ensure questions relative to her political activities and associations after becoming a citizen in 1946.

This Conference goes on record supporting Mrs. Brown's fight against this contempt citation.

RISOLUTION ON IECAL PROSPECTUS

The time has come for a new approach in defense of persons arrested for political deportation. An approach which will enable the U.S. Supreme Court to have a "sec.nd look" in determing deportability beyond the narrow confines as expressed in the Walter McCarran Law.

The foundation upon which the structure of Judicial apologia rests for the validation of oppressive anti-foreign born legislation is the thesis that a sovereign nation may exercise a plenary power over the lives of foreigners within its borders.

This country, however, has neither the moral nor the legal nor the historical right to the plane by exercise of such power. Its national development and growth have made it different, in this respect, from any other country in the world. Its "aliens" are not "aliens" in the sense known to any other nation. After the first group of immignants, who were driven here from their homelands, most Americans were invited here, urged to come.

Like their earlier prototypes, latter-day immigrants were not transients; they came to stay, to become part of America. They broke from their old countries; even the ties of family soon withered and disappeared. They put down roots here; they raised families here. They and their children today enhance our arts, sciences and professions, till our soil and men our industries. They are more alien to the countries of their birth than to this country in which their mature years and one gies were spent and in which they formed their philosophical approach to life.

There are approximately 360 political deportation cases pending at the present time. When the Palmor Raid cases came before the courts in 1920, all of the cases in a particular area came before the same judge at the same time. A courageous judge (like Federal Judge Inderson of Boston), could therefore evaluate the whole "deportation hysteria" in New England and could deal with it so effectively (in his decision in Colyer v Skeffington) that the number of deportations was kept to an absolute minimum (4 deportations out of 1000 arrests), and the Justice Department and F.B.I. were excoriated for their illegal practices. Today the arrests are made one-by-one, first in one area, then in another, first in one language-group, then in another. As a result, the courts are not able to evaluate the deportation drive as a whole.

Our ployosal is for a socio-legal document in the field of law that will lay the foundation for the creation of a new legal doctrine to govern the rights and disabilities of non-citizens.

We, therefore, move that this National Conference instruct the American Committee to undertake this as one of the major projects in 1956.

RESOLUTION OF DEFENSE OF THE RIGHTS OF FOREIGN BORN WOMEN

Of the almost 400 non-citizens and naturalized citizens threatened in Walter-McCarren Lev proceedings, there are 63 women facing deportation and 9 women facing denaturalization. Of these 63 women, five are over 70; 16 are over 60; and 28 are over 50. Six have lived in the United States for over 50 years; 40 have lived here more than 40 years. They are mothers of 116 children; 24 are grandmothers and several are great-grandmothers.

These women have devoted themselves to their families and communities. Some are now ill and, at this moment of their lives when they need rest and peace. they are havessed and threatened with exile from their homes and families. It is to the everlasting shame of the Justice Department, whose barbarity is evidenced in its general treatment of non-citizens, that this particularly brutal and scandalous treatment of foreign-born women persists.

This Conference condems the destruction of American homes and families as a result of Welter-McCarran Law proceedings. This Conference pledges to bring the unusual cauelty of women's deportitions to the special attention of other organizations the outhout the country. This Conference urges that committees be organized around women's cases in every area, whose purpose should be concentration on these cases, on defense of the home, children and family and for repeal of the Walter-McCarran Law.

DEPORTATION TO MEXICO

Each year, the Immigration and Naturalization Service deports many hundreds of thousands of meonle to Mexico. These deportations are effected by mass arrests without warrants and mass deportations without hearings. The objective of these recurrent mess deportation drives is the terrorization and intimidation of Mexican communities in the United States. We condemn the brutal and illegal mass roundups, mass amests without warrents, and mass deportations without hearings of United States residents to Mexico. We call for an end to this brutal and inhuman treatment of 'mericans of Mexican birth or descent and demand full observance of the principles of due process guaranteed all persons under the Constitution.

- In line with those views, this Conference adopts the following program:
- 1. Place before the United Nations Human Rights Commission the plight of
- millions of agricultural workers in the Southwest.

  2. Fight the use of the deportation threat as an anti-labor weapon by wirming minimum ways standards and social security for all agricultural workers, regardless of citizenship status.
- 3. Win fo. Mexican nationals the right to adjust their status to permanent residence after living here for two years and to facilitate their naturalization.
- 4. Winfor Mexican immigrants due process in deportation proceedings, especially the right to counsel, the right to qualified interpreters, the right to hearings.

RESOLUTION ON TRADE UNIONS

A.F. of L., C.I.O. and independent unions have all roundly condemned the Walter-McCarran Law and urged its revision or repeal. The unified demand by labor that the Walter-McCarran Law be changed can be chalked up to a recognition by labor that this Law is an anti-labor Law, which can be wielded both to deprive labor of its most militent leadership and as a strike-breaking weapon.

Of the 400 non-citizens and naturalized citizens threatened in the Walter-McCarran Law proceedings, 90 are active trade unionists - 75 facing deportation and 14 facing denaturalization. Across the country, we see flagrant persecution of trade union leaders and members; James Metles, UE; Louis Weinstock, Printers; James Lustig, UE; Frank Benetti, Teamsters; Jack Schneider, Furriers; Joe Lukas, Typographe s; John Nabeshka, Shoe; Charles Collins, Food; and many others, whose only conceivable 'crime' could be their, efforts to secure better working conditions for themselves and their fellow Americans.

This Conference condemns the Justice Department's utilization of the Walter-McCarran Law to threaten and intimidate trade unionists and to seek to use it in an effort to denrive the labor movement of its most capable organizers. We pledge our full support to all trade unionists who are under Walter-McCarran Law attack.

RESOLUTION ON LEON CALLOW

For more than 19 years, Leon Callow has been fighting deportation proceedings. Father of nine U-S Born childre, one of whom is in the Armed Forces, Leon Callow's case is today on appeal in the U.S. Court of Appeals in Cincinnetti, Ohio. The injustice and inhumanity of the Walter-McCarran Law is epitomized by the Justice Department's attempt to destroy this family through the deportation of its breadwinner, Leon Callow.

This Conference condemns the deportation proceedings initiated against Mr. Callow and pledges to fight to win for Leon Callow the right to remain in this land where he has spent most of his life with his family.

RESOLUTION ON DAVID HYUN

The case of David Hyum, Los Angeles architect and Korean-born peace-fighter, will be heard shortly by the United States Supreme Court. Mr. Hyum, seeking to remain in the United States with his family and friends has been ordered deported to South Korea.

This Conference pledges its support to  $D_q$  vid Hyun in his fight to remain in this land where he belongs with his family.

RESOLUTION ON FRANCES VIVIAN

On trial for refusing to answer questions under oath relative to a naturalized citizen, Miss Frances Vivian is appealing her case to the United States Supreme Court. Here is the first case where a native born American has been indicted for refusing to become an informer against a naturalized citizen whose citizenship the Justice Department is investigating.

This Conference pledges support to Miss Vivian's fight.

RESOLUTION ON CLAUDIA JONES

On December 9th, Claudia Jones left the United States for London, England. A victim of both the Smith Act and the Walter-McCarran Law, Miss Jones had been incarcerated for a sentence of one year and a day in the Alderson. West Virginia, Women's Jail on a Smith Act conviction.

Despite her heart condition, the Justice Department had sought the immediate deportation of Miss Jones following her release from Alderson. Miss Jones was forced to withdraw her challenge of the original order of deportation entered against her because of her health, and accepted voluntary deportation December 9th.

This Conference goes on record condemning the Justice Department's persecution of this Negro woman leader and sends a message of solidarity and fraternity to Miss Jones in England.

RESOLUTION ON KNUT HEIKKINEN

Under the Walter-McCarran Law, it is a criminal offense, punishable by ten years in jail, for a non-citizen ordered deported to fail or refuse to cooperate in carrying out his own deportation.

Knut Heikkinen, 65 years old editorial worker for the Finnish-American daily 'Tyomies-Eteepain' of Superior, Wisconsin, was so convicted and sentenced to 10 years in jail. His case has been ordered retried and will come to trial on January 9, 1956.

This Conference condemns this provision of the Walter-McCarran Law and pledges full support to Mr. Heikkinen in his fight.

Resolutions - 8

RESOLUTION ON IMMIGRATION

The Walter-McCarran Law establishes in immigration the jim-crow and anti-Semitic policies too long a blot on the American scene. Through this Law, the United States has adopted the master-race theory of Hitler Germany and scuttled the fundamental spirit of brotherhood which is a cornerstone of democracy.

The Philippine Islands, Korea, Japan, China, Burma, Indonesia along with other Asian countries - are lumped together into a so-called Asia-Pacific Triangle, in which almost two-thirds of the world's population lives. This densely populated area is given a quota of not rore than 2,000 persons who can enter the United States in any one year.

Although Great Britain is given a quota of 65,000 a year, immigration from the British West Indies is limited to 100 a year within this 65,000 quota. The countries of Northern and Western Europe are given quotas completely out of line with their population or needs, while the countries of Eastern and Southern Europe are given ridiculously low quotas in a discriminatory fashion. Exchange of scientific and cultural ideas are drastically limited by the curbing of leaders in these fields from entering the United States except under the sharpest egrutiny and investigation of their ideas and activities.

This is the pattern of discrimination embodied in the Walter-McCarran Law. It is a pattern which is consistently discriminatory. The most cursory examination of the quota procedure shows that color or descent becomes a yardstick of acceptance within our borders. This Conference views this shameful policy as one which fosters hatred and prejudice. We condemn this policy and support the adoption of an immigration policy without discrimination as to place of birth, color, race, religion, or political belief.

RESOLUTION ON NATURALIZATION

The atmosphere of hysteria and political discrimination engendered by the Immigration and Naturalization Service interferss with naturalization of thousands of non-citizens in the United States. Many thousands of non-citizens have been waiting for years to become citizens while their applications are investigated and re-investigated. These people have lived and worked all of their lives in this country and qualify for the rights of citizenship. This Conference condemns the unnecessary red tape and political discrimination which prevents thousands of non-citizens from becoming American citizens.

THE IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE

Since the Immigration and Naturalization Service is a part of the Justice Department, non-citizens are placed under the supervision of the police agency of the government, which is incapable of dealing with 3,000,000 non-citizens in a decent and humane manner.

This Conference urges the Congress of the United States to remove the Immigration and Naturalization Service from the Jurisdiction of the Justice Department and establish it as an independent agency of the government.

RESOLUTION ON ROSE CHERNIN

Mrs. Rose Chermin, executive director of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, has been convicted under the Smith Act and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. She is awaiting appeal of her case before the U.S. Supreme Court. Simultaneously, she has been fighting a Walter-McCarran Law attempt to deprive her of her citizenship. It is obvious that these persecutions of Mrs. Chermin derive from outstanding leadership and uncessing fight in defense of foreign-born Americans.

This Conference condemns the unwarranted persecution of Rose Chernin and pledges its support to her fight to preserve her citizenship and to prevent her imprisonment.

RESOLUTION ON SAUL GROSSMAN

Saul Grossman, exocutive secretary of the Michigan Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, has been convicted of contempt of Congress for his refusal to turn the books and records of his Committee over to the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He is now appealing the one-year jail sentence imposed on him.

There is no doubt that this attempt to imprison Soul Grossman is based on his leadership of the Michigan Committee and his devotion to the protection of the rights of foreign-born Americans.

This Conference commends Saul Grossman for his courage and fortitude in withholding the names of hundreds of contributors to the defense of the rights of the foreign born since their livelihood would be jeopardized. This Conference pledges its support to the fight to reverse Saul Grossman's conviction, which is now bending before the Federal Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia.

RESOLUTION ON EXPENSES

Whereas, during the past several years, various advances for travel and other expesses have been made to various person engaged in activity for or in behalf of ACFFE, which advances were charged to Abner Green for convenience pending the accounting for travel and other expenses, and WHEREAS during said period a total of $1,707.12 has not been either returned to ACFFB or accounted for and remains charged to Abner Green, although he personally did not receive said advances

Therefore, Be it Resolved that said sum of $1,707.12 shall be charged to Sundry Expenses instead of being charged to Abner Green.

RESOLUTION ON NEW YORK COMMITTEE

This 23rd Annual National Conference hereby authorizes the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born to assume all outstanding liabilities incurred by the New York Committee. This Conference ratifies whatever action has been taken by the American Committee to date in this respect.

MRSSAGES TO LOUIS WEINSTOCK: ALEXANDER BITTLEMAN: BETTY GANNETS V.J. JEROME

Alexander Bittleman and Betty Cannet are unable to participate in our Conference deliberations for they are serving prison terms under a Smith Act conviction. Faced with Walter-McCarran Law deportation proceedings, their absence today as well as that of V.J. Jerome and Louis Weinstock who face Walter-McCarran Law depaturalization proceedings, and are likewise imprisoned under the Smith Act, attests to the encreachments made upon political rights in this land.

This Conference greets, Louis Weinstock, Alexander Bittleman, Betty Cannett and V. J. Jerome, and sends them messages of solidarity and fraternity. We pledge that upon the completion of their sentences we shall fight in their behalf against the Walter-McCarran Law proceedings initiated against them.

RESOLUTION ON FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

To date a score of editors and staff members of National Group press have been arrested for deportation or had denaturalization proceedings initiated against them as the first step toward their deportation.

These proceedings, under the Welter-McCarran Law are premeditated and designed not only to intimidate editors and editorial workers, but also to frighten readers of the press through attacks on their representatives. This is a flagrant violation of freedom of the press.

George Witkovich of Chicago, a representative of the Slovene-American paper, has been indicted for refusing to answer questions when appearing before agents of the Immigration Service in accordance with the provisions of Supervisory Parole.

This indistment, as the other proceedings, demonstrates clearly the extent to which the Justice Department intends to utilize the Walter-McCarran Law provisions against the foreign language press.

This National Conference goes on record denouncing the attack upon the representatives of the Press and pledges its full support to rewin the basic concepts of freedom of the press and at the same time to support those under attack.

RESOLUTION ON OFFICERS OF THE AMERICAN COMMITTEE

Whereas a full complement of American Committee Officers has not been elected, Prof. Louise Pettibone Smith, Rev. Kenneth Ripley Forbes and Abner Green are hereby appointed as a sub-committee, authorized to fill the slate of officers necessary during the coming year.

This Conference also goes on record praising Mr. George B. Murphy, Jr. for his excellent work in behalf of the rights of the foreign born through his work as co-chairman of the American Committee.

Dann Priend:

On December 8, 1956, the 24th Annual National Conference of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Sorn will open at the Hotel Alexandria, Los Angeles, California.

This 24th Annual Conference, the first in the west. comes at a significant time. One month later, the 85th Congress will convene and a new opportunity to win favorable legislation on behalf of 14 million foreign-born Americans will be presented.

During the period of tensions and political unrest following the second World War, attack after attack was made upon the general civil rights of the American people.

As is so often the case, one group in particular was singled out for special persecution. That group was the foreign born. The basis for suppression of their rights was the Alien Registration Act of 1940 which while purportedly passed only to secure the nation from "enemy aliens." actually provided for registration and fingerprinting for more than seven million persons who happened not to be citizens.

This Law was followed by the Internal Security Act of 1950 which brought into being a whole series of restrictions against the foreign born, naturalized citizens as well as non-citizens

The culmination of legislation against the foreign born was the passage of the Walter-McCarran Law in 1952, which virtually stripped foreign born Americans of all rights. It oreated two classes of citizens. One for the native born and one for the naturalized. It provided for easy revocation of naturalized citizenship and, so far as non-citizens were concerned, made their continued residence or expulsion subject to the "opinion" of one man, the Attorney General.

Organized protest against the encroachment upon the civil rights of the American people roused much activity designed to specifically protect the rights of the foreign born. The overwhelming sentiment for Walter-McCarran Law repeal and the support given individuals victimized by the Law have created a positive atmosphere for democratic advancement.

It is within this new spirit in the overall fight for civil liberties and especially in behalf of the foreign born that the American Committee issues its Call for the December 8 and 9 National Conference.

The Conference will be devoted to discussions on what the Walter-McCarran Law means to the American people and how best the American Committee can advance the revision of the Law or its repeal and continue to assure the defense of those who have fallen victim to it.

The Conference Call printed on the right sets forth our program.

Of special interest will be the Conference Banquet to be held at 6:00 P.M., Saturday, December 8. The theme of the Banquet will be the contributions the foreign born have made to our nation. This theme will be carried out in brief addresses as well as in a cultural presentation.

We write at this time to invite you, your friends and associates to participate in this National Conference and to attend the Conference Banquet. Registration fees for the Conference are $2.00 m delegate, observer or visitor. Reservations for the Banquet are $5.00 each.

As you will understand, the financial responsibility for organizing the Conference and carrying out its decisions is considerable. Therefore, we urge that you make a generous contribution to the work of the American Committee.

We look forward to your help in making this Conference a success and in the adoption of a program for 1957 which will help restore the spirit of the Bill of Rights for all persons in the Inted States.

Sincerely yours.

SUMMARY OF PANEL DISCUSSIONS

- 1. What the Walter-McCarran Law Means to the Native Born: The discussion centered around loss of citizenship under the Welter-McCarran Law by native born Americans, especially those of Mexican descent, who return to Mexico with perents and are barred from readmission on technical grounds; also those who were rounded up in Alysian Park during 1954 on the basis of whether they spoke perfect anglish or not end deported to Mexico; also native born, who have returned to their merents' country for education, etc. Meny Americans of Japanese descent were forced into the Japanese army during World War II and have thus lost United States citizenship. The discussion slac emph asized the loss of the contributions of other cultures by the barriers of immigrants; the elimation of friendship of other peoples by the barriers set up in immigration and by the doportation of people who have lived many years in the United States.
- 2. What the Walter-McCirran Law Means to the Foreign Born: Report to the panel discussed many of the provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law as they relate to the curticilment of the rights of foreign-born Americane, both citizen and non-citizen. The discussion emphasized that the law is directed against the labor movement. Special emphasis was leid on the treatment of West Indians and Negroes from Central and South America, indicating that they are isolated from the Regro community because they fear deportation. The need was to influence other groups to do more than pass a resolution and for active support to the fight for changes in the law on specific issues, not necessarily repeal of the Law. Discussion centered on the need to secure the sesistence of other organizations in an attempt to involve them in deportation cases where serious hardship was involved.
- 3. What the Whiter-McCarren Law Means to Minorities in the United States: A report was given for the Mexican group which pointed out that, of all national groups, the Mexican immigrant suffered most under the Wilter-McCarren Law. Some state laws, such as in California, deny to the non-citizen old age assistance when he is retired from employment or is ill. The Mexican people are discriminated against not only in public employment but also in private employment. It was proposed that the treatment of the Mexican immigrant be made a national issue and not one only of the Southwest because the discrimination against the Mexican seriously affects the standards set by the trade union movement. A speaker for the Japanese group pointed out that the Japanese ismigrant was denied citizenship until the enactment of the Walter-McCarren Law. Although some Japanese in the U.S. eyed the law with favor because of the opening of the possibility of citizenship, they are slowly participating in the fight because of their growing awareness that the law effects the rights of all foreign born. A report from Seattle told of the attacks on the rights of Filipino-Americans in that area and of the Supreme Court victories sustained (1) that no Filipino who entered the U.S. prior to 1934 is deportable and (2) Filipino fishermen returning from Alaska can not be subjected to screening on the besis of a new entry.
- 4. Legislative: The panel appraised the general atmosphere, both from the negative and positive features and concluded that the possibilities exist for action in Congress this year for revision of the Welter-McCarren Law. It was necessary to educate the people to the fact that the Law is bad for all the people and not just the foraign born. Proposals: (1) monthly legislative letter; (2) work shop conferences in various cities; (3) demand for public hearings; (4) visits to representatives and Sentors; (5) assume responsibility for grass roots work; (6) concentrate on how the law affects families; (7) to have a greater coordinated drive nation-wide; (8) every delagate to take responsibility to make a report of this conference to one organisation; (9)get unions to implement resolutions; (10) for change in Rule 22 because of its relation to the Walter-McCarren Law.

AN APPEAL TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

The Walter-McCarran Law, enacted in 1952, over Presidential veto, has been bitterly opposed by the vast majority of the American people. Attemnts at changes have been thwarted by Congressman Walter, Chairman of the Bouse Subcommittee on Immigration and Naturalization and Senstor Eastland, Chairman of the Senste Judiciary Committee. Both major political partise have enunciated in their platforms in each election since 1952 programs for revision of the law.

This law has not only denied to foreign-born Americans their fundamental rights under the Constitution but directly and indirectly affacts the whole American peopla.

Registration, fingerprinting, deportation and general harassment by the Immigration and Naturalization Service is the plight suffered by millions of non-citizens. This harassment is often extended to the native-born citizen. There is no attate of limitations for deportation of non-citizens no matter how long they have lived in this country. The naturalized citizen may lose citizenship regardless of the time elapsed since naturalization. Special regulations are applied to newly naturalized citizens placing them in a second-class category.

Native born citizens have been subposed by Senate and House Committees, by the Immigration and Naturalization Service and are subjected to persecution should they feil to inform on foreign-born citizens and non-citizens. Many native born children of foreign-born parents are deprived of home and family through the loss of a parent through deportation. Taxosyers are nemalized and communities are forced to support families on relief because of the deportation of a breadwinner.

All of us are deprived of the adventages made possible by ectentific and cultural exchange because the Welter-McCarren Law bars from admission leading figures in world science and culture.

We call upon the American people to urge an end to the outrageous treetment accorded the non-citizen for an end to the second class citizenship of the naturalized citizen. We call upon you to demand that the rights of all, citizen and non-citizen native born and foreign born, be protected under the Constitution and Bill of Rights of the United States.

We call upon the American people to join in the vast opposition which shready exists for repeal or drestic changes of the Walter-McCarran Law. We call upon you to urge your Congressment to take an active part in the 85th Congress toward the end that the Walter-McCarran Law be replaced with an immigration and neturalization law in keeping with the democratic traditions of the United States.

DEPORTATION

Today more than 300 non-citizens are faced with Walter-McCarran Law deportation proceedings on political grounds. In each instance the person involved has lived in the United States for many years, worked here and sought to the best of his or her ability to make of these United States a better place in which to live. In most instances, those who face exile are parente and in many instances grandparents of United States of the States of United States of United States of United States of United States. Deportation would mean the breaking up of families or forced de-

marture of limited States citizens, in order to keep a family intact.

Leon Callow, father of nine American-born children: David Hyun, father of two. Feggy Wellman, mother of two are but three such cases of persons whose homes and families would be shattered in the event of deportation.

But almost as significant as the actual deportation is the manner in which the Justice Department officers and agents use provisions of the Walter-McCarran law and the threat of deportation to harses and hound persons who happen not to be citizens. In one year slone more than one million Mexican-Americans were rounded up and deported into the heart of Mexico with little regard as to family or citizenship status.

In each year, according to Justice Department figures, thousands of persons are exiled from these United States, often on the simple reason that through no fault of their own they become charges in a public institution due to mertal illness.

This Annual Conference views the deportation case of Charles Rowoldt, now before the thitted States Supreme Court, as significant. However, regardless as to the outcome of the Rowellt case, we pledge our support to a campaign to assure that no person who has lived in the United States for five years should be deported for any reason.

DEPORTATION TO MEXICO

Each year, the Immigration and Naturalization Service deports many hundreds of thousands of people to Mexico. These deportations are effected by mass arrests without warrants and mass deportations without hearings. The objective of these recurrent mass deportations drives is the terrorization and intimidation of Mexican communities in the United States. We condemn the brutal and illegal mass roundups, mass arrests without warrante and meas demortations without hearing of United States residents to Mexico. We call for an end to this brutal and inhuman treatment of Americans of Mexican birth or descent and demand full observance of the principles of due process guaranteed all persons under the Constitution.

In line with those views, this Conference adopts the following program:

- 1. Place before the United Nations Human Rights Commission the plight of millions of agricultural workers in the Southwest.
- 2. Fight the use of the deportation threat as an anti-labor weapon by winning minimum ware standards and social security for all agricultural workers, regardless of citizenship status.
- 3. Win for Mexican nationals the right to adjust their status to permanent - residence after living here for two years and to facilitate their naturalization.
  4. Win for Mexican immigrants due process in deportation proceedings, especially the right to counsel, the right to qualified interpreters, the right to hearings.

ORDERS OF SUBSEVISION

Perhaps one of the harshest provisions of the Wilter-McCarran Lew is that which provides that non-citizens whom the Justice Department cannot deport are to be placed under Orders of Supervision. The Orders include reporting at regualr interwels to agents of the Lumigration and Naturalization Service, and when reporting answering questions under oath as to habits and associations; restricting one's activities to a redius of 50 miles and submitting to medical or psychiatric examination at the behest of the Justice Department.

Seorge Withoutch and James Keller of Chicago, Illinois, were indicted for failure to enswer questions as directed by an agent of the Immigration and Baturalization Service. The Keller case hem not come to trial and George Witkovich was freed from the indictment in the District Court but the case has been ampealed to the Supreme Court by the Justice Department. Mrs. Antonia Senther, of St. Louis, who elso challenged the provisions, received a decision in her case which whittled away at the very heart of the Orders of Supervision and the Justice Department is likewise appealing her case. It New York citizens are awaiting a new hearing on their obsilence.

This Conference views as merciless and inhumen the Justice Department's efforts to maintain non-citizes, whose deportation it cannot effect, in wirtual house agreest and pledges its full support to the court challenges under way.

REMANAL OF THE IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE FROM THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT

Since the enactment of the Walter-McCarran Law, agents of the Justice Dapartment have been wielding its provisions with a virtual venguance. It would appear that it is not enough that the Law itself should incorporate many police state characteristics but, to ensure its effectiveness, the Justice Department, the nation's policing agency has been authorized to carry them out.

In the overwhelming majority of cases, the problems faced by foreign-born Americans are not matters for a police agency. They are problems needing understanding and deep consideration - not only of the problems - but the individual as well.

Therefore this Conference urges that the Immigration and Maturalization Service be romoved from the Justice Department and be established as a separate department where foreign born Americans are to be treated with disnity and respect.

ON NATULIZATION OF NON-CITIZENS

Whoreas it is the policy of our government to facilitate the naturalization of non-citizons, and

Whereas there are 3 million non-citizens now resident in the United States, and

Whereas the overwhelming majority of these 3 million non-citizens have lived here for many years and have made their own personal contributions and, as a group, outstanding contributions to the economic, social, political and cultural growth of our nation, now, therefore be it reactived:

That this Conference so on record for:

- The dropping of all ertificel and arbitrary obstacles and barriers to the speedy naturalization of all non citizens, legally resident in our country (for 5 years).
- Set 1960 se the target date for winning of citizenship for all non-citizens who have resided in the United States for 5 years or more.
- All facilities of the government agencies concerned, educational institutions, and civic minded organizations, be made available to help achieve this goal.

HEFENSE OF THE AMERICAN COMMITTEE FOR PROTECTION OF FOREIGN DOWN

Herbert Brownell, Jr., Attorney General of the United States, in 1953, petitioned the Subversive Activities Control Board to order the American Committee to register with that Board as a "communist-front" organization. Hearings before that Board have been completed but as yet no recommendation has been handed down by the hearing officer. While the proceedings were rending before the SACB, New York State Attorney Comeral Jacob K. Jevits instituted proceedings in an effort to censor and regulate out of existence the work of the American Committee seeking to force it to register with New York State as a charitable organization.

These twin moves against the American Committee had as their basic design to either cripple or helt the work of the American Committee. In sach instance to date the effort has been thwerted. For 24 years, the American Committee has rendered service in defense of the rights of foreign-born Americans. Its base of work is not created by itself nor does the American Committee wish to remain on the American scene. However, it does feel that until such time as a democratic immigration and naturalization law - free from discrimination and recism - is the Law of the land, the world of the American Committee must go on.

This Conference pledges its full support to the American Committee and its work and will seek to render impotent any and all efforts to destroy it.

NATIONAL FOLEIGN-BORN DAY

This Conference urges nationwide observance of October 28, 1957, the 7lst anniversary of the dedication of the Status of Liberty, as "National Foreign Born Day" as a tribute to the contributions and sacrifices made by the immigrant in the building and development of the United States as well as to cur culture and wealth.

HOUSE CONTITTEE

The House Committee on Un-American Activities, which has just concluded hearings in Loc Engeles, was working stremuously to discredit the democratic process of petitioning for redress of grievences as guaranteed by the First Amendment to the Constitution when it sought to investigate organizations and individuals who work for repeal or revision of the Walter-McCarran Law.

There can be little doubt that the hearings in Los Angeles were timed to coincide with the 24 th Annual N-timel Conference of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born and that their purpose was to disrupt or disorganize the work of the Conference.

The House Un-Americans failed. They did not achieve their goal of disrupting our Conference and we pledge that they shall not prevent us from working for repeal or revision of the Welter-McCarran Law. We go on record condemning the House Committee on Un-American Activities and at the same time pledge doubling of our efforts to assure the continuation of the work for a democratic immigration and naturalization policy free from recism and discrimination. This shall be our answer to the House Unare-Jonns.

CASE OF HARTIN JUNIOUZ

Martin Jiminez, of S-n Francisco, a member of ILMU Warehouse Local 6, is fighting depotation to Mexico. Because he has refused to submit to an inquisition into his political opinions or his essociations with his fellow unionists, he has been denied suspension of deportation. We support his appeal to the United States Supreme court on this issue.

IVA & 'AQUINC CASE

For the first time in the history of this nation, we find the immigration and naturalization laws being used in an effort to deport a native born American citizen and we believe this a violation of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Mrs. Iva d'Aquino was convicted of treason for her alleged activities as 'Tokyo Rose" during World War 11. Despite the fact that she was born in the United States, the Justice Department using the W lier-McCerren Lev_is seeking to deport her to any country which would accept her on the ground that she lost her United States nationality and citizenship when she was convicted of treason.

This Conference condemns the Justice Department's effort to benish Iva d'Aquino. The conference also protests the attempt to use the immigration and naturalization laws as additional punishment for conviction of any crime. Further, the Conference condemns the use of the immigration and naturalization laws to deport native born citizens.

25th anniversary of the american commutate for PROTECTION OF FOREIGN BORN

In December, 1957, the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born will mark its 25th year of service to the Unerican people.

The work of the American Committee and its record stands as a monument in the fight to Guarantee civil rights for all Americans and in particular those who happen not to have been born in the United States.

As one way of preserving the record of the work of the American Committee, this Conference delegates to the Committee the resmonstbility for the publishing of a book which shall be a history of the organization. This book is to be ready for distribution on or before the date of the 25th Anniversary National Conference.

This Conference also authorizes the establishment of a 25th Anniversary Conmittee which shall undertaks as many tasks as necessary to promote activity around the 25th Anniversary of the American Committee.

24th Annual National Conference American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born Los Angeles, December 8 and 9, 1956 page 11.

REPORT - by Abner Green

We are gathered in this National Conference to give extended consideration to the status of foreign-born Americans and to develop a program, based on these deliberations, that will contribute to the further development of American democracy.

Our meeting in conference here this week-end has special eignificance to us.

This is the first national conference in the 24-year history of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born to meet on the West Coast. Our meeting here in Los Angeles reflects the growth nationally of organized efforts to defend the democratic and constitutional rights of foreign-born Americans.

On behalf of the officers and staff of the American Committee, I want to express our deep appreciation to the people and organizations in Los Angeles for the enthusiastic and heart-warming manner in which they welcomed end greated our coming to Los Angeles for our Mational Conference. We are indeed happy to be here in this atmosphere of fraternal understanding and support. You have made us feel welcome and, for that, we express our does appreciation.

The velcome given us contrasts markedly with the reception accorded a Committee of Congress that came to your city uninvited and with a clear intent to rob you, in your own home, of your privacy, your dignity, your rights, your self-respect and your thanking.

For two days now, the people of Los Angeles have been exposed to one of the most tawdry exhibitions of indecency by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Their degrading and disgusting performance of calculated brutality against subpormed vivosses and their attorneys and their desperate eaching after the newspaper head-line has indeed hit a new low in the already miserable record of this discredited body of publicity bounds.

Your presence here this week-and is in itself a stirring answer to those McCerthyite forces who thought they could discrupt our deliberations and perhaps even prevent our Conference from being convened by scheduling Un-American Committee hearings at the time of our Mational Conference.

For the past two days, the people of Los Angeles and their ettorneys have demonstrated their devotion to the democratic principles that guide our society by the more ner in which they conducted themselves at these un-American hearings. And this week-wad the people of Los Angeles are delivering still another rebuirs to Congressman Malter and his Un-Americans by frustrating his efforts to use the Congressional Inquisition to prevent us from meeting in Conference.

To Congressems Malter we say: We will not be swerved from our determination to fight for repeal or revision of the hated Walter-McCerren Law and for an end to the on harassment and persecution of foreign-born Americans.

The democratic advances mede by the American people during the past year here served to terrify Congressman Welter into a frenzy of reactionary activity. Compressman Welter doesn't like the fact that the American people brought to as end the postwar hysteria that plagued our country and our people for some ten years.

RAFORT - # page 12.

For our Conference, these democratic advances serve as an inspiration and as a backdrop for our discussions and deliberations.

With an end to the post-wer hysteria, there has come a general relaxation of tensions and a basic change in the public atmosphere. The changed public atmosphere that prevails today, that has prevailed for the past year, gives rise to new possibilities for reversing the repressive postwer trend and eliminating the remnants of that hysteria.

We note first that the Justice Department's deportation and denaturalization drives have lost their momentum and, for the past year, there have been only ten new political deportation cases and two new denaturalization cases. This is not the result of any basic change in the thinking or attitude of the Justice Department.

The attack on the rights of the foreign born has bogged down because the public atmosphere that preveils today is unfavorable to large-scale arrests in deportation proceedings. The political climate and the temper of the American people are not conductive to the initiation of large-scale denaturalization proceedings.

It is this atmosphere that accounts also for a number of other developments during the past year.

The Federal courts have shown a new sensitivity to the rights of foreign-born Americans

Insofar as the rights of naturalized citizens are concerned, the United States Supreme Court held in the Zucca case that the Justice Department could not start denaturalization proceedings without first filing an affidavit of good cause because, as Chief Justice Warren said in his opinion for the Court, "The mere filing of a proceeding for denaturalization results in serious consequences to a defendant" and "a person come admitted to American citizenshir should not be subject to legal proceedings to defend his citizenship without a preliminary showing of good cause."

As a result of this decision, the densturelization proceedings against Devid and Freds Discond were thrown out by the Federal District Court here in Los Angeles and similar action in other cesse is being given consideration by Federal courts in other parts of the country. In its decision in the Minker and Falcone cases, the Supreme Court held that the Justice Department has no right to question a naturalization concerning his neturalization or citizenship.

The most significant victory in densturalization during the past year was achieved in the case of Rose Chernin, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. It is the only densturalization case so far where the Judge cancelled the proceedings after listening to all the evidence the government had to present.

The Federal courts are reflecting also changes in the public state phere insofar as the rights of non-citizens are concerned.

Three weeks ago, the United States Supreme Court heard oral angument in the Rowolat deportation cese, in which one of the two points being considered is whether the Supreme Court was wrong in its 1954 decision in the Galvan case, when it sustained the constitutionality of the political deportation provisions of the Welter-Nacharran Law.

In June, a Federal judge in Philadelphia granted a writ of habess corpus in the case of Mrs. Stella Petrofsky because the Justice Department refused to turn over it.

**Tandhation the FBI reports of four witnesses who had testified against Fra Atlanda

in her deportation hearings. It was Mrs. Petrofeky's contention that these FBI reports would show that the stool-pigeon vitnesses lied when they testified against her. Since the Justice Department refused to submit the reports for examination, the court cancelled the deportation order in Mrs. Petrofek's case.

The Federal courts have so far rejected also the Justice Department's attempt to imprison the minds of non-citizens ordered deported but not deportable since no country will accept them as deportees. Two court decisions this past year have rejected the Justice Department's attempt to use the Welter-McCarren Law provisions of the supervision of deportees for purposes of herassing and perecuting non-citizens.

In the Witkovich case, Federal District Court Judge Sullivan, of Chicago, dismissed an indictment based on a refusal by a non-citizen to answer questions concaming his political beliefs or essociations. Judge Sullivan held that the Justice Department had no legal right or constitutional right to ask those questions. The fustice Department appealed Judge Sullivan s decision and, on October 8th, the Summers Court agreed to hear the Withovich cases.

In the Sentmer case, a three-Judge court in St. Louis held basic sections of the Supervisory conditions unconstitutional. Host significant was the Court's holding as unconstitutional the Justice Department's attempt to order non-citizens not to join so-called subversive organizations or associate with Communists or sympathizers of the Communist Party.

The Justice Department maintained that non-citizens ordered deported could not continue activities for which they had been ordered deported. The Justice Department maintained that it could check on the non-citizen to guarantee that he discontinued such activities and that, if the non-citizen insisted on continuing his activities and associations, he could be railroaded to jail for violation of the orders of Supervision.

In both the Witkovich and Sentner decisions, the Federal courts rejected the Justice Department's position and held that the Justice Department has no right to interfere with the non-citizens's freedom and that the only purpose for supervision is to enable the Justice Department to be informed of the non-citizen's whereabouts in the event a passport is obtained to deport the non-citizen. These decisions are perhaps the most serious set-back suffered by the Justice Department in its efforts to implement the police-state provisions of the Walter-McCarran Lew.

The changes in the public atmosphere have had their effect not only on the courts but on the Justice Department as well. We have noted already that, during the past year, there have been very few new deportation and denaturalization cases. Also, during the past year not one non-citizens has been denied bail in deportation proceedings.

In deportation, there have been two significant developments. The first was in the case of a non-citizen resident of Philadelphia who was arrested for deportation in 1955, after he had refused to appear as a Justice Department witness against other non-citizens. Five years ago, there would have been little prospect of winning a case of this kind since the non-citizen had admitted membership in the Communist Party in 1936.

Last month, however, the Board of Immigration Appeals ordered that he be granted suspension of deportation on the ground that there is nothing in the law that "requires a former communist who no longer subscribes to the principles of the Communist Party to actively oppose communism as a condition precedent to the grant of suspension of deportation."

Equally significant was the October 31st announcement that the Immigration and Haturelization Service had adopted new regulations on the use of "confidential" information in deportation cases and that, in the future, non-citizens would be permitted to examine information against them except when "the most compelling reasons involving the national safety or security are present."

The Justice Department has started to relax its orders of supervision that required non-citizens to report monthly. In many parts of the country, non-citizens are now required to report annually or every six months.

Insofar as the general public is concerned, the changed political etmosphere has resulted in many advances. For instance, the 1956 program adopted by the American Friends Service Committee on National Lagislation in the field of Immigration and Cfurenship demonstrated full understanding of the rights of the foreign born.

Also, there was the authoritative article on "The Deportation Lew Proposals for Ewform," by Mr. Will Maslow, general counsel of the American Jewish Congress, publish at in the March 1956 issue of the Columbia Law Review. In his analysis, Mr. Maslow cutlines twenty besic changes in the deportation laws which reflect a new approach made possible by the elimination of political hysteria in our thinking and attitudes. Wighly significant is the position taken by Mr. Maslow that deportation for political political opinions or associations is a violation of the democratic process and that the provision for the deportation of non-citizens, for past or present membership in the Communist Party should be repealed.

We witnessed, too, this year publication of a brochure, "In Quest of Freedom."..., by the United States Information Service and distributed widely by the United States Government as a tribute to the contributions made by immigrants to our American society. Among those selected for special tributes are Arturo Toscanini, the late Senetor Robert Wagner, Carl Schurz, Joseph Pulitzer, Albert minstein, Alexander Graham Bell, Samuel Compers and Felix Frankfurter. In paying tribute to these great Americans, the United States government says, "A welcome hand extended to such immigrants is part of the traditional American belief that a dynamic nation is built of many viewpoints...Americans have always felt that their Nation gains strength from the diversity within it."

The government tribute concludes with the statement that, "America is richer for their coming."

Finally, there is the establishment this year of the American Museum of Immigration, which has the support of leaders in all walks of American life and which is not sugged in a campaign to reise five million dollars to build a museum at the base of the Status of Liberty in New York harbor as a tribute to the millions of immigrants who helped people and built these United States.

The devolopments I have outlined reflect the possibilities for advancing democratic rights. These developments, coupled with a growing healthy atmosphere, point to the possibility of working toward the complete elimination of the remnants of postwar hysteria that serve as the basis for herassing and persecuting large numbers of foreign-born Americans.

While these positive developments reflect the current trend, certain forces in our society suck to use events in surope and repressive agencies here at home to creat a new McCerthyite hysteria. This attack contains within its scope the danger of a new attack on the people's rights. At the same time, there have been instances durin

the past year that run counter to the democratic spirit, may well serve also to endanger the postive developments mentioned previously, and therefore require our consideration and attention

Firstand foremost is the problem posed by Congrussional inaction on the Walter-McCarran Law. For four years, Congrussman W-lter has succeeded in preventing the Bouse of Representatives from giving any consideration to legislation introduced for revision or repeal of the Law.

Before any immigration legislation can be considered by Congress, it has to first be considered by the Sub-Committee on Immigration and Naturalisation. Congressmen Walter is chairman of this Sub-Committee and he has refused to allow his Sub-Committee to consider any legislation for changee in the Lav. This amounts to a one-men dictatorship over the affairs of Congress in open disregard of the feelings and sentiment of the American people.

It is rather obvious that Congressman Walter feels that he will not be able to prevent Congressional consideration of legislation to revise or repeal the Law in 1957.

Earry N. Rosenfield, executive director of the 1952 President's Commission on Immigration and Naturalization, writing in the Spring of 1956 issue of Duke University's "Law and Contemporary Problems" summarized the opposition to the Law as follows: "A vital change seems to have taken place in the last four years in the status of the immigration issue. From a somewhet martisen, relatively localized issue, it appears to have become a non-partisan national issue. From the partisan jocksying of 1952 there seems to have developed substantial agreement by both major marties in 1956 that the besic features of the Walter-McCarran Law need thorough-going changes. Nevision of the immigration law has finally anhieved political maturity as a national issue."

Last month, six members of the United States Senate - Senators Douglas, Rum phrey, McNamara, Morse, Murrey, and Newberger, issued a "Democratic Declaration of 1957" listing a 16-point civil rights program for the new Congress, one point of which is revision of the Walter-McCarran Law.

Even the Daughters of the Emerican Revolution, at their 65th Continental Congress in Washington, D. C, in April, heard strengeus opposition on the floor for the first time to the national origins system as "illogical" and "patently absurd" and also a protest against "blind aupport" of the Walter-McCarran Law.

Congressman Walter, in seeking to re-inforce his autocratic position in the Bouse of Representatives, is now trying to use the Bouse Committee on Un-American Activities, of which he is chairman. Therefore, the hearings across the country during the past month by the Un-Americans, trying to smear and pillory opponents of the Walter-McCarren Law. But, the Un-Americans will be no more successful in their effort to intimidate Congress than they were in preventing us from holding this highly successful National Conference.

We look to our Fanal on Legislation to give serious consideration this efternoon to the development of a legislative program that will contribute to the nationwide demand that Congress consider legislation to revise or repeal the Welter-McCarran Law when it convenes in January 1997.

On the negative side of the picture that serves as a backfrop for our deliberations here this week end is the Walter-McCarran Law treatment that continues to be accorded three million non-citizens, who have to report once a year to the Justice Department, the police agency of the government, and who are subjected to all kinds of indignities solely because they Deppen not be be citizens of this country.

Report - page 16.

At the same time, the manner in which hundreds of thousands of non-citizens are deported from this country each year makes the non-citizen population of this country a ready target for political racketeers and blackmailers who feed on insecurity and instability. This is a vest problem that has special significance for our deliberations.

Part of the negative picture are the decisions by the United States Supreme Court in the Hyun case, where deportation was upheld even though the evidence was taken in Hawaii while David Hyun was here in Los Angeles and not represented by counsel; and in the Jay case, where the Service was upheld in its refusal to grant suspension of deportation based on confidential information. Also, the decision of the United States Court of Appeals in San Francisco in the Jiminez case, holding that the Service could demy suspension of deportation to a non-citizen on the sole ground that he had refused to snawer all questions asked in the suspension proceedings; and the decision of the United States Court of Appeals in Cincinati in the case of Mrs. Stefans Brown, of Detroit, who was sentenced to serve six months in jail for contempt of court because she refused to become an informer while testifying in her own defense in a denaturalization trial.

The United States Supreme Court last month agreed to hear the appeal in the Brown case.

The Supreme Court decision in the Jay case had special significance since four Supreme Court justices epoke out in such vigorous condemnation of the Justice Department's procedures that the Department was forced to amend its ways, as announced by the Commissioner on October 31st. So that, even though we lost the Jay case, we won the principle for which we were fighting in opposing the use of confidential information against non-citizens.

Perhaps the most serious road-block to re-establishing sanity in the administrative treatment of the non-citizen and netwellzed citizen is the attitude taken by the Immigration and Naturalization Service under its present Commissioner, General Joseph M. Sving.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service has been militerized in its thinking and in its operations. Top administrative offices in the Service are being taken over by retired Army generals and lieutenant generals, whose thinking and attitudes are reflected by Service personnel at all levels. This has been one of the crudest examples of military men taking over a civilian agency of the government.

At the same time, the Commissioner of Immigration and Neturalization has disgraced his high office by his personal misconduct as reported by the press; importing domestic workers from Nexico; placing members of his family in good government jobs; using government personnel and equipment to go on hunting trips to Mexico and Canada.

The Service continues to ignore democratic and humans standards in its treatment of the foreign born. Thousands of non-citizens and neturalized citizens are being approached and questioned in their homes, at their places of employment, and in the offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. At the same time, the Service is trying to broaden its subposse power in an effort to further intimidate foreign-born Americans. We are now preparing for appeal to the United States Supreme Court the Budrileni case, in which the Court of Appeals in Chicago sustained the right of the Service to question a native-born citizen about the citizenship of a naturalized American.

While the general atmosphere has improved, the governmental operations initiated during the period of post war hysteria continue to function in the full bureaucratic sense. More than three hundred non-citizens still face deportation on political grounds. Knut Heikkinen, of Superior, Wisconsin, faces still the threat of ten years in jail at the ege of 67 - in reality, a death sentence - for failure to apply for a passport after being ordered deported. Nore than fifty Amorican citizens are forced to defend their citizenship in the Federal Courts. And, during the past year, a new wrinkle has been added in the case of Mrs. Ive d'Aquinc, of San Francisco.

The d'Aquino case rounds the circle and bears out, we regret to say, the warnings enunciated by the American Committee when the post-war deportation drive started, that it is not alone the rights of non-citizens that are at stake but the rights as well of citizens, native born as well as naturelized.

Mrs. Ive d'Aquino has been arrested for deportation to Portugal although she was born here in the United States and has never surrendered her nationality or citizenship. According to the Justice Department, Mrs. d'Aquino broadcast for the Japenese during the Second World War. After the war, she was tried and found guilty of treason, served her sentence in fail and, upon her release from prison, she was errected for deportation. The Justice Department maintains that Mrs. d'Aquino lost her United States nationality and citizenship because she was found guilty of treason. If that were so then, under the Walter-McCurran Law, the Justice Department could deport her as an alien to any country that would accord her!

Also, this year, the Justice Department announced that, since 1946, it had deported or excluded from the country 345 former American citizens accused of being draft dodgers. This included naturalized citizens as well as native-born American citizens.

This afternoon's session of the Conference Panel on "What the Welter-McCarran Law Means to Native Born Americans" will consider this development as well as other aspects of the Welter-McCerran Law that affects the rights of native-born Americans.

Perhaps the most serious disregard of human beings and human rights is to be observed in the operations of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in the Merican-American communities of the United States. The treatment of Mexican immigrants - as well as netive-born Americans of Mexican descent - more than one million of whom were deported in 1954 - is a shocking record of inhumanity.

I cite one of the hundreds of examples of the shameful manner in which Mexican immigrants are treated. In August 1954, the Service started to use boats to transport Mexican deportees to the interior of Mexico. In September, Congressam Mollohan, of West Virginia, charged that the S.S. "Mercurio" used to transport Mexican deportees, should here been disqualified under the 1862 law passed by Congress to protect immigrants traveling by steerege from Europe. The S.S. "Mercurio" did not meet these minimum 1862 standards. It had inadequate toilet, berthing and feeding facilities. It had leaking and inadequate lifeboats, corroded boilers and there was serious question as to its resistence to capstring. Yet, more than 500 deportees were crowded onto the S.S. "Mercurio" on each trip.

Some time ago, an investigating committee of the House of Representatives condemned the S.S. "Mercurio" and called it a "hell ship." But in August 1956, Milliam P. Rogers, Deputy Attorney General, had the nerve to refer to the S.S. "Mercurio" deportations as a "delightful Ceribbean cruise."

We welcome the opportunities provided us by this National Conference meeting in Los Angeles to work out a national program in defense of the rights of Mexican immigrants. There is no part of the country that is better informed on this problem than the people and organisations of Southern California and the Southwest.

This problem and related questions will be considered fully by the Panel on "What the Walter-McCarran Law Means to Minorities in the United States," which should develop a special program for this area of work nationally.

We have now before us, in outline form, the positive as well as the negative developments during the past year in respect to the rights of foreign-born Americans. It should be clear from this brief examination that the positive features outweigh the negative in importence and in influence. One fact alone is sufficient to tip the scales and that is the great change in the public atmosphere as a result of the general relexation of tensions.

The period of post-war hysteria has come to an end. Congressman Walter is obviously upset by this development since it means the beginning of the end of his universally-disliked Law. He is therefore using the Un-American Committee in a desperate effort to create a new wave of hysteria against foreign-born Americans. But, Congressman Walter's efforts are doomed to failure because of the resistance they meet everywhere and because hysteris is the product of many social and political forces operating in coordinated isshion. And the conditions that would stimulate widespread hysteria are absent at this time and the House Committee on Un-American activities will not be able to re-create the atmosphere of hysteria.

Congressman Walter speaks for those forces in American life and in our history that are responsible for five great waves of nativism which have plagued our country in the 180 years since the adoption of our Declaration of Inflerendence.

The first period resulted in the Alien and Sedition Laws of 1798 and was directed in the main against critics of the Federalist Party then in power.

The second nativist movement was in the middle 1800's, with the campaigns of the Know Nothing Perty, which was enti-Catholic as well as anti-slien. The Know Nothings developed no legislation but for a brief period wielded great political power and elected many State and Federal representatives to office.

The third expression of nativism came after the Civil War and reflected the racist poison which infects our society. The nativists took on a new dimension, which they have held to the present day, with their racist agitation against Chinese immigration that resulted in the 1860 Chinese ixclusion Law.

The fourth period followed the First World War, with the resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan with its anti-Negro, anti-foreign-born, anti-Jewish, and anti-Catholic agitation. This period resulted in the infemous Falmer Reids of 1920 and brought to life the racist and discriminatory 1924 Quota Laws and reflected, too, the development of a new issue - deportation for political opinions, as contained in the 1918 Immigration Act.

The fifth, and latest, nativist hystoric plagued the American people after the Second World War and resulted in the enactment of the Walter-McCarren Lew - which incorporated the 1924 Quota Lews; continued the raciet discrimination against immigrant from Ear Eastern countries by limiting immigration from that area of the world to insignificant numbers; wrote into law a new discrimination against Negro immigration from the West Indies; continued its discrimination against immigration from means discouraging Catholic and Jewish immigration; and achieved a new low in its rabid anti-Communist provisions.

However, just like all other outbreaks of nativism, its most recent expression has spent itself and is now on the decline since the post-wer political crisis on the basis of which it developed no longer exists.

This lutest outbreak of nativism, however, like all earlier expressions of intolerance, reflects a temporary lose of national samity since nativism in the United States is an aberration of our national character. These nativist outbursts have alweys violated our principles as well as our traditions and national culture.

The nativist movements in the United States have always failed because they believed that national homogeneity was possible and desirable and they sought to impose artificially, and by means of hysteris and fear, a social and political uniformity that contradicts completely our thinking as a people and our needs as a country.

To quote one voice among the thousands who speak in opposition to American nativism, there was the October 26th statement in The New York Times by Professor Allen Nevins, of Columbia University, noted historian and writer, that, "Countless people came because they hated oppression, in justice and violence, and hoped to help creats peace, brotherhood and freedom. He growing nation had such numerous and powerful contributions to its idealism... In the long run it is far better for a land to be unconfortably alive than comfortably inert. Uniformity is deadening."

The Walter-McCerran Lew seeks to force uniformity unon the foreign born and, through the foreign born, on the American people. Since the day it was enacted, the Walter-McCarran Lew has been opposed by organizations representing the overwhelming majority of the American people because this Law does not reflect what the people feel nor does it express what the people think.

Nor do we lose sight of the fact that the attack on the rights of the foreign born was part of a general assault on the liberties of the American people during the post-war period. We see now a new upsurge of democratic ferment that seeks to resetablish those rights that were weakened or destroyed during the period of hysteria and that will strengthen in many ways the fight to re-establish the rights of the foreign born.

This National Conference is part of a great people's movement which has as its central objective the firm re-establishment of the democratic atmosphere in the Unite States. We are not only a part of this crusade but we have a special contribution which only we can make.

The democratic rights of the American people will not be secure until the rights of the foreign born are re-established. As long as the non-citizen and the naturalized citizen are in the position they find themselves today then reaction will always have a basis for developing undemocratic attacks to infect our democratic life and undermine the rights of the American people.

In considering the defense of the democratic rights of the foreign born, it is difficult to select one or two points for concentration since there are so many difficult problems. Non-citizens are plagued with all kinds of regulations and restrictions which are clear violations of civil rights. Naturalized citizens are faced with all kinds of statutory disabilities on their right to their citizenship.

We will continue to be guided by the principle of defending the rights of noncitizens and naturalized citizens whenever those rights are under attack since we are not yet at the point where we can say that the Justice Department intends to discontinue its ciforts to implement the many repressive and police-state provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law. We will continue to protect foreign born persons facing deportation or denaturalization and we must be prepared for any eventuality in the event page 20.

Report -

a new political crisis or economic crisis develops and additional numbers of foreign born become the victims of proceedings to deport or densturalize them.

But, there is need also for some central issue or issues that will serve to dramatize the problems with which we deal. It is for this conference to consider this problem and agree upon the issue or issues to which the American Committee will devote itself during the coming year.

We want to propose for your consideration, without in any way discouraging continued attention by the Conference to this general problem, one possible central objective for this next period.

In considering ell of the many issues facing us, one appears to be central and most inclusive. That is the need to achieve a statute of limitations in the immigration laws of the United States.

A non-citizen may live in the United States forty or fifty or sixty years and still face deportation from the country. This is not a hypothetical problem. There are 35 non-citizens of the 300 facing deportation who have lived here for more than fifty years and 143 non-citizens who have lived here from 41 to 50 years. This means that sixty percent of those facing deportation on political grounds have lived in this country for forty or more years.

This has not always been the case. The first political deportation law passed in 1903, provided that a non-citizen could be deported only within three years of entry. Once a non-citizen lived here for three years, he could not be deported. It is only since the 1917 Immigration Act, passed during the poet-World War One hysteria, that a non-citizen could be deported at any time after entry.

And today, under the Walter-McCarrin Law, there are seven hundred grounds under which a non-citizen can be deported regardless of the length of time he or she may have lived in this country.

Some years ago, United States Judge Learned Hand discussed this problem, as follows: "(This slien) knows no other language, no other people, no other habits than ours; he will be as much a stranger in Poland as anyone born of ancestors who immigrated in the 17th century. However heinous his crimes, deportation to him is exile, a dreadful punishment abandoned by the common consent of all civilized peoples."

Our treatment of the non-citizen is indeed uncivilized and completely out of step with our tradition. In his recent enticle on the deportation law, Mr. Will Maslow condemned this stittude, saying: "Once an rlien is admitted, his relationship to the United States should be permanent, not probationary. If he turns out to be a criminal or a communist, he is subject to our penal laws. To visit upon him the additional penalty of deportation is unworthy of a free and powerful country."

We propose that this Conference consider as one of our major objectives for the coming year a compaign to establish a statute of limitations in deportation and set as our objective legislation that will provide that any numerities who has lived in the United States for five years or more should not be deported under any circumstances.

Similarly, with respect to naturalized citizens, we should demand that once a person has been an American citizen for five years his citizenship may not be revoked on any grounds whatsoever.

It is our feeling that this demand for a statute of limitations in deportation and denaturalization is one which the American people will understand and appreciate page 21.

Report - 📾

that we can get the support and cooperation of most organizations and individuals concerned with the preservation of democratic rights. In the development of issues and campaigns of this nature, we perform one of our major responsibilities to the American people, and we are guided by the sentiment given expression in 500 B.C. by the Athenian law-giver, Solom, who, when asked how justice could be secured in Athens replied: "If those who are not injured feel as indignant as those who are." We make available the means whereby the people of this country can give expression to their innate decency and good sense and help wipe out the remnants of post-war nativist hysteria.

We come then to the program and work of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born during the coming year, which is one of the main reasons we have convened here in National Conference.

As has been indicated in the first part of this report, there are important changes taking place in the objective as well as the subjective conditions that must influence the development of our program and activities. As has been noted, there have been relatively few new deportation and denaturalization cases and the public atmosphere has undergone extensive changes.

If we are to make our contribution as an organization, we must adjust our program and activities to this new situation. We must be mindful also of the fact that this is not a static eliuation since many aspects have still to crystallize into definite form and, therefore, there will continue to be important changes during the coming year.

Let me say first that this report does not presume to have all of the answers. We have some recommendations to make and some ideas to project. But, we expect that this Conference, in its panels and committees as well as at its plenary sessions, will examine the general situation carefully and work out some of the answers. Meither do we expect this Conference to provide all of the answers.

We do expect that this week-end we will be able to develop a reorientation and a basic approach and work out and agree upon some enswers as the basis for our work program and activities during 1957. Whatever else may be needed in the way of program and activities will be developed in the course of our work and campaigns during the coming year. Unless we come to a correct understanding and develop a proper per spective, it will not be possible to meet the problems that will face us and develously during this next year the kind of activities that will insure our making the effective contribution we can make to advancing the democratic and constitutional rights of the American people.

In considering the program of the American Committee in this period, let me agrirst that defense of the rights of Walter-McCarran Law victims will continue to be an important part of our work. With more than 300 deportation cases and 50 dematuralization cases, with appeals pending in the Hiekkinen case, the Brown case, and the Witkovich case, it couldn't be otherwise.

But, we have to recognize that there will be a change.

Since 1946, the American Committee has devoted most of its work and energies to the protection of the rights of foreign born Americans. With almost daily arrests in deportation, stacks on the American right to bail, and the constant development of new denaturalization cases, we served in the main as an organization defending people's rights in the courts and in public campaigns. But, the objective situation we faced during the past ten years has changed and gives every indication of changing to an even greater extent.

Faced with important changes in our work, certain considerations are basic to our deliberations.

We make no proposals for any basic changes in the structure or program of the American Committee. It is our faciling that the American Committee, in this next period, should continue as a committee in its form of organization and that its purpose remain as stated in its Constitution: to advance the liberties of the American People by protecting the rights of the foreign born. We propose no changes in this respect. The changes that have to be worked out here this week-end are in the program and activities we agree upon in our effort to carry out this basic objective.

- It is our proposal that one area of work to which the American Committee should devote itself with increased energy and attention during the coming year is in the general field of education and propaganda, without diminishing in the slightest our fight against deportation or denaturalization. This would include, at a minimum, special material and campaigns on the following:
  - 1. An immigration and nationality law to replace the Walter-McCarran Law.
  - 2. The need for a statute of limitations in deportation and denaturalization.
- 3. Exposure of the immigration, deportation and denaturalization provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law and their meaning to the American people.
- 4. The rule and contributions of the foreign born to the building and development of the United States.
- 5. The extent of the present day perticipation by the foreign born in our social, economic, political and cultural life.
- The relationship between the status of the foreign born and the rights of the American people.
- 7. The status of the non-citizen under the Welter-McCarran Lew and Supreme Court decisions.
  - 8. Encouraging and facilitating the naturalization of non-citizens.
- 9. The effect on our society of discrimination against naturelized citizens and non-citizens.
- 10. The development of activities that will emphasize the contributions of immigrants to our cultural life.

This list for from exhausts the possible areas to which we can devote ourselves in the general field of education and propagands. In fact, it can be regarded only as a beginning. It should be clear that, in devoting ourselves to this general area of work, we will establish a basis for an even more effective defense of the rights of foreign born Americans and a much broader fight against deportations and deneturalizations.

We look to this Conference to weigh these suggestions and consider all possible slternatives so that we can come to agreement as to the specific points and issues to which we will devote ourselves during the coming year.

One final problem with which this Conference must concern itself is the defense of the American Committee itself. It is unfortunate that we have to take the time to ansider the character of the attack that is being conducted against the American Committee and seeing what we can do to guarantee that the attempts to destroy the American Committee are defeated.

First, there are the proceedings in Washington initiated by Attorney General Ercomell but on the Subversive 'ctivities Control Board seeking the registration of the American Committee as a "communist-frunt" organization. The hearings before the SACB trial extunier were started in June 1955 and concluded in March 1956. The Juntice Department peraded some seventeen stocalled withnesses who soum their fanciful tales filled with fabrications. The fact remains, and the record shows, that not one of the government witnesses ever had a single thing to do with the American Committee for Frotection of Foreign Born.

Witnesses appearing in defense of the American Committee included Bishop Arthur W. Moulton, of Salt Lake City; Prof. Louise rettibune Smith, of Hartford; Rev. Charler A. Hill, of Detreit; Horses Meldahl, an attorney in Charleston, West Virginia. As executive secretary, I testified for six weeks - four on direct testimony and two under cross-examination - presenting the complete history of the American Committee since I become associated with the organization in 1936.

The hearing examiner has as yet made no recommendation in our case. We expect that the recumendation will be forthcoming in the near future and we know what we can expect is pointed out by Harry Crin, following his resignation as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board in September, the Internal Security Act, as written, makes it impossible for any organization to win an acquittal from the SACB. We plan to take this fight into the control and to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary, to defend the American Committee and its work.

While these proceedings were going on in Washington, the Attorney General of New York State, where we have our cifice, started proceedings to regulate and control our activities and work by forcing us to register as a charitable organization. We are now in the New York State courts lighting this proceeding. In fact, hearings before an official reviews appointed by the New York State Supreme Court are scheduled to start in New York (from this conference, as will professor Louise Pottibone Smith, to take the stand at those hearings.

While the Attorney General of the United States is trying to prove we are a "communist front" and the Attorney General of the State of New York is trying to prove we are a "charity," Congressman Walter is now out to prove that we are a "commanizacy" to destroy the security laws of the United States.

All of these stacks have as their mein purpose the destruction of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. They have as a secondary purpose, if they do not achieve their main purpose, involving us in so many proceedings that we will not be able - financially or organizationally - to continue with our work of defending the rights of foreign born Americans. They have still another purpose; involving officers of the organization in court proceedings, such as the possible citation for contempt of Congress I face in Washington, D. C., for challenging the authority of the House Cummittee on Un-American Activities and refuring to give them any books or records of the American Committee. And Rose Chemin, executive director of the Los Angeles Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, faces a similar proceeding here in Los Angeles.

A third purpose of these manifold attacks on the American Committee - which are really testimunials to the kind of effective job we do in protecting the foreign born - is to cripple our organization financially. These attacks have burt us but they haven't stepped us. The record of the past year demonstrates that we have succeeded in withstanding Brownell and Javits and Walter since, desaits their ettacks and these many proceedings, we did not diminish in the slightest our work on behalf of the foreign born.

Report - 🙉

We succeeded in carrying out our over-all program only as the result of untold sacrifices on the part of a large number of people, including the staff of the American Committee, who gave of their time, their energies, and their money. This next year, we will need much more support than we have ever received in the past and we hope that this National Conference will consider this metter very seriously.

I feel that we will succeed in withstanding Brownell and Javits and Welter as well in their desire to destroy the imerican Committee and that we will defeat all of these attacks on our organization. It is the people who will decide what organizations shall exist and function. If the people want an organization to exist, they will make it possible by their support and rarticipation. No Attorney General is going to put us out of business. We will put onselves out of business when we have succeeded in ending discrimination expainst forcign born Americans. We will put ourselves out of business - when we have schieved our program and there is no longer any need for our Committee.

I am welly proud to have been associated with the American Committee these past twenty years. I am very proud not only of the work done by this organization but also of the foliant it has made and equally provided the anemies it has made.

The imedican Committee for Protection of Foreign Born has been attacked through the years by Compressman Metin Dies, the first chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee; by Senetor Pat McCarran and Representative Francis Walter; stool-pigeons like Matthew Cvetic and John Lauther and Maurice Malkin; Attorney General Herbert Brownell; top schelans of the American Legion.

I am proud of the fact that I am associated with an organization that has won the disapproval of this conglomeration of un-Americans.

Let us see who in American life has expressed warm and sympathetic support and admiration for our work. There was Freedom Franklin Delano Rosswelt, Wendell Willkis, Rurold Ickes, Cordell Hull, aleanor Rosswelt, Thomas Mann, Albert sinstein Justice Department officials also commended our afforts, including Attornsy General Francis Biddle, Commissioner of Lumigration and Naturalization barl G. Herrison, Chairman of the Board of Immigration Appeals Thomas Finucane.

That is what the record shows, and we are very ground of that record.

We are proud also of those who are currently associated with our Committee. We want to express our appreciation for the semport demonstrated by the sewarty prominent Americans who have served as Spansor's of our Committee during the past, press, as well as to our three Honorary Co-Chairmen: Rev. Equieth Ripley Forbes, Rtw-Rev. Arthur V. Moulton, and Prof. Louise Pettibone Smith. We are indeed fortunate in have thing as officers three individuals who are steadiest in their a designment to the demonstrate principles that guide our people. We are especially fortunate in being able to have with us at this Conference Professor Smith, who is devoting a great deal of her time and energies to the work of the American Committee.

This conference should take note also of the outstanding work done by atterneys throughout the country who have made it possible for us to carry on an effective dafense of the rights of the foreign born in the legal erems.

We are heppy that Mass King's associate, Blanch Freedman, is allow participate in this Commence and will address our Ranquet this eventual.

As we meet today, a Panel on Legal Defense is in session. Attorneys from all parts of the country have gethered in a Panel meeting to discuss latest developments in the defense of the democratic rights of the fereign born. We will hear a report team rice as to their deliberations and conclusions.

of special importance in our day-to-day work is the selfless devotion demenstrated by the state of the American Committee. Harriet Person, administrative secretary, and Alea Jones, ornweigh and educational director, are both participating in this Canlesone, while continuing the work of the organization in New York are Many, Grace Johnson and Mars. Finally, this report would be remiss if it did not acknowledge with deep gratitude the handreds of individuals in all masts of the country and especially here in Les Angeles whe make it possible for us to function and to carry an our work as a result, their voluntary contributions of time and energies and their personal sacrifices in helping to finence our activities. To them especially, we voice our deep stated, time

In completing our work, special natice should be taken of the fact that next Lemember we will asserve the 25th anxiversary of the American Committee for Protection of Fundam Prot. We feel that this Conference should consider that event and make whatever recommendations it feels advisable to guarantee a proper observance of our 25th anxiversary next yetr.

This conort has attempted to cutline the major problems iseing us during the coming your in socking to develop the argrim and work of the American Committee, which is the exclusive consern if this Notional Conference. Many issues have not been discussed and developed by this report since they will be given extended consideration to their reports and by the Conference Famels.

There c.h. be no doubt that, in.working for the hjectives we set curselves, there will be many problems and there will be many difficulties. There will be those who well to horm us and there will be those who will seek to prevent us from engaging how the vergand as the legitimate exercise of our rights and duties as Americans.

Put they will no more succeed in their attraka upon us than they did when they used the life and Sedition Laws of 1798 to try to silence the Juffersenian fore-removed if the program we exposes today.

We have the advantage since we seek no percental grin. We seek only to preserve our rights and the liberties of the people of this ment country. In this our detries and sublit in mange with there that symbolize the democratic strivings of the American people the against the history of our country. It was this same desire that led to the deption of the Declaration of Independence and to the people's insistence that Bill of Fights be incorporated into the Constitution.

That desire for the inliest development of democratic understanding and that striving for the fullest possible unfolding of the democratic perspective that is possible in this land of ours is yet to be achieved.

It will be achieved. It will come to mans because of what the first citizens of this country did in the late 1/00's and because of what the people of this country did in the 1800's and because of what the American seconds, including you and me, are doing taday and will continue to do in the ince of all the terror unleashed against us by the Federalists and the Know Nothings and the Kn Klux Klam of yesterday and their counterparts in the Walters and the Brownells and the McCarthyites of teday.

Let up not allow the Un-Americans and the witch-hunters to divert us for one instant. Let up proceed to give adequate and needed consideration to the many serious problems and needing us so that, as a result of our deliberations this week-end, the American Committee for Potestion of Foreign Rem will be armed with the kind of program and perspective it must have to proceed with its work and to further the democratic alphas at the foreign bern and contribut thereby to the fullest development and the weight of American liberties and American freedom, to advancing the weight of the American people and to enhancing our democratic institutions.
